Did you send last week's Echo home? 'Fraid the folks would think you were "canned" if you came in two weeks early?

If you have a good short story or poem—get it in the next number.

The girls in the Dorms suggest that the song, "Keep the Home Fires Burning" be in vogue during "Blackberry Winter".

Fourteen dollars a week more for bread since military training began. It's a hardship on the Boarding Club! Please stop the war!

Mrs. Lester Bond has returned for a visit with her parents. Mr. Bond will arrive later for a short visit.

Misses Mildred Campbell and Adeline Templeton are guests at Pearsons.

SOPH-FRESH BASEBALL GAME

Never before in the history of the College have the lower classmen looked forward to the College Championship baseball game with as much interest and enthusiasm as with that which they are now looking forward to the coming Fresh-Soph game.

The Sophs copped the football championship, the Freshmen won a large maority of the basketball contests, and now the baseball game will give the rival classmen their chance to win the final and deciding contest.

The game between the classes of '17 and '18 two years ago still stands as the hottest contested up to the present time; but even a greaer interest has been shown in the coming game as several recent events, especially the loss by the Sophs of the annual class debate, has brought the class spirit to its highest pitch and class rivalry to a white heat.

SYNODICAL EXAMINERS VISIT CLASSES

The two examiners appointed by the Synod of Tennessee, Messrs. A. J. Coile and James Anderson, spent today in visiting classes and observing the work of students and faculty. They report the condition of the College to Synod at its next meeting.

If you're back in every study
And you're hatin' everybody
An' you're 'fraid you're goin' nutty
Just remember,—
There's the dear old farm at home.

CAN YOU READILY IDENTIFY THE FOLLOWING?

You Can if You are Well Informed.

Owen Johnson, author of "The Varmint", "The Tennessee Shad" and other ripping good stories of life at boys' schools, makes one of the characters in "Stover at Yale" say that the American college boy hasn't the slightest general information". The character then challenges his chum even to look intelligent about a long list of topics of real vital general interest.

Miss Weeks revised this high-brow list down to the low-brow level of college freshmen (the boys in "Stover at Yale" are juniors) and propounded it to her composition classes. She thinks that if you are even moderately well informed, you can give 80 per cent of the answers. Can you?

Sinai, Salonika, Henry George, Carranza, Savonarola, Pericles, Phidias, Thermopylae, Socrates, Somme, Carpathians, The Rand, Loyola, Bernstorf, Tolstoy, Peter the Great, Ernest Poole, Plutarch, Huerta, Plato, Attila, Karl Marx, Mrs. Pankhurst, Newton, The Parthenon, Darwin, Captain Boy Ed, The Bastile, Garabaldi, Kosciuszkco, William Harvey, Pasteur, Cecil Rhodes, Krupp, Holbien, Jules Breton, Taj Mahal, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Froebel, Montessori, Bernhardt, Poincaire, Impressionism, Llyod-George, Cubism, Livingston, "16 to 1", Smithsonian Institute, Lord Kelvin, Edison, Present senators from Missouri, J. J. Rousseau, Sienkiewicz, Joan of Arc, Ellen Key, Frederick the Great, Gothic style of architecture, The Louvre, Louvain, Corot, Moonlight Sonata, Culebra Cut, Chopin, Mischa Elman, Whistler, Handel, Law of Gravitation, Bjornsterne Bjornsen, Ty Cobb, Sistine Modanna, Santa Sophia, Notre Dame, Vatican, Von Jagow, Tannhauser, Joffre, Dvorak, Samuel Gompers, Anna Shaw, Asquith, Louis Brandeis, Caruso, Rodin, Fugiyama, Sun Yat Sen, Jacob Riis, David Belasco, John Masefield, Galsworthy, Ferrero, The Marne, Thomas Hardy, Vladivostock, The Papal Index, Col. Goehtals, Pendennis, Brieux, John Cowper Powys, The McNamaras, Forbes-Robertson,.

The following are some of the answers Miss Weeks received this year and last. Don't laugh till you have tried yourself!

Sinai, a deadly poison; Henry George, a cigar, an English king; Pericles, a Greek God; Phidias, a Jewish king; Somme, a wise man of ancient times; Carpathians, the people who made war on Rome; Plato, a place in literature; Attila, another name for Greece; Newton, a city in Massachusetts; Parthenon, a literary society in Central High School, Darwin, discoverer of the missing link, a religion; Garibaldi, an Italian who wore a red shirt, a donkey in one of Mark Twain's books of travel; Kosciuszko,a Russian dancer (this did for Dvorak and Sienkiewocz, too); William Harvey, a big cook; Holbien, a breed of cattle, a line of kings; Impressionism, a religion; Cubism, a religion of Asia; "16 to 1", a betting game; Smithsonian Institute, a girls' college, an asylum for the insane; Joan of Arc, a character in a novel; Louvre, scene of battle in the present war, shoe shop on 11th street; Culebra Cut, a brand of tobacco; Whistler, a piece of music, a violinist; Ty Cobb, a famous cartoonist; Notre Dame, school in Indiana; Vatican, a war ship; Tannhauser, a big gun; Anna Shaw, a notorius actress; Louis Brandeis, a dry goods store in Omaha, an artist; Goethals, a gang of local politicians; McNamaras, an organization of Italian banditti; "Stover at Yale", is a great college story, by the way. Read it! It will wake you up!—The Tech Collegian.

He has achieved success who has lived well, laughed often and loved much.

BATTING AVERAGES

The official batting averages for the season show that three of the regular Highlanders hit for 300 or better. Capt. Hodges, on short, led the regulars with 316, Davidson was second with 303 and McCall third with an even three hundred. Feeman was the only other regular to hit over 250 and he hit for 293.

Kirkpatrick and Jones, subs used in the final games, lead the list. Kirkpatrick with two hits out of as many attempts leads with 1000 and Jones two hits out of four times is second with 500.

McCall had 15 hits, the greatest number of any. Hodges was close second with 14, and Feeman was third with 12.

Capt. Hodges led with the runs scored, having twelve to his credit, McCall, Flannery and King were tied for second place with seven each.

The team was at bat for a total of 389 times, scored 61 runs and 93 hits, giving a team average of 240.

The opponents were at bat 365 times, scored 44 runs and hit safely 71 times for an average of 194.

Maryville had a total of 43 stolen bases. Flannery led with 8 to his credit. Davidson and McCall were tied for second place with seven each, and Feeman and Hodges were tied for fourth place with six each.

FIELDING AVERAGES

Unofficial fielding averages, not including the second L. M. U. game, for which no fielding record was kept,, give the Highlanders a season's record of 915.

McCall was the only regular to field 1000. During the season McCall had 18 chances all of which he accepted without an error. This is not the first season McCall has played without an error, for he had already passed through two seasons without error and the other year he played with the team his average was well over 900.

CO-EDS NEWS

THE RESERVE BATTALION

The girls' military training has progressed rapidly in the short time that they have been drilling. Most of the girls on the Hill belong to one of the companies and they are all enjoying the work very much. They are even anxious to put in extra time afternoons and after supper. Under the efficient leadership of Mr. Johnson and Mr. Frater, the two companies have mastered the "School of the Soldier", the "School of the Squad", and are now working on open order drills.

Company B elected the following officers on Saturday morning: Captain, Marion Henry; First Lieutenant, Frances Ackerstrom; Second Lieutenant, Beatrice Marshall.

Company A elected officers Monday morning: Captain, Eleanor Crum; First Lieutenant, Eleanor Moseley; Second Lieutenant, Viola Cawood. The Corporals and Sergeants will be appointed later by the Captains.

MERE MAIDS ASPIRE TO NATATORIAL HONORS

When is a swim not a swim? When it is May 31st. The young women were to have their part in the swimming carnival that was to be and cannot be. Practice of high dives, straight swimming and a few stunts started, but army practice proved more popular than this part of naval preparation and as June 7th has become May 24th the flow of energy was turned away from this most helpful and delightful activity.

The girls have a splendid chance in this sport to equal, if not excel, the boys. On the World's records for diving and swimming are written with pleasing frequency the names of women. Next year the girls are very likely to say, "Look-out! or we shall take the laurels from you". For in the water a mere maid has as good a chance as a mere man.

RED CROSS

Five Red Cross First Aid Classes meet regularly now and in spite of distracting and diverting side issues and doubling up of school duties the attendance is, on the whole, good and the girls and ladies of the faculty are vitally interested.

Doctors Ellis, Vincent and McCulloch are generously giving three to four hours a week of their time to the First Aid Classes and the class work is not theoretical alone, but practical. The girls have availed themselves of every opportunity to put their new accomplishments into practice, but save for one accommodating person with nosebleed the unappr ciative crowd persist in remaining unusually careful and healthy.

It would almost seem that a fractured clavicle or fibula or a punctured carotid would be hailed with joy by a hundred eager First Aiders.

Seriously though, Red Cross Class is investigating the case of a deformed child living near Maryville and hopes, by co-operation with other organizations on the Hill to be able to render real assistance to the case under consideration. The lectures are necessarily doubled because of the shortened school time. All the young ladies stand ready to give First Aid whenever called upon.

THE EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE

The Equal Suffrage League was to give a play to aid in securing the Forward Fund. The members worked hard and were almost ready to present "Eudymion", a Greek play, to be given in the moonlight. But as commencement comes so early and because all dates must be saved for Seniors, and graduates the play has been postponed until next September.

ALUMNI NOTES

'88. Rev. M. M. Rankin has resigned his pastorate at Fayetteville, Tennessee, to take effect the first of next month. Mr. Rankin has been at Fayetteville for seven years.

'08. The many friends of Miss Anna Magill, among the Alumni, will be sorry to hear of the death of her mother which occurred April 30, in Knoxville, where she had been taken for an operation. Her husband, Mr. R. M. Magill, who died some years ago, was for a long time bookkeeper in the Co-operative Boarding Club.

'09. Miss Betty Davis is teaching Latin in the High School at Ashland, Kansas.

'13. Rev. R. C. Cross, of Cookeville, Tennessee, visited friends in Maryville last week.

'14. E. M. Reeves is in the employ of the Wells Fargo Express Company in Sacramento, California.

'15. Prof. Ralph W. Lloyd writes from Salt Lake City that he is very busy with his work in Westminister College. He is Professor of Mathematics and Science, athletic coach, coach of debate, superintendent of the Third Presbyterian Sunday School "and a few other things of like nature". He remains at Westminster College next year.

MISS SOPHIE WAIBLE TO BE MARRIED

Miss Sophie Waible, who enrolled as a Freshman last fall, but was compelled to return home on account of illness in the family, will be married next fall.

The announcement of her engagement came as quite a surprise to her many Maryville friends. Miss Waible's fiance is Mr. R. A. Ketchledge, Princeton Seminary, '17.

They will live at Camp Hill, Pa. where Mr. Ketchledge has accepted a call to be the pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

AT OTHER COLLEGES

The students who have been drilling at the University of Georgia for the past three weeks, which includes the majority of the students enrolled in the different colleges, left this week for a camp which they have made at Gainsville, Ga.

The University of Michigan is the giving benefit dances to aid in raising a fund to send to France an ambulance corps of university men. Already $2,500 has been raised. All the resources of the university have been placed at the disposal of the government in case of war.

The University of Michigan is the only university we have heard of so far which has shown that it does not favor military training. Only 150 men out of 5,000 have signified their intention of taking the course.

Twenty-five Princeton students, selected from seventy-five volunteers will sail on June 1st to spend a year in relief work among British soldiers and in European prison camps. Undergraduates, graduates, and members of the faculty have subscribed $16,000 to finance the project in response to a request made by Sherwood Eddy.

Wooster's war-like aspect is reflected in more ways than one. How about the aspect of those mid-semester reports?

At the University of Minnesota an Anti-Gossip Club has been formed and its chief rule is that no girl shall listen to gossip or transmit it. Motto: "Blessed is she that bottleth up her mouth—for she shall be called a corker".

Co-eds at University of Pennsylvania are after a mile of coppers for a new gym and lunch room. They need $84,400 which takes exactly one mile of pennies.

Palace Theatre

Wednesday, May 10—A Paramount Picture in five parts featuring Mae Murray entitled "On Record". The beautiful Miss Murray in the role of a country girl in New York. She will be remembered for her great work in 'The Plow Girl', a recent production. Pathe Comedy, 1 reel.

Thursday, May 11—Dorothy Gish and those cute little Triangle kiddies in a mountain play entitled "Children of the Feud". The action takes place in the mountains valley and city, and the characters are real, live men with red blood and strong opinions. Triangle Feature, 5 reels. Universal Comedy, 1 reel.

Friday, May 12—"Envy", first of the series 'The Seven Deadly Sins', featuring Ann Murdock. The story of a girl who envied a great actress. Don't miss the first of this widely advertised and much talked about series of picture Complete in five interest compelling reels. Keystone Komedy, 2 reels.

Saturday, May 13—The wee winsome Marguerite Clark in a Paramount Picture, entitled "The Fortunes of Fifi". Miss Clark in the role of a tiny French actress and at her best, 5 reels. Ford Animated Weekly.

Monday, May 15—If you like a good love story—if you are not dead to sentiment—if you feel young, even if you have lived a thousand years—you will like 'The Criminal', a five part Triangle feature, starring William Desmond and Clara Williams. Universal Comedy, 1 reel.

Tuesday, May 16—Chapter 10 of the thrilling serial "Patria", featuring Mrs. Vernon Castle, 2 reels. A funny Keystone Komedy, 2 reels. Universal Comedy, 1 reel.

It is with pleasure that we announce that you can now see the Triangle and Paramount Pictures, 'The Seven Deadly Sins', and other high class features at the Palace Theatre, and that we are going to spare no expense to give you the best that can be obtained in the way of pictures and service. The Dreamland Theatre will be opened at 6 o'clock each evening, running a first class program of serials and short reel subjects. Thanking you for past patronage and assuring you of a hearty welcome at both houses, we are

Very truly yours,

STIRRING ADDRESSES HEARD IN CHAPEL

Three Prominent Religious Leaders Gave Timely Messages During Week. Strong Speakers.

Times were, and not so long ago, when the student body counted itself fortunate if it had the privilege of listening to a good Chapel address once a week. But "the old order changeth, yielding place to new", and now one hates to miss Chapel for fear he will miss something.

Last week the students had the privilege of listening to some extraordinary messages from Rev. W. P. Stevenson, D. D., of Yonkers, N. Y., Dr. T. J. Porter of Brazil, and Rev. F. E. Hoskins, D. D., of Syria, three prominent religious leaders.

Dr. Stevenson first spoke at the College Prayer Meeting Tuesday night. Taking a seemingly commonplace text (Acts 16.6-9), he brought a message which deeply stirred his hearers. The genral thought was, if Providnce should break up our long cherished plans, and open new and strange doors for us, the new door may be an opportunity for larger service. We should like Paul, obey the call of God to a bigger service, regardless of difficulties and sacrifice. Rev. Dr. Stevenson also spoke at the Chapel exercises Wednesday morning, after being introduced by the Dean as "the poorer half" (Mrs. Stevenson being on the platform with her husband). In his talk to the Ministerial Association Wednesday night, Dr. Stevenson strongly affirmed that War will never be conquered by armaments. He said: "Like begets like. Hatred begets hatred. War begets War. Therefore, War can only be conquered by Love".

Dr. Porter addressed the students in Chapel Thursday morning, speaking on Brazil. He spoke of the effect of Roman Catholicism on that country, which burns the Word of God, sells "indulgences" to its communicants, and despises religious liberty. He made a strong plea for America to send men to Brazil.

Dr. Hoskins, who has worked in Homs, Syria, where our President's father spent so many years of his life, told a terrible story of 500,000 Christian Armenians massacred, and of 1,000,000 deported. He brought the indictment of gross selfishness against the country, saying that out of the 260 mililon dollars of food sent to Belgium, toward which England and France contributed most of the money, 40 million dollars of profits remained in the U. S. And yet we have not given one-fortieth of one percent, of our profits on munitions, towards feeding Belgium. He stated that eighty billions of dollars have been spent here by warring countries since the war began, of which fifteen billions are profits. This would make a $50 increase per capita, to the hundred millions in this country. The speaker was in tremendous earnest when he followed up these figures by saying: "This money will be a curse to us unless we give and lead other Americans to give, of money and service, on a larger scale than we have ever done before, at least in proportion to our increase. This money will burn in our souls unless we learn to give."

Jordan (To Bryson, at Chapel during patriotic program): 'Buzzie', Jo, and 'Dud' seem much at home under that M. C. banner."

Bryson: "Why?"

Jordan: "Well. M. C. means 'married couples'!"

CARNEGIE HALL TO BE DEDICATED ON COMMENCEMENT DAY

The dedication of the new Carnegie Hall will take place on Commencement Day, May 24, at eleven thirty o'clock a. m., immediately after the close of the commencement program. The exercises will be held in front of the new hall, and at their close the building will be open for inspection. On accoun' of the change of the time of Commencement Day, the service will necessarily be brief. There will be a report of the Building Committee, by Prof. Fred Lowry Proffitt, Chairman; an address of presentation of the building to the College in behalf of the people of Blount County, by Rev. James Sawyer Jones, Chairman of the Carnegie Hall Rebuilding Committee of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce; an address of student appreciation by Mr. William Wade Haggard, President of the Students' Carnegie Hall Welfare Association; and an address of acceptance by President Samuel Tyndale Wilson.

The people of Blount County are most cordially invited to attend this exercise, which their generosity has made possible; and also to attend the regular commencement exercises which will take place the same Thursday morning at nine thirty o'clock.

BATTALION NEWS

Last Thursday morning, very unexpectedly, at 11:55 a. m., the first "Call To Arms" sounded. Almost at the first notes of the bugle, it is said, Major Brittain yelled "Class dismissed!" and jumped out of the window, from the first floor Anderson, immediately taking charge of the Battalions, as the members rushed from the classrooms. Spectators were greatly surprised at the facility and dispatch with which the Companies assembled, and marched off to attack the imaginary enemy, which had been located in the College woods. The enemy having been "conquered", the two Battalions marched in review before President Wilson, Dr. Stevenson, a visitor and other members of the faculty and student body.

Major Brittain later complimented the Battalions for their fine showing. He also has announced one or two more "sham battles", a dress parade, and five more drills, for the remaining days of the term.

USING THE LIBRARY

Have you seen them? Do you know that the following books on the Great War, are to be found in the library:

"To Verdun From the Somme", by Harry E. Brittain; "The Irish At The Front", by Michael MacDonough; "When Blood Is Their Argument", by Ford Madox Hueffer; "The Issue", by J. W. Headlam; "The World In The Crucible", by Sir Gilbert Parker; "The Treatment of the Armenians", by Viscount Bryce; "Belguim, Neutral and Loyal", by Emile Waxweiler.

These are a few of the books, on the War, to be found in Alcove M, in the library. Have you seen them? They are not there merely for ornamentation and embellishment. They are in the library to be used. Get the library habit while in college, and keep it up when you go home.

A FUTURE FOOTBALL STAR

The Highland Echo has been notified of the birth of a future Maryville football star. Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Sisk are the proud parents. May 12 was the date. Ask no more questions. We don't know.

TO DECORATION DAY

The season comes, and with it brings a day
On which we honor those who long since marched away;
On which we honor those who
'neath the bomb and shell,
Were ushered into Peace—by instruments of hell!

The death, the pain, the wildest of war cries,
Could not for one instant
blind our heroes' eyes,
Who saw above the strife, that soon should cease,
Portrayed on Victory's canvas,
scenes of Peace.

These heroes' strength, life, love,
yea their all,
Were given in the fight; and in the fall,
The blood which oozed from the once bounding veins
Into the sod, made dark by life-blood stains,
Spoke louder than the angry shout and din,
Which roared above them,
like the voice of Sin.

So come, drop above these mounds, in heaps, your flowers
As tributes to the brave, and loved of ours,
Whose bodies moulder until
Time shall cease,
And they awake 'midst enternal peace.

Oh bless their memory, raise the banner old!
And on the strongest breezes,
let each rippling fold
Speak forth the words each fallen hero spoke,
While on the field he lay,
beneath the leaden smoke;
"Oh live forever, land whose light is love!
Whose faith is ever in the God above!
Still let thy deeds express thy righteous aim;
Still let the world with gladness hail thy name."

—Bertha M. Russell.

PROHIBITION CONTEST WEDNESDAY

Wednesday afternoon 3:15 in the chapel, Mr. Wm. Lowe of the University of Tennessee, and Miss George Ella Simpson, of the College will contest for the honor of representing the state of Tennessee in the Inter-State Prohibition Oratorical Contest.

Life without industry is guilt; industry without art is brutality.

TWO STUDENTS GO TO TRAINING CAMP AT FORT OGLETHORPE

Out of the ten Maryville College men who applied for admission to the Officers' Training Camp, and who passed examinations for same, only two received appointments. Both the lucky one are members of the Class of '17, Edward Ensign and Earl Martin. They have gone to Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., where they will be in training for three months. They will then have one out of four chances of receiving a final appointment in the U. S. Army. Those who receive no appointment, will be held in reserve.

W. E. Martin has handled the athletic news on the Echo this past year and he has given athletics the place they should hold in a college publication.

It is with regret that the other members of the staff see Mr. Martin leave, but they feel sure that if he qualifies as well in soldier life as he has as athletic "dopester" he will receive appointment and a commission in Uncle Sam's Army.

DE INQUISITIONE ET SEQ

The awful torn up time has come,
The toughest of the year;
Of fierce exams and howling kids,
And teachers sour as beer.
Jammed in the corners of our brains
The lessons all lie dead;
They spook round while you dream at night,
Enough to bust your head.

The textbook and the notes are closed,
The teachers all are dumb;
And from the blackboard stares
the test
That puts us on the bum.
Where are the facts? The hard-learned facts
That lately filled the mind,
In clustered groups and crowded troops,
Around, in front, behind?

Alas! They all have slipped away,
The fruit of toilsome hours!
They've packed their grips and said goodbye,
And left these heads of ours.
A horrid vacuum's where they lay,
But the cold nerve-racking pain,
Calls not from out their grim exile,
The needed ones again.

The Latin and Algebra,
They skipped out long ago;
And the history and the English died
Amid the moonshine's glow,
But in the Lab the chemistry,
Like to the torture down below,
And the German with throat-tearing sounds,—
Seemed like they'd be a go.
Till fell those questions on the board
Like measles on a boy,
And the brightness of our smile
is gone,
And fears our hearts employ.

—Eva Ritchie.

SIX APPEARED IN RECITAL

Saturday evening a fine array of talent appeared in recital at the chapel. The numbers were well given and the audience awarded each performer with generous applause. Misses Kittrell, Lowry, Pardue and Rough favored with piano selections, Miss Mary Kate Rankin with vocal numbers, and Mr. M. B. Crum, graduate in Public Speaking, delivered an excellent oration on "Preparedness".

TITLED "THE LITTLE MINISTER"

Annual Class Play Will Be Presented Tuesday Night. A Delightful Drama.

Next Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock the Senior Class will present "The Little Minister" as its class play.

The Little Minister is taken from the book by that name which was written by Barry. The book was dramatized by the great dramatic critic Charles Frohman, and he starred Miss Maude Adams for a number of years in this production.

It is a most delightful drama, wholesome, humorous and full of the dramatic terseness that characterizes the plays of Mr. Frohman.

The scenic effects are most pleasing and have been prepared especially for this production.

The cast includes most of the members of '17 and it has been working hard for several weeks under the direction of Mrs. West and has perfected the parts and the interpretation of them.

Last year there were over two hundred people turned away on account of the house being filled to its capacity. This year there have been five hundred seat reserved and these will assure the holder of a reserve ticket a seat. There will be about six hundred seats that are not reserved.

Tickets will be on sale Thursday and will continue on sale until Monday.

This will be the one big event of the Commencement week and as usual it is expected that a full house will greet the rise of the curtain.

"BULL MOOSE" TICKET DEFEATED

At one of the most exciting elections held on the hill in many moons, the "Bull Moose" put forward in the Athletic Board of Control, were all defeated, with the exceptions of Prof. F. L. Proffitt, Dr. J. A. McCulloch and Miss Ocey Webb.

Professor Proffitt gave an itemized report of the financial standing of the Board, saying that the Board had made a net gain, for the year, of $124.60, but that it is still in debt for old bills, unpaid, to the sum of $840. The following officers were then elected:

President, A. D. Bryson; Vice President, H. W. Feeman; Secretary, John Witherspoon; Faculty representatives, Professors G. A. Knapp and H. L. Ellis; Student representatives, men Gaston Cooper and H. D. McNutt; women, Eleanor Crum and Ocey Webb; town representatives, Dr. J. A. McCulloch and "Buncomb" Kelly.

EDITORIALS

RETROSPECTIVE AND PROSPECTIVE

In another column of this paper will be found a symposium of 'Appreciation of the work of The Highland Echo, for the scholastic year which is fast drawing to a close. The general tone of these communications from representative members of the faculty and student body is truly sanguine and optimistic. The members of the editorial staff of the Echo appreciate these kind words, and feel adequately repaid for any efforts they may have put forth to give to Maryville College—faculty, students and alumni—a truly "live wire" newspaper, The outgoing staff bespeaks for the Editor-elect, and his assistants, the same friendly co-operation which it has enjoyed during the year.

Taking a prospective view of student publications on College Hill, one immediately faces the need of a supplement to the weekly college newspaper. the need of an organ thru which the literary talents of the student body may be expressed, and by means of which these faculties may be developed. As was stated in this column last week, the old College Monthly filled this need before the advent of The Highland Echo. The Highland Echo had to come as a result of the growth and progress of the College, and it fills a specific need. To the faculty and students, it is, as Principal Ellis properly expresses it, "a medium for the dissemination of college news, a promoter of student activities, and an organ for the expression of student opinion". To the alumni, it is, as President Wilson naively states it, "a weekly newsletter from the old hill". But the Echo is a newspaper. It cannot be a literary publication in the accepted sense. There is no doubt therefore, but that the proposed revival of the College Monthly would meet wtih the approval of both the faculty and students. But would it be practicable, especially in view of the present world situation? A number of the faculty and students think not. The writer agrees with them. We need the Echo and we need the College Monthly. Someday Maryville students will issue both of these publications, and do it well. At present—well, let's first defeat the Kaiser.

When first he came to see her,
He had a timid heart,
And each night on the sofa
They sat this far apart.

But when their love grew stronger
He had a braver heart,
When he began the miss to kiss,

THE ECHO---THE COLLEGE MONTHLY

Comments From Faculty and Students On Merits of The Two Publications.

The writer was, in 1876, one of the two Maryville students that edited, printed and published a modest monthly entitled The Maryville Student. Since that date he has read all the various annual, occasional, quarterly, monthly and weekly publications that have been issued by the College or by the students. The Highland Echo this year has given probably the most general and well-proportioned reports of the news of the hill that have yet been presented by any Maryville publication. Its editors have had the news instinct, and have worked continuously and hard to cover the field. The alumni and old students are finding that in it they may have a weekly news-letter from the old hill. This fact will make it easier for the staff of next year's Echo to secure a more nearly adequate subscription list.

—President S. T. Wilson.

The Echo has been a success during the past year. Its news has been crisp, terse, and interesting to students, alumni, faculty and the public. A better college weekly is not published in the state of Tennessee.

—Dean Jasper C. Barnes.

The Highland Echo has proved not only its right to exist but to have the loyal support of the students and of all others interested in the College. It serves admirably as a medium for the dissemination of college news, as a promoter of student activities and as an organ for the expression of student opinion.

—Principal H. L. Ellis.

We have an admirable "Echo". It not only reflects what has already sounded, but gives the keynote of what is coming. He who wills may read the news of College life.

I wish, however, to urge strongly that you publish, in addition to the Echo, a Literary Monthly. We need it to represent us among all colleges of high standing. We need it as an incentive to put forth our best literary efforts.

—Jane B. S. Alexander.

The Echo has more than filled the place of the College Monthly in many ways, but limitations of space prevent it from serving as a literary magazine. I trust that the time may soon come when it will be possible for Maryville to support both a weekly newspaper and a monthly literary magazine. However, it is my opinion that that time has not yet arrived.

—H. J. Bassett.

In appreciation of the Highland Echo I must say that it is certainly a live wire, on the Hill. I have read every issue with interest. The work has been well done. Those in charge of the paper deserve much credit.

There is some discussion on the Hill as to reviving the old Monthly as a purely literary magazine. This would be very beneficial and would speak highly of Maryville College; but I do not think that the two publications would be practicable. It would be very difficult to get the necessary student support and the business men of Maryville and elsewhere would not support it by their ads which aid very much. The weekly publication would take precedence over the monthly.

W. W. Haggard.

A very unique feature of the Echo is the fact that it is not only up-to-date, but it is ahead-of-date.

But the Echo can never take the place of the Monthly. In the whole scope of the English Department there are, no doubt, many fine papers which are never seen except by the writers and the professors. A monthly publication would serve as a fit compendium in which to gather all the select compositions, thus inspiring prospective contributors to greater effort and stimulating the literary talent of the Hill,

J. H. Turner.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Have you seen the American and British flags flying side by side from "Tommy" Loft's window? "Tommy" is evidently becoming ultra patriotic.

A certain young man in the English IV class was just commencing on a general tirade against the vanity of vanities—women's hats—when the "Call to Arms" sounded (last Thursday). Lucky young man!

Born to the family of Mr. and Mrs. Pinkie (White Rats), in the Biology Laboratory, a nice little litter of eight promising "young uns".

Prof. J. W. Perkins, former head of the Foreign Language Department of the College, was recently promoted by the Government to the position of Chief Translator of Foreign Languages, in the Agricultural Department, having passed examinations with the highest grade of any man in America.

"Bob" Adams is kindly requested to look up Judges 16:19.

"If you'd succeed
This adage mind;
First find your work;
Then work your find."

"Mother's Day" was fittingly observed by students and faculty. Red and white carnations were very much in evidence.

Rev. E. S. Lheureux, for fourteen years a missionary in Aguadilla, Porto Rico, is a visitor at the College this week. He is a former pupil of our Professor Knapp. He spoke in Chapel Monday morning.

Deck Williams says he is glad that he is a hybrid, since he has learned that mixed-blooded hogs are better than the pure-blooded.

Prof. C. H. Gillingham occupied the pulpit of the Fourth Presbyterian Church, of Knoxville, last Sunday. Dr. J. P. Calhoun, the pastor, preached the dedicatory sermon of the Sunday School Annex, at the New Providence Church.

Breathes there a man with soul so dead
Who never to himself hath said,
As he banged his toe against the bed:
(? : ; ! ! **—! —? ; ? ? !)

THANKS

The acting editor of the "Literary Number" of The Echo desires to express his gratitude to all those who co-operated in getting out this issue, whether by contributing their own papers, or by getting others to do so. Nearly all of the papers handed in were of such extraordinary worth and excellence, that it was hard to decide which to choose, and which to reject. All the papers could not be used, for lack of space.

DIN OF THE DINNER HOUR

The "Amen" is sung, and five hundred chairs are instantly occupied by five hundred hungry students. Five hundred pairs of hands are armed with knives and forks to attack the resisting bones and to catch the slippery beans. The sound of dingling spoons in the crockery cups mix with the "Pass me the bread", and the "Thank you for the salt", uttered from, at least, a hundred mouths. This is the din of the dinner hour at Pearsons.

—Joel Georges.

GOD'S OMNIPOTENCE

I have watched, through a whole night, the blind fury of a blizzard, so fascinated and awed by the power of the storm and half fearful of the consequences, that sleep was impossible; and have seen the day dawn on a scene of such peace and beauty as one must see to appreciate. Who can thus behold the forces of Nature in such a striving, and fail to be impressed, as perhaps never before, with the weakness of man and the omnipotence of God?

—Marion E. Henry.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Literary Society is now closing one of the most prosperous years in its history. Though beginning in September under the most unfavorable conditions, the Athenians have been wide awake, and have succeeded in placing the society on a very satisfactory basis. Seventeen Athenians having graduated in the class of '16, barely a dozen old members had returned; but knowing that in union there is strength, these few men made one concerted effort to dispel the hovering clouds of gloom and despair. So relying upon the old Athenian principle of "quality, not quantity", they began the work which has been such that any literary organization would heartily endorse. And in closing the year every member of the society feels that success has been immeasurably obtained.

The society has given two public programs, both of which have been highly successful. The midwinter number "Alaska" given December 15, favorably impressed the college.

The Declamation Contest which, on account of the number of Athenians representing the College in debate, was substituted for the annual oratorical contst has received very favorable comments. The manner in which the declaimers acquitted themselves reflects credit on the work of the society.

The forensic training given by the society this year has been very valuable to the college. Of the four teen men who tried out for intercollegiate debate, ten were chosen, either as regulars or alternates, to represent the college. Also in interclass debate Athenians have played a leading role. The prospects for another year are bright indeed.

ALPHA SIGMA

In the year 1882 nine men organized the Alpha Sigma Literary Society, with John Grant Newman as President; Abe Greer, Secetary; and D. A. Heron, Censor.

Since its inception, the Alpha Sigma Literary Society has given to the world over two hundred graduates. Of those in this country, we may mention, Dr. John Grant Newman, the founder, who is a prominent man and famous pastor, in Philadelphia, Pa.; and in Africa, we are represented by Fred Hope, who has done and is doing a wonderful work among the people of the Dark Continent.

The quality of a literary society may be judged, first, by the individual work of its members, in oratory, debating, and literary productions; and, second, by the collective ability of the society, as revealed in the annual Midwinter entertainments. In these respects, the Alpha Sigma Literary Society has been a leader on the hill for many years. Take, for instance, the student publications—the old Maryville College Monthly, and the present "Highland Echo. In 1909, 1910, 1914, 1915 and 1916-17, Alpha Sigma men held the position of Editor-in-Chief. The Editor-elect for next year, J. H. Turner, is also a loyal member of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society.

And so for over thirty-four years, Alpha Sigma has continued its triumphant march of progress. Brilliant as has been her past, the Society has a still brighter and grander future.

THETA EPSILON

When this school year began the Theta Epsilon Literary Society found that she had lost many of her old members but those who were here set to work and soon the society was on a boom. The new girls who became loyal Thetas have added their efforts and now it can be said that the year has been a success.

In her mid-winter she further proved that she possessed some of

ON THE FIRING LINE

Imagine yourself in the Somme region in France, located on a small hill looking across a tiny valley. On the other side of the valley is one of the French trenches, and two or three hundred yards beyond, over a gentle rise of dead grass and craters, is the German trench, both dug out to a depth of ten or fifteen feet. Nobody is visible either in the trenches or in the space between.

Suddenly a mighty firing takes place. The Germans are making a charge! Above the chalky earth, the flashes of bursting shells dance about like vicious fireflies and the parapets bubble with dust-spits from the bullets. For the first time you see evidence of life in the German trenches. Men leap out of cover with now and then one reaching the second line of trenches without falling.

Now the French trench has also come to life. Men are climbing over the parapet, crossing the open, nobody rushing ahead and shouting, nobody swinging his hat and cheering; but rushing onward, pausing now and then, as men do when a furnace door, thrown open, sends its hot glare in the face, and then onward, capturing some of the Germans before they realize that the artillery fire has ceased.

There is a pause. For a moment no flashes are to be seen in the thick mantle of smoke. The guns have lifted their torrents in a minute's time to the second line of the German trenches.

Now your ears are oblivious to the sweep of shells overhead. You listen to the almost continuous firing of the machine guns and wonder if the Germans will be able to bring a machine gun to bear. There it is! Some figures can be seen coming toward you, and when close enough to be detected, you see it is the French retreating. For several hours this swaying to and fro of the two armies goes on. Finally, when firing has ceased, and the smoke has cleared away, your eyes behold a valley of men, dead, dying, and wounded.

HOW HE GAVE IT AWAY

"Say Mother, may I go over to Jame's to play?"

The question was put by a five-year-old boy as the finishing touches of his afternoon toilet were being administered.

"Horace' you know I don't like to have you go to Jame's because of the trolleytracks on South Broad Street. Couldn't James come over here to play?"

"No Moth', James told me he aint allowed out of his yard to play this week because he got "Poor" on his conduct card in school last week. And anyway Moth'. I'll be careful about the cars".

"Well, you may go for an hour. Now be sure that you go straight to James' and be very careful".

Mrs. Armstrong watched, with admiring eyes, her small son in his spotless pink gingham, as he skipped down the street and around the corner. Five minutes passed. Mrs. Armstrong had gone upstairs to rest for a half hour, when she was startled by Horace's wailing as he burst into the hall. She rushed to mee htim and such a spectacle as her eyes behld! He stood before her covered with an oily black mud, his bright, curly hair full of the same compound, but mixed with blood which flowed from a cut in the back of his head—a most wretched-looking bit of humanity.

"Why child, whatever has happened to you?" And with trembling hands she led him upstairs to dress his wound.

"Oh mother, some big nigger boy came up to me and just knocked me right down in the street and cut my head".

"I'm sure I don't understand why anybody should do such a thing to a little boy. Have you ever called him names?"

"No Moth'. I never even saw him before. I didn't do a thing to him. I was just walking along South Broad Street to James'."

A month later Horace was walking beside his mother down on Broad Street, seemingly absorbed in watching the traffic. Presently he looked up at his mother and said in his most innocent manner, "Gee Moth'. you wouldn't think those cars go so fast till you get on the back of one of 'em, and then, I'll tell you, they just go like the wind".

It didn't take a Scotland Yard detective to solve the mystery of Horace's encounter with the colored boy.

A HOLIDAY

What is more glorious than a holiday?
Then cares and duties banished from the mind,
Leave the heart light and gay and free to find
Pleasure in everything along the way.
All life seems joyful as a day in May,
When birds are singing and the soft spring breeze
Sways gently to and fro the budding trees,
And wild flowers 'long the babbling brooklets play.
A holiday—that day so prized in youth,
When all the petty troubles thrown aside—
Which seem to youth, as trouble, but in truth
Are only trivial things in this world wide.
Permit amusement, that loved Muse, forsooth
To hold full sway—then nought else can abide.

the best literary, dramatic, and musical talent on the Hill. The scenes given from the various countries showed much thought and practice, and the closing American scene aroused enthusiasm for the blue and white of Theta as well as the stars and stripes.

The society has a record to be proud of, but a bright future lies before her and we hope that the term opening in September, 1917 will bring greater success than ever before.

BAINONIAN

The Bainonians have just completed a very successful year, having had many interesting and unique programs.

Officers have been elected for the Fall Term of 1917; President, Mattie Fisher; Vice President, Grace Bailey; Secretary, Dexter Clayton; Treasurer, Mary Jane Hartman; Editor, Agnes Dolvin; Program Secretary, Myra Bogart; Literary Critic, Zeora Brocklehurst; Music Critic, Mary Emma Armentrout; Censor, Helen Brown; Sergeant-at-Arms, Hattie Hayes. With this efficient corps of officers Bainonian of '17-'18 must be indeed a "bigger and better Bainonian".

Palace Theatre

Wednesday, May 16—Paramount Feature in five parts featuring Blanche Sweet entitled, "Those Without Sin". The scenes of the story are laid in Richmond, Va., during the Civil War. Miss Sweet plays the role of al ovely Southern girl in a remarkable and typically romantic Southern story.

Thrusday, May 17—Mae Marsh and Robert Harron in "The Wharf Rat", a five act Triangle feature. There are many mingled notes of humor and pathos in this story that are sure to reach the soul. This play shows Mae Marsh and Robert Harron at their best.

Friday, May 18—PRIDE, second of the series "The Seven Deadly Sins", featuring Holbrook Blinn. 'Pride goeth before a fall'. Do you know folks who are haughty and think they are better than any one else? See what happens to them in Pride. Are you Proud? See PRIDE aSturday, May 19—Charming Doro in a five part Paramount feature entitled "Castles for Two". Miss Doro as the little Irish maid is more vivacious and charming than ever. A beautiful story.

Monday, May 21—William Desmond and Dorothy Dalton in "A Gamble in Souls", Triangle feature in five acts. What would you do if you were thrown together and forced to share the company of a man you hated? This story concerns the strange adventures of a minister and a lady of the stage who are thrown together on an island. Don't miss it.

Tuesday, May 22—World Pictures, Brady-Made present Muriel Ostriche in a five part feature photo play entitled "Moral Courage". This feature is a delightful story of Scotch people in America. Patria, Chapter 11, featuring Mrs. Vernon Castle.

There wlil be a one rel comedy run with the feature each day and the Dreamland will continue to open its doors at 6 p. m. with a high class program of serials and short reel subjects.

FORWARD FUND REACHES $220,000

Dr. Wilson Writes of Excellent Progress Made. "Watchful Waiting" During War.

During the past two college financial years ending on May 15, 1917, Maryville College has been engaged in prosecuting an attempt to secure gifts to the amount of $300,000 to enable the institution to broaden, deepen and strengthen its usefulness and efficiency for the work of the new century upon which it is about to enter. The tragedy of the burning of Carnegie Hall added $25,000 and more to the amount that had to be raised.

The blessing of Providence has been upon this movement from its inception. On January 27, 1916, the General Education Board pledged $75,000 toward this fund on condition that $225,000 additional be secured in unincumbered pledges and cash gifts from living persons by July 1918. Bequests and annuity investments could not be counted in the fund.

The calamities befalling the College in the destruction of Carnegie Hall and the death of Miss Henry were overruled by Providence for the advancement of this campaign. Blount County, including the college faculty, subscribed $22,457 to the rebuilding fund, and Miss Henry's friends have contributed $17,347 and subscribed $1,950 more to the Margaret E. Henry Memorial Work and Scholarship Fund.

Other friends have been raised up for Maryville until now the writer is profoundly thankful to be able to announce that there have been secured subscriptions to the Centennial Forward Fund to the amount of $220,009.31, or more than two-thirds of the entire amount sought. And there remains another year before the time limit for the securing of pledges shall be reached.

Had not the war intervened with its paralyzing effect on gifts to colleges, in all human probability the entire $325,000 would have been secured by next year. As it is, however, one or two applications of great importance have been declined on account of the call of suffering peoples in the World War. It may be necessary now to ask the General Education Board to extend the time limit. "Watchful waiting" will have to be indulged in at present. An active campaign may prejudice the cause of the College.

In spite of the great success of this Centennial campaign, the College is in sore financial straits. Its work and scholarship funds are badly overdrawn; $28,000 of its permanent funds are at present tied up by the cashing of the Blount County and other four years' subscriptions to Carnegie Hall; the war is considerably increasing its expenses and will diminish its receipts; while the added income is thus far mainly added to the special funds that cannot be drawn upon for general purposes. The next year is full of serious problems and anxieties. The College, however, will try to do its duty, and will go ahead confident that in his own way God will lead the College out into a broad place. Meanwhile let every loyal Maryville heart "praise God from whom all blessings flow".

JOHN COPP IN TRAINING

John Archibald Copp, pitcher for the ball team last year, is in training at Fort Slocum, New York. He may be sent to Tennessee with the Cavalry to which arm of the service he belongs.

NEW CARNEGIE TO BE DEDICATED THURSDAY

New Carnegie Hall, started in June 1916, and completed in December 1916 will be dedicated next Thursday morning at 11:30 a. m.

The people of Blount County who made possible its erection by their liberal contributions have been sent especial invitations to be present at the exercises.

The speakers will be Rev. Jas. S. Jones, representing Blount County, Dr. S. T. Wilson of the College and W W. Haggard in behalf of the Carnegie Welfare Association.

This handsome new building was constructed at a cost of $60,000. It has accommodation for 235 men, also suites of five rooms each for the families of the proctors.

This latest addition to the growing number of buildings on college hill is one of the most complete and modernly equipped of its kind in the State and will be a lasting monument to the generosity of the people of Blount County.

SOPHS WON INTERCLASS TENNIS TOURNAMENT

The Soph tennis team defeated first the Freshman team and then the Junior team. The Seniors had no team in the field, so the "Hill" championship went to the Sophs. Messrs. Sears and Adams composed the Soph team and they worked exceedingly well together.

The Sophs have done exceptionally well in interclass athletics during the past year, having won the football, and basketball and tennis champs in the boys' games. It is to be regretted that there can be no baseball games between the classes this year, as the Sophs had a good bid on an additional honor.

STUDENT TOURNAMENT

Out of the twelve contestants for the Varsity Tennis Team—which is composed of three players,—the three men who remain undefeated are Lloyd Grant, Charles Jellicorse, and Horace Dawson.

STUDENT-FACULTY TOURNAMENT

The girls' teams, Miss Anita Hackworth, and Miss Ella Louis, defeated the ladies team of the Faculty in two straight sets, Friday afternoon at 3:30. The score was 6-3, 6-2.

The Faculty men's team, Prof. Johnson and Prof. Davis, in retaliation, took two straight sets from the students' team, Lloyd Grant and Horace Dawson. The score was 6-4, 6-3.

ALUMNI BEGIN TO RETURN

With the coming of graduation and exams come the old students who have been out in the "cold" world fighting life's battle. Among the early arrivals are, Messrs. McCurry, Fisher and Powell of '16 and Miss Lula Creswell of '16. There are many more who will breeze up on the old "Hill" during the next day or two to receive a hearty welcome from their old college friends and from their Alma Mater.

The Annual Alumni dinner will be held in Pearsons Hall at 12:30 on Thursday and this is the big event for the Alumni and is always largely attended.

There are people who live near to science and never know it.

TWELVE HUNDRED MEN MOBILIZING FOR WORK IN ARMY CAMP

Three Million Dollars Being Raised For Y. M. C. A. Work.

Mobilization for Christian work in the Army camps is the proper word. Those who are acquainted with the history of the Young Men's Christian Association know something of the wonderful work done by this organization in the trenches during the Japanese-Russian War. No factor was more important in Mexican Border work than that of the Young Men's Christian Association. This organization is now doing and has been doing for two years a wonderful piece of work in the Prison camps of Europe and also in the mobilization camps. Perhaps the greatest single piece of work it has yet undertaken will be to conduct Christian work among the million men who are to be mustered into service by the United States Army at the present time.

Twelve Hundred Men Needed

Twelve hundred of the choicest and best trained men are now to be called to this work. Two hundred good Army Association buildings will be constructed in the various camps throughout the United States. These buildings will be large wooden structures with auditorium, writing rooms, game rooms, offices, etc. In each building there will be first a General Secretary who has large training and experience. These men will probably be recruited from the men of the largest City, Railroad, and Industrial Associations. Next, there will be in each building a trained Physical Director who will have charge of play, recreation, lectures on First Aid to the Injured, and kindred topics. These men must be men of real experience and preferably men of medical training. Third, there will be a Religious Work Director who will have charge of Bible study classes to be conducted among the

ATHLETICS HAVE GOOD SEASON FINANCIALLY

At the meeting of the Athletic Association last week the Treasurer's report for the past season was given by F. L. Proffitt. For some years past the Association has been losing money. This year the receipts have been sufficient to meet all expenses and at the same time pay a debt of $140.00 carried over from last year. The Association is still in the hole to the extent of $840. This debt was contracted several years ago owing to poor management, stated Mr. Proffitt.

The Association extended a vote of thanks to Treasurer Proffitt for his faithful work of the past year. He richly deserved it as it has taken a great deal of time and work to care for the financial side of athletics during the past season.

With the new Athletic Fee for next year it will be an easier matter to direct the exepnditure of the necessary funds, and it is hoped that a few years will see the Association entirely free of debt.

MISS SIMPSON WON THE RUN-OFF LAST WEEK

Miss Simpson and Mr. Lowe of the U. T. decided who would be Tennessee's representative in the Southern States Prohibition Contest last Wednesday in Voorhees chapel.

It was no "walk-away" for Miss Simpson, as the decision of the judges was very close. Miss Simpson received 100 percent and Mr. Lowe 98 percent from each judge. It was a hard earned victory and the Orange and White put up a strong fight against the Orange and Garnet.

This is one more triumph for Maryville over Tennessee and gives M. C. the largest number of victories for the past year.

ANNUAL AUDIT OF TREASURER'S BOOKS

Mr. Spencer of the firm of Spencer and McCloud of Atlanta, Ga., arrived on the hill yesterday to make the annual audit of the college accounts.

Mr. Spencer is making his fourth visit to the college and heretofore always found the books in excellent condition. It is needless to say that Treasurer Proffitt expects him to do the same again this year.

FOOT BALL OUTLOOK FOR NEXT FALL

Everything Points To Championship Team Again. Will Be Light and Fast.

If expereince makes a team, Maryville will surely have a football team next fall. With every man except Captain Ensign back a record like the season before last can be the only logical outcome. Unless some are called to the colors a wonderful array of material will be on the field.

First there is Captain-elect Greer, then Manager Bryson, then Sentelle, Feeman, Briggs, Sears, Cooper, Flannery, Ford, Stevens, Hurst, Tulloch and Clemens, all letter men. Kirkgard may also be back bringing several Texas "cow boys". There will be a fine bunch of this year's second string men. McNutt, the future Ensign, "Red Hayes", Reed and other promising players that are sure to make somebody hustle for a position. A veteran line, and veteran backfield looks mighty good just now.

Manager Bryson has arranged a very unusual schedule, full of important games. This year some regretted there were not more home games. Next year there will be five home games. An open date on Sept. 25th., Athens University on Oct. 13th., then Mercer University and Center College on the next two Saturdays, and finally Tusculum on Thanksgiving.

Four games will be played away from home, although the first one on October 6 with U. T. is really a home game. With their demoralized condition and with our splendid record of last year's game, scoring as much on them as Vanderbilt, it looks as though M. C. has a mighty good chance to win. The other three games are with Chattanooga, King College and Emory and Henry.

Such a schedule that includes three S. I. A. A. teams, Mercer, Chattanooga, and U. T. combined with such a team as we have, will put Maryville one notch higher on the series of admirable records our past football history has shown.

MEASLES PREDOMINATED AT THE HOSPITAL

During the past scholastic year there were 126 patients treated, and treated well at the college emporium for the ill. In making the annual report of the nurse-in-charge, Miss Postlethwaite emphasized the splendid attendance given by the local physicians who hold tri-weekly clinics.

The patients treated by the nurse for minor ills numbered from three to twelve daily.

The classified cases treated were as follows, Appendicitis 2, La Grippe 8, Tonsilitis 4, Measles 35 and Injuries 5. It can be seen that measles attracted the most attention from the nurse, and it might be added that but for the great care taken in handling this disease there would have been a serious epidemic prevailing during the winter.

Miss Postlethwaite goes to John Hopkins for the summer, where she is to have charge of a ward.

COLLEGE OFFICES WILL REMAIN OPEN

As is the usual custom the college offices will be open during the entire summer vacation. There is a large amount of correspondence that must be taken care of and the clerical force is busy during the three months of grace.

All communications relative to rooms, entrance, courses and student work should be addressed to registrar Gillingham. These matters will receive prompt and accurate attention at any time.

EDITORIALS

BOOST THE NEXT VOLUME

Owing to the early close of college we will be compelled to cease publication of the Echo with this, the twenty-ninth issue. It was our guarantee to publish thirty numbers, but as there is no more time on the college calendar we will be forced to close this volume of the Echo with the twenty-ninth number.

The staff has deemed it a privilege and honor to serve the student body and the college in editing the college paper for the past year. We have had our short-comings, and made our mistakes; yet we have, to the best of our ability, represented the many activities of college life as carried on here in Maryville.

Next year will witness a new staff at the head of the Echo. We wish them every success in their efforts to meet the approval of faculty and students. To make a college paper a live wire it is essential to have the support and assistance of the student body. We have been accorded splendid support during the past year, and sincerely hope that every student and alumnus will boost the third volume as they have the second.

Talk it up during the summer as you talk up your college. Send for copies to give to prospective students. When you return to the 'Hill' in the fall, subscribe to the Echo the first thing. Begin now,—keep it going—boost your college paper for next year.

TO THE ADVERTISERS

Th Echo wishes to thank you for your support for the past year. You have made the paper a possibility and at the same time have been able to put your wares before the student body and faculty of Maryville College.

We trust that you have received a share of the student business, and that you now believe the Echo is an excellent advertising medium.

We sincerely hope that you will find it within your power to advertise herein again next year, and we assure you that the students have appreciated and will appreciate the support given their paper.

SNAP MOVED UP TO WEDNESDAY NIGHT

It has been announced that the date of the final snap of the year has been moved up one night. In place of Thursday night, it will be held on Wednesday night. This is the last "go-round" for the year and a full floor will give evidence of the crowd present.

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES NEARLY OVER

With the awarding of diplomas to the Senior Class next Thursday morning the ninety-eighth commencement exercises of Maryville College will be over.

Last Friday night the Home Economics Department held its graduation exercises. Prof. Harry Clark of the University of Tennessee was the speaker of the evening.

Misses Burchfield, Foster, Wilson and Margaret Jones received diplomas.

On Saturday evening the Departments of Music and Expression awarded diplomas to their graduates and post graduates. Rev. Roy E. Vale of Knoxville made the address and awarded the sheep skins.

Misses Muriel Mitchell and Erma Russell received the diploma of graduate in Expression. Mr. M. B. Crum was graduated from the department of Public Speaking.

Miss Celia Rough was the only graduate in Piano. There were seven post-graduates in this school. Misses Catlett, Decker, Gibson, Kittrell, Lowry, Pardue and Sugg.

Miss Mary Kate Rankin was post graduate in the school of Vocal Culture.

These exercises were well attended and proved enjoyable to every one.

Sunday morning Dr. S. T. Wilson delivered the annual baccalaureate sermon to the Senior Class. He used as his subject, "One Man Power". It was a most fitting address and made each Senior realize the need of "One Man Power", and his duty to the nation and his God.

Tonight the Class Play, "The Little Minister", and then on Thursday the Comemncement will take place. This will close the program for the ninety-eighth annual commencement of Maryville College.

BLUE RIDGE

BY DR. H. H. HORNE
UNIVERSITY OF NEW YORK

Have you ever given yourself the chance of a mountain inspiration? Remember Moses on Mount Sinai; Elijah on Mount Horeb, and Jesus on the Mount of Transfiguration. This chance awaits you at Blue Ridge.

Have you had difficulty in getting the saving habit or the Morning Watch established? It is easy at Blue Ridge.

Do you know what leading men of the South and of the North are thinking today about practical Christianity? You can learn from seeing and hearing these men at Blue Ridge.

Are you really concerned to rid your life of the power of temptation and have conquering strength return? Other men have done this at Blue Ridge.

Do you need to increase your efficiency as Association officer, group leader, and personal worker? You can do so at Blue Ridge.

Are you looking for the giltest-edge investment of money you ever made? You will find it at Blue Ridge.

"REDS" DEFEAT "BLUES" IN BIG SHAM BATTLE

For the first time in a decade the crack of guns and the trample of marching feet was heard on the college campus yesterday afternoon.

It was the first time the embryo soldiers were ever under fire and both "armies" gave good account of themselves during the melee.

The Reds, composed of Companies A and B were the attacking forces, while Companies C and D were the defenders. The army of the Reds had been placed at a place unknown to the Blues. It was their purpose to capture the "Hill" around Anderson Hall.

Officers with field glasses scoured the surrounding hills for a sight of the Reds, but they kept under cover until they made a feign attack from the tennis courts. The entire army of the Blues endeavored to return the fire of this feign, and while so engaged the Reds completed a flank move and were soon firing on the Blues from left flank.

The umpires, Capt Lonas, Jas. B. Hedge, Jr., C. H. Gillingham and T. W. Goddard decided the Reds had been the victors.

The sham battle was under the direction of Major Brittain and it gave a splendid idea of the progress and efficiency attained by the Battalion. The men and officers seemed perfectly at home with their arms, and executed orders with the precision of long trained troops.

Although no action has been taken officially, it is expected that Military Training will be one of the perscribed courses for next year.

WOMEN NEEDED TO FILL VACANCIES LEFT BY MEN

Two Million Men Will Leave Office Positions During the Next Twelve Months to Defend the Flag, and Women Should Begin to Prepare at Once to Meet The Greatest Demand in the History of the Country For Them.

The trumphet of war has sounded. From coast to coast the "sons of their fathers" are leaving the paths of peace for the paths of war.

Two million men of military age are leaving the offices and factories to defend our country.

The duty of the women is clear. They must prepare now to take the places of these men. Their patriotism leaves them no choice.

Never in the history of American business will there be such a demand for office help of every character as will devulge in the next few months.

The business world and Uncle Sam Civil Service departments cannot cease their operations in the least—yet vacancies are plentiful now, and the demand is growing greater. Business and governmental operations must go on.

It is up to every woman to do her share. Communicate with Hu Woodward, president of the Knoxville Business College, regarding the special "preparedness" course for women his college is offering, and get information about the civil service course recently added to the curriculum of that college. The civil service course is an authorized course and the Knoxville Business College is the only school in this section teaching same. Summer Sessions. Advt.

CHILHOWEAN EXPECTED TOMORROW

The Business Manager of the Chilhowean, J. H. Turner, gives the welcome information that the Annual will be on the campus ready for distribution tomorrow. There have been over three hundred annuals contracted for and those who have reserved books will be the first served.

The latest volume of the Chilhowean is said to be the best yet, and if it reaches the expectation of its editors it will be a credit to the Class of '18 and to the College.

TWELVE HUNDRED MEN MOBILIZING FOR WORK IN ARMY CAMPS

soldiers, the daily religious meetings to be held, training and personal evangelism, educational work, etc. Many of these men will be recruited from the college secretaries of the Young Men's Associations, younger alumni who are now in the ministry, and other alumni who were active in Association work during their college careers. In choosing these men, undoubtedly preference will be given to men who have attended one or more Summer Conferences. In addition to the three foregoing men, there will be located in each army building from two to four Assistant Secretaries. Most of these men are to be recruited from recent graduates, graduate students, senior students of marked ability, and others who have been active in Christian work.

It will thus be seen at a glance that two hundred secretaries with large experience will be needed, two hundrd physical directors, two hundred religious work directors, and from four to six hundred assistant secretaries.

Suggested Method of Selecting and Training These Men

It is expected that the two hundred Religious Work Directors and the six hundred Assistant Secretaries will be chosen and trained in connection with the Summer Conferences to be held at the various places in the United States. In the South, this Conference will in all probability be held at Blue Ridge, N. C., the students coming together at the same date as our Student Conference, June 12th. To this Conference we are inviting all men who are qualified to fill any of these places. From those coming, the best qualified group will be chosen for this work. Here and there an outstanding man may be chosen ahead but with the specific understanding that he will go to the Conference. During the Students Conference, we expect that there will be a regular Association course on Army Association Work. In other words, those who take this work must have as rigid training as those in the officers' recruiting corps. The War Council of one hundred men appointed by the International Committee has decided that thirty days is to be the time required for each such worker.

Government Recognition

Ex-President Roosevelt has said that the Panama Canal could not have been built had it not been for the Young Men's Christian Association in the Canal Zone. This organization kept the men fit, clean and happy, and without it, officers testify that the project would have failed. Hence the United States government built the club houses in which the Y. M. C. A. work was done, put the secretaries on the United States payroll and in every way facilitated the work of the Association.

The War Department and President Wilson have been more than enthusiastic about the work done on the Mexican Border, hence they are giving large opportunities for the work of the Association in the Army Camps to be organized. It cannot now be said with certainty but there is every chance that the Y. M. C. A. Secretaries will all be regularly recognized, thus giving them regular army standing.

A Supreme Chance for Service

Perhaps there is no place in the war program where a man with recognized training in service has any larger opportunity than in the secretaryship of the Association. Each man will be in direct relationship to at least one thousand men and if he can help a thousand soldiers to live a more wholesome, normal and manly life, he will have done more than almost any other man to make a real fighting machine. A call to be a Secretary, therefore, is a call to the very highest patriotic service. It is volunteering for am ost difficult task and a most needed service.

Already certain colleges in the South have volunteered to pay the salary of a secretary representing their college, either in the person of one of their own secretaries or one of their chosen alumni. Every college in the South should be represented in some fashion. Certainly there is no college that ought not to have from one or more of its very strongest students, seniors or alumni, attend this Conference for the sake of entering the secretaryship of the Association provided they prove to have sufficient qualifications. Already the Committee of one hundred is raising $3,000,000 to defray the exepenses of this work the first year.

Trained Leadership Needed

Not only is there a great need of trained men to be secretaries but there is more urgent need today for trained leadership among college men than ever before. If a man is to return to college he must take up the burden of the Association laid down by the older students who have gone to the Army Camps. If he is to be in the ranks of the Army, all the training possible will be needed to help him do his share in stemming the tide of temptation that will face every soldier in camp. This ought, therefore, to be the greatest year for training that the the colleges have ever had and let no one think that we should have a smaller Student Conference. We should have from one to two hundred more men at the Student Conference than ever bfore.

This war is a war for moral principles and it can not be waged except by men of moral character. If ever men needed to make real sacrifice for getting ready to do battle now is the time. It should not be said to our shame that this war for moral principles has undercut our preparation for moral living.

KIRKGARD STILL GOING

In a recent issue of the Knoxville Sentinel there appeared a picture of Henry Kirkgard of Dallas, Tex. The accompaning news note told of a record he had made in the 100 yard dash during a prep track meet, doing it in ten seconds flat.

It will be remembered that "Tex" was a member of the championship football team of Maryville College in 1915. He was compelled to leave school in the spring, following an operation for appendicitis. It has been rumored that he will return next fall as a Freshman. If he does—well look out for a bird-of-a-halfback.

YOUTH, DAYS OF DECISION

BERTHA M. RUSSELL

Scorn not at the youth's high ambition,
Speak not to his heart words of fear,
Oh, blight not the blossom so tender,
Oh, turn not the smile to a tear!
For these are his days of decsion
On subjects to prove his success,
Yea, these are his days of foundation,
On which his attainment shall rest.

Each hour that he looses is hopeless,
No effort its gold then regains,
For once—then its value is wasted,
And no one its treasure obtains.
But once will he pass o'er this highway,
Then block not the path with a stone.
Nay, cause not the pilgrim to stumble,
Lest you for his fall shall atone.

Of all the sad scenes on the life race
The saddest is youth in its blight;
And once its fair leaves are found with'ring
No hand can recover their light.
Nay, no rose is ever refreshened
When tramped in the dust from its use;
And no life is e'er known to blossom,
When stung in the fair bud of youth.

'91. Rev. W. E. Graham, D. D., is pastor of the Union Presbyterian Church in Fort Madison, Iowa.

'97. Rev. A. A. Griffes, Ph. D., of Rockford, Ohio, has offered his services to the government as chaplain.

'98. Rev. Wilson A. Eisenhart is located at Johnson City, New York, where he is pastor of the First Presbyterian Church.

'05. Capt. J. B. Pate and wife arrived in San Francisco May 14th from the Philippines and are now at Mrs. Pate's old home in Chattanooga. Capt. Pate is here on a vacation. The question of his return will depend on the progress of the war.

'10. A. A. Sheddan, General Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. in Tuscaloosa, Ala., has volunteered for service in the Officers' Reserve Corps and when last heard from was hoping to be called into training at Fort McPherson.

'11. Miss Florine Hunter of Willow Springs, Mo., was graduated this month from the Presbyterian Training School, of Chicago, with the degree of "Master of Christian Efficiency". She will probably go abroad this fall as a foreign missionary under the Presbyterian Board.

'13. Miss Olive Wilson, who has been teaching this year in New Mexico, has returned home for the summer.

'14. On last Saturday, May 12th, Miss Helen Parker entertained a number of her friends with an informal "Spend The Day Party" at her lovely country home near Louisville.

At one o'clock the guests were invited to the dining room, where at the end of the several course dinner the guests were presented with an artificial bride bearing heart shaped cards, with the announcement of the engagement of Miss Mary Pearl Tedford, of Maryville, Tenn., and Mr. Victor C. Detty of Scranton, Pa.

The wedding is to take place early in June. Miss Tedford is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Tedford, and a former student of Maryville College. Mr. Detty is a graduate of the Auburn Theological Seminary. Miss Parker was assisted in entertaining by her sister, Mrs. W. H. George of Maryville.

'16. The Maryville Enterprise states that L. E. Bond, who has been Physical Director of the Y. M. C. A. at Laurel, Mississippi during the past year, will serve in a similar capacity next year at Hattiesburg, Mississippi Mrs. Bond is at present visiting her parents in Maryville. Mr. Bond has already gone to his new field of work.

S. V. B. ENJOYED VISITORS. ELECT OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

The Student Volunteer Band has had several visitors during the past two weeks. Dr. Thomas J. Porter of Camprias, Brazil, on a visit of a few days, gave the members and friends of the Band a very helpful talk on the necessary qualities for becoming a successful missionary in the great "unknown field" of South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Mount, recent students of Moody Institute spent the week end in Maryville. They are going as missionaries to Tuland, Africa in the month of July. Mr. and Mrs. Mount spoke to the Band Tuesday afternoon and again at the prayer-meeting the same evening. The Band appreciates these visitors from the "trenches" because the messages they have bring the members into a more real contact with the work in which they are the most interested.

The officers for the coming year have been chosen as follows: Mary Miles, President; H. H. Ferntheil, Vice President; Maude Hite, Secy. and Treas; Jane Morton, Editor.

Palace Theatre

To the students of Maryville College we wish to extend our thanks for your hearty appreciation of our efforts in trying to please you and we wish you all the joys that vacation days bring, and hope to see you all back again next year. We will be serving out the same high class brand of entertainment at the same old stand.

EX-PRESIDENT OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE PASSES AWAY

Dr. Samuel Ward Boardman Passes Away at His Home in New Jersey on Aug. 30. For 12 Years President of Maryville College.

Dr. Samuel Ward Boardman, Fourth President.

In the death of Ex-President Samuel Ward Boardman, D. D., LL. D., which occurred at his home in Bloomfield, N. J. on the 30th of last month, Maryville College lost one of its most valuable friends. Dr. Boardman was president of Maryville College for a period of twelve years, between 1889 and 1901. During his administration the College advanced in buildings, equipment and enrollment with remarkable rapidity, the Willard Memorial (president's residence), the Fayerweather Annex to Anderson Hall, the Boardman Annex to Baldwin Hall, the Fayerweather Science Hall, and Bartlett Hall having been built in this period. While president of the college he was also professor of psychology and philosophy.

Dr. Boardman resigned the presidency of the college in 1901 on account of failing health, but because of the favorable outcome of a very serious operation he was enabled to regain health which he enjoyed until recently when he has been troubled with paralytic strokes which increased in intensity until the end came.

The deceased was a highly spiritual character and each year as the February meetings have been in progress since his presidency he has prayed regularly at his home for their success. The influence of his Christian zeal and spiritual leadership as put forth on behalf of Maryville will live for time to come.

Dr. Boardman was born at Pittsford, Vermont, August 31, 1830, and had he lived one day longer he would have completed eighty-seven years of life. He received his education in Middlebury College in Vermont, and in the Andover Theological seminary. His long and useful career has been spent mostly in the northeastern and middle western parts of the country. His last visit to Maryville was in 1912 when he delivered the baccalaureate sermon.

Surviving Dr. Boardman are Mrs. Boardman and four children who are Samuel W. Boardman, Jr., an attorney of Newark, N. J.; Roger Sherman Boardman, connected with the editorial department of Chas. Scribner's Sons, N. Y.; Elizabeth Boardman, who is at the home; and Martha Boardman, who is connected with the Methodist Book Concern of New York City. Three of the Boardman children are graduates of Maryville College.

The faculty of Maryville College, upon learning of the death of Dr. Boardman, adopted resolutions to "record their personal sorrow in the death of their colleague, and deep sympathy with his family in their sore bereavement."

NEW PROFESSOR OF ECONOMICS, HISTORY AND PUBLIC SPEAKING BEGINS DUTIES.

Arthur F. Southwick, '17 of Wooster College has been elected associate professor of social science and history, by the board of directors of the college. Besides his connection with the subjects of history and social science Prof. Southwick will be in charge of the class in public speaking.

The institution from which Prof. Southwick comes is widely known for the debaters and public speakers which it produces, and while in attendance there Prof. Southwick entered heartily into the forensic activities of the college. He did not limit his platform activities to the field of debating nor to that of oratory, but extended his sphere of forensic action to cover both debate and oratory; and in the three years in which he was in attendance at Wooster, he was a member of three intercollegiate debating teams and engaged in eight oratorical contests with distinguishing success in both.

Prof. Southwick has been connected with the prohibition movement in Ohio and has made several addresses at the commencements of the schools in nearby towns. Having studied expression one summer under Prof. Irwin L. Potter of the Leland Powers School, of Boston, supplemented by work under the professors at Wooster, Prof. Southwick is equipped with the latest ideas and methods of handling the subjects to which he has been appointed. His experience as teacher has been in the township schools near Cleveland, O., where he was teacher and superintendent.

Prof. Southwick is well pleased with the prospects of a successful year at Maryville in his line and expresses pleasure at the interest manifested here in public speaking and debating. He says there is material here from which formidable teams can be developed and that he wishes to get in touch with all the fellows interested in platform work.

COLLEGE PASTOR IS SECURED

Dr. William P. Stevenson Resigns Big Church in New York to Work With Maryville Students. Story Reads Like Romance.

The ninety-ninth year of the College begins with the installation of the College Pastor. During the past century the professors of the institution have done what they could to discharge the duties of pastors, but have been seriously handicapped by always having to do more work in connection with the running of the school than could well be done by any human being. Now, by the orderings of the kind Providence, a man has joined the faculty who will give his entire time to pastoral work among the students.

On January 4, 1917, Rev. Dr. William P. Stevenson, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Yonkers, N. Y., a church of nearly a thousand members, received a call from President Wilson, who was at work in the North in the interests of the Centennial Forward Fund. Dr. Stevenson was able to give only ten minutes of his valuable time to hearing Dr. Wilson present the claims of the College. However, he accepted a copy of "A Century of Maryville College", which Dr. Wilson put in his hands. He hardly expected to find time to read it, but in courtesy he received it. On a snowy afternoon in February, when he was unable to be out in his pastoral work, Dr. Stevenson picked up the history of Maryville College, became interested in it and read it through the same day. As he laid the book down he told his wife, "That's the place where we want to spend the rest of our life". To make a long and most interesting story short, the result has been that Dr. Stevenson resigned his church, to the infinite sorrow of his congregation, and with Mrs. Stevenson arrived at Maryville on June 28.

Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson had secured from a friend of theirs a subscription of $50,000 to provide a home and salary for the College Pastor, but the subscription can not be paid until the end of the present war. Notwithstanding this condition, Dr. Stevenson came to Maryville to serve without any salary at all until the end of the war, although he has been receiving what is deemed a very large salary in the churches that he has served. Even when the endowment is paid in, his salary at Maryville will be only one-third the one he gave up on coming to Maryville.

Moreover, without waiting for the end of the war, Dr. Stevenson is erecting the residence for the College Pastor. Work is actively in progress. The site is the beautiful cleared field in the midst of the college woods, near the springs. Here, by the middle of January, it is expected that the home of the College Pastor will be occupied.

Surely the whole story reads like romance. But it is vastly better than romance—it is Providence.

Dr. Stevenson has already entered most heartily into the college life. He met all the trains, in order to get acquainted with the incoming students; and will give his time in whatever possible ways may appear best to the interests of the students.

Mrs. Stevenson, the Doctor insists, "is the better man of the two." Since they are thus "in honor preferring one another," the students will decide the matter by insisting that they are both the "very best ever."

NEW FOOTBALL COACH IS GIVEN THIRTY MEN. HARD WORK OUTS

Several Last Year's Men Are Back in The Game. New Men Make Good Showing. Strong Schedule Arranged. First Game May Be Saturday.

From the uncertainties of the spring and summer due largely to the war, it is a satisfaction to know that the Maryville football team this year will be as strong as in former years. The war has hit every school hard and if Maryville has suffered so has every other school. But with so many old men back and so many new ones out Maryville seems to be in a fair way of annexing another championship of East Tennessee.

The new coach, Mr. E. O. Brown has been here for two weeks, has looked the ground over, sized up the proposition and now has a squad of thirty men out drilling every day. Coach declares that M. C. shall have a good team again and from all indications this will be true.

From last year's first squad came Manager Bryson, Briggs, Hurst, Clemens, Hayes and Cooper; from the second squad such men as Watkins, Witherspoon, Johnson, Jellicose, and Hale. Captain-elect Greer is coming soon, as also is "Doc" Feeman, the star end. "Happy" Lloyd of two years ago will be here this week.

Among the new ones there are many who are showing up well. The Coach has the following ones to pick from: McLaughlin, Hite, Georges, King, Ervin, Buchanan, Park, Davidson, James, McNutt, Smith, Caughron, Gray, Gillespie, Beck, Doughty, and Drake. This squad will probably be augmented soon. Stevens, Tullock, Ford and Kirkgard may also turn in at any time.

From all appearances the backfield will be heavy and the line light. The rules favor a light, fast team, however.

The greatest trouble of the coach will be to select an end to go with "Doc" as Flannery is not back. The line will soon whip itself into shape ready for the first game probably this week.

For the first time in years the Athletic Association is out of debt and will remain so. The greatest step forward toward placing Maryville athletics on a permanent foundation was taken when the athletic fee was adopted. This entitles all students to all games free. No excuse then can justify any one's staying away. The largest crowds in years should result. The first game will show a new line of equipment, total outfits for eighteen men. Former years' lack of material will be missing now.

Students are promised the earliest game in years next Saturday afternoon here on this field. Next week will be the same.

Manager Bryson cannot be positive as to what schools these will be, but changes are good for two pre-season games before our heavy schedule starts with U. T. on Oct. 6 on Wait field. U. T. has been hit heavy and with two games to stiffen up the team a battle royal will be staged in Knoxville.

The rest of the schedule follows:

Oct. 13—Athens School, Maryville

Oct. 20—Mercer University, Maryville

Oct. 27—Centre College, Maryville.

Nov. 3—University of Chattanooga, Chattanooga.

Nov. 10—King College, Bristol.

Nov. 17—Emory and Henry, Emory, Va.

Nov. 29—Tusculum, Maryville.

Playing three S. I. A. A. teams and every strong college in this section, with six home games, with a veteran backfield and a fast line, with a splendid coach, with new equipment, with a crowd assured for every game, with the "old time pep", M. C. is on her way to another championship.

WAR CALLS STUDENTS FROM COLLEGE HALLS

Maryville Has Good Representation in Company B.

When war was declared on the 6th of last April, Maryville students began at once to consider the various branches of service with a view to finding the field of service where their efforts would be most effective. Consequently nearly every branch of military activity is partly made of Maryville men. Since Company B of the Third Tennessee Infantry, commanded by Capt. E. J. Lones, was the unit most convenient for Maryville men to find most immediate action several of them connected themselves with that unit and left Maryville for their cantonment at Camp Sevier, Greeneville, S. C. on Friday morning, Sept. 7. Maryville men in Company B are as follows: First Lieutenant, Wiley W. Boring; Sergeants, Edward S. Campbell, and Roy Edgar Adams; Corporals, Howard H. Wilson, Claude Whitehead, Adlai Striplin, Otis McCauley, Bernard Carter, and Chas. G. McNabb; Mechanic, Fred Whitehead, Privates, E. F. Cody, Thos. V. Grant, Walter A. Gregory, Pearlie D. Hill, L. E. Hutchins.

Several other Maryville men have lately joined in the various branches of military activity and it will be the aim of the Echo to keep their friends constantly inform to their movements and welfare.

EDITORIAL

To one who has had more than a brief stay in Maryville there appear signs of change and evolution on every hand. The ninety-ninth opening finds the college still in the march of progress with all its forces bending to fit its students to the needs of the times, and at the same time prepare them to mold events along the highest lines of social needs.

A flexible mode of operation has enabled the college to fit itself admirably to such conditions as the uncertainties of state have imposed upon it. In times of national peril many young men find they can serve their country better by not attending college and it is this fact that causes Maryville to have a considerably greater number of young women than young men. It has not been found necessary to open Memorial hall as it appears that Carnegie will hold all the boys at least until the beginning of next term. The young women have responded nobly to the call of the National Bureau of Education to "stay in college as a patriotic duty". The young men have also responded to this appeal in surprisingly large numbers. As a result the total enrollment compares very favorably with that of this date last year. Before the summer was near spent all the rooms in the girls' dormitories had been engaged, and it has been found necessary to open the Hospital and Pres. Wilson's home to accommodate the unprecedented numbers present.

In order to best fit her students to meet present conditions, Maryville has made such changes in her curriculum as seemed necessary to gain the end desired. A new course in military science has been added and the courses in Spanish may be temporarily dropped so as to encourage the study of languages more closely allied in current use with the English. Military training will continue throughout the year as it was started last year. Considerable additions have been made to the agricultural department with a view to reducing the cost of board to a minimum.

Friends and sutdents may well feel greater pride than ever that they have cast their lot with such an institution as Maryville college.

CHARLES SILSBY KILLED AT CHEOH

Falling Rock Crushes Skull and Death Ensues Before Victim Returns to Consciencness.

Charles Edwin Silsby, '16, was killed almost instantly by a falling stone at Cheoah, near Alcoa, Tenn., on the afternoon of August 8th., while working with a surveying party in a tunnel at Cheoah where he had been employed for several months by the Tallassee Power Company. The accident occurred about 2:30 in the afternoon and the crown of the skull was so badly crushed that he lived only about two or three hours. After the accident Silsby was rushed to Alcoa by special train to the company's physician, but all medical efforts to save the promising young life proved futile, death occurring before the victim gained consciousness.

Dr. Wilson at Maryville was notified of the event by telephone from Alcoa by Ike Stearns, a former Maryville student. He at once sent a copy of a cablegram of the news of the tragedy to Dr. Robert E. Speer in New York, which copy was to be sent from there by cable to Silsby's parents in Shanghai, China.

On Thursday morning following the accident the body was brought to Maryville, accompanied by John Witherspoon and Robert S. Gamon, Maryville students, and William E. Roberts, of the Tallassee Power Company. Dr. Wilson took charge of the body upon arrival at Maryville. The body was taken to the funeral parlors of the Ed. F. Harper Co., where a postmortem examination was made by Doctor Gamble.

Funeral services were held at the home of Dr. Wilson on Thursday afternoon, August 9th., at four o'clock, Rev. Hubert S. Lyle officiating, assisted by Rev. Dr. William P. Stevenson and Rev. John M. Alexander. Appropriate selections were sung by a quartet composed of E. F. Cody, C. D. Curtis, Lillian Clark and Helen Goddard. The twelve pallbearers were: Howard Wilson, Lamar Wilson, John Witherspoon, Robert S. Gamon, William E. Robertson, Ernest Brown, Eula McCurry, Homer Frater, Earl Crawford, Mr. Chang, Will Pleasants and Raymond Smith.

Following the funeral interment was made in the College cemetery.

Silsby is survived by his parents, Rev. and Mrs. John A. Silsby, who are missionaries in Shanghai, China, and a sister, Miss Helen Silsby, Maryville '13, who is also a missionary in China.

"Charlie" as he was known to the students at Maryville, was an earnest Christian young man of exceptionally good habits. He is remembered as constantly having in his hands either the Bible or a tennis racket, for he found recreation for his spirit in the former and for his body in the latter. He never swayed one bit from the Christian life and purpose during the several months of his stay about the ungodly surroundings of a construction camp. His conduct there was such as to arouse the admiration of all the non-Christian men among whom he worked and one of them expressed the sentiment of all when he said, "Evidently, the accident came to the man who was the best prepared in the whole bunch to meet it." Students and friends of the college share the sorrow of the stricken parents and sister and trust that by their prayers the load of grief may be made lighter upon those on whom it falls heaviest.

SNAP

About 7:30 o'clock Monday evening all the dormitories became a flurry of gaily attired folks. the gymnasium lighted up, and in a short time a gay student body was making merry at the veteran game of snap. New students and old engaged in the wholesome sport with a freedom that made the gathering one of general enjoyment. The only sad part of the evening was the flashing of the lights at ten o'clock.

News of the death of Dr. Emily Marston, a former student of the college, a sister of Revs. Frank and Charles Marston, and missionary to India since 1891, has just been received through Dr. Robert E. Speer, Secretary of the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions. Dr. Marston has long been one of the most useful medical missionaries in the field. Particulars of her death have not yet been received. Her loss will be greatly deplored.

Rev. Mark G. Clayton, of Romulus, N. Y., spent last week on the Hill. He has two daughters who have entered the Freshmen class.

Rev. Mark G. Clayton, of Romulus, N. Y. led chapel exercises last Thursday morning.

S. E. Crawford, '12, better known as "Squirlie" has graduated from dental college and has located in Maryville to practice his profession.

John Preston Phillips, a member of the New York bar, who is visiting with Dr. Stevenson, led chapel services Tuesday morning and made an interesting talk.

Prof. Gillingham made a talk in chapel Tuesday morning, giving an outline of the Military Training Department.

We are glad to learn that Miss Edith Davis is better today after her recent attack of tonsilitis.

Mr. A. G. Stump has been the guest of his daughter Miss Ugee for the past week.

W. K. Lippert is carrying the mail on the Carnegie route and is giving excellent service.

Reid Garrison, Wade Haggard, Bob Taylor, "Doc" Brown, M. B. Crum, "Wampus" Bryson spent the summer in Battle Creek, Mich., working on the cantonment, Camp Custer and for the Postum Company. They also say "there's a reason".

Eleanor Moseley spent her vacation in Kissimmee, Fla., "in the office".

Bob Gamon, last year's editor of the Echo was glimpsed on the Hill for a few minutes last Wednesday.

Frank Cross, class orator of the class of '16, visited among old friends about the campus last week.

Mary and Emma Miles "just stayed at home" during vacation.

John Witherspoon, Bob Gamon '17, Horace Dawson, "Gee" Cooper, E. F. Cody and George Hodges '17, spent most of the summer at Alcoa, Tenn.

Deck Williams, veteran student and dealer in forensic harangue, has been connected with the Knoxville Power Company near Maryville all summer. He seems well informed on the affairs of Pennsylvania yet. He brings the mail from town to the college again this year.

Mr. Jack Willis, an old Maryville student came back with his sister, Miss Margaret Willis for a brief visit to Maryville and to attend the May-Patton wedding.

On account of the illness of her grandfather, Miss Lola Beeler "No. 6" will be a few days late this year.

Henry A. McNutt of last year's football fame spent last week among the students of the hill for his last time before going into the military cantonment at Atlanta, Ga on the eighteenth of this month.

Rev. Theron Alexander, pastor in Maywood, Ill., led chapel Friday morning and made a fine talk.

Born to Prof. and Mrs. G. R. Shelton, a boy who is scheduled to graduated from Maryville college about 1939.

Miss Jessie Creswell was accompanied to school this year by her father and brother. They returned Tuesday.

Mr. John Witherspoon was in Knoxville Tuesday to meet his mother and sister and bring them over to Maryville. Mrs. Witherspoon will be in town for several weeks, and Miss Mary will attend school this year as a Freshman.

DR. W. T. THOMPSON ADDRESSES JOINT MEETING

"To him that knoweth to do good and doeth it not, it is sin" was the subject of Dr. W. T. Thompson, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of Knoxville before the opening joint meeting of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. in Voorhees chapel Sunday afternoon. "A blank, black page on the record of one's life is just as accusing and just as sinful as a page blotted and smeared with the record of sinful deeds" said Dr. Thompson, as he told of the gravity of sins of omission. He gave many striking and forceful examples of this type of sin, stressing at all times the ease with which it may be committed.

The speaker was heard attentively by about three hundred young men and women. In introducing the speaker Pres. Dawson expressed the good fortune of the Associations in securing the services of a man like Dr. Thompson to conduct the opening services of the year. Vocal solos were furnished by Miss Mary Heard and Roy Anderson.

The ceremony will be performed in the Wedding Room of the Henry Watterson Hotel at six o'clock.

ALUMNI NOTES

At the beginning of the College year the Alumni Editor wishes to express his appreciation of the assistance rendered last year by a number of the Alumni in gathering news for this column. It is utterly impossible to keep track of the Alumni and record their doings without the co-operation of the Alumni themselves. It is earnestly urged and requested that all Alumni and Alumnae send in to the editor any item of interest that may come into their hands, either regarding themselves or with respect to other graduates. Help us to fill this column with interesting bits of Alumni news.

May-Patton—This is the most recent Maryville College wedding. Mr. Mark A. May, '11 and Miss Ruby C. Patton, '10, were united in marriage in the Southern Methodist church in Maryville on the evening of September 12. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Roy Vale, of Knoxville, assisted by Rev. T. C. Schuler. Miss Mary Goddard, '09, played the wedding march, and Mr. Kyle Bolton, '11 of Jonesboro, was one of the ushers. Mr. and Mrs. May will leave for New York City by way of Charleston. Mr. May has a position as instructor in Union Theological Seminar in New York City.

Sims-Marshall—On the 25th of August Mr. J. G. Sims and Miss Olga Marshall were married at the home of President Wilson, who performed the ceremony in the presence of a few friends. Both Mr. and Mrs. Sims graduated in the class of 1912. Mr. Sims until within the past few weeks, has been engaged in the practice of law in Maryville, but has given up his practice to enter the service of his country, and is now in the Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe. Few Alumnae are better known among Maryville students and recents graduates than is Mrs. Sims, the exceedingly efficient Assistant Registrar of the College. While her husband is in the army, Mrs. Sims will retain her present position.

FIRST VESPER SERVICE LARGELY ATTENDED

The first Vesper Service in the ninety-nine years' history of the college was held Sunday afternoon at four o'clock in the chapel, the new college pastor, Rev. Dr. W. P. Stevenson being in charge.

Dr. Stevenson was presented to the students in a fitting introduction by Dr. Wilson, who told the interesting story of how Dr. Stevenson became interested in Maryville College. "The story reads like a romance, for God was in it", said Dr. Wilson as he expressed his joy of the presence of the new addition to the spiritual forces of the college to the large body of students who had gathered for the initial service.

The service was largely musical for a picked chorus of fifty voices had organized and practiced special music for the occasion. The address of Dr. Stevenson was that plain, frank kind that he has been giving the students ever since he came on the hill the first time. The students have learned that Dr. Stevenson always has something good to tell them and they always use every opportunity to hear him speak.

The Vesper Service will be held in the chapel next Sunday afternoon and the students are assured of another splendid service.

Dr. Stevenson and the music directors were very much gratified at the willingness of so many singers who offered their services to the meetings. Because of this the audiences are sure to hear both good sermons and fine music.

NEW PHYSICAL DIRECTOR

This year we have in the person of Mr. Edgar O. Brown, a new physical director of the college to take the place of Coach Kiefer who left last Christmas because of the unfortunate loss of his father. Athletics for the rest of the year were under no systematic supervision, but M. C. is indeed fortunate to have such a new coach as Mr. Brown.

He graduated from Wabash College, Crawfordsville, Ind., in 1909, and since that time has been coaching football, basketball and baseball teams. No mean athlete himself, having played for several years on the Wabash team and mentioned as an All-State man in his Senior year, holding the shot and discus records of Indiana, he seems in some way to be able to instil his bulldog tenacity, his fighting spirit and his clean spotrsmanship into all the "fellows".

He has coached in the Shawnee, (Okla.,) High School, Bethany College at Lindsborg, Kan., the High School at Kewanee, Ill., and for the past two years has been at Parsons College in Iowa. At Bethany from a very poor start and playing football for the first time in ten years at that institution he put out a team that won two-thirds of its games. He won the state basketball championship for Bethany in competition with seventeen other conference teams, winning fifteen out of seventeen games. The basketball team finished third in the conference. At Kewanee the High School played the strongest teams of the state in football and out of twenty-three games only two were lost, and both these by small scores. At Parsons his record was alike remarkable.

From this it is only a modest claim to say that he will be successful here. A clean sportsman, a manly man and a Christian gentleman—Maryville College welcomes the new coach, Mr. E. O. Brown.

RECRUITING BEGINS THIS WEEK

The military department as organized for this year will have Prof. Gillingham as Commandant and Meade Johnson as Major of the battalion. Tentative plans call for a battalion of four companies to be enlisted this week. Drill will begin in all probability on next Wednesday morning and thereafter be held on Wednesday and Friday mornings before breakfast, of each week.

It is thought that the battalion will be the best organization of its kind that has ever been at Maryville. Many of last year's men are back, including fifteen commissioned officers.

Y. W. C. A. ENTERTAINS

The Y. W. C. A. held a social for the new girls Monday afternoon from 3:30 to 5:00 o'clock in the college woods.

After the girls had become acquainted at games they joined together about a big bonfire where each took her part in cooking bacon over the snapping blaze. The delightful odor created an appetite that proved to be consuming.

Dr. Wilson and Dr. and Mrs. Mrs. Stevenson were present and entered into the fun with enthusiasm.

Just before the home-coming Dr. Stevenson gave an address that was an inspiration to every one that heard it.

As the girls walked back to the campus the old woods rang with the college song.

ATHENIAN

Fifty years of invaluable service! Fifty years of noble attainment! The Golden anniversary of a great record of golden deeds!

With such a record the Athenian Literary Society proudly enters upon the fiftieth anniversary of its birth. First in organization, it also maintains a place of leadershp among the various student activities.

The purpose of this society, as its name implies is the cultivation and expression of literary talent. A distinctive atmosphere pervades our society which influence we call with pride, "the Athenian Spirit". To the uninitiated this influence might best be explained as being the combined spirits of fellowship, scholarship and leadership.

This society extends a cordial invitation to all new men to visit its hall on Saturday evening at 6:30 o'clock when an effort will be made to entertain the new men with a short informal program which is to be followed by eats and a general good time.

NEW GIRLS INITIATED

Saturday night was Initiation night for the new girls at old M. C. The girls, fantastically atired in all sorts of garbs congregated on third floor Pearsons at a late hour and began a circuitous trail thru Pearsons, Baldwin and Dining hall to the music of rattling dust pans, clattering knives and forks, drumming brooms and ringing bells. Like tacks to a huge magnet all the girls were drawn into the meandering line—new girls, dazed and frightened,—old girls, sleepy and weary—could not withstand the forefully urged invitation and were soon adding their weird whoops and stirring war cries to the rest. At last the march ended in front of Pearsons and with "Alma Mater" and nine rousing rahs for Maryville and nine more for good measure, the enthusiastic crowd adjourned to the Literary halls for more fun. Games from Cuba and the "Cuban Virginia Reel" as demonstrated by Misses Montoto and Lavastido added variety and interest to the evening.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION

About a hundred young men gathered out in the college woods Friday night on the grassy mound near where Dr. Stevenson's new home is under process of construction, to enjoy the annual reception of the Y. M. C. A. to new men. A big bonfire had been built the light of which was limited only by the rows of encircling cedars. There under the starry sky and in the quietness of the evening the Y. M. fellows held forth in manly fashion.

A short program had been prepared and was rendered by the following persons with their respective subjects after Dr. Wilson had opened the meeting with prayer: Athenian literary society, Young Hayes; Alpha Sigma literary society, Pres. Bob Taylor; Law Club, R. W. Adams; Forensic league, E. K. James; Army Y. M. C. A. war work, W. B. Holmes. Music was furnished by general singing and by the quartet. The formal part of the program was concluded by a splendid address by Dr. Stevenson, in which, among other things, he said that he had named his prospective home the "house in the woods" and that his latch string "will always hang on the outside for the girls and boys of Maryville college" who, he hoped, "would keep well beaten the pathway to his home". Dr. Stevenson told the boys that he wished to be a big brother to all of them and to share their joys, sorrows and pleasures with them.

The informal part of the program was opened by a peanut scramble which was of rough and tumble kind. Refreshments were served in "soup line" fashion after which boxing and wrestling were indulged in, the honors in these matches seeming to go to Latimer and Cross.

During the course of entertainment President Horace Dawson took occasion to tell the boys of the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Maryville college, what it has done, is doing, and what it expects to do, and at all times urged his hearers to ally themselves with the "most wholesome and homelike" influence within their reach. As they returned to the hill many fellows were heard to express their appreciation to the Y. M. C. A. for the evening of splendid entertainment.

FACULTY RECEPTION

Baldwin lawn Saturday afternoon was the scene of an occasion which graces that part of the campus only once annually. The faculty reception was featured by the large number of students, both new and old, who were present to enjoy the occasion. After having a hearty handshake with all the members of the faculty, together with their wives, the students were entitled to a course of refreshments which they felt fully able to contain after the "ordeal". Many, after going through the line were heard to make such exclamations as "Gee, I wouldn't do it again for anything" and "Oh, I was most scared to death". The game of snap was freely indulged in by all the students as well as some of the faculty.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Under the above heading will be chronicled each week the coming attractions at both the Dreamland and Palace Theatres. During the summer the Palace was taken over by the Dreamland Amusement Company and both houses are now under the same management. We welcome student patronage and during the school year we are going to present an excellent program of pictures that cannot help but please you. This column in the Echo will be used exclusively for theatre notes and programs from week to week. By reading this column you will be able to keep up with the latest plays and to know just when and where your favorite star is appearing. We are not going to favor either place, but are going to present high class pictures at each house. We are now using Triangle, Paramount, Bluebird, Mutual and Vitagraph features with one open day at the Palace on which we are going to book a special feature each week. As yet our program isn't complete as to detail, but by early winter we expect to have things running smoothly and in perfect order, and when your hard day of study is over, think how nice it will be to drop in at either house and refresh your mind with a wholesome drama or a hilarious comedy. A program of six reels averages one hour and a half to present, which gives you plenty of time to see a good picture, a complete entertainment, before your supper hour. Among the special features we are trying to procure are The Slacker, The Spy, Birth of a Nation, Cleopatra and others of high merit.

Another thing we are trying to perfect is SERVICE, and any suggestions any of you may make along this line will be appreciated. If you are pleased with everything, tell us. It makes us feel that we are "doing our bit", so to speak. If you are displeased, if you don't like the picture, the music, if it is too hot or too cold in the house, or if any employee has shown you any discourtesy, TELL US. We want to know in order that it may not happen again. We are glad to be of service, we are here for the sole purpose of entertaining and amusing you, and the manager is there to see that it is done right. Any request or complaint you may make will receive prompt and courteous attention.

Wednesday, Sept. 19—At the Palace will be shown the second day of "The Girl Phillipa", a picturization of the wonderful novel by Robert W. Chambers. This is a play of romance, love and adventure and dainty Anita Stewart is the star. What more could you ask. The admission price on "The Girl Phillipa" will be 5 cents for children, 15 for adults. At Dreamland will be the second chapter of the sensational and thrilling railroad serial featuring fearless Helen Holmes, entitled "Railroad Raiders", and a funny Vogue comedy featuring Ben Turpin.

Thursday, Sept. 20—The Palace shows a high class Triangle feature in five parts entitled "An Old Fashioned Young Man", starring Robert Harron. Also a funny Triangle Comedy. At Dreamland will be shown a five part Paramount feature and a good comedy.

Friday, Sept. 21—A Bluebird feature entitled "The Gift Girl", starring Louise Lovely at the Palace, a three reel Universal feature, Joker Comedy and Current Events at the Dreamland.

Saturday, Sept. 22—Five part Paramount feature at Palace entitled Big Timber, a story of the great North Woods, and Ford Weekly. At Dreamland the celebrated Stingaree series, each play complete in two reels, and a funny Keystone Komedy entitled Oriental Love, featuring Ora Carew.

Monday, Sept. 24—At Palace, Paddy O'Hara, an Irish play produced by Triangle Pictures Company starring William Desmond, and a Triangle Comedy. At Dreamland Mutual Star Feature and Ham and Bud Comedy.

Tuesday, Sept. 25—At Palace we present a Super-DeLuxe Fox Production entitled "A Tale of Two Cities". Any one who is familiar with Dickens' works has read this great novel, and now is your opportunity to see it in picture form. William Farnum is the star of "A Tale of Two Cities" and the cast is second to none. At Dreamland starts the Vitagraph Wonder Serial "The Fighting Trail", featuring William Duncan and Carol Holloway. The most marvelous, melodramatic photoplay serial of the Great Outdoors ever produced. 15 episodes of the greatest thrills ever undertaken on stage or screen. See the first episode and you'll see them all.

COMING—September 28 and 29, "Enlighten Thy Daughter", the most startling expose of the white slave traffic everep roduced. Showing why mothers should enlighten their daughters that they may avoid the pitfalls and snares laid for the innocent and unsuspecting. A picture every mother's daughter and every daughter's mother should see.

VOLUME THREE. MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE TUESDAY SEPTEMBER 25, 1917. NUMBER TWO

POLK COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL EASY VICTIMS OF COACH BROWN'S MACHINE

Highlanders do Great Teamwork. Their Goal at no Time Was in Danger. Twenty-seven Men Given Try-outs. Visitors a Plucky Bunch. Great Crowds on Sidelines.

In a game showing the weakness of the opposing team rather than the strength of Maryville, M. C. opened the 1917 season on September 22nd., with a one-sided victory over Polk County High School.

The final score 52-0 does not represent the true superiority of M. C. The game was frequently interrupted by time being taken out, and by frequent substitutions by Maryville. Coach Brown giving almost the entire squad a chance to display their powers under fire, used twenty-seven men. Only three men, Clemens, Bryson and Johnson played the whole game.

The entire team played excellent ball for the first game. The line resisted every assault of Polk High School. The visitors were a husky bunch apparently, but young and inexperienced, and against the greater team work and the fresh men substituted they could do nothing. They tried hard but time told on them. The quarterback did not handle the team in the shape he should, resorting to straight football instead of open field work. Two old Maryville students of last year, "Dick" Prince at half and Pack at end played the best football of the whole team.

On M. C.'s side acting captain Clemens, manager Bryson, Briggs, Jellicose, Johnson, Hurst and McNutt played excellent ball. No spectacular plays were pulled off, except a few forward passes. For the first half Maryville was held fairly well, but the last half they ran amuck and nothing could stop them.

Only ten minute quarters were played, but owing to the time taken out the game lasted to a greater length than usual.

The game showed the truthfulness of the statement in last week's Echo that Coach Brown's hardest job will be to select the end positions. Altogether eight men were tried out for those places. Latimer Eagleton, Drake, Davidson, Garrison and Gillespie all showed up well.

A mediocre crowd of 400 witnessed the game, but because of the one sidedness the pep was lacking from the sidelines. A hard week's drill lays before the men before our next game, the date of which cannot be announced at present.

DETAILS OF GAME

Maryville won the toss and elected to receive the ball at the east end of the field. Polk kicked off 30 yards to Cooper who failed to return. Hurst lost 7 yards. Bryson gained one yard. Polk was penalized 5 yards for tackle being offside. An incomplete forward pass made fourth down with 10 to go. Clemens punted one of the largest kicks of the game, the ball going 60 yards. Polk failed to return. McCullough gained 3 yards, then 2 more. Roe and "Dick" Prince on two line bucks made first down. An end run by the quarter brought two more. Roe was thrown in his tracks and Prince for a loss of 4 yards. On the fourth down Polk punted but Johnson blocked the kick and it was M. C.'s ball on Polk's 10 yard line. Clemens failed to gain, but on the next Hurst made the first touchdown of the season. Clemens kicks goal. Score: M. C. 7; Polk, 0.

Clemens kicked off 40 yards to Lillard but on a fumble Hurst recovered on Polk's 25 yard line. Bryson gains 2 yards. Clemens' end run netted 10 yards and first down. Hurst bucks line for 4 yards. Witherspoon failed to gain, an incomplete forward pass failed, and on Bryson's failure in end run and resultant loss of 10 yards, the ball went over to Polk. McCullough lost one yard but Roe and Prince of consecutive line bucks made first down. Bryson took time out. Both sides offside, but on holding M. C. was penalized 5 yards for first down. McCullough gained 2 yards, Witt lost 1 yard, Roe did the same on an end run. McCullough punted 25 yards. Clemens failed to return. Prince takes time out with ball in M. C.'s possession on their own 40 yard line. Clemens makes 13 yards on an end run. Bryson fouled and M. C. was penalized. Polk intercepted a forward pass. Roe lost 5 yards. Witherspoon intercepted a forward pass and the quarter ended with ball on the 50 yard line in M. C.'s possession.

Second Quarter

Hurst gains 1 yard and Bryson 6. Clemens made 30 yards on end run. Spoon gained 2 yards. Hurst lost 3 yards, Bryson made first down on a 12 yard end run. Clemens made a touchdown on the next play, but failed to kick goal. M. C. 13; Polk 0.

James and Smith took the guard positions and Caughron and Guy took the ends. Clemens kicked off 50 yards, but Polk failed to return. Prince lost 12 yards and M. C.'s offside cost them 5 yards. McCullough made 3 yards, and Prince 4 yards for first down. Roe lost 1 yard, an incomplete forward pass followed. McLaughlin downed the full in his tracks. Roe on 12 yard end run made first down. Briggs threw Prince for a loss, and the full on two downs failed both times. McCullough kicks 35 yards but it rolled out of bounds. Hurst fumbled and Polk recovered on M. C.'s 20 yard line. Prince gains 1 yard, Roe Stopped by Johnson in his tracks. Roe thrown for 1 yard loss by James. McNutt substituting for Witherspoon. McNutt intercepted a forward pass and ran 35 yards to the 50 yard line. Bryson gained 2 yards through tackle. Incomplete forward pass followed. Polk penalized 5 yards. Gillespie takes place of Caughron. Clemens bucks line of 5 yards and first down. Hurst failed to catch forward pass from Clemens. Clemens makes 15 yards on end run, Hurst follows with 15 more. Bryson goes over for third touchdown. Clemens failed to kick goal just as the half ended. Score: M. C. 19, Polk 0.

ADDITIONS MADE TO BOARDING CLUB

Students who have been going to the college woods this fall have tarried long enough out at the college barn to admire seven of the most beautiful cows they have ever seen. These animals are pure-bred Holsteins which are being kept under the direction of the Boarding Club and which were brought from one of the finest stock farms by Charlie Proffitt two weeks ago. It was decided to keep this brand of cow on account of its superior butter production. This is another step the club has made to keep the price of board as low as possible.

Besides the cows the Club bought thirty-six Duroc and O. I. C. hogs a short time ago and it is fattening them for future "hashers".

REV. L. R. HOGAN SPEAKS

Notwithstanding the fact that Rev. Hogan, of McMinnville, Tenn., was late in arriving at chapel on Saturday morning, he had to make the chapel talk that is imposed on all visitors. His address was brief and interesting. He told of his long time interest in Maryville and mentioned several students who are at Maryville now and others who have been here from his community.

DR. WILSON LEADS PRAYER MEETING

Great Spiritual Force of College is Begun With Large Audience. Subjects and Leaders For This Term.

"The many voices that are calling us", was the theme of Dr. Wilson's splendid address, at the Thursday night Prayer Meeting. "At the present crisis", he declared, "we should heed the voices that are urging us to march forward with loyalty to our country and God. The voices of our father and mother, of our forefathers, the call of our Alma Mater, the upward calling of our country, the voice of humantiy for sympathy and help, the appeal of the church of the living God, and the tender voice of the God Himself, speak to the students to be thoughtful and loyal at such a time when humanity is at stake".

A large number of students and others attended the opening meeting of the year.

The Tuesday night prayer meetings which have been continued with the Thursday night meetings, have always been the nucleus of the religious energy of the college. Let us keep up our interest and make the meetings this year the best we ever had.

The Thursday evening Prayer meeting topics and leaders for this term are as follows:

TWO MILITARY COMPANIES ORGANIZED

At the sound of reveille Friday morning about two hundred boys hurriedly assembled on the baseball diamond for the organization of the military battalion. It was a mixed crowd in point of military experience; some had had some training and others had not. Major Johnson, in immediate command, gave orders for all the experienced men to withdraw into a separate group, and this command divided the men present in something like half. The inexperienced men were drilled in the "school of the soldier" and other preparatory movements, while the experienced men executed several company maneuvers. The boys were divided. The companies were named A and B and the lines as drawn up Friday morning will remain the same for the present.

Commandant Gillingham made a timely address to the two companies standing at attention. His remarks were of such a nature as to improve the appearance of the battalion and to encourage recruiting. He put especial emphasis on the fact that all the Maryville men who, having had the college course in military training, in every instance have received promotion and responsible positions in actual service more quickly than those who have not taken the training at college. The time for assembly is promptly at six o'clock on Wednesday and Friday mornings of each week.

"DO JUSTLY AND LOVE MERCY"

Was The Theme of Dr. Stevenson at Sunday's Vesper Service.

Judging from the large crowd of students and of town people Sunday afternoon who attended the Vesper Service in the chapel, the services are evidently proving to be a great success, and many spiritual blessings are assured the student body.

The text of Dr. Stevenson's most elaborate address was from the prophesy of Micah, 6:8 "And what doth the Lord require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God". "God's masterpiece", the pastor maintained, "is man—How can he be worthy of this high privilege?"

The text answers the question. "Do justly. A just man is true to his manhood, and is a tower of strength in both the church and state. Then love mercy—thus to the strength of justice, add the tenderness of mercy—And finally to live up to these requirements—we must walk humbly with our God".

Dr. Stevenson is a wonderful speaker, and has always a valuable message that appeals to his young men and young women. Moreover, the services are brief and unusually interesting, so let no one miss the treat, next Sunday afternoon at four o'clock.

ALPHA SIGMAS HOLD FIRST MEETING

Splendid Program Carried Out.

On Saturday evening the Alpha Sigma reception in honor of the new students, was thoroughly enjoyed by a large crowd. During the course of procedure the doors of the society were opened to those who desired to ally themselves with the society. Several new men voluntarily presented their own names and several old men presented the names of their friends. These men were received into the society and were given a hearty Alpha Sigma welcome.

The meeting was indeed an interesting one. The society was called to order by the President, at the appointed time, and Professer Southwick led in opening prayer. All business was dispensed with, and the program of the evening was taken up immediately. A "Welcome Address" was delivered by President Taylor who told of the organization of the society in 1882; its continued growth and the development of the "Alpha Sigma Spirit", and the bright prospects of the coming year. In his "Address to New Men", J. H. Turner congratulated the new students on their presence at Maryville College, gave them a word of encouragement. and advised them to join one of the two boys' literary societies—preferably the Alpha Sigma. J. S. Georges soared to heights of oratory in expounding the theories of "Democracy, and World Peace". H. D. McGrath gave a very appropriate reading "When Jim Quit the Farm" by James Whitcomb Riley. Several piano solos were rendered by R. W. Adams.

The new students and visitors had no small part in the entertainment. Professors Southwick and Walker were called upon for speeches. Professor Southwick said that from early youth he has made it a practice to speak in public whenever an opportunity offered itself and that we were simply his victims. He spoke of the coming oratorical contests. His "maiden speech" was greatly enjoyed.

Professor Walker told us of the good old days when he was a member of the society, and how his coworkers of former days have never lost interest in the work of the society. He said that the training which one receives in the literary societies is the training that will be of most value to a man when he goes out into the world to take up the ordinary duties of life. Among the new students who responded to the calls for speeches, Mr. House declared his intentions of becoming an Alpha Sigma. Glen W. Lloyd made an enthusiastic speech which he concluded by giving a very beautiful quotation from Shapespeare, which, he said, must have been written about the Alpha Sigma Literary Society.

The latter part of the evening was turned into an informal social. Refreshments were served, and a general good-time was engaged in. Simmons discussed "Moonshine".

The prospects of the society for the coming year are very bright. With Saturday evenings reserved for the literary societies, the Alpha Sigma has hopes for a full attendance during the entire year. Sometime this week a business session will be called to consider furnishing the new room offered by the college for one of the two sections.

Plans are being considered to refurnish the old hall. Until further announcement the Senior and Junior sections will meet together on Saturday evenings.

The program for next Saturday evening, Sept. 29, will be as follows:

Music - - - - - - - Quartet
Debate: Resolved, that general disarmament would bring peace to the world.
Affirmative, James, Logan.
Negative, Briggs, McLaughlin,
Address - - - - Dr. Stevenson

All new men are urged to be present.

ATHENIANS HAVE BIG MEETING

New Men Enjoy Stunts of College's Oldest Society. Prospects Are Bright For The Most Successful Year.

The Athenian Society has begun its fiftieth year's work under most favorable auspices. Last Saturday evening a joint meeting and reception was held, and the classic old hall resounded with literary work of well-known Athenian quality. Debate, musical numbers, reading, and an Athenian "newspaper", the latter of which kept the large audience in a roar of laughter, showed the character of the society's regular work. The attendance of new members was gratifyingly large, and a big year is already assured.

The new men will be most cordially welcomed into the Athenian fellowship. All will find a spirit of harmony and a general interest in the pleasure as well as in the literary development of the new Athenians.

The college section meets on Saturday evenings. Professor Arthur F. Southwick, the new debate coach and professor of oratory will favor them with an address at an early date.

The prep section, last year one of the most prosperous and active organizations on the hill, has reorganized and its meetings will be announced in a day or two.

Watch the Athenian bulletin board.

LYCEUM COURSE IS ARRANGED

Committeemen R. L. Taylor and W. R. Garrison have entered agreement with the Redpath Lyceum Bureau for a course of five of the best lyceum entertainments to be had. Maryville people are assured that the coming course will surpass anything that has been had here before. The first number which will be the Croatian Tamburica Orchestra will be given on Oct. 10. Tickets will be on sale the latter part of this week.

EDITORIAL

Now that the war has been in progress for some time and the first great wave of disconcertedness has passed over, many have come to look upon the grim spectacle as a business to be run than an emergency to be met. The selective draft has decided who shall go and when, and this factor together with the fact the newness of war is being worn off contribute greatly to the present complaisence to be noticed among students.

But as the war wears on all indications point to a longer struggle than has heretofore been expected. In fact, this is the opinion of military men high up in the affairs of war and state. America must play a great part in this war and it is up to the young men of the country to prepare themselves for the greatest efficiency in the great fight for humanity. Abundant opportunity to gain a military education of no small amount of thoroughness is given right here in college and yet many young men of military age are not taking advantage of a life-time opportunity. The number of recruits as it now stands should be doubled by all means. Young men should take the training even if it were known they would never be needed in the present war. As an expression of patriotism, as a means of physical upbuild, as a direct step toward winning the war for democracy young men should look the facts square in the face and prepare to do not their bit, but their best for their homes and country.

Fellows, be out on the baseball diamond next Wednesday morning at six o'clock whether you have had any previous military experience or not, or whether you are of military age or not.

ANNUAL CONTRACT HAS BEEN PLACED

The Junior Class has made the first step toward the publication of the 1918 Chilhowean by contracting with the Hammersmith-Kortimur Company for both printing and engraving. The contract calls for a book of the best material and of comprehensive volume. Further work on the business part of the book is under way. With such capable workers at the head of the staff as Young Hayes, Business Manager, and Marie Townsend, Editor-in-Chief, the 1918 Annual is assured of being as good as ever if not even better.

FRESHMEN ORGANIZE

The Freshmen Class organized the past week and elected the following officers:

President - - - Percy Buchanan
Vice-President - Winifred Decker
Secretary - - - - Helen Horton
Treasurer - - - - Dewey Beck

THETA EPSILON GIRLS GIVE RECEPTION

Many New Girls Are The Guests of This Popular Society.

Theta Epsilon Literary Society entertained for the new girls with a patriotic reception Saturday night. The hall was artistically decorated with national colors, flags, penants, and appropriate posters.

One corner of the room was devoted to the Red Cross, and as a Red Cross benefit an auction sale of lovely young ladies was held. Every smiling bidder vied with her rival in attempting to produce the most divine "grin"—the price of her fair purchase. Miss Wicks was highest bidder.

Every one present was given a "meal ticket" and a long "soup" line was formed. The "soup" which proved to be cream and cake, was served from a booth daintily decorated in the national colors.

At ten o'clock the girls returned to their various rooms with many expressions of appreciation for the hospitality of the Thetas.

DR. WILSON SPEAKS TO Y. M. C. A.

Prospects Are Bright For Best Year Yet.

Y. M. C. A. has an inspiring beginning of devotional meetings for the coming year. The meeting Sunday afternoon was opened by Vice-President, E. K. James. After some songs and a season of sentence prayers for a great year's work in this time when our duty is that of increased service, the meeting was turned over to Dr. Wilson, who needed no introduction to the new students. "Think to God" was his subject, and it was explained in such a clear and impressive way that little doubt could arise as to its necessity in our every day life. The close attention of the audience gave evidence of the forcefulness which characterizes all of Dr. Wilson's addresses.

Dr. Wilson laid particular stress on the influence the Y. M. C. A. had had over many of the Maryville boys who have gone out into the world after spending their college days as Y. M. C. A. men. He gave several most interesting examples of how its influence had served to help Maryville men overcome some of the most powerful temptations that can come to a young man. He urged all the new men to get in line with the "Y" and attend the meetings regularly.

Definite arrangements have not been made for next Sunday afternoon but the president is sure of having a speaker worth while.

Professor Southwick was present and announced that he would lead a class of Y. M. C. A. boys in the study of "The Social Life of Jesus". The meeting was well attended, and well appreciated.

QUINN—BAKER

Mr. Pat Quinn and Miss Marie Baker, both Maryville students for some years were married at the home of the bride in Kingston, Ohio, on Saturday, June 16, 1917. Mr. Quinn left college in the spring of 1915 after completing the Junior year for a course of law in the University of Chicago. The bride was an accomplished vocalist and was very popular among the students of Maryville They are making their home at Lancing, Tenn.

MILITARY SCIENCE

In order to keep abreast of the times Maryville is constantly on the lookout for opportunities by which she can best fit her students to handle the problems of the times. It was this idea that prompted the board of directors to add the new course in military science to the college curriculum. The course is being taught by Prof. Gillingham and the large number of young men taking this course is proof of its popularity. The texts in use are the "Plattsburg Manual" and the official army drill regulations.

A LETTER FROM PROFESSOR JOHNSON

Last week Dr. Wilson received a letter from Prof. Johnson, who was for the last two years professor of economics and public speaking, from which the following is an extract:

As for myself—well, the war has completely upset all my plans. I was counting on a very strenuous and happy year at Rice Institute, but instead Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, Ohio, will be the scene of my labors during the next few months, and then in all probability I shall sail for France. While it was somewhat disheartening to give up my college work, especially after I had already done a quarter's work at the University of Chicago, yet I'm indeed very glad that I can play my small part in keeping the "world safe not only for democracy but for humanity as well". Each day I become more and more convinced that to give his best for the Great Cause is a privilege that no man should despise.

Prof. Southwick also received a letter from Prof. Johnson in which he said: "Remember me to all the old students and especially the debaters. They are a grand bunch of fellows".

POLK COUNTY HIGH SCHOOL EASILY DEFEATED

Second Half

M C. kicks off from west end 50 yards. McCullough returns ball 15 yards. Quarter failed to gain. Garrison recovered a fumble, McNutt gained 4 yards, Bryson 3. Clemens lost 3 yards, but in the next play made first down on a 15 yard end run. Polk took time out on their own 10 yard line.

Clemens met a catastrophe with his sweater and a change was made. Clemens on a fake play lost 3 yards. Bryson bucked line for 4 yards. On a tackle play "Sheeney" fumbles and lost 5 yards. On fourth down Clemens made a touchdown but on the kick out the M. C. backfield failed to catch it and no try for goal was made. Score: M. C. 25, Polk 0.

Clemens kicked off 50 yards to McCullough who returned 15 yards. Roe gained 4 yards, Cooper threw Prince for a 4 yard loss. Garrison threw Roe for a 3 yard loss. "Sheeney" recovered a blocked punt by McCullough. Bryson made 5 yards. McNutt made another touchdown, and Clemens kicked goal. Score M. C. 32, Polk 0.

M. C. kicked off again 50 yards to full who returned 10 yards. Cagle and Latimer were sent in for James and Jellicose. Cagle threw Roe for 2 yard loss. Bryson intercepted a forward pass and it was M. C.'s ball on the 20 yard line. Clemens made 6 yards on an end run. Cooper, called back for a tackle play made 3 yards, Bryson 4 yards, and Hurst 3 yards. Clemens made a touchdown on an end run, but failed to kick goal. Score, M. C. 38, Polk 0.

Polk kicked 30 yards to "Sheeney" who returned 15 yards. On two consecutive forwards. Eagleton made 20 and 30 yard gains. The first was the prettiest play of the game. He ran clean out, unnoticed by all the P. H. S. players and with any but tough luck he would have had a touchdown. The quarter ended.

Bryson, however, followed with this touchdown. Clemens kicked goal.. Score M. C. 45, Polk 0.

Clemens kicked off 50 yards to the full who returned 15 yards. Johnson threw Roe for loss. Prince gained 3 yards but Roe fails. The ball passed over to M. C. Clemens gained 12 yards, a 20 yard pass to Eagleton was incomplete. Clemens made first down on an eleven yard run. Watkins goes another yard. Bryson thrown for 7 yard loss and he took time out. Drake takes Gillispie's place and on a beautiful forward pass of 20 yards he made a touchdown placing the ball between the goal ports. Clemens kicked goal. Score: M. C. 52, Polk 0.

Clemens kicked off 40 yard line, but Drake downed Fox in his tracks. Roe gained one yard. Stearns goes in for Latimer. Prince made 10 yards on an end run. Full fumbled and M. C. recovered. Watkins made 10 yards on forward pass. Incomplete pass followed. Bryson bucked line 10 yards and first down followed by another first down by Clemens. Russell threw Clemens for 8 yard loss. The third and fourth downs were both wasted on incomplete forward passes to Eagleton. Game called. Final score, M. C. 52, Polk 0.

MISS SIMPSON ADDRESSES FIRST MEETING OF Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. held its first regular meeting, Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Basement of the chapel.

Miss Simpson, the president led the meeting, the subject being "Putting first things first". Special music in the way of a piano solo by Miss Mabel Rice, and a vocal solo by Miss Genevieve Gibson were greatly enjoyed.

They have made a good beginning let us hope that before long the Y. W. C. A. room, which was well filled last Sunday night, will not be large enough to seat the crowd.

Next Sunday night a Patriotic meeting will be led by Miss Dexter Clayton. Be sure to be there.

WAR CALLS TWO

The war made its first inroad into this year's student body Wednesday, Sept. 18, when Daniel Baird of Elk Valley, Tenn., and Clifford Sherrod, of Louisville, Tenn., were called into service. Our highest wish for them is that they swat the Kaiser with all the vim and vigor that has been instilled into them while at Maryville.

There are a great many young men in college this fall who are of military age and such future calls for men as may come will draw constantly from our college ranks. The military training which is being given will prove of inestimable value to all the Maryville boys who go into the service at any time during the coming year.

Y. M. C. A. WILL CONDUCT HIKE

Starting from Batrlett Hall next Monday morning promptly at eight o'clock the Y. M. C. A. will conduct a hike into the regions of the Smoky mountains in the direction of Montvale. This trip is taken annually by the "Y" in order that the new men may be given a chance to get an intimate view of the towering steeps which can be seen from college Hill. Arrangements for lunch may be made by conferring with Mr. Weisbecker at Bartlett Hall. The party will return to the Hill in time for supper.

COLLEGE BAND TO BE ORGANIZED

Music-lovers of the College are delighted to learn that the band is to be reorganized and put on such a basis of efficiency as to be at the service of the students on every occasion which demands the presence of such an organization. Charles B. Tedford, who was connected with the department of music last year in the capacity of teacher of violin will be the leader and organizer of the band, as well as the director of the orchestra.

Maryville College
1819-1917
Rev. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, D. D. Pres.

I. ITS PAST. Founded in 1819 by the Synod of Tennessee, it has served the church and the country for nearly a century. Thousands of its former students are scattered over the world.

II. ITS PRESENT. Its enrollment in 1917 was 801—416 young men and 385 young women—of whom 292 were collegians. 535 students from Tennessee, and 279 from 33 other states and countries. Its teaching force of 60 professors and assistants.

III. ITS PLANT. It has property of all kinds amounting to $1,021,496. Twelve buildings, including the new Swimming Pool; waterworks, sewerage, steam heat and electric lights. The campus contains 250 acres.

IV. ITS COLLEGE CURRICULUM. It offers nine groups of study leading to B. A. degree: Classical, Modern Languages, Science, Mathematics, Education, English Literature and History, Psychology and Philosophy, Social Science, and General. Fifteen units are required for admission to the Freshman Class. A two-year pre-medical course is offered.

V. ITS OTHER DEPARTMENTS. 1 Preparatory. 2 Bible Training. 3 Teachers. 4 Home Economics. 5 Agriculture. 6 Bookkeeping. 7 Music. 8 Expression. 9 Art.

VI. ITS MORAL ATMOSPHERE. The College is strongly Christian, and the discipline is careful. The students' spiritual welfare is the first concern. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are very efficient. The Bible is a required text-book.

VII. ITS INEXPENSIVENESS. 1 Tuition is $6. a term. 2 Room rent for each student, with two in room, $18 to $35 a year. 3 Board in the Cooperative Club of 500 members, $2.00 a week. 4 Text-books rented. General library free. 5 Opportunities for self-help afforded.

Write for a copy of the Catalog and other literature, to

REV. CLINTON H. GILLINGHOM, Registrar.

Maryville, Tennessee.

PERSONALS

Floyd Slatery, a former student who went to California three years ago to regain his health died there about the middle of August. His body was cremated and returned to his former home in Sevier county.

Luther McCurry was called Thursday to his home county of Greene to appear for physical examination before his local board.

A. B. Potter, a last year's second prep visited on the Hill Friday.

J. D. Wright, a last year's irregular collegiate was married to Miss Ethel Taylor, at Jamestown, Tenn., about the first of August.

Gussie Jones, who is now at Anderson College, Anderson, S. C., writes "I find myself wondering now and then what you all are doing back at good old M. C. I'm sorry I can't be there".

Last year's book room force are still on the job. They are Horace Dawson, Mary Kate Lewis, Helen Lewis, and Charles Edgemon.

As the result of the hum of the mowing machine on the campus for the last few days "the new-mown hay sends all its fragrance from the fields I used to roam."

J. Chas. Walker, '16, editor of the first volume of the Echo visited old friends on the Hill the first of the week. It looks like "old times" to see "Red's" ruddy cranium floating around over the campus which it once graced so conspicuously.

Miss Winifred Decker spent Monday at her home in Knoxville.

Miss McCampbell, Miss Edith Brothers and Edith Davis who have been in the hospital this week are, we are glad to learn, now out and rapidly recovering.

Elizabeth Henry and Genevieve Gibson spent Monday in Knoxville.

A pleasant evening was spent Friday by all the new girls who gathered in the parlor to hear read the laws and by-laws which govern their new home. Wouldn't it be nice for the "Big Family" to have an occasional "at home" where they might become more fully acquainted with their college "mothers."?

Nearly a hundred and fifty cans of beans, tomatoes and corn were canned in the Home Economics department the past week, to say nothing of numerous jars of water-melon rind preserves.

Tommy Loft was on the Hill for the week-end. He will return Tuesday to enter school.

New students continue to arrive, half a dozen will probably be added to the rolls this week.

Miss Annie Pleasants of the class of '17 spent the week with her sister at M. C. Miss Pleasants is now an efficient teacher at Cades Cove Consolidated School.

Miss Rice, who has been visiting her sister Mabel, returned home last week.

Ura A. Brogden, ex-'18, was married to Miss Della Peek, of Cookeville, Tenn., on the 8th of last August. Both bride and groom are students at Cumberland University, Lebanon.

During the latter part of June a package was received on the Hill addressed "Mr. and Mrs. May Build Homes, Maryville, Tenn."

Carnegie Hall is no place for some of our new students. You are supposed to keep quiet over there.

Hayes' Father: "What does this "60" mean on your report card?
Red: "Well—I—why, er— that's the temperature of the room."

Deck: "What got into Johnson's head to grow a mustache?
Miss B: "Hair, I guess."

ALUMNI NOTES

Cupid has been working overtime the past season among us. At least eighteen of our graduates have succumbed to his darts. The total number of weddings has been sixteen, however, for in two instances one arrow served for two. Every class between the years 1910 and 1917 (both inclusive) is represented. The classes of 1914 and 1915 lead with a record of four weddings each, these two classes together furnishing half the total number.

We are informed that Mr. L. G. Carson, '12, has also committed matrimony, but we have so far been unable to learn the name of the bride or the date of the wedding. The report, however, seems to be authentic, and extend congratulations.

Seel-Rood—This is another wedding of special interest. Rev. E. G. Seel was for two years at the head of the Department of German in Maryville College, and so has a wide acquaintance among the Alumni. After leaving Maryville he took his seminary course at Princeton. Miss Miriam Rood, of Bradentown, Fla., was one of the leading members of the class of 1913. Mr. and Mrs. Seel are "At Home" to their friends in Santiago, Chile, where Mr. Seel is working under the Presbyterian Board of Foreign Missions in the Instituto Ingles.

Felknor-Lester—Mr. Audley Felknor, a former student of Maryville College and Miss Hattie B. Lester, '13, were married June 29 at the home of Rev. Dr. Bruce in Yonkers, N. Y. Since her graduation Miss Lester had done several years successful work in the Annville Institute, Annville, Kentucky. Mr. Felknor is traveling for a St. Louis firm. Mr. and Mrs. Felknor are making their home at Westchester, Pennsylvania.

Detty-Tedford. On the fourteenth of June at the New Providence Presbyterian church in Maryville, Rev. Victor C. Detty and Miss Mary Pearl Tedford were united in marriage. After graduating from Maryville, Mr. Detty took his theological course at Auburn Seminary. Mrs Detty as well as her husband was a Maryville College student. They will make their home in Huntsville, Tennessee.

Click-Kirkpatrick. Mr. William Daniel Click was married to Miss Nell R. Kirkpatrick of the class of 1914 on July 6, 1917. Mr. and Mrs. Click are residing in Mooresburg, Tennessee.

We are credibly informed that Rev. J. K. Stewart, '14, who recently graduated from Princeton Seminary, has taken unto himself a wife, but we have been unable to learn the particulars. The report further states that Mr. Stewart has charge of a church in the state of Washington.

The tenth of May was a notable day in the life of W. H. Tilford, '14. First he became a Reverend, receiving his diploma from Lane Seminary, and a few hours after he became a Benedict, claiming as his wife Miss Mable Whitacre of Morrow, Ohio. Mr. and Mrs. Tilford expect to go to Western India as missionaries under the Presbyterian Board.

VOLUME THREE. MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE TUESDAY OCTOBER 2, 1917 NUMBER THREE

BAINONIANS FROLIC SATURDAY EVENING

"Bainonian University Faculty" Greatly Enjoyed. An Evening of Fun-Making and Merriment.

The newly-awakened interest manifested in other departments of the college is very evident in Bainonian. The word "Banonian" is spoken with pride and enthusiasm all over the hill.

On Saturday evening, September 29, the hall presented a very inviting appearance. The windows were artistically wreathed with honeysuckle, and brass baskets containing dahlias and other flowers ornamented the piano and the tables. The shaded lights threw a delicate green over the scene of gaiety.

At eight o'clock the guests began to arrive, and were carried through a session of "Bainonian University." Quite early the noise was quieted to subdued whispers, and Miss Emma Miles sweetly sang, "At Dawning." Miss Jane Morton fowolled with the reading of two humorous selections, which filled the hall with laughter. The entrance of the "Banonian University Faculty" caused a great wave of excitement and interest to pass over the crowd. Miss Fisher, the president of Banonian, delivered an address of welcome, and announced that the required subjects would be Piano, Voice, Expression, Athletics, Agriculture, Domestic Science, Chemistry, and Forestry. Misses Winifred Decker and Mary Emma Armentrout, being professors of music, rendered beautiful piano selections. Miss Mary Heard and Mary Miles represented the Voice Department with several pretty songs. As the Expression Department must be represented, Miss Genevieve Gibson, bearing the name of Togo, entered in Chinese cos-tume and delightfully gave a chinese reading. The Athletic assignment merely consistd of shaking hands with the "Faculty". Then came the scene of greatest activity. The guests passed into one of the rooms on second floor labeled "Agriculture", and were served roasted peanuts. From there they went into another room marked "Domestic Science", and received ice cream and cake. In the chemistry Department fruit punch proved to be a successful experiment. Miss Maude Pardue stood inside the next room holding a dainty basket containing tooth picks with Bainonian flags attached. These were given to those visiting the Forestry Department with the wish that this small branch would grow into a great tree and bear much fruit for Bainonian, through the efforts of the owners.

FORENSIC ACTIVITIES

If enthusiesm among the old debaters and orators who are back means anything this ought to be a record year for Maryville in debate and oratory. The plans call for possibly four intercollegiate debate teams, depending upon the number of new men who try out and two from the preparatory department. A meeting for the new men who wish to try out will be held in the Alpha Sigma hall immediately after supper next Saturday, October 6, to arrange for the first try-out. This will be held shortly before Thanksgiving and the men chosen from this group will then compete with the old debaters shortly before the holiday vacation.

In oratory there are to be three contests; the Peace and the Prohibition which are open to all college students, and a third probably open only to the Seniors and Juniors. Prizes range from ten to forty dollars. Any one interested in either debate or oratory should get busy at once, and see Prof. Southwick or any former debater or orator.

"DISCRIMINATE BETWEEN WORTHY AND UNWORTHY"

Vesper Services Well Attended

The realization of the immense value of the meetings as a source of religious energy and spiritual blessings is manifesting itself in the magnitude of the audience. The numbers of regular attendants is rapidly increasing not only among the students, but also among the townspeople, who, once having tasted the good messages, can no longer refrain from calling again. The enthusiasm in the meetings is indeed of a remarkable character. Statements of the type, "I wouldn't miss that service for anything" are but common utterances among the energetic young men and women.

Dr. Stevenson's address conveyed the following points regarding the principle of discriminating between the worthy and unworthy: first, its application to our reading; second, its relation to our recereation and music, and finally, as aplied to wealth. In conclusion he discussed the remorse and the sad results of the one who has worshipped at the wrong shrine. "It is tragic," he concluded, "to find out at the end that all your vitality and God-given opportunities have been laid a sacrifice upon the wrong altar."

SONG SERVICE LED BY MUSIC DEPARTMENT

"Learn to Play The Glad Game", Theme of The Thursday Night Prayer Meeting.

Special music, a cheerful brief talk, and a happy and worshipful audience—in spite of the rain—characterized the second Thursday night Prayer Meeting of the year. Under the supervision of the music department special selections suited to the occassion were sung, and the choir was assisted by Josephine Knapp and Roy Anderson, who rendered solos.

After the reading of the scripture lesson, the choir chanted the Lord's Prayer. Then Dr. Stevenson, delivered a brief address discussing the associations of a joyous person with others. "The person who sings at his work will have the cause to sing over his work. A joyous person is contented whatever his task, or whatever his station on life's pilgrimage. Learn to play the glad game, cheer other lives also. Be the bearer of good tidings. The key of keeping happy", he stated' "is the expression uttered by the Psalmist, 'My soul forget not His (God's) blessings.' As Christians we should be happy because the joy of the Lord is our strength".

Dr. Stevenson is to lead the next meeting on Thursday night, and his theme is, "The Development of Life's Possibilities." Let us all come and hear the message of our College Pastor.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Ministerial Association does not confine its work to the "Hill", but it carries its influence, the training, and the Christian spirit of the college, far and wide.

We have again undertaken the work of the Battle Branch Mission, which has been so successfully carried on in past years, and we expect a very successful year. A number of churches and mission Sunday schools are requesting our help from Sabbath to Sabbath. If YOU are interested in such work, join our Association and attend the bi-weekly meetings, which are held in the first and third Tuesdays of each month. Both old and new students will receive the care and guidance of "our Shepherd" as well as our mutual fellowship in the work of the Kingdom.

Yes, it's true—Bill Holmes and Mae Buchanan married during the summer, sometime, somewhere—but say, they still moonshine.

ATHENIANS CARRY OUT FULL PROGRAM

Hayes and Cooper Make The Speeches of The Evening. Music by Athenian Vocalist.

A half day's outing, with the excitement of a splendid victory on the gridiron followed by supper at 7:10 would seem most unfavorable to literary society activity that evening. Nevertheless, at the "sign of the Owl and Crescent" a large number of fellows gathered Saturday evening and heard a program that called forth round upon roun' of applause with much hearty, refreshing laughter. Though we have discontinued all fines for non-attendance and all "brother Athenians" enjoy the greatest freedom, every person on the program was present and prepared.

To describe the full program would be presuming upon space assignment. Suffice it to say that, from the opening music by "the best male vocalist on the hill" to the concluding number a humorous debate in which "Red" Hayes and Cooper made many a spectacular touch-down, the program was a success.

In the business session following the program a number of promising new men, representing classes up as far as the Junior, were received into active membership and were given the hearty Athenian welcome.

Last week an election was held to fill the places of some who had expected to return to us, but who have answered the patriot's call to other fields of activity. Those elected were: treasurer, V. B. Hamilton; program secretary, Percy Buchanan; janitor, C. W. Dillworth.

And now the rising tide of our anniversary year is full upon us we need not look backward; for the achievements of our half century's history past a radiance before. We mean to make our future worthy of our past. As membership and interest grow each program is expected to be made better than the last.

Our program for Saturday evening, October 6, will include, besides some short numbers by our own men an address by Prof. Southwick. He has something to say that every one interested in literary work should hear. All new students are cordially invited. The preparatory section will meet with us and hear this address.

ALPHA SIGMAS HEAR DR. STEVENSON

He Gives Them Some Valuable Points in The Making of an Orator.

The old Alpha Sigma Eagle found himself particularly honored Saturday night because of a special opportunity of having the forensic display of his own make interspersed and enlivened by that of one of the best speakers obtainable. After hovering over Wait Field with the ever-wakeful Athenian Owl all afternoon with such powerful influence as to cause the Highlanders to crush the machine of the enemy, the Alpha Sigma Eagle returned to his nest in the evening to hear Dr. Stevenson address the occupants of his domicile in thoughts of superb quality.

In the absence of Pres. R. L. Taylor, Vice-President, A. H. Webster, took charge of the meeting. Because of the lateness of the hour all the rogram but Dr. Stevenson's address was eliminated.

In an intimate, personal, conversational way, Dr. Stevenson gave the boys some good advice that was specific and to the point. Things that will make for the betterment of forensic art were taken up in the speaker's plain and sincere manner and were listened to by the Alpha Sigmas with great attentiveness. Dr. Stevenson paused long enough to congratulate this society for having so many men on the football team. During the course of his talk the speaker said that he had noticed that such Maryville students as he has heard speak have been able to express themselves remarkably well before an audience.

The Alpha Sigma extends an invitation to Dr. Stevenson for another talk like this before long.

The program of next week will be on the whole the same as that listed for last week.

HIGHLANDERS DEFEAT TUSCULUM IN SECOND GAME OF SEASON

Old Rivals of M. C. Succumb to Verdict of 13-0. Heavy Train Carries Five Hundred Rooters to Wait Field. M. C. Has Won 65 Points and Her Goal Line is Yet Uncrossed.

Playing a game remarkable in its periodicity of brilliant flashes, and costly fumbles, Maryville won its second game of the season from her old rivals, Tusculum. The time, date and meeting place were 2:30 p. m., Saturday, September 29th, on Wait field in Knoxville. Although there is a regular scheduled game on Thanksgiving day in Maryville between these two schools, this game filled in an open date of both schools.

The final score was 13-0. Both touchdowns came in the third quarter, one, after only a few minutes of play. In her first two games, M. C. has scored 65 points to her opponents nothing. It is yet too early to predict the whole season, but undoubtedly if the same improvement is shown in each game a worthy record will result.

The star of the game was the newly elected Captain, Clemens. Playing one of the most remarkable games of his career, running back punts for half their distance, kicking off at the beginning of the halves and after the scores, in the coolness and quickness of his judgement, in the way he handled the team, in the accuracy of his forward passes his work was par excellence.

All the backfield men played good ball. Bryson failed to find himself the first half and it was not until the last half that he drove and tore and ripped thru the opposing line. In the line Briggs at tackle was the star. He was down the field the only two times when a safety was in sight before any other man. Johnson at center and Jellicorse were towers of strength.

Tusculum had it on M. C. in weight. Her backfield averaged 180 pounds and the whole team 172. But her line was shot full of holes time and again. She had only two plays. Her straight shift of the four backfield men usually gained, but only because of mass action. The fake play when the end tried to make the spectators believe he was crazy by running back and forth from one end to the other, evidently trying to find some plce to hide was the other and that didn't fool any of M. C.'s men. Their punts did not average as much as Clemens' either. The two Campbell brothers and A. Doak, the captain were the only real players in the team and they were too handicapped to do much real playing. Some people are wondering just how many more years those Doak Brothers are to pose as "would be" football players of Tusculum.

A special train was run up from Maryville, Saturday at 1 p. m. and a loyal band of rooters acccompanied the team. Tusculum also had a few. Although this game will be probably the only one Knoxville fans will be able to see, the expected crowd was conspicious for its absence. About 750 were present, altogether.

Maryville wasted many chances to score and if she had tried harder might have run up a larger score.

On the other hand Tusculum was only inside Maryville's 20 yard line twice and our goal was never dangerously threatened.

THE GAME IN FULL

M. C. won the toss and elected to kick from the south end of Wait Field. On the first kick off the ball went outside and was returned for a second time. The ball went 50 yards to Benson who returned 20 yards. On the first play of the game on an end play Benson was thrown for a 5 yard loss by Hayes. R. Campbell gains 3 yards. Tusculum was penalized 5 yards for being off sides. Doak punted 35 yards to Clemens, who failed to return. Hurst gained 4 yards on two consecutive line bucks. Bryson on an end run made 8 yards and first down. Hayes hits line for 2 yards, then Hurst for 7 yards. Clemens thrown for a 5 yard loss. An incomplete pass to Garrison followed. If he had caught it, M. C. would have had a clear touchdown as he was only 10 yards from the goal. However, the ball went over to Tusculum on their own 30 yard line.

Gooch was tackled before he could pass the ball. Doak makes 6 yards on shift. Garrison downs R. Campbell in his tracks. M. Doak made first down. He followed this by breaking thru the whole Maryville line and a clear field. The prettiest tackle of the game followed when Clemens, the only obstacle between Doak and a touch down, made a flying tackle and a dump resulted. Another first down was recorded, though. Briggs threw R. Campbell in his tracks. T. Campbell stopped when he hit the line, and Johnson tackled another fellow loose and only a 4 yard gain was the result. Gooch attempted a forward pass but the M. C. lineman got there so quick that the ball was knocked out of his hands but he recovered the fumble making it first down for Tusculum. Time out for "Fatty" Register. Incomplete pass to Benson. R. Campbell made 12 yards and first down. A. Doak caught a 10 yard forward pass, making another first down.

R. Campbell on an end run gained 5 yards. F. Campbell downed in his tracks. Here the referee called first down for the third, a mistake for which there was no possible excuse. McCullum fails to gain, F. Campbell gained 4 yards but for being offside was penalized 10 yards. where again a mistake was made as it should have been 5. R. Campbell caught a beautiful pass of 15 yards, but the ball went over to M. C. Clemens punted 30 yards, but Campbell fumbled and Briggs was down soon enough to recover, making it first down. The quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Hayes made no gain, Bryson gained five, Hayes bucks for 2 more and Hurst caught a pretty little 8 yard pass. Time taken out for Tusculum. Bryson hits line for 2 more and Clemens followed with a thirty yard end run. M. C.'s ball on Tusculum's 15 yard line. Bryson gains 2 yards. Clemens fumbled back of line but recovered and ran it back 5 yards, but lost 10 yards on the deal. On next play Bryson hurdled and M. C. was penalized 15 yards. Clemens punted but the kick was blocked, and R. Campbell recovered but was forced out of bounds by Clemens in a pretty tackle. A. Doak fails to catch a pass, and followed by doing the same again. James goes in for McLaughlin. M. Doak makes 7 yards on line plunge. Lovett goes in for Weiber. Campbell thrown by Davidson and ball goes over. Hayes fails to gain. Clemens makes 9 yards. Bryson bucks for 5 yards and first down. M. C. takes time out. McNutt takes place of Hayes. Clemens fails to gain on shift. M. Doak intercepts forward pass. Briggs throws him,

EDITORIAL

In order to see that the town people are behind the college with all their strength, it is necessary only to glance down our advertising columns. It is true that Maryville as a town has grown rapidly in the last few years, but we are persuaded that the support the town people are giving the Echo comes not from the competition of the different merchants so much as from the realization that it pays to stand well with the college people.

The merchants have responded so well to the support of the Echo that it has not been necessary to go to Knoxville for advertisers; a fact which has never occurred before.

Students, trade with our advertisers. They are our friends. Be theirs and reciprocate.

DR. HOYT MAKES A FINE ADDRESS

Speaker Draws Large Crowd to Hear "What Makes The Wheels Go Around". "Tommy" Loft Next Sunday.

Sunday meeting of Y. M. C. A. lead by Dr. Hoyt. He took as his subject "What makes the wheels go around?" He brought in very beautifully the example of a child with a tin watch who was satisfied for a while with the fake time piece but became interested in his father's watch, wanted to know what made the wheels go around, and then wanted to trade watches. He applied this specifically to all organizations, the "Y" in particular. "Is our Y. M. C. like unto that tin watch, with the mere name only; or is there a real movement within it like the father's watch? Is the name of our organization no more than that of a tin watch, or does it have the driving force for which the name stands". "Propulsion and Impact" was woven into the central idea which gave added scope to the lesson that might be obtained. The propelling force of activities in the organization must be sufficient to overcome the resistence of impact that drags down the weak determinations. Determinations driven with an energetic will and untiring zeal is the requisite that brings the organization into the field of real activity, and gives its name a significance of value.

A large crowd was out to hear Dr. Hoyt. His talk was brief and to the point. The audience followed him closely throughout.

Next Sunday the meeting will be lead by "Tommie" Loft. Come out and hear him give us a good talk.

Coach: "Some of you fellows have had more experience loving than tackling."

BIG DRIVE UNDER Y. M. C. A.

Membership Committee Are on The Job For Biggest Enrollment Yet.

The membership committee has been chosen and is working the hill and town. Those canvassing Carnegie Hall are: Morgan Cox and Lang, first floor and basement; Horace Dawson and R. L. Taylor, second floor; W. Y. Hayes and B. E. Watkins, third floor; Robert Adams and E. K. James, fourth floor.

A committee is also canvassing the students who are rooming in town.

The membership of the Y. M. C. A. is so far larger than usual. A large number of boys have already been visited by the membership committee and have been given membership cards for the year.

Special interest in the Association is manifested by the number of boys who have lined themselves up for the year. This is encouraging to the committee and to the members who are glad to see the prospects for a booming year so bright. The importane of being connected with this body of live young men has been overlooked by some. It is the impelling motive of the membership committee to make each student's year here as valuable as possible by suggesting to them the several advantages that would be lost opportunities if they should fail to join. The canvass of the hill has not been quite completed. Any student who desires information, or who has not been visited, just ask any member of the canvassing committee and membership cards will beg ladly furnished. The overlooking of some in the canvass can not be avoided, but the Y. M. C. A. wants everybody.

On account of McNutt going to the Army this fall the Association was left without a treasurer. The able person of Morgan Cox has been chosen to fill this important position. Now with an able cabinet a great year must follow.

Y. W. C. A. HAS GOOD MEETING

Misses Clayton, Covert, Rice Rodgers, Wicks and Guess Take Leading Parts.

Those who attended Y. W. C. A. Sunday night, need not be told of how good the meeting was; but those of you who missed that meeting, missed one of their "best meetings".

Miss Dexter Clayton, presided, and her subject "A Patriotic Meeting" was divided into topics of especial interest to us now. Miss Clayton gave us a brief but broad summary of the past, present and future demands on women.

Miss Esther Covert read a poem that was especially suited to the subject, after which Miss Rodgers spoke to us about the American woman's part in the war. Her theme was: "We should economize on food and clothes."

Miss Mabel Rice gave us a survey of the work being done by the American Red Cross, at home and abroad.

After a solo sung by Miss Mary Miles, Miss Josephine Wicks told us of the great work that the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are doing in this war. Her talk was especially interesting because of the fact that she has been in personal touch with this work and her deep interest in it held the interest of everyone present.

Miss Katherine Guess showed us that we too could help by doing our own work well, and so preparing for greater responsibilities which the future will undoubtedly demand of us.

After singing a hymn we were dismissed by a prayer by Mrs. Stevenson and Mrs. Caldwell.

SPECIAL NOTICE

I will greatly appreciate it if the parents or relatives will furnish me the names of the boys who have gone to Training Camps, as I wish to record the name of each on my private daily prayer list, and also wish to write to each a personal letter. Drop me a postal card giving full name and present address.

Miss Elsie Dawson was in Knoxville with her parents for the week end.

The Equal Suffrage Club had its first business meeting Wednesday night to discuss work for 1917-18. It was unanimously voted to form a Red Cross Auxillary and to begin work in earnest as soon as possible. Other work was discussed and plans begun. The club expects to have a very full and successful year.

Miss Jean Carson of the class of '17 was a visitor on the Hill Friday night.

Winston and Ruth Newton were the happy recepients of a generous "box" from home last week.

We are glad to learn that Ethel Jackson is again out of the hospital and rapidly recovering from her recent illness.

John T. Hicks, a last year's Sophomore was seen on the hill Wednesday. He has been called for military service.

Mr. and Mrs. David Proffitt, both of the Class of '16, visited a short while on the hill Thursday.

Tom Goddard who is now at the Reserve Officers Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. visited his parents in Maryville several days ago.

Boys in Carnegie, attention! Prof. Schaeffer will be around to see you one night a week henceforth.

Bob Taylor visited his brother in Sweetwater over Sunday.

A little hot water for bath after football practice sure would go well.

Wm. H. Tilford, '14, who has finished his course in the Theological Seminary, was installed as pastor of the Presbyterian church of Batavia, Ohio, Sept. 28. He writes: "I want every bit of news I can get from old Maryville. * * * Let me hear from you; I shall welcome the Echo every week with open arms".

The evangelist. "Are you a christian?"

Deck: "No, I am a reformed."

Lang: "Was Dexter offended when you called on her with your face unshaven?"

Cox: "Yes, she said she felt it very much".

Prof. Gillingham (in officers' training class): "Huffstetler, what do you do when you go to bed"?

Huffstetler: "Professor, I haven't read that".

Wonder if Carnegie wont be pretty well represented at the Palace Wednesday night?

WONDER IF YOU CAN?

Dr. Barnes, in psych. classroom: "Due to the modifiability of the neurones of the brain, you can tell whether a fellow is a bachelor or an old maid.

ATHLETIC MANAGERS ELECTED

At a meeting of the Athletic Board of Control on Friday afternoon the election of all Athletic Managers took place. Because of three members of the board not returning to college the following officers were elected: G. A. Llyod, Vice President to take H. W. Feeman's place; Elinor Moseley and Robert Clemens, Student Rrepresentatives to take the places of Elitor Crum and Hal McNutt.

Robert Clemens was also elected captain of this season's football team, an act necessitated by Greer's absence from school. Young Hayes was appointed assistant manager of the present season.

The other managers elected are: Ethel Burchfield, Girls' Basketball; John Witherspoon, Basketball; David Briggs, Assistant Basketball; Frank Scruggs, Baseball; Fred Lewis, Assistant Baseball.

The schedules for both basketball and the baseball teams are being speedily arranged and further announcement will be made later regarding these.

LYCEUM TICKETS

Season tickets for the Lyceum course, the first number of which is the Croatian Tamburica Orchestra which will be here Wednesday night October 10, were placed on sale for the boys at Bartlett Hall Tuesday afternoon and for the girls Tuesday night at Pearsons Hall. Town people will be given a chance to purchase tickets by the committee who will canvass the town for that purpose. The price of single admission to the first number is 75c. The tickets will not be on sale at the stores in town as heretofore.

PROF. CATES ADDRESSES STUDENTS

Visitors are always welcome on the Hill, and especially those who comply with the wishes of the students and make "chapel talks". On Wednesday morning, Prof. Cate, a former professor of Maryville College, and a principal of the Preparatory Department, led the morning worship, commenting on the twenty-third Psalm.

JUNIOR ATHENIANS ELECT OFFICERS

The Junior Athenians met Tuesday evening, September 25, for a business meeting, the purpose of which was to elect officers to fill the place made vacant by men who did not return. Among those elected to office was Louis Harmon, a prodigal son of the society, who has returned after some years absence. The vice-president, S. M. Measamer will act as presid t until the return of Norman Black who is recognized as one of the most aggressive society men on the hill.

The problem of furnishing the new Junior Athenian hall was also brought up and discussed, but no definite solution of the problem was arrived at. This is one of the biggest problems the society has had to face in years, but it will be met with the old Athenian spirit. Until further notice, however, both sections of the society will meet in joint session.

Y. M. C. A. HIKE

The eighteen fellows who went on the Y. M. C. A. hike Monday report "just one more time" and all are ready to go again next Monday.

Starting from Pearsons Hall where they were provided with a lunch, through the kindness of Miss Coulter, the boys headed for Look Rock. Before leaving the campus they were joined by Prof. Southwick, who by-the-way is some walker on the country roads, but when it comes to the mountains—well its different. However, he was still able to set the pace on the way back. The boys who quenched their thirst at Black Sulphur Springs still remember it. Arriving at Montvale, the boys visited the lake and then went straight up the mountain. They arrived at the top by twos and threes, after eating lunch and taking various pictures of Look Rock, Fat Man's Misery, etc., yells were given and faces turned homeward.

There will be another hike Monday to Sheep Pen Cave on the Big Tennessee river just nine miles west.

Maryville College
1819-1917
Rev. Samuel Tyndale Wilson, D. D. Pres.

I. ITS PAST. Founded in 1819 by the Synod of Tennessee, it has served the church and the country for nearly a century. Thousands of its former students are scattered over the world.

II. ITS PRESENT. Its enrollment in 1917 was 801—416 young men and 385 young women—of whom 292 were collegians. 535 students from Tennessee, and 279 from 33 other states and countries. Its teaching force of 60 professors and assistants.

III. ITS PLANT. It has property of all kinds amounting to $1,021,496. Twelve buildings, including the new Swimming Pool; waterworks, sewerage, steam heat and electric lights. The campus contains 250 acres.

IV. ITS COLLEGE CURRICULUM. It offers nine groups of study leading to B. A. degree: Classical, Modern Languages, Science, Mathematics, Education, English Literature and History, Psychology and Philosophy, Social Science, and General. Fifteen units are required for admission to the Freshman Class. A two-year pre-medical course is offered.

V. ITS OTHER DEPARTMENTS. 1 Preparatory. 2 Bible Training. 3 Teachers. 4 Home Economics. 5 Agriculture. 6 Bookkeeping. 7 Music. 8 Expression. 9 Art.

VI. ITS MORAL ATMOSPHERE. The College is strongly Christian, and the discipline is careful. The students' spiritual welfare is the first concern. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are very efficient. The Bible is a required text-book.

VII. ITS INEXPENSIVENESS. 1 Tuition is $6. a term. 2 Room rent for each student, with two in room, $18 to $35 a year. 3 Board in the Cooperative Club of 500 members, $2.00 a week. 4 Text-books rented. General library free. 5 Opportunities for selp-help afforded.

HIGHLANDERS DEFEAT TUSCULUM

however. F. Campbell made 2 yards in as many downs, and his brother gains one. R. Campbell punts 45 yards to Clemens. Caughron goes to end for Davidson.. Bryson loses a little, Hurst fumbles but recovers for first down. Clemens goes 20 yards thru tackle. F. Campbell intercepts forward pass and runs it back 15 yards. R. Campbell on freak end run makes 2 yards. Same trick failed to work a second time. Briggs downs M. Doak in his tracks. F. Campbell loses 4 yards. Ball goes over to M. C. Clemens on end run makes 9 1-2 yards. Garrison then caught a beautiful forward pass of 30 yards. Clemens loses 5 yards. Hayes catches 8 yard forward pass. McNutt loses 3 yards. Clemens on fake end run gains 3 yards but ball goes over. Tusculum penalized 5 yards for holding. On own 20 yard line Tusculum fumbled and Briggs races thru for what seemed a safety, but the ball was out of bounds in the corner. With the ball on the goal line M. Doak took the ball and instead of punting ran it back for a 20 yard gain just as the half ended. Score M. C., 0; Tusculum, 0.

Second Half

Davidson goes back to end. Hayes back to half. Tusculum kicked off 30 yards to Cooper who returned 10 yards. Hurst made 2 yards on an end run. Hayes gains 8 and makes it first down. Bryson's end run netted 25 yards. Clemens followed by another one of 3 yards. Hayes bucks thru team for a 30 yard plunge to the goal line and a touchdown. On the kick out Clemens' punt is short and no try for the goal resulted.

Score M. C. 6; Tusculum. 0.

Clemens kicked off to M. Drake 45 yards. Doak fumbled and the ball rolled behind the goal line and up onto the south bleachers. Briggs throws him for what would have been a safety had Clemens kicked off at the proper place instead of the 50 yard line. After a long argument M. C. kicked off again 50 yards to R. Campbell who returned 20 yards. F. Campbell hit line twice and lost 2 yards as the result of both. Briggs throws R. Campbell for another loss. He then kicks 25 yards out of bounds. Bryson bucks for 6 yards. Hurst makes 3 more and Hayes made first down. Clemens skirted end for 15 yards. Hurst makes 3 but takes time out. Bryson ducks thru for 6 more and Hurst makes first down. Clemens goes 2 more and Bryson 1. Still 2 downs yet and only 6 to go for a touchdown. Clemens made 3 but Hurst lacks 2 feet of making another score. From behind the goal line Doak punts to 35 yard line to Clemens who returns 10. Garrison missed a fine chance for a touch down by failing to catch a pass. Bryson bucks for 5. Clemens crossed field almost on an end run, but only gained 1. Garrison again lost another chance by failing to catch a 35 yard pass. Reed works hard, is a fine defensive end and only lacks that one asset of hanging onto the ball. Undoubtedly his many years of basketball makes it difficult for him to think that he is about to catch a football instead of basketball. When once he learns this his game will be far above par. Ball goes over to Tusculum. R. Campbell gains 5 yards. Drake fails to gain. Johnson halts Campbell for another toss. Drake punts 40 yards to Clemens who returns 15 yards. Time out for Tusculum. Anderson was carried off the field and Dillard takes his place. Cagle and Eagleton in for Cooper and Davidson. On the first play Eagleton catches a beauty of a pass, 45 yards, placing it in striking distance of the goal. Clemens makes 7 yards and on the next play Bryson makes a touchdown. Clemens kicked out to Bryson and followed by kicking goal. Score, M. C. 13; Tusculum 0.

Witherspoon goes in for Bryson.

Clemens kicks 55 yards but out of bounds. On second kick off the ball went 30 yards to Drake who returned 8 yards. Witherspoon bursts up forward pass. R. Campbell punts 30 yards out of bounds. On fumble Tusculum recovered, but loss of 4 yards resulted. R. Campbell fails to gain and M. C. recovered a fumble. Time taken out. Brading in for Benson. Gooch goes out of game. Benson goes to right half and F. Campbell goes to quarter. After the next play the whistle was blown just as the quarter ended.

Fourth Quarter

Bryson and McNutt back in for Witherspoon and Hurst. Wieber for Brading. Hayes thrown for a 3 yard toss. R. Campbell intercepted forward pass. M. Drake made 10 yards and first down. Benson gained 6 yards. F. Campbell attempted a drop kick but it was blocked. Tusculum recovered for first down on M. C.'s 15 yard line. M. Drake fails to gain. On a double fake pass the quarter fumbled and M. C. recovers. Clemens punted 30 yards. Benson gained 5 yards, Stearns goes in for Lovett. F. Campbell on fake end run loses 5 yards. M. C. penalized 15 yards for interfering with a Tusculum player attempting to catch a forward pass. The game ended here. The final quarter was only 5 minutes in length in order to let Tusculum get home the same evening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Give Us The Same and Tell The Girls Over In The Halls Tha' What They Want Too—

You don't hear any body answer, "No, thank you, Charlie, I'll lay off this round". Why? Because he's ordering a Triangle Feature with a Triangle Comedy on the side. No, siree, Pop! There is pos-i-t-i-v-e-l-y no Triangle "Chaser." The spectator is glued to his or her seat to the end of every Triangle reel when the smiling Cashier says, "what's yourp leasure, folks"? Come back strong at her with Triangle features and I'll pass the pleasure on to my friends. Take a slant at what Triangle offers you this week. They are "there" forty ways.

Tuesday, Oct. 2—At Palace, Mutual Star feature in five parts entitled "Mrs. Balfami", featuring Nance O'Neil and Mutual Comedy. At Dreamland—"The Spindle of Life", a 5 part Butterfly feature starring Ben Wilson. Joker Comedy.

Wednesday, Oct. 3—At Palace—"The Birth of a Nation"—needless to say all of you who haven't seen this film masterpiece will see it and also many of you who have seen it before. Only 2 complete shows, at 2:15 and 7:30—Doors open at 1:45 and 7 p. m. Prices, Balcony, 50c; Lower Floor, 75 cents.

Dreamland—"Railroad Raiders", chapter 5, featuring Fearless Helen Holmes and 2 reel Mutual Comedy.

Thursday, Oct. 4—Paramount Feature in five parts at Dreamland. At Palace—Episode 2 of "The Grey Ghost", featuring Daredevil Eddis Polo, and funny L-CO Comedy.

Friday, Oct. 5—Where a man takes his coat off he usually means business. Depend on it, there's some thing doing with Wilfred Lucas in "Hands Up", a new Triangle feature at the Palace. Also Triangle comedy, "Skirt Strategy". Dreamland—Bluebird feature in five parts.

Saturday, Oct. 6—At Palace—Paramount feature in five acts. At Dreamland—Thrilling Stingaree series featuring True Boardman and funny Keystone Komedy, entitled "The Betrayal of Maggie", featuring Chas. Murray and Louise Fazenda.

Monday, Oct. 8—At Palace—"The Fighting Trail", chapter 3 of this wonder serial of the great outdoors, and 2 reel Big V Comedy.

Dreamland—Triangle presents Charles Ray in "The Pinch Hitter", a highly exciting baseball story. This is truly a college story for college students and also shows the most exciting game of baseball you ever saw. The big movements take place less than ten feet away—If Williamson College was situated in Maryville, there'd be a (———) (censored) parade tonight. Triangle Comedy, "A Day's Own Tale".

COMING—Emily Stevens in "The Slacker", one of the big ones.

MARYVILLE TEAM DEFEATED ON GRIDIRON OF KENTUCKY STATE

Score of 19-0 Indicates High Quality of Operations Against Wildcat Juggernauts

MAMMOTH PARADE OF ROOTERS SEES TEAM'S DEPARTURE

Highlanders Make Trip in Special Pullman. All Come Through With Few Bruises.

On Saurday, Oct. 6 Maryvlle invaded Stoll field at Lexington, Ky., where they locked horns with the University of Kentucky, one of the leading teams of the South, and the only one which even tied U. T. last year when they beat Vanderbilt and Sewanee. As originally planned M. C. was to meet U. T. on Wait Field but the cancellation of the latter's schedule necessiated a change that brought Maryville against another State team.

The team together with Coach and Sporting Editor of the Echo, left Maryville Friday night at 5 p. m. and took a private Pullman on the 9:40 train for Lexington.

The finest trip and greatest game of the season is over and we can justly be proud of our record.

DETAILS OF GAME

The game started off with Maryville receiving at the West end of the field. Kentucky kicked off to Cooper, who fumbled in catching a wicked bounce and Kentucky recovered it. This gave State an immediate confidence which no doubt they followed up to the loss of our play. Walker hit the line and failed to gain. Kentucky offside and a 5 yard penalty resulted. On a fake punt Gay ran 20 yards around end. Capt. Brittian plunged for 5 yards, but James tackled him on the next play for a loss. Gay went thru tackle for 4 yards. Walker then made first down. On an end run Gay shot down the field for 9 and was stopped in a pretty tackle by Bryson. Hedges was caught holding and Kentucky was penalized 15 yards. Brittian dived thru center for 5 yards. McLoughlin and Cooper broke thru the line and tackled the quarter before he could start and Kentucky lost. An incomplete pass made it 4th down and 20 to go. Hayes broke up another pass and the ball went over to M. C. on her own 25 yard line.

On the first play Hayes plunged thru tackle for 12 yards and a first down. Bryson failed to gain. Clemens made a brilliant 25 yard end run thru a maze of other players. Time taken out for Kentucky. On the next play M. C. was penalized 5 yards for being offside. Clemens then fumbled and Kentucky recovered. Brittian gained 2 yards and Walker 5, and 2 on two consecutive downs Brittian punted 25 yards out of bounds. M. C.'s ball. McNutt plunged thru tackle for 9 yards. On en end run Clemens lost two. Bryson hit line for 3 and first down. McNutt then got away for a spectacular run thru a broken field for 30 yards and was finally tackled by the quarter back on Kentucky's 25 yard line. Hayes lost 2 yards, and McNutt and Bryson only gained 3. In attempting to punt Clemens failed to catch a high pass and it went over his head, but he recovered and ran it back several yards. The ball went over however. Brittian lost 2 yards, but Walker followed with two successive line plunges for two first downs. He just stuck his head down and never stopped until several M. C. men were on him. Here the quarter ended.

Second Quarter

Kentucky changed their line-up. Riddell for Hedges, Adair for Brittian, Brittian took guard for Moore who dropped out. In two line bucks Gay made first down. Riddell dived thru Brittian's hole for 7 yards. Gay made 2 more and Adair made it another first down. This placed the ball on the 9 yard line. Walker failed to gain. Riddell makes 3 yards. On a delayed pass Adair got 2 more and on the next play Riddell went over the goal line for the first touchdown scored on M. C. this season. Brittian kicked goal. Score Kentucky 7; M. C. 0.

C. Downing kicked off 40 yards to McLoughlin who returned 10. Bryson bucked for 3. Time taken out for Hayes, and Lloyd was substituted for him. Clemens was shifted to half and "Happy" went to quarter. Bryson lost 2 yards and Clemens failed to gain on an end run. Bryson punted 30 yards to Gay who was downed in his tracks. Gay fumbled but recovered and gained one yard. Walker made a 10 yard dive but he fumbled and M. C. recovered. Lloyd lost 2 on an end run. Clemens threw a pass into the waiting arms of a Kentucky player, C. Downing. Adair went 3 thru center. Walker made first down on an end run. Riddell thrown by Johnson for a loss. An incomplete pass to Walker followed and then Gay was brought down from the rear by Jellicorse after getting into an open field. Only 5 yards was gained, but Walker made it first down. Gay then got loose for a 22 yard end run for a touchdown clear in one corner of the field. The interference on this was fine. Brittian tried to kick at a difficult angle but the ball hit the upright and bounced back on the field.

Score Kentucky 13, M. C. 0.

Kentucky kicked off to M. C. Lloyd received it on his 10 yard line and carried it to his 20. Walker then blocked a forward pass from Lloyd. Clemens punted 45 yards to Riddell who returned 10. Gay bucked for 5. Bryson threw Brittian for a loss followed by a line plunge that made first down. Here the half ended.

Second Half

Kentucky changed all around at the beginning of this half. Boon for Dempsey; Pullin for Gay; Oldum for Walker; Hedge s for Riddell; Mullin for C. Downing; Dilroy for D. Downing; McHoney for Bastin.

Clemens kicked off 50 yards and the ball was returned 10. Bryson threw Adair for a loss. Oldum made out for Oldum. On the next play M. C. was offside and Kentucky got 5 yards and a first down. Jellicorse threw Adair for a loss. Oldum made 8 thru center and Pullin made 7 and first down. Bryson dumped Pullin for no gain. Pullin then got loose for one of those peculiar runs of his He ducked thru the line and was apparently down time and again only to stumble on dragging two or three men with line. When at last four M. C. men got on him he stopped having gained 25 yards. Adair bucked for 2 more. Hurst threw Pullin for a loss. Hedges then got loose with a forward pass from Pullin and ran 25 yards for a touchdown, planting the ball behind the goal post. This touchdown was only a fluke and Kentucky did not deserve it. The first two were on straight football. Brittian failed to kick goal.

Score, Kentucky, 19; M. C. 0.

ONE HUNDRED RIFLES ORDERED FOR MILITARY DEPARTMENT

Commandant Gillingham has placed an order with an eastern firm for one hundred rifles for use in the college military department. Although the order has been placed for some time, the guns have not arrived yet, but the probabilities are that they will be here within the next few days. The guns are as near the regulation type as a civilian is allowed to use and for all practical purposes they will serve as well as the rifles that are being used in actual warfare. They will be used in both the morning drills and in the officers' training class.

These guns are provided at the expense of the college and their use will incur no expense on the part of the student. The college has also made application for permission to use the regulation uniform but it has been instructed from the War department that such use is against military statute.

The use of this added advantage to the department will greatly improve the appearance of and increase the interest in the military department.

LYCEUM

The series of the highest class entertainment the college affords begins Wednesday evening with the Croatian Orchestra which comes directly from the Balkans, the land of revolution and national unrest, to the United States. This will prove to be a type of entertainment with which Maryville has never before been favored.

THE CROATIAN TAMBURICA ORCHESTRA.

The native musical instrument of Croatia, said to have been practically unknown to the outside world until the latter part of the Nineteenth Century, is at present meeting with great favor in America. It is called the "tamburica."

It is similar to a mandolin, banjo and guitar, but different from all. It produces more life and sweetness of tone and is especially adapted to orchestra work. Of equal interest with the instrument itself are the players, six in all, who comprise the Croatian

THE CROATIAN ORCHESTRA.

Tamburica Orchestra, appearing in the bright and novel dress of their native land, playing with all their native enthusiasm as well as technique.

Croatia, their native land, is a small country near Servia and just south of Austria.

On the tamburica the Croatians play Balkan melodies, selections from the operas and American songs.

The range of music is almost limitless. The volume of music produced by these six players is equal to that of an orchestra a third larger using the usual stringed instruments.

JUNIORS ELECT OFFICERS

"THE DEVELOPMENT OF LIFE'S POSSIBILITIES"

"One of the things that has impressed me the most at Maryville", announced Dr. Stevenson, "is the readiness and the willingness of the students to respond, whenever the occasion is given them to speak or pray in public." And the truthfulness of his statement was manifested in the fact, that when on Thursday night he devoted five minutes to quoting of the scriptures, both sides of the chapel responded immediately. Promises and scriptural verses were responsively quoted, now by this side of the house and then by the other.

Dr. Stevenson spoke on "The Development of life's possibilities", and centered his discourse on the man who received two talents, as recorded in the 25th chapter of Matthew. "He represents the average man, limited in his capabilities, but nevertheless expectant of great things". Quoting the words of the immortal Lincoln, "I'm inclined to think that God loves common people, for he made so many", he proceeded to show that one may develop his possibilities though but an ordinary and a two-talent man. "Our great object is", he continued, "first to discover the gift that is our peculiar, and second to realize the gifts that are common to all. God has a personal and individual plan for every individual. * * * In following that plan we may encounter difficulties, but difficulties are gymnasiums in which the minds and souls of men and women make their muscles. Then to develop our possibilities we must value time, the gift common to all, and accept Jesus the Savior of all".

He concluded with the epitaph found on a tomb in Scotland, "Best was he loved by those to whom he best was known".

SUBSCRIBE FOR "THE OUTLOOK" AT HALF PRICE

Through the efforts of Dr. Hoyt the students of Maryville may get The Outlook at five cents per week which price is just one half of the regular rate. This magazine is one of the most popular periodicals dealing with current history. There is a justifiable feeling among many that the students of Maryville are not keeping up with the world-wide movements that are making current history and it is this feeling that has propmted Dr. Hoyt to make a special effort to get this excellent magazine at rates which students can afford to pay. The Outlook is a recognized standard periodical of current events written up in such a way as to be easily understood, and it is well adapted to student use.

Subscriptions will be taken by Dr. Hoyt, or by J. H. Turner, 201 Carnegie.

ATHENIAN

On Saturday evening we met again in joint session. As usual every one on the program was prepared. M. Measamer gave a patriotic reading, putting himself into his theme with excellent expression. Two pairs of debaters met in a closely contested battle of words on a question as to whether Japan's rcent offer of two million land troops for use in Europe should be accepted. The judges were induced to decide that the little yellow men shall remain in the Far East. During the last half hour of the program we were thrilled with an eloquent, timely address by Professor A. F. Southwick.

In view of Prof. Southwick's recent uncertainity about his going to training camp, it seemed altogether fitting that he should have changed his subject and decided to speak to us on what was foremost in his thought: "The Citizens' Duty to the State". At the very beginning of the address the audience was carried away with enthusiasm when the speaker not only praised the name "Athenian" but announced that he came with the message of an Athenian to Athenians. (He was an Athenian at Wooster College).

Proceeding to his theme, he quoted from Lord Bolingbroke: "Patriotism must be founded on sound principle and upheld by great virtue. "That virtue", he then treated at length, reenforcing his own high sentiments with many patriotic quotations from Lincoln, President Wilson and others. He held that each individual has his paricular patriotic duty, be it at the front, on the farm, in the factory, the office, the school room—and all his hearers hope that Prof. Southwick may be permanent in the last named place. The whole address, prepared convincingly for the concluding thought, that, "so far as the citizen builds up physical, intellectual and moral strength, always responsive to patriotic demands, so far he fulfils his duty to the State.

The Juniors' room will be furnished soon; then both sections will meet on Saturday separately.

The program for Oct. 13 includes an "Athenian" edited by P. W. Buchanan, a reading by an able reader, current events, and a debate by four southern boys on a question which is of interest to every Southerner, in fact to every American: "Resolved, That, in the Black Belt segregation of the negroes would be the best solution of the race problem".

Every fellow is cordially invited.

ROBES FOR VESTER CHOIR OF FIFTY

Add Greatly to Impressiveness And Beauty of Services.

Music is an essential part in our public worship. And in appreciation of this fact, Dr. Stevenson, assisted by Misses Staater and Hale, has organized a Vesper Choir. The members of the choir were given a surprise on Saturday, when every one received a black gown, and they are very enthusiastic over their ceremonial robes.

The procession and the songs of a choir of fifty trained voices adds much to the impressiveness of the Vesper Service. The procession begins at the basement as the first note of the marching song breaks the silence, and announces solemnly that the opening of the devotional service. As the choir enters the chapel, the audience arises in reverence and remains standing until they have taken places on the platform. Then a number of songs and series of prayers precede th dedress by the pastor.

Sunday evening Dr. Stevenson spoke on "The religion of the body". He pronounced the body as being the "most wonderful handicraft in the universe. This wonderful mechanism and its main functions afford a great field for scientific study. Being God's highest creation it is worthy of our respect, and we should tread it reverently". The whole world is coming to the realization of a need for a religion for the body, and agrees with the apostle in proclaiming a gospel of health". He then discussed the habit formation, and that when "evil habits are formed, they make our bodies unworthy of the purpose for which they were created".

The Junior section of the boys' literary societies find themselves much in the same predicament as "a man without a country". The college has provided the rooms but no furniture; so it remains with the societies themselves to look after that part of the problem.

The question of furnishing the two halls is the one that is uppermost, and in order to carry out proposed plans it will be necessary to devise some sources of revenue.

A campaign for the necessary amount carried on with the students and former members and friends of the societies, together with say, an inter-society pay contest is a scheme that would not be bad to investigate.

The college has offered the use of some of its chairs and seats for the present and is cooperating with the societies in every way possible. One of the societies is going to make a determined effort to put its Junior section in its new hall Saturday night. Will the other

DR. LYLE RESIGNS

Dr. Hubert S. Lyle, for seven years pastor of New Providence Presbyterian church presented his resignation as pastor of that church to the congregation Sunday morning.

Dr. Lyle has been asked by the College Board of the Presbyterian church to take the presidency of the Arkansas Cumberland College, at Clarksville, Ark., and he has accepted this position. The work of the college to which Dr. Lyle goes is along the lines of Christian education and the field in which he is about to enter is one of much promise.

The numerous friends of Dr. Lyle both in town and at the college heard the announcement with much regret and are very sorry to lose one who has done so much for the church, the town and the college. Before becoming pastor of New Providence church Dr. Lyle was at the head of the Bible Training department of the college for three years.

PROF. SOUTHWICK MAY LEAVE

From the developments of the last few days it is quite probable that Prof. Southwick will not be able to remain with the college very much longer. Last Thursday he received a telegram calling him to his home district near Cleveland, Ohio for military service, but a later order advised him to wait for further instructions. The announcement of Prof. Southwick's call was received by the students in chapel Friday morning and it came as a distinct surprise. Since coming to Maryville he has made himself the friend of all the students and they hope he may be able to stay with us.

DR. W. C. DAVIS WILL LECTURE

Dr. W. C. Davis, pastor of the English Lutheran Church of Knoxville will deliver a very valuable address to the students at the chapel hour on Wednesday morning. This lecture will have to do with the four hundredth anniversary of the Reformation. The whole Christian world is celebrating this wonderful historic event this year, and it is probable that the celebrations are more frequent in the month of October, because it was on the 31st of October 1517 that Luther nailed his theses on on the door of the church of Wittenberg. declaring that the Pope had no power to forgive sins.

Dr. Davis has made a special study of this subject for some time and has delivered several lectures along this line, and students will be glad to avail themselves of this opportunity to hear one of the best lectures of the year.

ALPHA SIGMA

Enlist now under the banner of the old Alpha Sigma. Many are volunteering and our ranks are swelling. Why not be one of us, and enjoy the good fellowship which always exists among the Alpha Sigmas? Pay us a visit and see what we are doing. You should have been with us last Saturday night and enjoyed the following program:

Music, by society, and by-the-way maybe we can't sing, but we can yell and what's more we can prove it. After the song H. B. Frater, an old Alpha Sigma told us something of the military life at Oglethorpe where he is in training. We were all glad to have Homer with us again. Dawson then gave us a splendid reading, Horace is "some boy" when it comes to giving a reading. A snappy debate was next. The following question was debated by C. V. Miller, Ben Watkins, on the affirmative and Joel Georges, A. Webster on the negative. Resolved, that general disarmament would bring permanent peace to the world. The negative won.

The debate was followed by an address by M. B. Crum, who garduated last year. One of the new members said afterwards "well, Mr. Crum certainly showed that he was an Alpha through and through".

The meeting was closed with yells for the Theta Epsilon and ourselves. On next Saturday evening the following program will be given. Current Events, Charles Edgemon; Reading, Luther McCurry; Debate, Resolved, that the United States Government should operate the railroads; Affirmative, C. V. Miller, Oscar Stanton; Negative, H. H. Ferntheil, S. C. Lang; Music, W. R. Garrison; Alpha Sigma Song, All.

You are cordially invited to be present, and we will try to make you feel at home.

The members of the Senior class with a few invited friends attended at the birth of a nation the Palace Theater.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The Ministerial Association held its first meeting of the year on Friday, Oct. 2nd. After a short devotional exercise, Dr. Stevenson gave a heart-to-heart talk on, "The Pitfalls of a Minister's Life". A great impression was made, when he made the statement, that one of the great dangers in a minister's life, is that of becoming lazy. So much interest was manifested that Dr. Stevenson was placed on the active list of members so that he will now be "forced" to attend regularly, and guide our erring footsteps.

The motto of, "College Hill for Christ" was adopted; and a number of men were placed on the rolls of the Association. The following were elelted as officers:

H. J. Jordan, Program Secretary Howell, Assistant Secretary; Andrew Richards, Superintendent of Mission; H. D. McGrath, Chairman of Devotions; F. S. McLoughlan. Chairman of Sunday Schools; E. F Loft, Chairmen of Finances; O. H. Logan, Pulpit Supplies.

Tommy Loft: "Are you a member of the Volunteer Band?"

New Girl: "No, I can't play any musical instrument."

MARYVILLE DEFEATED BY KENTUCKY STATE

Kentucky kicked off 20 yards to James who was downed in his tracks. McNutt fumbled but recovered. An incomplete pass from Clemens to Hurst followed. Pullin then intercepted a pass with Bryson on his neck. James stops Pullin after an 8 yard gain. Pullin followed with 7 more and first down. Johnson threw Hedges for a toss. House took the place of Jellicorse and Hondor for Murphee. Hedges made a 10 yard end run. House tackled Pullin for loss. Hedges hits line for 4. Incomplete pass. M. C.'s ball. On his own 20 yard line Lloyd fumbled, recovered and made 3. Again he repeated but this time Kentucky recovered. State was offside and was penalized 5 yards. Time out for James. Kentucky offside again and 5 more were lost. Adair gains 3 yards. Garrison then came into the game at end, Cooper went to guard and James was taken out with a bum leg. An incomplete pass followed then McNutt intercepted a pass. Lloyd fumbled but ball stayed in same place. Clemens on an end run 'ost 10 yards. Clemens punted 35 yards out of bounds. The quarter ended here.

Kentucky substituted six of the seven men who were taken out at the beginning of the second half, only Hedges staying at quarter Murphee also returns. Gay failed to gain. Walker made 6 yards on pretty ducking. Adair went thru for 2 more and Hedges made it first down. Clemens threw Walker after a 2 yard gain. Hurst threw Adair for a loss. Walker gained 5. Murphee failed to make first down. Incomplete pass from Clemens to Garrison. Walker intercepted a forward pass but Briggs tackled him where he caught it. Gay went around right end for 30 yards. Cooper tackled him from behind. Eagleton took the place for Garrison. McLoughlin dropped out, Cooper went to tackle, Garrison to guard and Johnson to center Walker hits lin for 3. Hedges made first down. Time out for Bryson, Witherspoon substituted for Bryson.

Johnson threw Gay for loss. Walker bucked for 2 yards, but failed on the next play to gain. On the 4th down with 7 to go for a touchdown they attempted a pass and McNutt intercepted it on his own goal line and made the longest run of the game along the north end. He stumbled in the long grass and fell and where he should have had a touchdown he only ran 60 yards. Incomplete pass to Eagleton. Clemens failed to gain. Incomplete pass to Hurst. On the 4th down Clemens punted 30 yards and Kentucky did not return. Walker thrown for loss Heber then slugged and Kentucky was penalized half the disance to the goal or 20 yards. Kentucky punted 25 yards out of bounds. Clemens then slugged and M. C. was penalized 20 yards. Wagner replaced Clemens. Lloyd made 15 yards and first down or end run but the ball went out of bounds and only 8 was gained. On the next play though he made first down. Lloyd thrown for loss. Witherspoon punted 30 yards and Kentucky failed to return Lloyd tackled Gay after 25 yard run. It was a pretty run. Hedges fumbled but recovered. Eagleton thru Walker for a yard loss. The game ended at this point.

Lloyd-Bell. Ralph W. Lloyd, '15, who has been teaching in Westminster College in Salt Lake City, Utah, was married June 21, to Miss Margaret A. Bell of Du Bois, Pennsylvania. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd are making their home in Salt Lake City, where Mr. Lloyd is continuing his work in the college.

Holloway-Karnes. Mr. Holloway, of Glen Alice, Tennessee, a former student of the college was married last spring to Miss Elise Karnes of the class of 1915. Miss Karnes was at the time teaching school in Ohio They are now making their home on the groom's farm near Glen Alice.

Pile-Boggs. Another 1915 wedding is that of Mr. H. O. Pile, a former student of the college, and Miss Mary Boggs, of Ohio, a member of the class. We understand that the Mr. and Mrs. Pile are living in Detroit, Michigan.

Barnes-Anderson. On September 5, 1917, at the home of the bride's parents in Bearden, Tennessee, Mr. Mark H. Barnes, '15 and Miss Jessie May Anderson, a former Maryville student, were united in marriage. The groom has a good position as chemist in the coal and coke plant of the D. S. Steel Co., at Gary, Indiana, where Mr. and Mrs. Barnes now reside.

Robinson-Conrad. Mr. G. O. Robinson, '16, was married to Miss Hazel Conrad, another Maryville student in Jackson, Missouri on the first of August. Mr. Robinson was one of the best known of the recent graduates of the college, on account of his long service in the book-room and his activity in various lines while a student in Maryville.

Armstrong-May. On May 6th, in Chicago, where they were both attending the Moody Bible Institute, Mr. Stanley M. Armstrong, a former Maryville student, and Miss Aletha C. May, of the class of '16, were united in marriage. During the summer Mr. and Mrs. Armstrong made their home in Detroit. They came down to Maryville this month for a visit, but Mr. Armstrong was called to Indiana last week to assist as gospel singer in evangelistic meetings. In October they will locate in Jackson, Tennessee, where Mr. Armstrong is to serve as Assistant Pastor in the First Presbyterian church.

Painter-James and McGinley-James. A double wedding of interest to Maryville students and Alumni took place in Maryville on the fourth of August when Mr. John W. Painter, '17, was married to Miss Rosa Lee James, a former Maryville student and Mr. Newton N. McGinley was married to Miss Maud May James, also a former Maryville student.

Their hosts of Maryville friends extend cordial wishes to all these newly married couples and hope that in every case much happiness may attend them.

CADETS VISIT

Maryville College was honored on Saturday and Sunday by a visit of four of her former students who are now cadets for commissions at the reserve officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe, Ga. These men are J. G. Sims, Tom W. Goddard, M. B. Crum and Homer B. Frater. All these men are alumni except Mr. Frater who would have graduated with the class of 1918 had he not responded so valorously to the call of his country.

Students looked at these men in admiring wonder and longed for the time to come when they themselves may be of active service to the country. Frater and Crum were called on for speeches by one of the literary societies and responded with some very timely remarks. Mr. Frater was also given charge of the officer's training class for a short while Saturday afternoon and he soon proved that in him there is excellent material for a first class officeer.

One outstanding feature of the young men was the liking of Sims for Prof. Walker's end of Carnegie and Crum and Frater's undiminished attachment to Pearsons.

BAINONIANS RECEIVE 50 NEW MEMBERS

Fine Program Carried Out.

Last Saturday evening the first meeting of the forty-second year of Bainonian was held. This meeting proved to be intensely interesting and entertaining, it was an evidence that Bainonian is really "Going Forward". When the hour for business arrived the names of fifty new girls were presented. They are to be voted on and received into active membership next week.

As the society has been bearing out its true meaning thru all these years, during days of prosperity and days of adversity, so we hope to make this year the crowning glory of its existence.

Following is the program rendered at this meeting.

Roll Call - Patriotic Quotations
Bainonian Gazette - Hattie Hayes
Preliminary Study
(1) Why we Entered the War, Grace Bailey
Piano Solo - - - Ocey Webb
(2) Wilson, a War-time President Jessie Creswel
Reading - - - Maude Pardue

THETA EPSILON

The Thetas made a good beginning for the new year, Saturday evening, when they held their first regular meeting. It was clearly demonstrated that Theta Epsilon is this year to be the same live society it has always been. Many new names were presented for membership in the society at the business session. Theta welcomes all these new girls. The program was a good one and was heartily enjoyed The musical numbers, consisting of a vocal solo by Miss Knapp, piano deut by Miss Crum and Miss Butler, and piano solo by Miss Rice, were especially good. That Miss Covert's reading was thoroughly enjoyed was shown by the hearty encore she received. The new girls, as well as many of the old ones, will profit, no doubt, by Miss Eleanor Moseley's talk on "How to Behave in Pearson's Dining Hall" Miss Mamie Wilson gave an interesting and instructive talk on what the Theta Epsilon Literary Society stands for and what it means to the girls. All new students are cordially invited to meet with us next Saturday evening.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

We herewith announce the acquisition of the famous Artcrafe proram and the new Paramount proram, starting date to be announced later. We congratulate ourselves are obtaining this program for Maryville for it means better better pictures than have ever been screened here before. Under the artcraft Banner are such stars as Mary Pickford, Billie Burke, Douglas Fairbanks, Wm. S. Hart, Geo. M. Cohan, Marguerite Clark, Elsie Ferguson in such plays as "The Little American", "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm", "Down to Earth", Wild and Wooly", "The Man from Painted Past", "The Narrow Trail", "Broadway Jones", "Seven Keys to Baldpate", "The Amazons", "The Sub-Dez Series", (by Mary Roberts Rhinehart, which have been appearing in the Saturday Post and in which Marguerite Clark will star), and "Barbray Sheep". Under the new Paramount Banner will appear Jack Pickford, Pauline Frederick, Geo. Beban, Fannie Ward, Chas. Ray, Dorothy Dalton, Wallace Reid, and a host of others well known to you all. Also we are going to use one Wm. Fox Super-feature each week, with such stars as Theda Bara, Wm. Farnum, Geo. Walsh, Virginia Pearson, and others. Then we will still have those fine Triangle Features, so you see we are preparing some program for the winter season. Owing to the high cost of aove program when it goes on our prices will advance to 15 cents, which we are sure no one would hesitate to pay for the privilege of seeing such pictures and stars asl isted aove. Our steam heat is now in running order and on these cool fall days the house will be warm and comfortable.

For the next few days our program will be subject to change without notice, but when we get it just right the pictures will come exactly as listedi n our program each week.

Wednesday, Oct. 10—At Palace, a five-part Paramount feature, story of the old West entitled "The Squaw Man's Saw", starring Wallace Reid. For the admirers of Mr. Reid here he is at his best in a Western role that just fits his personality.

Thursday, Oct. 11—At Dreamland, "Might and the Man", a Triangle Feature. Five reels of Cave man romance, including the technique of eating peas with a knife. Triangle Comedy, "A Dishonest Burglar".

At Palace—3rd. Episode of "The Grey Ghost", featuring Eddie Polo and funny L-Ko Comedy.

Friday, Oct. 12—"The Mysterious Mrs. M.", featuring Mary MacLaren. One of the cleverest photoplays ever produced. It's a Blue Bird, at Palace.

Saturday, Oct. 13—At Palace, fascinating Paramount feature in 5 parts entitled "The Crystal Gazer", starring vivacious Fanny Word and all star cast Ham and Bud Comedy.

At Dreamland—We are refused a doctor's license, yet here we are curing people of indigestion at every performance by showing those Triangle—Keystone Komedies. "Skidding Hearts", featuring Ora Carew will make you laugh. Also thrilling two reel Western drama and Ford Weekly.

Monday, Oct. 15—Bessie Barriscale in "The Swarl", a Triangle feature in which Miss Barriscale plays the dual role of twin sisters. A real heart interest story. Triangle Comedy, "His Criminal Career". At Palace—4th Chapter of the thrilling outdoor serial "The Fighting Trail". Talk aout fighting, oh man, that Wm. Duncan is some scrapper, a funny two reel comedy.

COMING—"The Slacker—Oct. 23 and 24th.

MRS. ALEXANDER SPOKE ON "SELF-DISCOVERY"

The self-discovery of Russia was the basis of Mrs. Alexander's discussion of the principles of self discovery, at the Prayer Meeting on Thursday night. In the opening services a Russian hymn was sung by the choir, and a Russian piano selection furnished by Miss Gibson.

Giving a brief review of the Russian re-awakening, Mrs. Alexander endeavored to answer the universal question: "What about Russia?" She reviewed the conditions under which the revolution was conducted so successfully. This and the abolishment of the national drink, Vodka, from the self mastery of Russians.

"The first step in the self discovery," according to Mrs. Alexander was the break with the past. The second step is of a constructive character, to build up for the future. * * - * And finally, our work though it begins with self, must not end with self. We must have an ideal set before us. Live for our country and the world until 'peace and safety to all nations' are established."

MISS POSTLETHWAITE WILL GO TO RED CROSS

Miss Frances Postlethwaite, who for the last three years has been the very efficient nurse at the Lamar Memorial hospital, volunteered her services to the Red Cross some time ago, and has received notice that her services will be needed about November 1st. She has not learned where she will first report, and does not know yet when, if at all, she will go to the war zone.

No one yet has been definitely secured to take Miss Postlethwaite's place.

GUNS HAVE ARRIVED

The hundred guns ordered for the military training department arrived last week. Such sham battles as may be engaged in are sure to be quite noiseless, for each piece is equipped with a faultless silencer which is guaranteed never to get out of order. In other words the guns are solid wood. However they will serve their intended purpose as well as real guns.

They will be issued out to the men Wednesday morning with the warning that they are to be kept in as good condition as a regular soldier keeps his gun, on penalty of a fine for any negligence or misuse in their care.

A football game has been arranged between M. C. and Miss. A. and M. to be played on the latter's ground next Saturday.

"HAVE A DEFINITE GOAL IN VIEW" SAYS DR. STEVENSON

In an effecitve conversational tone Dr. Stevenson presented to his audience at the Vesper Service on Sunday evening, the many phases of failure in life. "Lack of a definite purpose and neglect in making a wise choice in life", he stated, "are the two chief and common causes of failure. A successful life must have an object in view, a definite chosen pathway. We must nail to the mast our banner of determination, and put forth our every effort to obtain our goal. It is by unwearied patience, and thorough toil that the great things of life are achieved. No heights are attained by sudden flights, but on the other hand, they are reached by tiresome climbing over steep rocks. * * * * * * Also, those who attain successfully are temperate in all things". He showed that in order to gain we must yield, and we must give up in order to obtain. The service is manifold. It is an hour of worship by praising God with songs and prayers, for His many blessing during the past week. It is also an hour of communion with Him, by listening to His message of love.

CROATIANS GOOD ENTERTAINERS

First Number of Lyceum Makes Big Hit.

The first number of the lyceum course held in Voorhees chapel last Wednesday evening was the high class entertainment that had been expected by the large audience which was present to enjoy the offerings of the traveling artists. Appearing in the native Croatian costume and performing on the native tamburica exclusively, the company was one of more novelty than is usually seen in this section.

The music as produced by the Croatians was inspiringly beautiful, and the wide range of their program included classical operas, popular selections, secular and patriotic overtures, besides Balkan melodies and love songs. All the members of the company are also splendid vocalists.

The managers who booked this Redpath offering are to be congratulated, and the audience will look forward to the next number with expectantp leasure.

SCRUBBS SCRUBBED POLYTECHNIC

The aggregate result of the game Thursday afternoon on the Polytechnic grounds between the Maryville second team and the Polytechnic eleven was a score of 18-0 for Maryville, a sprained wrist for Drake of Maryville, a slightly injured knee for Buchanan of Maryville. The feature of the game seemed to be the good playing of two of the Tigers on the Maryville team.

VARSITY SCRUBBED SCRUBBED

The scrubbs put up another game but losing fight Saturday afternoon against the varsity who defeated them 32-7. Outweighed and outclassed all around the second team fought valiantly throughout the game and demonstrated at all times that they not only had the mettle for the present but that there was material for future stars among their ranks.

Willis McClenaghan of the Class of 1918 has enlisted in the Princeton Unit of the Ambulance Corps, and reached France after an uneventful trip about the middle of September. His address will be, Princeton Unit, Section 23, Battalion 23, U. S. A. A. C. United States Expeditionary Forces, France. R. H. Heller, of the Class of 1920. is also with this unit.

REV. DAVIS DELIVERED GOOD LECTURE

Four Hundredth Anniversary Of Protestantism And Life of Luther Are Discussed.

Rev. W. C. Davis, pastor of the English Lutheran Church of Knoxville lectured on the Principles of Protestantism", in Voorhees Chapel on Wednesday morning, Oct. 10th.

The fourth centennial of Martin Luther, opening of the reformation by the nailing of the ninety-five theses on the chapel door of Wittenberg in 1517 is being celebrated by all the Protestant denominations, all over the United States.

Mr. Davis in a clear tone and in an effective manner, holding his audience at attention throughout his address, discussed first the things for which it behooves us to celebrate this occasion.

Then he made a brief survey of the environment and conditions under which the reformation was brought about, and the faults and the false teachings of the Roman Catholic church of that time and its doctrines concerning indulgences and monastery life.

Next, he gave a brief history of Luther's life, including his boyhood days, his educational career, his toils and sufferings in the monastery and also his romance. "The chief work of Luther was the translation of the Bible in the people's language. He was weak physically, the result of many hardships and a strenuous life, but what Luther has done for the church and the world justifies the statement of Carlyle that "Luther was the greatest man that God sent to the world", said Mr. Davis.

TEACHERS' TRAINING CLASSES IN PHYSICAL CULTURE

Owing to the great demand for teachers who can coach athletic teams and conduct physical training in addition to their work as teachers, Maryville College has decided to start a teachers' training class in physical training. This may develop into a two or three years diploma course. A college credit will be allowed for the full year's work.

As a member of this class you will learn to play and coach practically all approved games. In addition of course, you will learn the essentials of playground instruction, folk and aesthetic dancing. You will become adept at gymnastic exercises; in fact at the end of a two or three year's course of such work you should be thoroughly qualified to undertake any position as athletic coach, physical director or playground supervisor.

The physical Director has not as yet decided upon a text book, but students will be held responsible for all lectures and outside work. Each member of the class will be required to do some practical teaching. An examination will be given at the end of each term.

SOCIETY NOTES

Last Friday afternoon the Misses Ethel Burchfield and Elsie Dawson entertained a number of girls at a shower, in honor of Miss Ocey Webb. Interesting games together with the fascinating strains of the Ukelele, made the afternoon pass all too quickly. Delightful refreshments were served, after which the girls joined in singing some farewell songs. Miss Webb was the recipient of many attractive remembrances. Those present were: The Misses Webb, Burchfield, Dawson, Wattenbarger, Elizabeth Jones, Cola Turner, Helena Turner, Genevieve Gibson, Elizabeth Henry, Marion Henry, Marie Townsend, Margaret Bassett, and Josephine Knapp.

Miss Webb left Saturday morning for her home at Townsend, where she will be married to Mr. Henry Mackey, a former student of Maryville College.

DR. WILSON ATTENDS CHURCH CONGRESS

Dr. Wilson A Delegate to Church Congress. Also A Visitor to Dr. Stevenson's Old Pastorate.

President Wilson was a delegate to the Congress on the Purpose and Methods of Inter-Church Federations, held by the Inter-Church Federation at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania, October 1-4. There were over five hundred enrolled delegates besids as many more unenrolled visitors. The eight topics discussed a half day each were: interdenominational unity, local evangelism, social service, religious education, religious publicity, missions, international good will, and methods of federal church organization.

John R. Mott, Daniel Poling, Bishop McConnell, Editor J. A. Macdonald of the Toronto Globe, and Robt. E. Speer were among the speakers. The Congress was widely spoken of as one of the most remarkable religious meeings ever held in America.

Dr. Wilson also attended the first meeting of the first Social Service Commission ever appointed by the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church. He is a member of the Commission.

The Sabbath following these meetings Dr. Wilson spent at Titusville, Pennsylvania, where he delivered three addresses to the church of which our Dr. Stevenson was pastor before he went to Yonkers, New York. As Dr. Stevenson's friend he was royally entertained by the old friends of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson. The enthusiastic devotion and regard expressed on every hand for their former pastor and his wife showed how strong was the hold on their hearts that could endure nineteen years of separation and still seem as firm as if just taken. They declared that there could not be a better pastor's wife; and several of them said that they were going to make a pilgrimage to Maryville to see the College that had so effectively attracted their old-time friends.

At Cincinnati, on his way home, Dr. Wilson visited an aunt, Miss Harriet Wilson, who is ninety-three years old, and is still active and interested in the world's work.

EXTRACTS FROM FRESHMAN'S DAIRY

Wednesday night, September 12, 1917.—Don't know just what to think of this place, but believe I'm going to like it fine. Must be pretty prominent because a crowd met me at the train and several said they knew that I was a Freshman in College. Walked up to the college with the crowd and did what you call registering.

Friday night, September 14.—It looks like everybody around here wants to meet me. Even the faculty stood in line this afternoon to meet me as I passed by. I sure enjoyed eating the ice cream with such cute little spoons.

Tuesday, September 18.—I attended a game called snap last night and I "sho" did come off well. My friends told me to fall as often as possible, that in doing so I would show that I was familiar with the game. I followed their instructions and I was some hit, all the girls smiled everytime I passed by.

Wednesday, September 19. Went wtih tae boys to town last evening and I shared my last lickle with them. They seem to think the world of me.

The Vesper Service has become one of the institutions of the college and the Vesper choir is a very powerful agency in making the services as attractive as they have been so far. But the choir is capable of some improvement. There is a dearth of tenor and bass. This is not saying that those now doing these parts are not doing them well, not by any means. But there is plenty of vocal material in the college to strengthen the bass and tenor and if it were added, the music of the choir would be much more beautiful.

"THIS IS THE MAN" BY PROF. SCHAEFFER AT Y. M. C. A.

Prof. Schaeffer gave a fine talk to the boys under the subject "This is the Man". The subject was taken from the story of the anointment of the shepherd boy David, as the coming king of Isreal. Prof. Schaeffer emphasized personal intrepretation "Would we be willing to go on with our common work as David did after his anointment? David went ahead herding sheep just as he had done before he was pointed out to be the King. David specialized in some things. He became an expert with the sling, and was thus prepared to kill Goliath and deliver the Israelites out of the hands of the Phillistines. He also became an expert player of the harp. So, when he was called upon he could render wonderful music before the king's court. These two things David learned to do well while he was herding sheep. Limited opportunities did not cause David to be idle".

The speaker brought in a beautiful ful example of humility in the life of King David. After David had been King of Isreal for some time b desired to build the Lord a fine temple. The Lord denied David this privilege and commanded David to let his son build it. David, through the desire to help in any way, obtained the building materials and prepared it so that his son could do the building. "How often have we found ourselves in the position that we did not want to help at all if we could not have our way about the doing of it?" asked the speaker.

The talk was greatly enjoyed. This was manifest by the many hand-shakes the speaker received after the meeting.

Next Sunday's meeting is to be an open meeting. Everybody have a few words ready to say about "The Work of the Y. M. C. A. in the War", and the meeting will be an interesting one indeed.

ALPHA SIGMA

"Hail fellow well—met", was the spirit of the Alpha Sigma Meeting last Saturday night. And every fellow who was present was glad of it.

"Ye old pep", was in the whole program which started with Charles Edgemon's "Current Events", followed by a reading "It is not what you do, but how you do it", delivered by Reid Garrison. Reid con read alright. The Debate: Resolved, that the United States should operate all railroads, was "up-to-the-minute". H. H. Ferntheil and S. C. Lange of the negative were given the decision over C. V. Miller and Oscar Stanton of the affirmative. The last number of the program, and one which "pulled the house down", was music on the guitar by Garrison. The fellows are talking about it yet. Dawson, the critic for the evening suggested that perhaps Deck Welliams would bill Garrison on the Y. M. C. A. We're sorry to hear that two Alphas were in the hospital. We hope that both Deck Williams and Bob Adams will soon recover and grace our old hall once more. You have our sympathy boys.

Now come on you new fellows and get under the banner of the old Eagle and be one of us. You are welcome.

THETA EPSILON

That much interest is being taken in Theta this year was shown by the large attendance last Saturday evening. The hall was filled with old and new girls. Many names were presented for membership in the society.

The following program was given:
Piano Solo - - - Stella McCall
Reading - - - Josephine Wicks
Current Events - - Helen Newell
Vocal Solo - - Margaret Bassett

Miss Lewis and her wonderful new musical instrument, the pigmy humanophone, proved a very interesting feature of the evening.

A good program is assured for next week and all new girls are cordially invited to be present.

KETCHLEDGE—WAIBEL

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Wednesday, September 5th, at four o'clock in the Second Presbyterian Church of Princeton, when Miss Sophie Waibel, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Waibel, became the bride of Rev. Raymond A. Ketchledge, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Camp Hill, Pa., with the Rev. D. B. Tomkins, of Princeton, officiating.

After the ceremony a reception was held at Ye Canterbury Club of Princeton, of which the groom is a member. Mr. and Mrs. Ketchledge will be at home to their friends after October 1st, at Camp Hill, Pa.

SOMEBODY KNOWS

Absolute knowledge I have none,
But my aunt's washerwoman's sister's son,
Heard a policeman on his beat,
Say to a laborer on the street,
That he had a letter just last week,
Written in the finest Greek,
From a Chinese coolie in Timbuctoo,
Sayin' that the niggers in Cuba, knew,
Of a colored man in a Texas town,
Who got it straight from a circus clown,
That a man in Klondike heard the news,
From a gang of South American Jews,
About somebody in Borneo,
Who heard of a man who claimed to know,
Of a swell society female fake,
Whose mother-in-law would undertake,
To prove that her seventh husband's sister's niece,
Has stated in a printed piece,
That she has a son who has a friend,
Who knows when this war is going to end.

PERSONALS

J. Chas. Walker is now at Camp Gordon, Ga., Co. L, 326 Infantry.

Mr. Chamberlain of Florida, who attended school here thirty-five years ago, spoke in the chapel on Tuesday morning.

Rev. Mr. Haworth of Minneapolis, a former student of M. C. led chapel services Thursday morning.

The Montgomery girls were called to their home in Ohio, Friday night, to attend the bedside of their father who was seriously injured in an automobile accident.

E. E. Loft preached at Kiser Sunday.

Miss Green visited in Knoxville last week end.

Bob Adams, Deck Williams and Elinor Moseley were in the hospital last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Pat Quinn of Lancing, Tenn., both former students here visited friends on the hill Thursday to Sunday.

Hiram S. Balch, '15, who is now teaching at Flag Pond, Tenn., was a visitor here Wednesday and Thursday.

A. D. Bryson, manager of the football team was called home Thursday to the bedside of his sister.

JOKES

He: I'm half inclined to kiss you.
She: How stupid of me, I thought you were just round shouldered.—Princeton Tiger.

Dean Barnes: Since we have changed our holiday from Saturday to Monday, there will be but one day given to Thanksgiving.
Soph: That takes away all my reasons for being thankful.—Sophomore.

Cola Turner: "Weisbecker can't learn Trigonometry, can he?"
Elsie Dawson: "Cos-e-cant."

Clerk. "Do you want a stout man's comb?"
Richards: "No, I desire a comb for a slender man with celluloid teeth.

What popular cartoon would it remind you of to see Professors Bassett and Southwick on the stage side by side?

On Tuesday evening, Mrs. Stevenson entertained for the Senior girls. The evening was spent pleasantly in playing "Jack Straws" and in guessing contests. The gentlemen present were: Messrs. Weisbecker, King, Calloway, Witherspoon, Loft and Southwick.

Frank Spurgeon and Wallace Burnett, former Maryville students, were seen recently on the streets of Newport, Tenn., at their old job—loafing.

Instead of the words "love, honor and obey", in the marriage license, Bill Holmes says better write, "stop, look and listen"! Suppose he speaks from experience?

Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. met Sunday evening, as usual.

The appointed leader, Miss Eleanor Moseley, was in the hospital so the chairman of the Devotional Committee, Miss Grace Bailey, presided over an open meeting on "Friendship".

Miss Genievive Gibson furnished special music, in the form of a piano solo.

The meeting was then open, and the girls respoded with many delightful thoughts on the subject.

If it is true that "you get out of a thing just what you put into it", there will be many girls who will enjoy the Y. W. C. A. meetings more this year than ever before.

Next Sunday the subject will be "Choose Ye".

The meeting will be led by Miss Eleanor Moseley.

All the girls are cordially invited to come and take part.

ALUMNI NOTES

1872. Rev. B. H. Lea, one of the oldest graduates of Maryville, was killed by the Southern Railroad, Sept. 13, 1917. He served in the Federal Army during the Civil War and at its close was one of the first to enter Maryville College when it reopened its doors. The body was brought to Maryville for interment. Pres. Wilson assisted in conducting the funeral.

1887. Mrs. Margaret R. Coleman, formerly Miss Margaret Rowan, died at her home in Tropico, California, last May. She had served for nine years as Assistant in the United States Attorney's office at Knoxville, and later went to the West on account of her health, where she was married to Mr. Coleman, who survives her. At the time of her death she was City Clerk in Tropico.

1903. Rev. Dennis White Crawford was married on Friday, October 5, at East Chattanooga, Tennessee to Miss Mattie Rowena Stephens. Mr. and Mrs. Crawford are living in Chattanooga where Mr. Crawford is teaching English in the Chattanooga High School. The Echo joins with Mr. Crawford's many Alumni friends in extending congratulations and best wishes.

1914. Ludvik Burian completed his seminary course in Union Theological Seminary last May and was ordained to the ministry in the Jan Hus Bohemian Presbyterian Church in New York City.

1914. Mrs. Jonnie McCully Taylor, who with her husband, Mr. E. C. Taylor and their little boy has been visiting home folks in Maryville for the past two weeks has returned to Ducktown, Tennessee.

1915. Mr. Ralph W. Lloyd, whose marriage was reported in a recent issue of the Echo, and who for two years has been Professor of Science and Mathematics and Athletic Director in Westminster College at Salt Lake City, Utah, has been drafted and is now in training at Camp Lewis, Washington.

1916. Mr. Rolfe M. Rankin, who has been teaching in Wahsatch Academy, at Mt. Pleasant, Utah, since graduating from Maryville, has been elected to the chair of Mathematics in Westminster College, just vacated by Mr. Lloyd, as noted above. He will also have charge of the Athletics. Mr. Rankin has already taken up his new duties.

1916. The changes noted above left vacant Mr. Rankin's place at Wahsatch Academy and the authorities of that institution showed their good sense and discrimination by selecting another Maryville man for that position. Their choice has fallen upon another newly-wed too. Mr. G. Oscar Robinson, whose marriage we reported recently, has become Professor of Mathematics and Science and Athletic Director in Mr. Rankin's place.

JUNIOR ATHENIANS

On last Saturday evening, October 13th, the Junior Athenians meet in their new hall for the first time. A good sized crowd was present at this meeting which will go down as a memorable event in the history of the society An excellent program was given and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The new hall is a large room on the third floor of Anderson, and has been well fitted out to serve the purpose for which it is intended. A new platform extending from one side of the room to the other has been built. The place is well lighted by a cluster of lights, and has a large seating acpacity. On the whole, although not completely equipped, the new Junior Athenian hall is well worth being proud of, and the members expect to make it more worthy as time goes on.

Lena Westbrook who has been absent for the past two weeks on account of the illness of her sister, has returned to school.

O. H. Logan attended Conference of the M. E. Church, South, last week at Pulaski, Va.

ATHENIAN

On Saturday evening the College Section of the Athenian met in separate session, the prep section having moved into its own nicely arranged room nearby. The program was carried out in full. So far this term, all who have been on the programs have been present and ready to perform their parts, which always assures interesting meetings. After the program a number of promising new men were received, with an enthusiastic Athnian welcome into active membership. Dr. Stevenson was a most welcome guest during the evening, and he will be with us again to deliver an address of some length in the near future.

One of our plans for this our semi-centennial year is a series of addresses reflecting real life in the Athenian society at different periods of its history. Dr. Wilson will tell us stories of the Athenian back in the 70's, Prof. Ellis of about twenty-five and Prof. Bassett of about twelve to fifteen years ago.

The program for October 20, includes a debate on the question "Resolved, that LaFollette should be expelled from the Senate". Four of our new members will make their debuts as debaters. H. J. Jordan will give a fifteen minute talk on "The new machinery of modern warfare". This latter will be an important feature, for Mr. Jordan is well prepared to give us something of more than ordinary interest. Let us have a big attendance.

BAINONIAN

The inviting appearance of Bainonian Hall on last Saturday evening attracted the attention of the many passers-by. At 6:45 o'clock the girls began to arrive, and by seven o'clock the hall was filled with a bevy of jolly laughing girls.

The hour of business brought with it the confirmation of about forty girls as members of Bainonian. The remainder of the girls presented at the meeting before, having arrived late, will be received into the society at the next meeting.

The star feature of the evening was the debate, the subject being, "Resolved, That every girl in Maryville College should take a course in moonshining this year". Misses Carrie Sheddan and Claudia Bogart upheld the affirmative, while Misses George Simpson and Lona Floyd represented the negative. The judges, Misses Grace Ludman, Jane Waller and Ruby Paul rendered their decisions unanimously in favor of the affirmative.

Misses Genevieve Gibson and Doris Wilson contributed to the pleasure of the evening by singing four beautiful songs.

The course of programmes mapped out for this time is entitled, "Our Day". It is divided into various topics, the first being "Preliminary Study". This programme was given at the first regular meeting, and the others will foolow in their consecutive order.

Bainonian intends to make her meetings instructive and entertaining, and all new girls are cordially invited to attend them.

HOW CHARACTER IS FORMED

Have you ever noticed how an icicle is formed? If you have, you noticed how it froze one drop at a time until it was a foot or more long. If the water was clear, the icicle remained clear, and sparkled almost as brightly as diamonds in the sun. but if the water was slightly muddy, the icicle looked foul, and its beauty was spoiled. Just so our characters are forming—one little thought or feeling at a time. If each thought be pure and right, the soul will be lovely and sparkle with happiness; but if impure and wrong, there will be deformity and wretchedness. —"The Young Evangelist".

TRYING EXPERIENCES OF MISSIONARY

Dr. Emily Marston, Worker In India, Has Many Hardships, But is Faithful to the End.

A communication form Rev. Frank Marston, of Cincinnati, O., a brother of Dr. Emily Marston, to Dr. Wilson, tells of the trying experiences of the missionary field in India. It says: "The last letter received from sister Emily was that written on June 28. She said she was hard at work then. Said she would not take a vacation this summer, but would take a 'short holiday' in October when she went to the 'Mission Meeting'. Then she was going into the 'district work' which she liked so much better than city or hospital work. She spoke of being caught out in heavy storms and of having to wait in damp clothing, in chilly winds, until the 'rushing torrents' became fordable. She spoke also of the crowds in the dispensary that kept her busy, wtihout a helper, from early morning till five in the afternoon, without stopping for anything to eat".

"The last sermon I preached while she was here was on the text: "Be thou faithful unto death". As we walked home together, she referred to the sermon, and said she was going to try to be more faithful than ever before. She has been faithful unto death. * * * She has arrived and it was His 'good time'. It was her expressed desire, when she was home the last time, to die and be buried in India. She has had her wishes realized. * * * * * *

MY WAGE

JESSIE B. RITTENHOUSE

I bargained with Life for a penny,
And Life would pay no more.
However, I begged at evening
When I counted my scanty store.

For Life is a just employer;
He gives you what you ask.
But once you have set the wages,
Why, you must bear the task.

I worked for a menial's hire
Only to learn, dismayed,
That any wage I had asked of Life,
Life would have paid.

DEAD IN ARMOUR

Oh Demon, thou vile, husky, German Rule,
Who feeds on lives, much worse are thou than fool!
How, how canst thou expect that God of Right
To let one cord, one thread of thy great might Exist, to shame, and more, disgrace the earth
Who blushes now o'er thy disgraceful birth?

Thy youth, who would be blessings to mankind,
(Were not for thee, thou scorn and hate combined,)
Are blown asunder, then denied a grave;
But crushed, and used as beasts, thy name to save.
You arm them, dead, and use their bodies then
To slaughter other would-be fellowmen.

Oh Demon. (yet that is too tame.
To call thee such, so awful is thy name,)
Soon shall thy ensign fall;
No name of thine shall stare from Future's wall.
In history thy shameful deeds shall be
The only record of such fame of thee.

Bertha M. Russell.

VOLUME THREE. MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE TUESDAY OCTOBER 23, 1917. NUMBER SIX

FIRST PRELIMINARY FOR DEBATERS

Will Be Held Just Before Thanksgiving. Twenty-two New Men Will Try Out.

Monday and Tuesday nights, November 26 and 27, are the dates on which the first preliminary contest for intercollegiate debaters will be held. In this first preliminary only men who have never engaged in intercollegiate contests at Maryville will be tried out. The unprecedented number of twenty-two men will engage in the first preliminary. When this bunch of men is considered together with about a dozen old debaters who are going in for intercollegiate work this year, it is only then that one is able to get a true conception of forensic work as it is going to be carried on this year.

TEAMS FOR THE FIRST PRELIMINARY

For the first preliminary the applicants have been divided into teams of two men each who will compete against each other as follows: Garrison-Deyton, Stanton-Howell, Cooper-Loft, Taylor-Bartlett, Husky-Martin, Harris-House, Park-Cagle, Hamilton-Drake, Brown-Callahan, McLaughlin-Young, Wagner- (to be filled)

EIGHT TO BE CHOSEN

Out of the twenty-two men who will compete in this prieliminary eight will be chosen as having won an opoprtunity to try out in the second preliminary which will be the final one. Each man will be graded on the quality of his speech, both offense and defense, by competent judges. It will be possible for both to lose. Just because a man wins over his opponent on this particular occasion may not make him eligible too for the next preliminary. In other words each man will not compete against his particular opponent, but he will compete against the other twenty-one men.

THE SQUAD

The eight men chosen from this first contest and the old debaters will form what will be called the "squad". The second preliminary, to be held on the first Monday and Tuesday nights after the Winter term opens, will extract the three teams of three men each who will represent Maryville. Besides the nine men who will ultimately make the team three alternates will be chosen, making twelve men in all to be selected.

MEN WORKING HARD

All the applicants to the first preliminary are working with such ardor and zeal that their judges are sure to be confronted with an array of debaters never before surpassed for their experience. These twenty-two men represent some of the most scholarly and eloquent fellows in college and some of the old debaters are looking on this new array of talent with no small amount of apprehension.

SUB-STATION OPENS

The sub-station for which the college has been in need so long has finally become a reality, and the government postoffice, the official name of which is "Maryville College Station, Tenn.," and of which Treas. F. L. Proffitt is postmaster, opened its doors for business Tuesday morning, Oct. 23. It had been expected to have the office in operation by the time college opened this fall but an unavoidable delay has been caused by the failure of the supplies to arrive which were ordered on August 23.

Dean Barnes made a talk in capel Tuesday morning announcing the college has been fortunate in securing this deserved favor at the hands of the government. He requested that all students rooming in town have their mail addressed to College Station instead of to their street addresses in town in order that the new post office handle a sufficiently large number of pieces of mail to warrant our holding it.

The new office is another great step forward for the college for now any business that the students may have had to do with the town office may be done on the hill, including such business as buying money orders, registering letters, and if one can notb uy a Liberty Bond we believe he can at least get some information about such a transaction.

The deliveries to the halls will be under college charge and it will be done much the same as formerly, but the mail will be carried from the college to town in locked pouches under government contract which has been secured by Mr. Albert Brewer. Mr. Brewer has sub-let this job to students, however, who will continue to carry it as formerly. The new office is welcomed heartily by the students and faculty as it will save many trips to town and much time.

"THE GREAT PROBLEM IS HOW TO ELIMINATE WASTE"

Dr. Stevenson's Vesper Service theme was taken from 2 Tim. 1:6, "Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God". His address was an appeal to young people to "stir-up" the gift that is within them.

"The great problem confrontng men in the civil, political and religious world", he stated, "is how to eliminate waste, how to utilize all the latent power that is stored up, and how to develop men to their highest degree of capabilities". It is sad that a great multitude of people never attain to the fulness of all their capacity for accomplishment of great things in life. He maintained that we need to cultivate and to stir up our ambtions in the right path, and to utilize all our energies. He concluded by urging to "direct the fire of your temperament, to fight the forces of evil, and to control it to work for good and to accomplish the things that both God and man need."

MISS COVERT AND MRS. SINGLETON GIVE RECITAL

The first public recital of the Department of Expression was held in the chapel Friday afternoon when Miss Esther Covert and Mrs. Singleton succeeded in entertaining in high fashion a large number of students by the rendition of several well-chosen and well-prepared selections. Both performers exhibited natural and acquired technique in such an accceptable manner as to make their offerings decidedly enjoyable. The department under whose direction this exhibition was held will do well if its future recitals are as delightful as this.

SYNOD OF TENNESSEE IN SESSION

The Synod of Tennessee, of which President Wilson has been stated clerk for twenty-six years is in session at McKenzie, Tenn., Oct. 23-25. Maryville speakers listed on the program for addresses are Dr. Wilson, Dr. Lyle, Will A. McTeer, and Prof. Gillingham. Besides his regular address Dr. Wilson will give the 98th annual report of Maryville College.

The Synod of Tennessee will celebrate its centennial, it having been organized in Maryville in 1817. It includes the eight presbyteries of Tennessee and one of North Carolina composed of the counties of Madison, Yancey and Buncome.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to express my gratitude to the scores of students and members of the Faculty who did a kind deed or spoke a cheerful word during my illness. I shall never forget the old Maryville spirit. I saw it fully demonstrated while I was ill. The Maryville Spirit is to serve others.

Deck Williams.

MISS IRENE BEWLEY ENTERTAINS

Large Audience For Y. W. C. A. Monday Night.

Miss Irene Bewley, a former student and graduate of the Maryville College Department of Expression, delightfully entertained a large audience of students and town people Monday evening in Voorhees chapel when she appeared under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. Having taken post-graduate work in Boston and having taught there and at other places Miss Bewley is one of the most noted readers of the country.

Miss Bewley has appeared in public here several times since her graduation and her offerings are appreciated more and more with each appearance. The great applause which followed her numbers Monday night is sufficient support of this fact. Covering the field of comedy with an airy lightness and that of tragedy with her characteristic dramatic intensity, the reader not only invaded these fields of action but the general range of her subjects was much wider than she ever offered here before.

Miss Bewley has received applications for a great many more bookings than she can accept this winter, these solicitations coming from various parts of the country, and she has reflected much credit upon Maryville college because of her remarkable achievements in the field of expression.

ASSN. OF EAST TENNESSEE COLLEGES MEETS FRIDAY

The third annual meeting of the Association of East Tennessee Colleges, of which Dean Barnes is president will meet in Knoxville, Saturday morning, Oct. 26. All the colleges in this section of the state will be represented by one or more speakers. Prof. Bassett will address the meeting on "College Records and Record Blanks" at the morning session. The purpose of the meeting is to further the work of co-operation between the colleges in this section of the state.

MACKIE—WEBB

The culmination of a college romance was reached on Friday afternoon when a simple, but impressive ceremony was performed, uniting in marriage Miss Ocey Webb and Mr. Henry P. Mackie, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Webb at Townsend, Tenn. Rev. Mr. McCampbell performed the ceremony, and Miss Helen Bryan, of Maryville, sang sweetly, "O, Promise Me" and "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms". Mrs. Claude Dunn, an aunt of the bride, played the wedding march and during the ceremony played softly, "In the Gloaming". Only a few relatives and friends were present.

The bride wore a becoming suit of midnight blue, with brown fur trimmings and accessories to harmonize.

Mrs. Mackie is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Webb and is one of Townsend's most popular young ladies. She is a talented musician. At the time of her marriage she was a member of the Senior Class in Music in Maryville College. Her mney friends are sorry that she is not to live in her home town.

Mr. Mackie is from a prominent North Carolina family. He is now in training camp at Columbia, S. C.

The bridal couple, accompanied by a brother-in-law, Mr. W. J. Whisart of Johnson City, left on the afternoon train for the home of the groom at Granite Falls, N. C. They will also visit his sister, Mrs. A. E. Woltz, at Gastonia, before going to Columbia, where they will be at home to friends at 1632 Hampton Street.

BIG SCORE PILED UP AGAINST HIGHLANDERS BY MISSISSIPPI A. & M.

21-0 Results After Maryville Men Are Delayed Two Days And Mentally Agitated by Bad Inter-Train Connections at Corinth, Miss. Big Game Here With Center College Saturday.

The Maryville football squad, seventeen strong left last Friday for Starksville, Miss., to meet the strong A. & M. team on Saturday on the latter's grounds. Because the interests of the travelers were very poorly looked after by the railroads over which the men were to travel, the team did not reach Starksville until after dark on the day the game was to be played.

It was a hot day, much more so than the Maryville climate affords at this time of the year. For this reason our men could not play their real brand of ball of which they are capable.

Maryville kicked off to A. & M. and the ball was downed on the 30 yard line. On the first-down they punted to Clemens who was tackled on Maryville's 40 yard line. Wagner made first down on the first real play of the game on an end-run. Lloyd gained 4 yards on a line buck and Clemens 3 more. Witherspoon failed to gain and Clemens kicked 20 yards to the A. & M. 35 yard line. Again they punted on the first down to Clemens, who returned to the 50 yard line. Clemens, Lloyd and Wagner made 7 yards, then Clemens punted to A. & M. and the ball was down on the Aggie's 15 yard line. Their love of punting showed itself once more and Clemens returned to the center of the field. Clemens gained 4 yards on an end run, and twice through the line, then punted. A. & M. here began to rush the ball, but did not make much headway. A forward pass finally advanced the ball to Maryville's 40 yard line. Here they were forced to punt the ball going behind our goal for a touchback. After failing to gain Maryville punted to the center of the field. Here the quarter ended. The second quarter showed some poor playing which gave the ball to the Aggies on Maryville's 25 yard line where suddenly Captain Bobo from a kick formation ran around right end for a touchdown, only two minutes before the half ended.

After this the home team held the advantage while Maryville seemed to lose heart. The first half ended with the score 7-0 in favor of the Mississippians and early in the third quarter they clearly outplayed Maryyville and rushed the ball 40 yards for a touchdown, and later in this same quarter Capt. Bobo, the safety man, caught one of Clemen's punts and ran through the whole Maryville team for another marker. Neither team did much in the last quarter until near the close of that period when Mississippi rushed the ball to the 15 yard line when time was called.

For Maryville all the boys played hard against their heavier and fresher team. Substitutions on their part were very frequent close to three whole teams being used. Mississippi has a squad of 70 huskies and as the game progressed the play told on our men. In the line they outweighed our men over 20 pounds to the man. Their backfield led by that wonderful little player, their captain, Bobo did good. He made two of their three touchdowns. Lloyd was injured during the first half and Clemens being the only quarterback left had to play safe and did not exert himself. His forward passing was the best seen this year though he was unfortunate in that few were succesful.

That A. & M. were scared of us can be attested by their posters on which was said, "Maryville tied A. & M. last year 7-7. Manager Bryson says, "We have a stronger team than last year". Look out for Marville". They expected a veteran team and when told we had only 3 letter men on the team they would not believe it even after the game.

According to the team, had Bryson and Hayes been in the line-up we would have been returned victors and had the game been here that the same would be true. But Mississippi, one of the best teams in the South, and one in line for the championship, won in a good fast, clean game, a game in which we may be proud for we held them safely two whole quarters and outplayed them in certain features of the game.

The team is pretty battered up and a hard week lies in store for the men to prepare for the game this coming Saturday with Center College of Danville, Ky. Last year they tied us 0-0 on their home grounds.

They have 11 letter men back and their President says they have a larger enrollment than last year, an extraordinary fact.

This game will decide the championship among the minor colleges in this tri-state section provided that Maryville wallop Emory and Henry, a pretty sure thing. So everybody out for a great game Saturday!

The squad left Friday night and was scheduled to travel over the Southern Railroad west to Cornith, Miss., there to change to the Mobile and Ohio, which line would carry them to their destination. All went well till Cornith was reached, except that the train was a little bit late reaching there. All hurried to the South bound train but it had departed 10 minutes previous. Both railroads were appealed to but to no avail. An attempt was made to play a local college, but the guarantee was not sufficient so it did not come off.

Telegrams were exchanged and

ALPHA SIGMA

Officers for Remainder of Term Saturday Night.

The Alpha Sigmas will elect officers for the remainder of the term at the business meeting of their society Saturday night. Let every member be present with a picked bunch of candidates slated for the offices he wishes to see them fill. This is a very important meeting and every member should be thinking over our available material for the various offices.

The program for last Saturday evening was one of a decidedly international nature, as it covered the parts that are being played in the war by ten of the leading combatants. Each speaker was prepared to make the audience sit up and take notice as he poured forth his store of information on his subject with remarkable eloquence.

Those present next Saturday night will be subjected to "Music" by the society, "Advance", by Weisbecker, a hot, right-off-the-reel debate on "War Advances Civilization" by Lamar Wilson and F. S. McLaughlin who will uphold the affirmative and by John Hite and George Callahan who will not only seek to undermine the foundations of the affirmative but will build strong constructive towers of facts on which they will try to place the judges. It'll be a hot contest.

Don't forget the election of officers.

EDITORIAL

Elsewhere in this issue appears an open letter entitled "The Carnegie Council", the writing of which was inspired only after repeated provocation by several refractory students in Carnegie who persist in refusing to study or sleep as long as they can prevent others from doing so. It is remarkable that a good number of these fellows who "raise cain in general" are new students who have not become acclimated and who refuse to become so. If they do not improve, their prompt expulsion would be welcomed by those who have come here to get the most out of their college course.

THE CARNEGIE COUNCIL

October 22, 1917.

To the Editor of the Highland Echo,
Dear Sir:

The system of student government has been tried out in American Colleges for a number of years and has always proved itself by far the most successful way of dealing wth problems in which the more irresponsible student is concerned.

Last year Carnegie had a student Council, whose members were expected to see that the resident students behaved themselves with at least a degree of decency. What has become of this Council? We all admit that these days are fraught with excitement and are full of the unexpected; but that seems to the writer a poor excuse for some of the stunts that are pulled off nightly by the usual bunch of festive youngsters.

Some of us came to Maryville to study; but it sometimes seems that if no needed action is taken with regard to the children in the hall, and if we insist in our purpose, we may yet be compelled to tabernacle in the woods.

ATHENIANS HAD GOOD MEETING

Will Hear Dr. Stevenson Next Saturday Evening.

The ccollege section of the Athenian held another very interesting meeting Saturday evening. The question of La Follette's expulsion from the senate was debated by some new members, and each made a very good beginning in his Athenian work. An "Athenian", made up chiefly of verses and jokes with local application was read by Kiger.

The prep Athenians, having finished a short, snappy program in their own room and having taken in their new members, adjourned at this juncture to our hall. Then before an audience taxing the seating capaccity, H. J. Jordan gave an instructive discussion of "The New Machinery of Modern Warfare", in which he showed himself very familiar with the mechanical side of the present highly developed art of war.

After this came the climax of the program. Rev. Lawrence Cross, a well-known former Athenian, spoke to us on making the most of our opportunities in our society. Altho, he said he was offering us a chestnut, we promptly forgot that and followed with keen interest his inspiring words made vivid by his direct, forceful style, and his wealth of apt illustrative material.

We are still receiving names of new students who desre to unite with our society. One of those received Saturday evening is an able musician. Keep on coming fellows. We're mighty glad to welcome you.

This week's program will consist of a couple of short special numbers, folowed by the main attraction of the evening, an address by Dr. Stevenson. We urge every fellow, whether member or not, to come out and enjoy the address.

THEY HUNETD "SNIPES"

— In the last week a number of new students have been initiated into the ancient sport of "snipe hunting". But, sad tor elate, none have been caught up to the present time. It is even reported that one ardent snipest lost his breakfast the next morning in his keen desire to meet with success. When interviewed this would-be Nimrod said he spent the night "on some kind of leaves, somewhre, and that it took him three hours the next morning to find the college. Another fellow, however, turned the tables on the fun seekers. Feigning ignorance of the sport he followed them through a maze of paths in the college woods, but after they had gone out of sight in the darkness he dropped the bag and ran back to Carnegie. Standing on the front steps with a crowd of fellows he met the practical jokers as they came in and turned the joke on them.

BIG SCORE PILED UP AGAINST HIGHLANDERS

the game was postponed till Monday which would give the aforementioned M. & O. road two days to undertake the task of transporting a football team one hundred miles. This being done, the beleagued party took an afternoon train reaching Starksville in time for the evening meal at the dining hall.

There the boys were entertained royally by A. & M. The college itself is in nine magnificient buildings on three sides of the quadrangle. Ever place was visited by the team. Every one seemed to be happy, except Briggs who seemed to be more than ordinarily homesick. No incidents happened except perhaps the imprisoning of McNutt, who was lost till the game, and finally was resurrected from being asleep on an old mattress. The Marville team was well treated, and hopes sometime to be able to return to the Mississippi school.

Line-up for Maryville:

SUNSHINE BOUND

Toot-toot, all aboard, psheet-psheet, and we're off for Sunshine bright and early Friday morning. Yes, out of the kindness of their hearts the Faculty granted us a holiday and we're off for the Great Smokies in "the land of the sky". And some are moonshining, for the whole trip costs only four bits (eight for some) but we are having a good time just so long as the train is on the track. We stop at Amerine, Hubbard and Melrose, and all the great commercial centers along the way. Bill Holmes has led out with "I'm tired of living alone" and all the whole coach has joined in the refrain. Next comes "Sweet Adeline", "A Billy Goat", "Alfalfa Hay" and all the rest of the good old songs in the campus repertory and the old train is continuously a-song all the way. Everybody will climb the mountains, drink from the big spring, throw stones in the river, click the kodaks in front of interesting scenes, and so on and so on. All will return good and hungry Friday night and the "old lady" may look out for she will be consumed as never before in history.

Y. W. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was led Sunday evening by Miss Eleanor Moseley. The subject, "Choose Ye" was divided into five parts, and under each head students especially interested in that phase of the subject, were asked to speak.

First was the choice of our room furnishings, and Miss Gail Wilson spake on the choice of the pictures on the college room walls. The second point was the choice of our surroundings and Miss Mary Miles, in answering the question "What I am going to do and the purpose of it" told us how the choice to be a foreign missionary had formed in her mind and taken her to a definite work in college.

Miss George Simpson in speaking on the first thing to do in choosing one's life work, said "ask yourself if God wants you to do this". Next was the choice of play. Miss Winnie Newton spoke on the merits of the different athletics. Miss Sallie Stinnett presented some very good thought on the relation of exercise to our spiritual nature.

The choice of books and music was the fourth division and Misses Winifred Decker and Genevieve Gibson spoke on the choice of music.

Miss Caldwell spoke on the choice of books, and referred the girls to Dr. Stevenson, Mrs. Alexander, or Dr. Wilson as willing and good judges of the books one should read.

Fifth and last was the choice of friends. Miss Jackson and Miss Mattie Fisher talked on this, the most important choice of all.

The next meetng will be held next Sunday evening at 6:30 sharp.

The subject is "The Plague of Discouragement and Its Cure", led by Miss Mary Miles.

BAINONIAN

At Bainonian last Saturday evening the program on "Our Assets" was successfully carried out. Very interesting and instructive papers on "Our Navy", "Our Army", and "Our National Resources", were presented by Misses Elizabeth Jackson, Frances Hickey and Winston Newton. Misses Hattie Hayes and Mary Heard furnished delightful music for the evening.

Twelve new girls, who were voted on last week, were received into the socity, and several new names were presented for membership.

We were delighted to have with us several visitors, and we extend a cordial invitation to all girls to attend Bainonian meetings.

A motion was moved and carried to hold a joint meeting with the Theta Epsilon next Saturday evening, and be entertained by the Dramatization class. All new girls will be given a hearty welcome at this special meeting.

A RATHER LENGTHY WORD

There's one word in the English language that has three miles between the beginning and the end, and that word is: "Beleaguered".

THETAS RECEIVE THIRTY MEMBERS

The Thetas enjoyed a splendid program Saturday evening. Miss Miriam Crum and Miss Maude Hite rendered piano solos. Miss Sue Nuchols gave an interesting and instructive essay on "As a Man Thinketh in his Heart, so is He". Miss Beatrice Wilson added to the pleasure of the evening by giving a delightful reading.

Then the "Old Family Album" was shown and explained to the "old maid caller," Miss Sarah Stinnett, by the "small daughter" of the family, Miss Carmen Park. As the photographs appeared they were greeted with peals of laughter by the audience. Not one of the family or relatives were forgotten.

At the business session thirty new girls were received into active membership of the society. The old Thetas are looking forward with great interest to the program to be given a week from Saturday night by these new members.

Next Saturday evening there will be a joint meeting of the Bainonians and Thetas in the chapel. At this meeting Miss Buxton's dramatization class will present a play. All the girls are urged to attend.

CLASS PARTIES A—COMIN'

One week, seven days, 168 hours, 10,080 minutes, or 604,800 seconds! Only that short till class parties. The first parties of the year. Why some of us haven't had a party in so long that we will be at a loss as to how to act at such an occasion. Then besides, I never went to a college party anyway. What are they like, tell me! They tell me they go to town to have these unheard-of things. Well, to town we new folks will go too, then I reckon. Looks like runnin' off from a mighty good place to leave Baldwin lawn or Bartlett Hall, or some other of these pretty places around on the campus. But I suppose I'll go along uncomplaining this time, and see how they do it, but next time, say, I'm a gonna have a hand in these things myslef.

Gee, one of these girls says she's never moonshined (such a funny name they call it) before and they've put her on with a boy she doesn't know, no sir, just think, never met him, and she's terriblby worried about just what to say and how to say it when he comes to ask for the date. I'm very little better myself, yes, honest I haven't got my speel fixed up yet but I know when my partner comes around and says the thing to me, I'll have enough breath left to say "yes" or nod, or say "Uh-hu" or something like that. It'll be red-letter night for some of these folks that never had a date before in their lives, and what's more may never again, and they'll remember it a long time, and wish they had a "coupling committee" to make another date for them, and look back on their college days as the "days of real sport" and all that kind of thing. And they'll start "a-pinin" for the good old days of long ago when they were young, and when they had a "coupling committee" to make their dates for them. I'm a-gonna try it once if it kills me, so come on Wednesday night! !

OH, YOU SENIORS

That Senior bunch is some crowd. The latest is to have a party Wednesday night of this week when no one else is allowed to have one, and just such things as that they do every now and then. We hope for them lots of fun and promise them our time will come a week later when they will have to look on as we are doing now. Let them enjoy enjoy their college days while they can, for the haven't much longer to stay here.

Art is the application of knowledge to a practical end.

ALUMNI NOTES

1884. Rev. W. C. Broady, '84 has been visting relatives in Maryville recently. He was on the hill one day last week and conducted chapel exercises. Mr. Broady has been for some time pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Scott, Ohio.

Prof. Samuel Walker is Superin- of the city schools in Williamsburg, Kentucky. He has receved the nomination for County Superintendent of Schools and his election is practically assured. He will assume his new duties in January.

1914. A letter from Ernest M. Reeves, at Marshfield, Oregon, dated October 12, says: "I am here at present employed with the Coos Bay Shipbuilding Co. As yet I've not been called on to go to France, so am now getting things in shape to begin building boats for the government. They expect to lay the keel for the first boat in a few days. If I can't go help clean the Kaiser, I can help build ships to mop up with him anyway".

1914. Rev. L. L. Cross, who has been until recently Assistant Pastor of the Presbyterian Church in Portsmouth, Ohio, is visiting in Maryville. He led chapel one day last week and preached in New Providence Church last Sabbath, both morning and evening. Mr. Cross has not decided just where he will locate next. He has the offer of work in Los Angeles, California, but has not yet decided to accept.

1915. Harry O. Bush, a student at Prnceton Theological Seminary spent last summer at Freshold, New Jersey as Secretary in the Industrial Y. M. C. A. His work was among the Russians, and he had charge of about three hundred of them.

"Fritz" Whalin is doing Y. M. C. A. work at present. His wife, formerly, Miss Alma Adams, '16, visited in Maryville recently.

FORMER STUDENT DEAD

Miss Mava Bryson, a former student of Maryville College, and sister of A. D. Bryson of the class of '18, died at her home at Whitwell, Tenn., Thursday night of last week. Miss Bryson was very popular with both teachers and students and while in school here she made numerous friends who will learn of her death with deep sorrow.

The Senior Class met in special session Tuesday at noon and a committee was appointed to draw up the following resolutions which were adopted:

WHEREAS, God, in His infinite wisdom, has called to her heavenly home the beloved sister of A. D. Bryson; and

WHEREAS, A. D. Bryson is a valued and trusted member of Maryville College Class of 1918;

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED, That we, the Class of 1918, extend to our friend and fellow-student, A. D. Bryson, our heart-felt sympathy with him in this sad bereavement, and assure him of our prayers for him and his that God may strengthen them at this time;

AND BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That a copy of these resolutions be sent to A. D. Bryson; that a copy be spread on the records of the Class; and that a copy be published in "The Highland Echo".

Two charming visitors from Knoxville were Miss Helen Hitch, the guest of Ella Lewis, and Miss Frances Fairchild, the guest of Winifred Decker.

Miss Elsie Dawson spent the week end in Knoxville.

Ethel Burchfield left Saturday for a short visit to her home in Dandridge, Tenn.

Nora Lee Griffitt, an old student of Maryville College visited her sister, Gertrude, on the twenty-first.

Keith Postlethwaite, '16, who is employed on government river improvement below Knoxville, was a Sunday visitor.

Monday was an ideal day for the hike of a bunch of boys who went went overland to Sheep Pen Cave on the Tennessee river near Louisville.

"A thing of beauty is a joy forever". So are the maples on the campus.

Mrs. E. R. Walker left Monday for a few week's visit with her parents in Ohio.

Prof. McClenahan is visiting about the hill and town a few days.

Ask Dr. Stevenson about his introduction to Mrs. Cox on the hike to Sheep Pen cave Saturday.

C. J. French, a former student, is with the 16th Canadian Machine Gun Co., British Expeditionary forces, France. He writes, "I've just received and enjoyed a bundle of the Highland Echoes; enough of them to convince me that I want more. The Alumni Notes were a special treat to me and I hope Prof. Bassett continues the good work."

C. B. Fisher is teaching English and History in the Central High School at Lewisburg, Tennessee.

J. E. Kidder, is back at the Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, after his summer's work in Alberta, Canada. On his way back he stopped at Barff in the Canadian Rockies, and took a two day's trip across Lakes Superior and Huron. Neale Alter, a former Maryville student, is also at Western this year.

Miss Eva Samsel, '14, visited her sister, Miss Maude on Saturday.

Dr. Stevenson preached at the Fourth Presyterian church in Knoxville Sunday morning.

Prof. Ellis, Johnson, Cox and Lange haves haved their mustaches.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Our program for the coming week is very incomplete due to the impending war tax on theatres and films. This tax takes effect on us November 1st, and we are rearranging our grogram to meet this crisis. It is our intention to close the Dreamland indefinitely until something is done about it. Meanwhile starting Nov. 1st. our admission price at Palace will be raised to 15 cents for adults, 5 cents for children, with one cent tax on every free admission, which means that all pass holders must pay a tax of one cent each time their pass is used. This is o choicce of ours, but orders from the government and we are virtually committing a crime if we fail to collect this cent. The above tax is shutting down small threatres all over the country, who cannot meet it, and is the cause of our raise in prices. We must meet it to stay in business and to meet it we must raise the price of admission. In a week or so we hope to have the program in such a shape that there will be no more changing, and that the pictures are due to be shown the coming week in the order designated, but bar in mind the program is subject to change without notice owing to conditions above. So if, there is anything special listed that you particularly want to see you'd better ask or telephone the manager about it.

Wed. Oct. 23—At Palacce—2nd day of the run of The Slacker, one of the really great war pictures. Your friends who have seen it on Tuesday will be sure to urge you to go. Admission 10 andc20 ten|mthe'm B_-e- sion 10 and 20 cents. Orchestra at night.

At Dreamland Big Universal Comedy program.

Thursday, Oct. 24—Gray Ghost, chapter four and funny LK O Comedy at Palace.

At Dreamland "Sauls Triumphant" a high class Triangle feature, starring Wilfred Lucas and Lilliam Gish. 5 reels. The Camera Cure, Triangle Comedy.

Friday, Oct. 25—At Place, Blue Bird feature, "The Clock," featuring Franklyn Farnum, 5 reels.

At Dreamland "Much Obliged", 2 reels, Black Cat Comedy. World Library," and Love, Luck and Loot," a hilarious comedy program.

Saturday, Oct. 26—At Palace 2nd of The American Girl Series, featuring Marui Sais, Daring, breathless tales of adventure. Better than Stingaree. Also Keystone Komedy, "Whose Baby", featuring Gloria Swanson. Ford Weekly.

Monday, Oct. 28—At Palace Chapter 5 of the thrilling serial, "The Fighting Trail and two funny Frank Daniels Comedies.

At Dreamland "Wild Winship's Widow," a five part Triangle featuring Dorothy Dalton. Also Triangle Comedy entitled Twin Troubles.

Tuesday, Oct. 29—At Dreamland Butterfly Feature, "'49-'17" a thrilling Western story based on the days of '49 in the California Gold Fields and the days of 1917, featuring Dorma Drew, a real western.

At Palace—Wm. Fox presents Theda Bara in "Heart and Soul," a wonderful drama in five parts.

HIGHLANDERS UNABLE TO WITHSTAND TERRIFIC ONSLAUGHT OF CENTER COLLEGE

Surprising Score of 33-0 is Rolled Up Against Our Men In First Real Game of Season on Home Ground. Splendid Work by Individual Players Lack of Co-ordin is Assigned for Defeat.

Displaying a brand of football rarely seen on a college team, tearing our line to smitherenes, opening holes big enough for a wagon, executing forward passes with an accuracy that startled all the onlookers, working with machine liko precision, holding our team to two first-downs, while they themselves failed to make downs only once, reeling off end runs behind splendid interference, the Center College squad, 19 strong, returned to Danville, Ky., Saturday night after having administered the worst defeat that Maryville has received on her home grounds in years.

Try as we might we could never get started and M. C. never even threatened to score except in the fourth quarter. In fact only in this period was the play in Center's territory.

Center blew into this burg Saturday morning full of confidence and when the hour of 2:30 rolled around they appeared on the field in uniform. Their first appearance was nothing extra. The team averaged the same as ours, but in speed and pep they simply outclassed us. In practicing punts some of their men averaged 50 yards and more, and that looked dangerous. However, thy had to punt but once and the spectators missed some real sights along that line.

Center displayed an all round consistent attack and defense although we held the ball such a small time that the defense was rarely needed. The whole team is composed of football players. Not one is punk, but if the stars are to be picked out it would lie in the three center men and the wings. In Weaver at center, Spurlock of Miss. A. & M. fame has a close second in being the best center seen on this field in several years. In Bo McMillen they have a quarterback who knows how to run a team, can call signals with lightning-like rapidity, can plunge the line, hurl a forward pass, run ends and pass the pill like a veteran. In Matheas, a full-back whose line plunging and end runs mark him as far above the ordinary, Center has a star of the first magnitude. And in Allen they have a receiver of forward passes who is par excellence.

In this department of the game the visitors displayed the most remarkable array of puzzling passes ever, yes ever, seen on this field. Not using it as a last resort, but rather as an accelerator to put on more speed, McMillen would hurl a shot-like pass anywhere on the filed and some man was there to get it. How clearly Maryville was outclassed is shown by the statistics. Center completed 4 out of 6 attempted forward passes, 90 yards being gained in the four passes, two of which went for touchdowns. Besides this they intercepted three of our passes while we failed to intercept a one of theirs. Out of 11 passes we completed but 2 and the total of these as they came together was not enough to make firstdown.

Center's running attack was wonderful. Having four or five men as interference they ran around our ends whenever they desired. Maryville is extremely weak this year on her wings and fully half the number of yards gained were by end runs.

For Maryville all the fellows worked hard but against the more experienced team they could not display their real ability.

Never did a team fight harder than ours. Never did every fellow so desire to win. Never did two teams start a game with more confidence, and our determination to win was strengthened by the fact that it was our first real home game, and the team desired to hang up the bacon for the large crowd of rooters behind the team.

We have no alibis to offer but the weakness of our extremities and the fact that our men played too wide made it difficult to keep down the score.

Our centers had orders to shift as they did and it left too much work for our guards. The ends played wide as did our tackles and as Center had the ball practically all the game it meant that center bucks and tackle plays were much in evidence.

It was left for our secondary defense to break up those plays and even then they seemed to reel off gain after gain. Clemens, the safety man, made more tackles than any quarterback has done on this field for many a day.

In the line Jellicorse played the best game of his career. Briggs was there with the goods all the time and the tackling of these two was wonderful. None of the three touchdowns that came by line plunges went through that side of the line.

Our line-up was never at any time as strong as it could have been. Why some players who have been practicing for only a couple of weeks should go in in preference to men who have worked hard all season, is still a mystery. Why our best end, Hurst, and fastest man on the team was not put in at the beginning of the game and when he was he took half, is still another.

Center showed that they certainly did have a coach. The material was no better than ours, but it was handled in a masterful way. To think that Center has only had two games before this, one with Depaw University which they lost 6-0, and a practice game with K. M. I., which they won 104-0, and then to think that they displayed such smooth running plays is indeed a remarkable tribute to their coach, Robert L. Myers.

One thing of mystery more. How does it come that Center has eleven letter men back? They certainly showed they had worked together a long time before but how a whole team can escape the draft law, and how an institution can put up such inducements for entering its walls as to make a larger enrollment this year than last is a thing we can not quite understand.

A loyal and large and enthusiastic crowd of 600 witnessed a consistent attack which netted a touchdown in every quarter, and which steamrollered Maryville out of the championship they have possessed the past two years.

It might be added that Kentucky State will have her hands full on Nov. 3, with the odds favoring Center.

DETAILS OF THE GAME

Maryville won the toss and elected to receive at the west end of the field. Weaver kicked off to Bryson on the 20 yard line. He returned to the 48 yard line. On the first play M. C. was penalized 5 yards for having one of our players off the field. A fumble followed which Center recovered. Then started a steady march down the field. With their wonderful fullback, Mathieas, carrying the ball two-thirds of the time and McMillen the rest, Center marched half the length of the field,

"THE ONE GREAT BESETTING SIN IS THOUGHTLESSNESS"

Dr. Stevenson's text: "Isaac went out to meditate in the fields at eventide", suited the occasion exceedingly well; for in the even tide, as we meet at Vesper Service, our hearts are brought closer together in meditation and prayer. Also the choir ought to be congratulated for their part in the processional and recessional. Under the spell of the piano and organ duet, one could not help but feel at his best in a meditative mind, as the sun was sinking slowly in the west.

The preacher of the evening claimed that the law he recommended, "requiring each person to retire and engage in a personal and honest meditation", would close up all saloons, gambling houses, and shut up our penitentiaries. If we would but think personally, honestly, and earnestly, we would not do many a wrong thing that we are apt to do thoughtlessly. "Goodness", he continued, "is the result of one thing, repentence, and repentence results from reflection and thinking." There are many people who are thinking, but the thinking that they think they are thinking is nothing but idle dreams." Vain thoughts like clouds obscure and hide from us the guiding star of comfort and God's love. He advised to spend a little while every day by yourself and think upon your way.

AHTENIANS HEAR DR. STEVENSON IN HELPFUL TALK

The Athenian Society on Saturday evening rendered a program that was short enough tok eep well within the hour limit, but was far from being short in quality.

Luther Tramell gave a violin solo which was thoroughly enjoyed by the fellows and they would not let him off without an encore. Tramell is certainly some violinist. Hurst Paul, who played his acompaniment, is also ay oung man of talent. Martin gave a patriotic reading, rising to his theme with very good effect.

Dr. Stevenson was then introduced He congratulated the society on the good work he had witnessed during his two visits, and praised Martin's readng just gven. Then in his usual genial and convincing manner he presented valuable recipes for successful public speaking, both of the extempo and the more forma kind.

Valuable reenforcements continue to gather to the standard of the Owl and Crescent. Welcome, fellows, come on!

This week's program includes a reading by Witherspoon, a debate on the single tax question by Roy Anderson and L. L. Marion, and a humorous debate by Holmes and Hayes.

ELECTS LATIMER PRESIDENT

Boys Are Getting Along Famously in New Hall.

The Society met ctober 27, and after a short program had the election of officers. Hugh Webb gave a poem that was appreciated by all. After this followed an extemporaneous debate, given entirely by new men. These men showed themselves equal to the occasion and not willing to be conquered by stage horrors.

At the close of the program the following were elected officers:

President, C. Y. Latimer; Vice president, J. C. Hunter; Recording Secretary, Hugh Webb; Assistant Recording Secretary John Parks; Program Secretary, H. D. McGrath; Sergeant-at-Arms, Ratcliffe; Janitor, T. M. Coulter; Editor, C. R. Gleason.

The remainder of the term the society wants every man to do his best, in fact "Alpha Sigma expects every man to do his duty", in getting others interested in this very important part of college life; and in doing his best in any part that may be assigned to him, both for his good and the good of the society.

Some of the new men may think the Junior hall is not a very desirable place, but we ask them to come and help us make it better, bit by bit, and at the same time have the pleasure of doing it.

Every man may be assured that he will receive a warm welcome and that an effort will be made to make him feel at home.

We ask all new and old members to help us make this year one that we may truly be proud of.

WAR STRENGTH COMPANY STORMS POINTS ABOUT SUNSHINE

Violent Counter Charges By Enemy Thrust Against Our Line. Violent Bombardment Throughout The Day. Both Sides Suffer Heavy Casualties.

A company of one hundred and thirty-seven, full war strength for the purpose it had to accomplish, commanded by Dr. Stevenson, "Mother" Stevenson, Miss Molly, invaded the regions in the sector about Sunshine last Friday and gained all the immediate objectives in view. The troop train arrived on the field of action about ten o'clock, and after all unnecessary baggage and the portable kitchens had been properly located, the command was given to take the strongly fortified citadel on Mt. St. John. The company at once formed in column of squads with understood orders to conform to the road, incline to the right or left, or take any other such flexible movements that afforded points of advantage against the enemy. The principal movements of the company in the advance charge were composed mainly of forming into platoons, then into squads which soon formed into columns of files as the action grew hotter. But having marshalled the full strength of the company on all sides of the fort, the enemy was about to surrender when he unexpectedly brought up strong reinforcements of wind and rain. The weekly communique reports "After the enemy had brought up fresh reserves in overwhelming numbers, our troops were forced to retire down the mountain in utter disorder and confusion, leaving behind, the dead, the wounded and lazy, together with great stores of shoe leather".

After receiving supplies from behind the lines, in the way of a sumptuous dinner, other points of strategic importance were attacked in the afteroon with greater success. The bombardment (by kodaks) was continuous throughout the day resulting in heavy casualties on both sides. Toward evening nearly all our objectives were gained and our battered forces returned from the engagement in high spirits. The "war office" reports a lull in the fighting now, however, preparatory to another general engagement.

The one great noticeable thing about the whole engagement was the high morale of our troops. Miss Green and Prof. Southwick proved themselves able officers at all times. Their rank has not been given out.

TURNER ELECTED PRES. ALPHA SIGMA

Other Officers Also Chosen. Splendid Progress by This Society to Date.

After a very fine program was carried out in which Weisbecker, Husky, Wilson, Calahan, Harris and Cox were the principals, the Alpha Sigmas proceeded to elect officers for the remainder of the term with the following results:

President - - J. H. Turner
Vice-president - - Deck Williams
Corresponding Secretary, E. E. Loft
Recording Secretary, H. Weisbecker
Censors, Lamar Wilson, S. C. Lange
E. K. James.
Sergeant-at-Arms - C. W. Simmons
Janitor - - - Charles Edgemon

A good program has been arranged for next Saturday night. L. E. Davidson will give current events; S. F. Howell and C. W. Simmons will support the affirmative and R. W. Adams and Fred H. Cagle will defend the negative of the proposition that the government should operate the coal mines; and R. L. Taylor will hold forth to tell us what the special session of the sixty-fifth congress did.

CARD OF THANKS

I desire to extend my sincere thanks to the faculty, teachers, and students who remembered us with their sympathy during our late bereavement, occasioned by the death of my dear sister. I especially wish to thank the members of the Senior Class for their smpathy and prayers, and also the Senior Class and Football Team who remembei us with floral offerings.

Alton D. Bryson.

Y. M. C. A. HAS SONG SERVICE

Dr. Stevenson to Talk Next Sunday.

The Sunday meeting of the Y. M. C. A. had a varied program in the form of a song service. Mr. Anderson was the leader and Miss Brothers was the pianist. Mr. Hayes sang a solo that was much appreciated bby the audience. Also he sang the "Battle Hymn the Repulic" with the audience joining in on the chorus. President Dawson read the Bible lesson of the day, and Dr. Stevenson dismissed the meeting.

Next Sunday will be a great day for the boys. Dr. Stevenson will address them at 1:15. His subject has not been ascertained yet, but it will likely be something concerning "clean living". We can rest assured that it will be something of the very best to be had—something worth walking miles to hear.

DRAMATIZATION CLASS ENTERTAINED GIRLS' SOCIETIES

The large crowd of girls which gathered in the chapel on Saturday night were pleasantly entertained in a delightfully unusual way. Miss Mary Miles egan the program with a piano solo, followed by a reading by Miss Troy Haddox, and then Miss Knapp sang.

The play, "Coats and Petticoats", staged by the Dramatization Club was the unusual attraction of the evening. That each character had been chosen with a view to her peculiar fitness for the part was shown in the manliness of the men and the primness of the Puritan Aunts.

The play was a success in every respect, each character playing her part in a pleasing and efficient manner, carrying out every detail with remarkable ease and profiency.

Much credit is due to Miss Helen Lewis, director and stage manager, and both literary societies are deeply indebted to the Dramatization Club for so pleasant an evening.

The New York Club, twenty-four strong was entertained Monday by Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson on the beautiful grounds of the "House in the Woods". Delicious eats were served and a marshmallow toast over a big bonfire was the climax to a most enjoyable afternoon.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE TEAM?

Maryville was not herself by any means on the football field last Saturday. There is no doubt that there was something wrong somewhere. Just what that is may be hard to say. It may be one thing or it may be another, or it may be a combination of two or more reasons. We can say, however, that a more willing and interested bunch of players never went on the Maryville field than the players who have gone out this fall. Every man, with negligible exceptions, has been out regularly for consistent practice and has done his part conscientiously to make the team a better machine than it is at present. With at least two more hard games ahead of us, it should be the concern of every Maryville student to hope for a better working organization for these games than was in evidence Saturday, and that from the top of the squad to the bottom.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH OF LITTLE BEN. FRANKLIN

On Monday afternoon about three o'clock a pitiful and tragic accident took place on Indiana Avenue, which not only brought infinite grief to those most closely connected with it, but also cast a profound gloom over the College. Little Benjamin Alexander Franklin, the nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Horace Franklin, was coasting on the concrete side walk in front of Dean Barnes' residence when his wagon collided with the car that Dean Barnes was bringing out from his garage to the street. The head of the unfortunate little boy was struck, probably by the running board, and he was thrown out into the street. The hedge around Dean Barnes' place prevented each from seeing the other. He was rendered unconcious by the blow, and in spite of all that was done for him by loving hands, he died within a few minutes.

Never has deeper sympathy been felt than is felt by hosts of friends for the families concerned in this sorrowful accident. Mr. and Mrs. Franklin had this fall removed to Maryville with the sole object of having their three children educated in College. Several of the Franklins have been educated here, including the father. Sam. Horace Franklin, Jr., the oldest child, is a member of our First Year Preparatory Class. Little Ben was looking forward to the day when he should be able to follow his brother to the College. The parents find their only consolation in their faith in the love and wisdom of their heavenly Father.

The sympathy of all friends goes out also to Dean and Mrs. Barnes in this deep distress, the greatest that they have ever experienced. At the time of the fatal accident they were about to start to call at the home of Mrs. Dean Waller, whose mother, Mrs. Gilchrist, is lying at the point of death.

The funeral of little Ben was held at the Franklin residence on Indiana Avenue on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, and was conducted by President Wilson, assisted by several other ministers

VOLUNTEER BAND LEADS THURSDAY EVENING MEETING

"God's Method of Working" was ably discussed at the Thursday evening prayer meeting of last week by H. D. McGrath, Bertha Wilson and J. S. Georges who represented the Volunteer Band, under the direction of which this service was held. The subject was logically divided into three parts which were: "By Men Rather Than By Angels", "By All Men Rather Than by a Few", and "By Testimony Rather Than by Argument". These topics were discussed by the speakers in the order named.

In his ffort to show that God works through men instead of through angels McGrath cited the examples of such men as Washington and Lincoln as being evidence of the fact that God prefers to work among men with men. He brought out the point that God could have caused the work of these men to have been done in some other way but that he chose men to do it in order that the accomplishment of this work should be kept within the capabilities of human achievement.

Miss Wilson emphasized the importance of all men working in unity and in concert in an effort to be most effective in the field of Christian activity. She said that if any one of the particular workmen on a piece of munitions should do his part of the work incompletely or in faulty manner, the piece will be defective to a considerable extent. Just so must each Christian do his work faultlessly and in full co-operation with all other Christians in order to do the greatest accomplishments.

Mr. Georges, discussing the last topic, said that God's method of working was by testimony rather than by argument, developing the thought that to argue is to put one's self on an equal plane with the opponent, but to produce testimony is to convince in superior fashion. He said that the accomplished fact, visible and tangible is the strongest argument in any case.

Roy Anderson added to the interest of the meeting with a beautifully rendered solo.

THESE ARE JOKES

It is reported that a certain local sport writer almost broke the record set by Mr. Chiles last year when the latter asked seven girls for a date to a mountain trip and then had to stag it.

Mamie W.: Prof. Gillingham has gone to Synod.
Nellie L.: Why is he a Senator?

While visiting the dairy barns at Miss. A. & M. one of the football boys asked a coon: "Bo, where's the poultry farm?"
Coon: "Is you speakin' ob chickens, boss?"

Hayes: "Buddy, how does it come that you and your girl 'busted' up?"
Briggs: "Well, I just bet her that I could guess her age and I guessed it"

Freshman: "Professor, is it possible to take something from nothing?"
Prof: "Wy, yes, when the conceit is taken out of a Freshman".

New Stude. "Is that fellow Fernheir?
Old Guy: "Nope, he's Pop Jordan's little boy."

Miss Chandler (in biology lab.): Mr. Georges, aren't the lips the most sensitive part?"
Joel: "Wy, y-e-a, I guess so."

HIGHLANDERS DEFEATED BY CENTER COLLEGE

making four first downs. It took but 14 downs before Matheas plunged across our goal line for a touchdown.

Weaver kicked goal.

Score Center, 7; M. C. 0.

Weaver had to kick a second time because the first went out of bounds. Bryson received a 135 yard kick-off and returned to the 36 yard line. McNutt made 5 over tackle. Bob lost 10 yards on an end run, failing to gain because he had no interference. Clemens punted 45 yards to McMillen who only returned 5 yards. Sheeney tackles Moran for no gain. Jellicorse followed with the same. Two finely blocked end runs placed the ball on our 40 yard line.

One of the prettiest passes ever seen on this field was made by McMillen to Allen. It was a 20 yard pass and resulted in Center's second touchdown, Allen going the remaining 20 yards. The ball was planted between the goal posts but Weaver failed on the goal kick.

Score Center 13; M. C. 0.

Second Quarter

Weaver kicked off 50 yards to McNutt who returned 15 yards. Hayes goes 1 yard over center. Bob lost 10 yards before i thit the ground. A interference. He then punted 35 yards but the wind blew it back 20 yards before ith it the ground. A short forward pass was completed to Allen.

Another pass followed when McMillen threw a pass to Allen behind the goal line. Two of Center's men were waiting to receive it and no Maryville player was anywhere around. All Allen had to do was catch it and, he didn't have to run a step. This is the one touchdown that they never should have had. Weaver kicked goal, making the score 20 to 0, in favor of Center.

Garrison went in for Scruggs and Hurst for Hayes.

Weaver kicked off 50 yards to Hurst who returned to the 30 yard line. Bryson made 2 on a line plunge. Clemens made 7 on an end run. It was a four-man interference, one of the few times we worked it. Hurst made the first down that M. C. had to its credit. Clemens went 1 yard through center and Diddle intercepted a pass from Clemens to Garrison but Reid was on him when he caught it.

Together with an end run, Center completed two passes at this point making 3 firstdowns. Here the half ended with the ball on our 20 yard line.

Second Half.

Scruggs takes place of Garrison and Eagleton goes in for Cooper, Gooth for Diddle and Penn for Moran.

Clemens on the kick-off pulled a fake play, the ball going 11 yards and our men falling on it. The referee, Moran, called it Center's ball, a thing which he had absolutely no right to do. A lengthy argument followed during which Moran threatened to banish Clemens, the captain, from the game all because Clemens kept insisting it was our ball. The referee certainly did show his ignorange of the game in this, but finally after having failed to sustain his argument by any rule in the rule book he decided it was our ball. Hurst made 1 yard on an end run, and McNutt lost 2 yards by the same route. An incomplete pass Clemens to Scruggs followed. Bob punted 35 yards against the heavy wind to McMillen who returned 10 yards. Then began a series of end runs that netted 15, 9, 25 and 10 yards. Matheas made two line bucks placing the ball on our one yard line.

McMillen went the remaining distance for a touchdown as they failed on the punt, but no try for the goal could be made.

Score, Center, 26; M. C. 0.

Weaver kicked off 65 yards with the wind and the ball went across the fence. The ball was called back because Center was offside. On the second kick off Weaver kicked off 50 yards to Clemens who returned 18 yards. A pass Clemens to Scruggs failed. It was a pretty pass made against the wind but it did not quite reach our end. Bob mads one yard through guard. Incomplete pass to Eagleton came next. Bob punted 40 yards to McMillen who fumbled but recovered. No gain resulted. M theas made 15 yards on an end run. The prettiest tackle of the game was made at this point when Center's four men came sweeping around right end. McNutt broke up the three men interference and dropped the carrier of the pill. Bob got on him as he attempted to go on. How McNutt did it he can't tell himself now, but it was a remarkable play.

Some pretty tackling was done by Maryville, Briggs and Jellicorse and Johnson all doing their share. After two loses came two incomplete passes which gave the ball to M. C. on their 22 yard line. This was the first time Center had failed to make firstdown or that our line held.

Bob failed to gain but completed a pass next to Hurst.

Fourth Quarter

Center sent in six new men at this point. Bryson received a short pass but was injured as he was tackled and had to leave the game. Witherspoon took his place. On a tackle play Johnson failed to make first down. Ball goes over. Diddle made a touchdown. Center kicked goal making the score 33 to 0 in their favor.

House and Davidson took the places of James and McNutt. Bill kicked off 40 yards to Scruggs who returned 15. Van Antwerp intercepted a forward pass. Lowenthal lost 2 yards and Penn failed to gain. Gooch made a 40 yard end run with beautiful interference. This placed the ball on our 20 yard line. Lowenthal failed to gain as he fumbled and we recovered. Bob punted the longest punt of the game, 55 yards, and as Bill fumbled Scruggs recovered. Wagner takes place of Hurst. Wagner failed to gain. Then Clemens made a pretty end run for 10 yards and our second time we made first down. Here we threatened to score and only during the last few minutes was the play in Center's territory. On a center buck Bob made one yard. Witherspoon then attempted a placement kick, but Clemens fumbled and we lost 5 yards. On an end run we failed to return our losses. Center then intercepted a forward pass. At this time the ball was on their 15 yard line. Jellicorse threw the full back for a three yard loss. They punted then 30 yards to Witherspoon. An incomplete pass to Eagleton should have been a touchdown. Wagner failed to gain. Then Witherspoon apparently was to try for another placement kick but instead it was a forward pass, but Scruggs failed to catch it and another touchdown faded away. The ball then went over. Witherspoon tackled Penn for a loss. Center was penalized 15 yards at this point for slugging. Before the next play was executed the game ended.

ALUMNI NOTES

1897. A recent number of the Coninent states that Dr. A. Arthur Griffes, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church in Rockford, Ohio, is now professor of economics, sociology, philosophy and psychology in Ohio Northern University. This school last year had 1,750 students.

1903. Rev. E. L. Graw, formerly pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian church of Albany, Alabama, has resigned this position and is now located at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin.

1910. Prof. W. J. Yourd, who for several years has been teaching at Columbus, Nebraska, is now Principal of the High School at Clinton, Iowa. Prof. and Mrs. Yourd are the proud parents of a boy who arrived several months ago.

1910. Rev. W. W. Astles, who has been for some time located at Bearden, Tennessee, has accepted a call to becomee pastor of the Presbyterian church in Paris, Tennessee.

1911. A wedding that occurred last April, but that has not yet been noted in our columns will be of interest to the many Alumni friends of the groom. It is that of Prof. E. J. Frazier and Miss Lois Nichals of Harriman, Tennessee. After graduating from college Prof. Frazier taught at Athens and later had charge of the Roane County High School at Wheat. At present Prof. and Mrs. Frazier are living on their farm near Cleveland. Prof. Frazier is also teaching a community school, thus dividing his time between pedagogy and agriculture.

We find in an issue of the Golden Age of Livingston, Tennessee, dated last summer, a cut representing our old friend, Rev. H. L. Weir, before his easel delivering a crayon lecture. We clip the following note from the same paper:

"We feel that we cannot be too lavish in our praise of the crayon lectures given by Rev. H. L. Weir. The one given here a few weeks ago was pronounced by everyone who heard it to be one of the most interesting lectures ever heard. Perhaps we should say saw as well as heard, for the lecture appears to the eye as much as to the ear. Rev. Weir has consented to give another lecture next Friday night, July 13, at the Methodist church".

1915. Miss Ruth Carson is teaching in the High School at Little Rock, Arkansas.

1915. Mr. and Mrs. Holloway of Glen Alice were campus visitors last week. Mrs. Holloway was formerly Miss Elise Karnes. Mr. Holloway is also a former Maryville student.

1917. Miss Mary iHckey, who is teaching in the Maury High School at Dandridge, visited her sister in Maryville last week.

HEARD IN PEARSONS DINING HALL

Why, hello, Tom, did you really get here?

Yes, I—

Pass the bread, please.

We had military drill this morning, but I slept thru breakfast and all. I guess I'll get a—

How about some old lady down there?

Pass some of that stuff up here!

I say Helen, don't we have any gravy tonight?

No, but—

I'm gettin' dry. How about some more water?

How's Deck today Zeora?

Oh, he's about as well as usual.

Is there anymore hash?

Bell taps (plates still rattle). All girls expecting to use the laundry see me immediately after supper.

Wha's that he said,

Oh, he's repeating his piece about the laundry.

Wish't I had some more rice.

Tell Jo, she'll borrow it for you.

I wish you'd pass me some (bell taps) wish we could moonshine.

LARGE HAPPENINGS

Class parties tomorrow night. Have you landed a date?

Who's Hooverized the hot water in Carnegie, the sugar in Pearsons and the scores on the football field?

Lieut. and Mrs. D. J. Brittian are making their home in Greeneville, S. C. at present.

Maud Hite, Mary Heard, Minnie Hunter and Lila Ware spent Monday n Knoxvlle.

Luther McCurry, '19 who has been absent for past three weeks will reurn to school Monday.

Wm. Cleavenger and Husky are in the hospital this week.

Miss Clemens and Miss Jewell are out of the hospital again.

Mr. McConnell visited his daughters Lucile and Barnice for the week end.

Margaret Willis was called to her home in Piqua, Ohio on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Annie Laurie Le Rue had a short visit from her brother last week.

Old sutdents back on the hill last week were Misses Marguerite Sutton, Arda Martin, Sallie and "Bill" Proffitt, H. L. Caton, Mosheim Furguson and Parks.

Mrs. Hughes and Berry were entertained at Baldwin last week by the Misses Levingston and Speck.

Miss Virginia uBrchfield entertained her aunt and sister in Baldwin last week.

Annie Pleasants of Class of '17, sent several days visiting at M. C. last week. She attnded the Teachers' Association in Knoxville Friday.

Ruth Newton and Helen Horton left Friday for a shortv isit to their homes in Harriman, Tenn.

Wonder when that crop of porcupine bristles on "Solidify's" upper lip will be ripe enough to harvest?

The meeting of the East Tennessee Educational Association in Knoxville last week gave opportunity for several former Maryville students to visit on the hill again. Those visiting last week end were: W. B. Parks A. A. Ferguson, Mae Nuchols, Mayme Maxey and Marguerite Sutton.

PROF. SOUTHWICK A POET!

It did not become generally known that we have a poet in our midst in the person of Prof. Southwick until this fact was brought to light at the Senior party last Wednesday night. Out of personal modesty, of course, Professor has never mentioned his poetical abilities, but when he received a large, yellow, juicy "punkin" pie for composing the best piece of poetry on "Autumn", and all this in the face of a deluge of Senior competition, it may not be amiss to predict that his name may be placed in the Poets Corner, if not in Westminster Abbey, probably in Maryville College. We shall not here give a copy of said composition, but watch the leading magazines.

I venerate the man whose heart is warm,
Whose hands are pure, whose doctrine and whosel ife,
Coincident, exhibit lucid proof
That he is honest in the sacred cause. —Cowper.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

This week we are shutting down the Dreamland indefinitely and will give all our attention to the Palace, thereby assuring you some really fine shows. The Dreamland will be opened on Saturdays with a good program, butd uring the week we will run the Palace only, and program below is for the Palace unless Dreamland is mentioned. Sometime during the coming week, a trip will be made to Atlanta by Mr. Stewart or Mr. Bird, or both and the Paramount and Artcraft program will bes igned up and paid for, then you will see the greatestl ine of pictures ever shown in a town the size of Maryville right here in the Palace Theatre. We are offering a high class program for the coming week, especially on Thursday and Monday as you will see by reading program below.

Wednesday, October 31—A William Fox production entitled "The Bitter Truth", starring George Walsh. A five partf eature together with af unny Joker Comedy.

Thursday, November 1—William S. Hart, King of the Desert, in the great Triangle play of the untamed West, entitled "Wolf Lowry". He gave a man just one minute tol ive. What happened in that minute to cause him to put his sixshooters down? Don't ask us, but see the picture. Thisi s the last Hart-Triangle production, and unless we are successful in getting the Artcraft program soon, this will be the last Hart picture you will see here for some time. Triangle Comedy entitled "His Social iRse".

Friday, November 2—We have changed the showing of the Groey Ghost serial from Thursday to Friday, and today we have the sixth episode of this snappy serial which grows more interesting with each chapter. Eddis Polo is certainly a scrapper and he is just now getting warmed up. Watch him. Also L-KO Comedy, "Bombs and Bandits", and Universal Animated Weekly. This weekly is making a specialty of showing the American soldiers in camp, on the French soil, at work and play. They will be a regular part of our Friday program from now on.

Saturday, November 3—At Palace, Violet Mersereau in a happy-go lucky Bluebird photoplay, entitled "Little Miss Nobody", and a funny Sparkle Comedy.

At Dreamland—The thrilling American Girl series, funny Keystone Komedy and Ford Weekly.

Monday, November 5—Charley Ray in "The Millionaire Vagrant", a Triangle photoplay about a rich man who feared for himself what it means to be up against it. A few of the reasons why Charley Ray is the screen's greatest oung actor are "The Deserter", and "The Pinch Hitter", which were shown here only a few weeks ago and made a big hit. "Love and Fish", a Triangle Comedy.

Tuesday, November 6—We are moving the "Fighting Trail" over to Tuesday and on this date will show the seventh episode of this thrilling serial featuring William Duncan and Carol Holloway. Also two funny Frank Daniels comedies.

COMING—Theda Bara in "A Darling of Paris", Charlie Ray in "The Clodhopper", Charlie Chaplin in hisl atest, "The Adventurer. and Marie Walcamp in the most daring serial since Liberty, entitled "The Red Ace".

LETTER FROM DR. STEVENSON'S SON WITH RED CROSS ON FRENCH-SWISS BORDER

Tells of Awful Condition of French Who Are Repatriated By Germans as Having No Military Value to Them In Conquered Part of France. Great Work Being Done For French by Red Cross.

Evians-les-Bains.
26th Sept., 1917.

Dear Father and Mother:

Evian, where I am now located, is a pretty little town right on the shore of Lake Geneva. Directly behind it towers lofty and rugged peaks, while just across the lake are Lausanne, Montreux, Vevey and the famous castle of Chillon. Father will remember how charmed we were with this region in 1910. Evian is a town of numerous hotels, casinos, and drinking places,—water drinking, for the medicinal qualities of the Evian water are well known all over France.

I am here as the representative of the Red Cross for the purpose of directing the doctors and nurses having charge of the "rapatries" who come over the Swiss frontier sent out by the Germans from this part of Northern France behind their lines. Dr. Lucas, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, and I arrived in Evian just the day before yesterday, yet I have attended so many conferences, and listened to so many and such animated words, that it seems weeks since I left my old ambulance section in the Verdun region. On our arrival we went immediately to the leading bank of the town and somewhat ostentatiously—in order to give more weight and influence in the place—deposited 100,000 francs of Red Cross money for me to draw on. Then, conducted by the local authorities, we went to see and examine the Hotel Chatelet which, with its park, it was proposed we should take over and convert it into a hospital. I say we, though as a matter of fact the task has developed on me as Drs. Lucas and Woods have today gone back to Paris leaving me here alone. The Hotel ' a huge, flimsy structure, and being intended for summer tourists only, it has no furnace or other means of artificial heating, and coal, by the way, is seventy dollars a ton all over France. After looking over the hotel we spent the rest of the afternoon until time for the "rapatries" evening train, listening to torrents of language from lawyers and agents representing the owners of the Hotel.

Every morning 500 'rapatries' arrive from Germany, and every evening 500 more. This is the only place of exit or entrance, and the process of meeting them is always the same. They are all old, very old men, and young boys; the women are of all ages, and it is the evident intention of the Germans to send out of that part of France within their lines every person possessing no military or industrial value. All of these people have been prisoners, virtually, for three years, and most of them have lost everything they ever had.

One story will serve as a type of them all. I asked an old fellow, neatly, but poorly dressed, where he came from. He told me. I then asked him where he was going, and what he was going to do in the future. He said,—"My friend, my dear wife is dead; I have lost everything; I am 75 years old; I know no one away from my home town which has been utterly destroyed. What does it matter?"

There is a "rapatrie look"—this most forlorn and hopeless expression I have ever seen on human faces—and the all have it, even the little children.

About half the "rapatries" are children, and they are to be our especial charge. This means, of course, the sick children, for if they are with their parents, and are well enough—they are all subjected to a careful and sympathetic examination,—we will let them pass on to that part of France to which the authori*: are sending their parents. About 400 children a day will be examined and provided for. One American lady, a Miss King of Pittsburg, who knows everybody there I do, and a Scotch lady, a Miss Matthewson, who is very charming have been working here for a year, practically unaided, working under all sorts of difficulties arising from selfishness, stupidity and religious superstition, to do something for the poor children.

It is pathetic to see their real delight now that at last the Red Cross has come to their assistance.

* * * * * * Well, the scene presented by the arrival of a train loan of "rapatries" is destined to be historic. When the train pulls into the station every window is filled with excited faces, and every voice is shouting,—"Vive la France!"

The townspeople of Evian help the weak and weary travelers from the train. Many of the old and sick have to be carried forth, and those unable to walk are now put in the newly arrived American Ambulances and conveyed to the Casino, the rest following on foot.

What tears and cheers and chattering there are among those who are not too dazed to realize they are with friends and among their own countrymen again at last! At the Casino long tables are spread and the "rapatries" are fed the very first thing.

During the meal the people of Evian who deserve vast credit for their generosity and kindliness, go among the poor, discouraged pilgrims, cheering them up, ministering to the sick, and caring for the children.

When their ravenous appetites are at last appeased, the band strikes up the stirring "Chaveners Marching Song" and the tears break forth again. Then the mayor makes a sympathetic little speech of welcome, and then comes the dramatic climax.

The band begins the 'Marsellaise'. You cannot possibly imagine the thrilling effect, the tremendous emotional influence of it. These poor people who haven't heard their noble and beloved national song for years, jump to their feet, sobbing, shouting, screaming, and go completely out of their heads with joyous excitements. It takes a long time to get them calm and quiet again, but I really think they are the better for their outburst of emotion.

* * * * Now the problem I have to work out is this.—I have to create three big hospitals out of whatever comes to hand, two here and one at Lyons, four hours away by car.

I run over there tomorrow in a borrowed Rollo-Royce auto. I have practically closed the contract here for the Hotel, five villas adjoining it, a Casino on the shore of the lake, and an old Chateau, 500 feet up on the hill. At Lyons I am to look at a large chateau just outside the city. You can readily imagine I'll have some job turning these ancient chateaux and old-fashioned villas into modern hospitals, with heat, light, plumbing, not to mention beds, linen, dishes, etc, etc. etc., and all this in the face of the present dearth of labor, supplies, and transportation. But it is a good and greatly needed work, and I shall be glad to give to it my very best endeavors.

* * * * * *

The Expression Department will give a recital at the M. E. Church, Monday the twelfth. for the Epworth League.

DEGENERACY THROUGH QUIESCENCE

Was Thought Around Which Dr. Stevenson Built Vesper Service Sermon.

The truth that "we must use or enevitably lose the gifts that God has bestowed upon us", was expounded by Dr. Stevenson in his Vesper Service sermon. He centered his discourse around the "unprofitable servant", as mentioned in the 25th chapter of Matthew.

He cited the theory of evolution as illustrating the working of the law. "In all cosmic processes of evolution Nature is always economical. She takes back the unappreciated blessings and she destroys the unused and unneeded functions". Hence the blind fish of caves, etc. By divine decree Nature takes away the superfluous members. This law operates in all lines, religious and moral as well as physiological. It was shown definitely in God's dealings with the children of Isreal. When they allowed the gift of God to be submerged and buried in formality, they lost it entirely.

An unusual crowd of townpeople were present, and the interest in the meetings is being manifested more and more.

FOOTBALL SUMMARY SO FAR THIS YEAR

Shows Points For M. C. 65; Against Us, 73. Ten Men Have Won Letters.

Maryville so far this season has had five football games. During these games owing to the large number of candidates out for positions, we have used thirty-two men for the eleven positions. Of this number ten have won their letters. They are: Capt. Clemens, Manager Bryson, Hurst, Cooper, McLaughlin, Johnson, Jellicorse, Briggs, McNutt and James. Of these only Clemens and Johnson have played every quarter, and Johnson only has played every minute of every game. Bryson has played four quarters in each game in which he has participated.

In injuries the team has not been free from some severe hurts and bruises. Hal Lloyd was injured in scrimmage in his shoulder and was forced out of play for the remainder of the season. He was a sure tackle and would have made a fine end, a thing we sorely need. His brother "Happy" in order to keep up the reputation of the family, followed suit by dislocating his arm. Bryson's ankles have been a source of frequent bother to him. Cooper has a bad shoulder which may keep him out the remainder of the season. Hayes broke a rib in the Kentucky game and has not played up to his standard since.

BRIGGS, RIGHT TACKLE

A recapitulation of the season so far might not be amiss at this time. We have played the following games:

Sept. 22 at Maryville
Maryville vs Polk H. S.

Sept. 29 at Knoville
Maryville vs Tusculum

Oct. 6 at Lexington
Maryville vs. Kentucky State
0 19

Oct. 22 at Starkville
Maryville vs Miss. A. & M.
0 21

Oct. 27 at Maryville
Maryville vs Center
0 33

We have scored 65 points to our opponents 73. Clemens and Bryson have both made three touchdowns, and Hurst, McNutt, Hayes and Drake one apiece. Clemens has kicked 5 goals in 10 attempts. The team is out working now for the final games. Only two are sure, that of Nov. 17 with Emory and Henry at Emory, Va., and the Thanksgiving game with Tusculum here. Perhaps a game may be played here next Saturday. Manager Bryson is doing his best to arrange another home game, but no definite announcement can be made at present.

"UNDER THE CAPTIVATING SPELL OF A FULL SOUTHERN MOON"

Hallowe'en Devotees Issued Forth in Search of Weird Witches, Ghostly Ghosts, And Greedy Goblins.

Last Wednesday night, Oct. 31, was a memorable evening for the student body of this college. Coming only twice a year class parties are recognized as two of the big events of the year. Yes, big events they are, not only because of the current pleasrue which they afford but also because of the consequences which often follow their wake. On such occasions acquaintances have been made and friendships formed which have in many instances been of lifelong matrimonial duration. No instances for proof of this statement will be given here, but observing eyes have found this to be true.

All the classes except the Senior, had their parties. The class of '18 had its party a week in advance, so that its members might have opportunity to visit other parties on Wednesday night.

The college as a whole and the several classes extend grateful thanks to the town people who opened their homes for these parties.

JUNIORS

The beautiful home of Rev. Mr. Paul in west Maryville was the scene of a festive occasion on class party night, the like of which has not been seen in that part of town in many a day. The class of '19, full sixty strong, sallied forth to this rendezvous under the captivating spell of a full southern moon and with hearts light and gay with expectant pleasure. This was a case where truly "the longest way round is the sweetest way home", for all the intricate and unavoidable maneuvering which was necessitated by having to deploy through corrugated streets and blockaded sidewalks made the joyful way longer than it otherwise would have been, by an appreciable disatnce.

As the pleasure-seekers arrived at their destination they were welcomed by a huge Jack-O-Lantern which, with an ear-to-ear grin that just wouldn't come off, bade everyone enter the abode of witches, goblins and ghosts. The appearance of the interior was in direct contrast with that of its supposed occupants. No small amount of time and care had been spent in placing such additional decorations in suitable locations as the artistic eyes of the decorators designated. Corn stalks, pumpkins, maple leaves and seasonable wild flowers were placed in abundance at their proper places about the rooms. An uncanny Jack-o-lantern glared from the top of the piano with an understanding and inflexible grin. Such is a very feeble description of the place where the "nineteens" held forth. The place committee, J. G. Purdy, David Briggs and Miss Ruby Paul have deservingly received the sincere congratulations of all who were fortunate enough to attend this occasion.

The entertainment committee, Robert W. Adams, and Miss Marie Townsend were also on the job with every sense alert and with a bunch of the most unheard-of games imaginable. To name them here would mean little to those not present, but their singularity and egregiousness will not be forgotten by the players for many a long day. Arranged in progressive fashion and offering prizes for the winners, they were doubly interesting. The two prizes, "cute as they could be" were awarded to John Witherspoon and Miss Helen Newel.

Perceptibly cosmopolitan in its personnel, this party drew representatives from all the four college classes, the Seniors seeming to be in the majority. Members of the class of '18 present were: Frank Scruggs, A. D. Bryson, "Judge" Turner, Bob Taylor, Gaston Cooper, Ben Watkins and "Andy" Richards. Yes, and Prof. Southwick and Mary Kate Lewis were also there.

And thus and so, in ecstatic delight the class of '19 with its host of welcome visitors made merry in high style till the cruel hour of eleven rolled 'round to remind us all that our presence was still needed on college hill. And the end of a perfect evening came, but the end of the pleasant memories which it brought will never end.

The eats committee were truly wide awake for the refreshments were fit to set before a king. Those who made possible this great part of the evening were: Misses Ethel Burchfield, Carrie Sheddan and Mr. E. K. James.

SOPHOMORES

On Hallowe'en the Sophomores and some invited guests met at the home of Helen Gamble on Court Street, and made merry. As the guests assembled they were served with delicious punch, after which they proceeded to the lair of the gypsy fortuneteller, "Bobbie" Pleasants, where each learned what the future holds for him. Then they were delightfully entertained with piano solos by Hattie Hayes, Cerena Polk, and a vocal solo by Meade Johnson. The evening's entertainment continued in the form of games and several ingenious contests in which prizes were awarded to the most successful participants.

When the guests had exhausted the means of entertainment provided for them, the refreshment committee took charge and did their best to make this the most enjoyable part of the program. Delicious refreshments were served, consisting of fruit salad, two kinds of sandwiches, crackers, ice cream and wafers.

The Sophomores, desirious of making a hit with Miss Mollie, left in good time and were the first to return to Pearsons. As the girls came up the steps, promptly at half-past eleven, Miss Mollie greeted them with the complimentary expression, "I surely can recommend this class".

WOW! FRESHMEN HAVE "ONE MORE TIME"

Hallowe'en was the occasion for the first social gathering of the class of '21, and our heading is a fitting description of the pleasant evening spent. The basement of the New Providence Church was a haunted place, and "hants", goblins,

The storm last week took toll of another one of our beautiful cedars. They go one by one—faster than they are replaced. We should try to make the campus beautiful in every way possible in order to make up for such losses as may occur by circumstances over which we have no control.

Hearsay has it that Prof. Walker got a new hair cut and it cost him the price of another hat.

Since it is true that overwork of the brain causes men to be bald it must follow that it is the overwork of the jaw that causes women to be beardless.

MISS POSTLEWAITE ENTERS RED CROSS

Miss Frances Postlethwaite, for the last few years our faithful and efficient nurse at the Hospital left Wednesday afternoon, Oct. 31, for Camp Zachary Taylor near Louisville, Ky., where she will receive her first training in the field of Red Cross worke. The student body gathered in front of Pearsons hall at 12:30 Wednesday noon, and after a few words by Dr. Wilson, Reid Garrison led several stirring yells in her honor. She was escorted to the five o'clock train by the battalions of the boys' and girls' military companies. Miss Postlethwaite has been of invaluable service to the college and has endeared herself to all the students by her self-sacrificing and devoted services. No one as yet has been definitely secured to take her place.

ALPHA SIGMA

Alpha Sigma's newly-elected officers were sworn in at the beginning of Saturday evening's meeting. Retiring president, Robert L. Taylor having served the society with great faithfulness and efficiency then welcomed our new president, Mr. Turner, to the chair. His inaugural address was replete with interest and enthusiasm and proved J. H. Turner to be a one hundred per cent Alpha Sigma.

The many empty chairs at this meeting were neither a courteous welcome to the new officers nor the proper support to the program.

It was necessary to greatly revise the scheduled program before it could be given in full. But thanks to the ever-ready tongues and brains of the "faithful few" these splendid members were given.

Debate: "Resolved, that the government should operate the coal mines of the United States". The discussion of this up-to-date proposition was affirmed by C. W. Simmons and H. Dawson while R. V. House and Deck Williams defended the negative argument; Current Events, Robert Adams; What the special session of the Sixty-fifth Congress did, Robert L. Taylor.

Prof. Southwick was a welcome visitor and when called on for remarks gave some splendid thoughts aptly expressed by "Preparedness', "Practice" and "Power". We invite Prof. Southwick to come often, for it is always a treat to hear what he has to say.

Let's fill every chair on next Saturday evening and with one of our good programs we'll have a society hard to beat!

"THE HOME OF THE BRAVE"

Timely Address Was Most Interesting. Special Music by Misses Knapp and Bassett And Messrs. Anderson and Dawson.

"The Home of The Brave" was Prof. Gillingham's theme for Thursday night Prayer Meeting. Narrating briefly historic events, he showed the courage and bravery of the men at the head of our government and how in spite of all criticism and opposition they have fulfilled their duties by accomplishing the grave tasks imposed upon them. From the Framers of the Constitution on to Lincoln, McKinley and Wilson, unwavering bravery and indommitable courage has been shown in following their policies.

"It is not necessary to speak of our boys", he continued, "for there are few cowards among Uncle Sam's boys, neither are we able to go into the details showing the bravery of the fathers and mothers of the land, who have made the largest sacrifices. But the fact remains that there are some in our country who are not brave". There were some who claimed exemption from cowardice; some terrorests spreading waves of terror all over our country; and there is evidence of spiritual wickedness in high places of the land. According to Prof. Gillingham "It is the moral quality that decides cowardice,—and loyalty is the key of salvation—loyalty to our soldiers, to our government, and loyalty to the principles upon which our government was founded".

DR. STEVENSON AT SUNDAY Y

Made Strong Talk on Intemperance and Personal Impurity.

The Sunday afternoon assembly had a fine treat by Dr. Stevenson. Though he was to conduct Vesper services a few minutes later, he furnished us an example of his interest in the Y. M. C. A. by giving a talk filled with the enthusiasm that characterizes all his speeches.

His text was taken from Matthew V—Christ's longest sermon. It contains definite statements of Christ's principles of salvation, and was likened unto an inaugural address of a new king. He reminded us of the three offices that Christ filled; namely: that of a prophet, a priest, and king. He said "We must care for the motive in the heart if we wish to make our religious form, or whitewash, of any value in the saving of the soul. 'Except your righteousness shall exceed the righteousness of the scribes and pharisees ye shall not enter into the kingdom of heaven'. The scribes and pharisees carried out the forms but their hearts lacked good motives that determine a spirit of doing something. We carry out the form of going to church here on the hill, but how far above the exact fullfiling of form of the scribes and pharisees do we go? Does the motive of our heart make us sympathetic? The quantity of the scribes and pharisees superficiality was abundant. But the quality was insufficient. In the sight of God sincerity is a great virtue. Genuineness is the quality that God desires, for out of the abundance of the heart he speaketh". He compared intemperance and inward impurity. He mentioned the fact of being asked to speak about "clean living" and said that there were few harder subjects to approach in a talk. He gave us something to think about when he told us that he believed of the two betsetting sins, intemperance and personal impurity, the latter was the most deadly because of its subtle way of taking root in our mind for a time and later coming out in our actions. He said "The reins of your understanding are in the hands of your will".

The boys showed their appreciation of this talk by their large attendance and close attention.

If it be true that love is blind,
And lovers cannot see;
Then why don't some sweet girl,
Just fall in love with me?

and ghosts were very much in evidence. Shivers are still creeping up shook hands with the ghost that and down the backs of those who met them at the door.

The fun began when the last of the seventy-five Freshmen arrived with Dr. Stevenson. Cornstalks, pumpkins, all the many-colored leaves of autumn, decorated lights, college pennantt and pillows, with streamers of purple and gold, our class colors, transformed the room into an enchanted place, where we were divided into five groups: the pumpkins, goblins, brooms, cats and witches. Yells were then composed for the respective groups. The events of the evening were in the form of a track meet and each team elected representatives for each event. The first event was, "bobbing for apples", the second was, "finding treasure in a plate of flour", the third was, "Elopement", and the last event was "a peanut hunt". Rooting was intense on "all sides and the meet was finally won by the goblins.

All further thoughts of games wer dispelled when sliding doors were thrown open and refreshments revealed. The lights were turned off after three courses of refreshments had been served and chairs were gathered in a large circle and ghost stories were in order, which was followed by fortune telling.

"All good things must end", and so it was with the Freshman party, and one of the bright nights of the class of '21 passed into history, as the gay crowd of Hallowe'en revelers turned towards the hill.

FOURTH PREPS

After many meetings, many mistakes, and much wrangling over excessive dues the fourths decided to have a party on the night when the ghosts and hobgoblins are supposed to be supreme. Many, it seems preferred to follow some of these ghostly pursuits in preference to going to the party, for out of a class of thirty-nine there were only thirteen present to revel in the entertainment and delight which is found only in the home of Mr. James Ellis and his accomplished daughter, "Cricket".

The refreshment committee was also disappointed in attendance for they had expected close to thirty present and made arrangements for that number, which pleased those present all the more for they got that much more to satisfy their Pearson's appetites.

To moralize a little, we would like to see the class more united. Even the president was not at the party. Some say it was because the third one told him she was otherwise enagaged. Let us consider our selves as seniors in high school and unite and be something.

THIRD PREPS

The Third Preparatory Class party was indeed a great occasion. It was held at the home of Miss Margaret Chandler, a member of the class. The house was attractively decorated in true Hallowe'en style. The witches, black cats and Jack-o-Lanterns peering at one from every corner reminded one that this was an occasion dear to the heart of every small boy. The color scheme of orange and white was followed out in the refreshments. Nearly all the guests having arrived at eight-fifteen, the games began. At about ten o'clock refreshments were served in two courses. After this most important feature of the program a social hour was enjoyed until eleven-fifteen, when the guests departed reaching Pearsons and Baldwin halls at eleven-thirty (?). Miss Jewell acted as chaperon.

As usual at such affairs an attempt was made to steal the "eats". In fact, the unknown marauders had almost achieved their goal when they heard some one coming, which told them to beat a hasty retreat. This person, realizing that he had the enemy on the run, hurled a mop after the retreating force. A subdued yell announced that the missile had found a mark. Outside of this one attempt the refreshments remained undisturbed until the time came for them to play their part in the evening's entertainment.

MR. LOFT CONDUCTED FUNERAL OF LITTLE OLDHAM GIRL

"Tommy" Loft was called Saturday afternoon to the home of Frank Oldham, twenty-one miles southwest of Alcoa, to preach at the funeral of Mr. Oldham's little five year old daughter who was burned to death in the home about five o'clock Friday afternoon. The little girl's clothing caught fire while she was standing in front of the fireplace and before help could be administered the burns were so serious that death resulted in a short time. The little girl's brother, Walter Oldham is in the First Preparatory Class here in college.

Mr. Loft held short services at the home Sunday morning at nine o'clock, after which the casket was carried three miles through the rough and rugged mountains to the end of the railroad track. There a log train of flat cars awaited the funeral party and brought it to Alcoa. Services were held at the Alcoa cemetery, where interment was made at two o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Loft became known to the mountain folks in thes ection about Alcoal ast summer, as he spent his vacation there. He is looked upon by those people as a religious leader and is highly esteemed by them for his help in Sunday School and church work last summer.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMAS

The new officers were sworn in last Saturday night; and they promise to be a bunch of fellows whose development in this line is a thing well worth looking into.

The program was of unusual interest; all the parts being given and rendered well. The extemporaneous debate called forth comment from more than merely the scheduled speakers, and some good, clear thinking was put forth. The debate on the question, "Resolved that the German prisoners in the United States should be made to work", was of especial interest in this time of food and coal shortage when all the aid along the lines of conservation are highly valued.

All the men who belong to this literary society are slowly, but surely increasing in literary ability. New students are continually seeing value of such work and are falling in with us. Non-member, fall in line, come and join us, make yourself a better leader of men.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to extend our sincere thanks to all kind friends connected with the College, also to all neighbors and friends in town, who have helped to brighten our deep sorrow by their sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam H. Franklin and family.

At Home
Elkhorn, W. Va.

Both bride and groom are former students of the college and their marriage will be learned of with interest by their many college friends. Mr. Lamon has for some time been connected with the Oliver Hill Construction Co., but is now with another company. Mrs. Lamon since leaving college has been one of the foremost teachers of Blount county as well as having had charge of the canning club work of Blount county for the last few years. Mr. and Mrs. Lamon are making their home for the present at Elkhorn, W. Va. The Echo joins their many friends in wishing them a long and happy married life.

They made fun of me, saying I talked like a goose. I thought they were trying to make a monkey of me, which got my goat; then I lost my head and made a donkey out of myself.

MISS HENRY LED Y. W. C. A.

Subject: "Missions in Our Cities". Special Music By Misses Knapp, Bassett, Simpson and Heard.

Miss Marion Henry led the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening. The subject was "Missions in Our Cities".

The scripture lesson was found in the twenty-first chapter of Matthew. Special music by a quartet, composed of Misses Josephine Knapp, Margaret Bassett, George Simpson, and Mary Heard, was especially good.

Miss Henry then told, in a very interesting way, the story of how a mission on the Eastside in New York works with the Italian children.

Miss Henry's experience in this work this last summer prompted her to urge each girl, if she should have the chance, to work for awhile at least in one of these city missions.

Next Sunday, Nov. 11th, begins "World Fellowship Week". Prayer calendars for that week have been sent to the Y. W. C. A. and its program will be followed in the morning watch.

Sunday there is to be special prayer for the world's committee and its secretaries.

Special prayer for Africa Tuesday America; Wednesday, Asia, Thursday, Australasia; Friday and Saturday, Countries of Europe.

"That all the people of the earth may know that the Lord is God and that there is none else". 1 Kings 8:60.

MISS MOSELEY PRESIDENT THETA EPSILON

Girls Had Meeting Out of Ordinary To Be In Keeping With Hallowe'en.

The Thetas believe in variety, as their programs this year have shown. Saturday evening, the meeting was delightfully different from the usual formality of literary programs. It was more like a Hallowe'en party. The girls brought pillows and sat on the floor, and much of the program was extemporaneous. Cola Turner sang; the new girls were taught the Theta song; "Bobby" Pleasants, Elinor Moseley, Madreth Purdy, and Annie Dorsey told fearful ghost tales while the other girls shivered and clamored for a light; and then Emily Montgomery with her mandolin and Lena Westbrook with the ukelele furnished the accompaniments for Hawaiian songs, until the regular time for adjournment came and went, and the girls reluctantly disbanded. Next week the new girls will furnish the program.

At a business meeting of Theta Epsilon Literary Society Thursday evening the following new officers were elected:

President - - - Eleanor Moseley
Vice-president - Margaret Bassett
Treasurer - - - - Helena Turner
Editor - - - - - Eva Ritchie

NEW MEMBERS OF JUNIOR ATHENIAN CARRY OUT GOOD PROGRAM

In its meeting Saturday evening, the Junior Athenians made the fact quite evident that they have gained some valuable material this year, for the men on the program were, with one, exception, new ones, yet they displayed an aptitude for society work of a quality that is rarely shown even by old members. The first number on the program was a paper on "Table Manners, or Hash Hall Etiquette", which was, to judge by the amount of laughter it brought forth, thoroughly enjoyed. Next came a debate, "Resolved, That President Wilson has too much power", with Harold Denny and Frank Minerick on the affirmative, and Clyde Capps and John Boggs on the negative. This debate was snappy and hard fought from beginning to end, and all four men on it showed a thorough knowledge of the subject.

PERSONAL

The Seniors at U. T. have put the taboo on mustache, but have adopted the derby and cane as the authorized toggery. What about the same here, Deck?

Rev. S. D. Crouch of Frederick, Okla., made a splendid chapel talk Saturday morning telling of the glory of his home state. He emphasized the fact that such anti-draft trouble as has occurred there is of negligible importance compared with the sterling loyalty of the whole great state. He also stated that the Lafollette-like actions of "the blind Senator" (Gore) in Congress did not represent the sentiments of Oklahoma citizens.

College men aiding in the Food Economy Campaign of last week, by canvassing the town in this interest were: F. G. Cooper, Young Hayes, Harrison Webster, Ben Watkins, Bob Taylor, Hamilton, Tom McConnell, George Calahan, C. Y. Latimer, Roy Anderson and three others whose names do not come to mind. These men report many and varied experiences of their rounds in this patriotic service.

Dr. Stevenson says he is the only one who goes to "pains" in getting news for the Echo. His black eye sustained on the Christian Endeavor hike of Monday night is indeed good news but sad information.

According to a Lexington, Ky., newspaper in a three column article Centre College defeated Kentucky State by the score of 3-0 on the former's ground last Saturday. This brilliant victory gives Centre the state championship of Kentucky. Not so bad Maryville did after all.

Henry R. Duncan, '11, a prominent farmer of Blount County made a speech in chapel Friday morning explaining the necessity of food conservation.

Hamilton, a student of four years ago, whose home is near Washington, D. C. visited old friends on the hill Monday and Tuesday. He is now in the Marine Corps at Washington, D. C.

Dr. Wilson delivered the dedicatory address of the Toque Presbyterian church near Vonore Sunday morning.

Miss Gladys Jayne of Knoxville, was the guest of Camile Glenn for the week end.

Carrie Sheddan and Elizabeth Dearing spent a most enjoyable day in Knoxville Monday.

Miss Ruth Newell, '13 of Knoxville visited Laura Putman Monday.

We were all glad to see a popular and talented member of the class of '17 back on the hill for the past week—Miss Lena Pardue.

Genevieve Gibson has completed a sweater for Red Cross. Myra Bogart and Zeora Broklehurst each finished a scarf this week and other girls are busy on scarfs, sweaters and bandages.

Dr. E. L. Ellis is taking up research work in New York and Philadelphia preparatory to entering the surgical department of the U. S. Army. The students regret to lose this cheerful and generous friend and physician who has so long helped them over hard times.

We regret to learn that Miss Caldwell's mother has been very sick for the last few days.

Miss Leah Pougue was added to the list of students this week.

The Food Administration Campaign was greatly aided Wednesday, Thursday and Friday by members of the School of Expression of M. C. Misses Doris Wilson and Esther Covert gave readings Wednesday at Walland and Friendsville, Miss Maude Pardue read Thursday at Louisville. Misses Helen Lewis and Josephine Wicks at Wildwood and Miss Dimple Swift at Pleasant Grove read Friday.

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE TUESDAY NOVEMBER 13, 1917. | NUMBER NINE

TIGERS VICTORS TWICE LAST WEEK

6-0, And Knoxville High Saturday. Star Players Among Tigers.

Although this past week has not seen any varsity game on the hill, students have not been wanting in games, as two have taken place.

The first occurred on Wednesday November 7 between the Tigers and the Maryville East Side High School. The latter took place on Saturday November 10 with the Tigers having as their opponents Knoxville High School.

This game resulted in an overwhelming defeat of K. H. S. to the tune of 44-0. At no time did the visitors threaten except once in the third quarter when a half got free after intercepting a forward pass for a 60 yard run. Only three first downs were recorded for Knoxville. For the Tigers, Kennedy played a star game at half, his end runs and slin tackle plays always netting substantial gains. Sprinkle and Grey, although in the line were frequently called on to carry the ball and never failed to place the pill nearer the enemy's goal. One of the hardest players on the hill is Leyshon who ran the team from his quarterback position in admirable style. Buchanon at full was a power on either offense or defense. All the Tigers played good ball. Holes were always opened for the backs, and the line always held and Knoxville did not make any ne plunges, although their "sixth" string quarterback of the first half thought they could pulverize the Tiger line, but quickly had his idea changed.

From the very start the result was never in doubt, only the size of the score being any conjecture. A large crowd of 200 witnessed the game and encouraged the team.

On the Wednesday previous the Tigers beat the East Side High School 6-0. The only score of the game was made by Grey, at the end of the first quarter. There was a heated argument as to whether it should be allowed or not owing to the argument about players, but the coach finally allowed it to pass. This game was very tight, close and even throughout the four periods.

As a paper we are glad to see these fellows out there, practicing the great national pastime. It is cultivating an interest among the students for football, it is training a larger number of men than just a varsity squad would do, and it is building up a bunch of future M. C. players. We are indeed glad to see the Tigers doing their bit in this war by this method.

Line-up for K. H. S. game:

Drake, L. E.; Erwin, L. T.; Smith, L. G.; Ryburn, C; McCall, R. G.; Sprinkle, R. T.; Grey, R. E.; Leyshon, Q.; Kennedy, L. H.; Buchanon, King, R. H.

Substitutes: Buquo for Smith; Smith for Drake; Drake for Smith.

Scoring: Tigers, Touchdowns, Buchanon 2, Kennedy, Sprinkle, Drake, Grey, King.

Goals after touchdowns: Drake, Grey.

Time of quarters, 12, 10, 12, 10.

Referee, Adams; Umpire, Bryson, Head Linesman, Johnson.

Dr. Wilson made a trip to Bearden, Friday afternoon where he addressed the Annual Meeting of the Young Peoples Association of Union Presbytery at the Erin Presbyterian church, on "A Worthwhile Rule of Life". Several former students, and others who are now or have been connected with the college were on the program.

THE BRIGHTEST, THE BIGGEST, THE BEST THING IN OUR LIVES—OUR FAITH IN JESUS CHRIST

"Christ manifests his love to the humblest of men" was the theme expounded by Dr. Stevenson at the Vesper Service. The lesson was derived from the incident of Jesus revealing himself to the two disciples, as recorder in the 24th chapter of Luke.

He discussed the attitude of mind of these two followers of Christ, who having experienced a bitter loss of their hopes, were sad and had lost all their happiness. And how, though the darkness had spread over their hopes, they still were longing for that in which they had placed and centered their hopes. "When the brightest, the biggest and the best thing in our lives—our faith in Jesus Christ— is lost then our joy and gladness disappears. But as Jesus brought their happiness back by showing them the necessity of his death, so we may regain our happiness by standing face to face with the death of Christ, and by realizing that through his death he has furnished all atonement for our sins".

MEMBER OF JUNIOR CLASS SUFFERS RELAPSE OF APPENDICITIS

Last Sunday week, Thomas Phillip Sheffey, vice-president of the Junior class, and son of Mrs. Ida G. Sheffey who resides on Wilson avenue, was attacked by a relapse of appendicitis from which he has been suffering for the last few weeks. On the same day he was taken to the Lincoln Memorial Hospital at Knoxville where an operation was performed. His condition has been considered very serious but reports now state that he is improving.

This operation is the second for the same trouble, the first having been performed a month previous to the latter. His misfortune is regretted very much by his college friends, for he is a very splendid student both in the classroom and on the campus.

MRS. LOWRY IS IN CHARGE OF HOSPITAL

Mrs. Cora Lowry, of Maryville, mother of Miss Bernice Lowry, '16, has been secured to take charge of the hospital which was left without a nurse when Miss Postlethwaite joned the Red Cross. Mrs. Lowry too charge a week from last Monday. Her long connection with the college will give her a deep personal interest in the work in which she is now engaged. Her daughter is a recent graduate; she herself was a student some years ago, and her husband was on the board of trustees just after the Civil war.

GAME WITH EMORY AND HENRY EXPECTED TO BE A HARD ONE

On next Friday the football team leaves for Emory, Va., where they play Emory and Henry College on Saturday. This is Emory's biggest home game, the one during their home-coming. Although to date they have lost all five games on their schedule they are confident of defeating Maryville. However, this may be, it is an assurred fact that they would rather beat Maryville than any other team and a hard-fought game is sure to take place.

BASKETBALL PRACTICE TO START SOON

The surrounding universities and colleges have all started basketball practice. We are late in this although practice never starts in earnest until after the football season. Prospects for this year's team are bright with three letter men back, besides several new men of experience.

Manager Witherspoon is arranging a fine schedule and assures us a good part of this here. No doubt an early call for practice will be issued and little further time will be lost.

LETTER FROM MISS POSTLETHWAITE

Thanks Students and Faculty For Farewell Demonstration. Getting Along Splendidly at Camp Taylor.

The Highland Echo,
Maryville College,
Maryville, Tenn.

I am writing this letter to The Highland Echo that the students and faculty of Maryville College may know that I appreciate their sympathetic and patriotic spirit so beautifully expressed on the day I left Maryville for Red Cross work.

You succeeded in making me feel exteremely good, and extremely bad on that day. Good, because you made me feel that your interests were with me in this great service. And bad, because of my inadequacy to express to you at that time my appreciation.

The cheers and faces which greeted me on that day have been, and will continue to be, an inspiration to me throughout my entire service to our country.

On Saturday, Nov. 3rd., the beautiful romance of being a Red Cross nurse ceased and speaking in army terms it was "right about face" the stern realities. At 6:30 a. m. of that day I found myself eating breakfast from porcelian ware, with seven other nurses and our chief, an army nurse in the hospital mess hall. This was only a temporary arrangement. Our own dining room is now open. But it gave us a glimpse of a real army mess hall.

I have not seen the two or three M. C. fellows who I understand are here. But when I do see them all of you will probably feel your ears burning.

My job at present is over-seeing three different wards, at night. Most of the cases are measles.

Thanking each of you for your many kindnesses and praying that you will be strengthened for the tasks which may soon be yours in this terrible world conflict, I am,

Yours in the service of our country,

H. Frances Postlethwaite, R. N.

MARYVILLE WILL HELP Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

Request As Presented Here Will be Part of Campaign Among All Colleges and Universities of Country.

The national campaign to raise $35,000,000 for the Y. M. C. A. War Work will be presented here at Wednesday morning's chapel services by Pres. E. P. Chiles, of Cumberland University, Lebanon. A representative of the Y. W. C. A. which is asking the country for $4,000,000 will also be present, and present the claims of that organization for our help. This appeal is being made to all the colleges and universities in the country and the cause is receiving splendid response from the centers of education, although the attendance is only seventy-five per cent of that of last year, taking the country as a whole. It is not known what definite amount has been assigned to this college to raise. As a campaign for the same purpose will be on at the same time in town, all who are connected with the college should make their donations as part of the college fund.

The leadership of the local campaign will probably be placed in the presidents of the classes, each class pledging itself to raise a certain amount.

On account of the very great importance of this work, the college will depart from its usual custom by allowing a request for money contributions to be presented in the chapel. The importance of the Y. M. C. A. in war is superseded only, if at all, by that of the Red Cross. It is sure that the students, as leaders of all good movements, will respond heartily to this opportunity for real service.

PROF. SOUTHWICK CALLED FOR SERVICE

College Has Put in Claim For Extension of Time, But as Yet Has Received No Decision. Hopes For His Return.

Prof. Southwick, Wednesday afternoon received notice from his local exemption board in Cleveland, Ohio, to report there on Monday, Nov. 12th., for military examination. He left Maryville Thursday morning. This is the second call that has come to him, the first one being about a month ago at which time he was granted a furlough of undetermined length.

When Prof. Southwick was first drafted the college made a plea for a furlough to last to the end of the winter term. This claim was made to the President's board at Washington on the grounds that Prof. Southwick's services were engaged in March before the draft was conceived and put into operation, and that his services here would be more valuable to the country than in the army. It was hoped that he might be allowed to finish the fall term at least, and if possible, the winter term. The college received no action on its first plea for furlough to the President's board and has made another plea through the same channel in the hope that Prof. Southwick may return to finish this term's work at least. All claims to furlough have been made by the college alone. Prof. Southwick is perfectly willing to enter the service if the President's board so decides.

Prof. Southwick's position here, because of the nature of it, is difficult to fill. Teaching public speaking, history, economics and political science and coaching debate, he filled a place which will be hard to supply with a new professor if he is taken away permanently.

All his classes will continue to meet under such management as the college is able to furnish on such very brief notice, and the debating teams will be under the supervision of E. K. James, president of the Forensic League, until other provisions are made.

MRS. GILCHRIST PASSES AWAY AT HOME OF HER DAUGHTER ON HIGH ST.

Mrs. Jane Knox Gilchrist, aged 78, mother-in-law of the late Dean Waller, died at the home of her daughter on High Street Tuesday night, Nov. 6. For six years Mrs. Gilchrist had suffered from recurring strokes of paralysis which only recently seemed to be growing serious. She was relieved of all suffering Tuesday night when she quietly passed away. She is survived by her two children, William Knox Gilchrist, Esq., a lawyer of New York City, and Mrs. E. B. Waller of Maryville, with whom she has made her home during the greater part of the last twenty-six years.

Dr. Wilson conducted the funeral services from the home Wednesday afternoon. Interment was in Magnolia cemetery.

"Of a cheerful and sanguine disposition, she always brightened the corner where she was. Kind and patient, poor in spirit and pure in heart, hungering and thirsting after righteousness, her's are the blessings of the beatitudes. Her's is the kingdom of Heaven".

RECITAL VERY ATTRACTIVE

Girls of Department of Expression and Music Display Talent and Training.

In an evenly balanced program of superb entertainment the departments of Music and Expression displayed some remarkable talent before a splendid audience at the M. E. Church Monday night. The program follows:

Piano—Au Rouet - - - Godard
Miss Marguerite Sullinger
Reading—Rebecca's Juroney - - - - - - Kate Douglas Wiggin
Miss Josephine Wicks
Monologue—Another Point of View - - - - - - - - - Fiske
Miss Doris Wilson
Piano—To You - Ottilie M. Reupke
Miss Elizabeth Jones
Reading—The Slackers - - Wolff
Miss Maude Pardue
Preludium - - - - - McDowell
Miss Edith Caldwell
Reading—Too Late for The Train - - - - - - Anonymous
Miss Helen Lewis
Reading—Miss Civilization - - - - - - Richard Harding Davis
Miss Esther Covert
Piano—Valse No. 1, Op. 34 Chopin
Miss Mary Hartman
Reading—The Cooky Jar - - - - - - - - Eugene Field
Miss Alberta Frow
Piano—Nourah - - - - -
Miss Margaret Bassett

The program as given here does not include all the numbers actually presented, for the young ladies were encored—some of them for the third number which they were unfortunately unprepared to give. Miss Covert easily starred when she just "pulled the house down" with a humorous selection of the rarest quality to be found. The high grade of the offerings of all the representatives of the two departments was of such high quality as to reflect much credit to the performers, to their directors, and to the college.

MISS PRENTIS IN "BROKEN SWORDS" ABLY CONDUCTED Y. W.

Misses Moseley, Witherspoon Jones, Lippert, and Hayes Also Take Leading Parts. Miss Creswell Next Sunday.

The subject, so ably presented Sunday evening at Y. W. C. A. by Miss Lillian Prentis, was "Broken Swords". Miss Prentis used the figure of a broken sword to show how much we might accomplish, even with the talents that are broken, or not so strong as those of someone else.

Miss Celeste Moseley in following this thought told of a beautiful statue that had been made from just scraps of material so to speak, and showed how our lives though seemingly very insignificant if fitted in rightly would help to make something beautiful.

Miss Mamie Witherspoon brought this message "If you don't have the opportunity to do definite service, make the best use possible of your personal influence". She closed with a very expressive clipping which emphasized the thought.

Miss Anna Jones very beautifully told the story of "The Jester's Sword", a story from "The Little Colonel" books.

Miss Nellie Lippert presented the Life of Miss Helen Kellar as an example of what could be done with great handicaps.

In the open meeting, several very beautiful and helpful thoughts were added on the inexhaustible subject.

Special music was furnished in a piano solo by Miss Hattie Hayes, which was very good indeed.

Miss Jessie Creswell leads the meeting next Sunday on the subject: "The Social Standards of Christ".

EDITORIAL

Football interest, which for the last week or so has seemed to be lagging, is expected to put itself forward with the approach of the Maryville College and Emory and Henry game to be played on the latter's field next Saturday. It is true that our coming opponents' record so far this season has been fraught with adversity, but they are sure to put forth one supreme effort to wrest the college championship of East Tennessee and Southwest Virginia from us, their old rivals. The student body here is behind our team with all its force of sentiment; and it is sure our boys will bring back the Orange and Garnet unsoiled by the enemy.

McGRATH LED SUNDAY Y

The last Sunday meeting of the boys was lead by a member. H. D. McGrath was the leader and he took as his subject "Living Examples". It is a subject that is of interest and importance in the lives of everybody. One of the questions he asked was, "Do we practice what we preach?" His purpose of asking this question was to emphasize the fact that we often advocate some things publicly because only of the social desire to be in good standing with our associates, and not because we feel deep down in our heart that we really desire to do them. Under such circumstances we would not be practicing in our heart what we wish others to know us by. He further placed emphasis upon the importance of living a life of purity that would afford a worthy example to others. He reminded us that we may die, but our works live after us. He said, "We all follow, more or less, the example of someone. In the pursuit of some example we must be able to pick out that which is good, and leave the bad alone". As an illustration, in physical development, he said that one may admire a large, well developed man and follow in his footsteps. If that man should happen to become diseased, it is no reason why we should do likewise. Mr. McGrath's talk was brief and easily understood.

The meeting was then thrown open and two short, good talks were made upon the subject. One of the talks was made by E. E. Loft, and the other was made by Rev. Mr. Everett.

Let all of the boys be present at the Chapel Thursday evening for the prayer meeting service. There are to be four strong speakers to represent the Y and all the members are to form the choir for the evening.

ADAMS AND WILLIAMS OPPOSE EACH OTHER IN "PERFIDIOUS" STRUGGLE

Hear The "College Program" On Next Saturday Evening. Prof. Proffitt to Speak.

One of the best programs thus far given this year in the Alpha Sigma Hall,—and this is saying a great deal—was enjoyed by a large crowd on last Saturday evening. Not only was this program a rare treat for the serious-minded and the studious but also for the lovers of music and the envoys of wit and humor. The program was given in full, and without exception the participants were wonderfully well prepared to charm and to entertain, as well as to instruct.

The sweet tones from Mr. House's flute furnished a unique pleasure and their echo will cease only when he plays again. Mr. Watkins gave an excellent and comprehensive survey of "Why Switzerland sent a Commission to this Country". There was no doubt in the minds of the hearers that Major Meade Johnson is a military man and keeps up with the military maneuvers of the day, after he had finished his address on "England's Great Achievement at Ypres". Then the fun started over this question, "Resolved, that more interest is to be found in the pursuit of an object than in the attainment of it". Bob Adams for the affirmative kept his hearers in an uproar, but between laughs managed to establish a clear cut debate. Deck Williams for the negative promptly accused his opponent of "perfidity and the fun was on! It is impossible to adequately describe this debate, but it would be well for every reader of this paper to either be on hand or to send a representative to the society hall on each Saturday evening for fear something of this kind should again take place.

The special men for the open discussion were Loft, Miller, McCurry, Lippert and Webster, and each either added or subtracted a good thought.

There is special reason why every member should be present on next Saturday evening. Prof. Proffitt is to be there and give an address on a subject of intense interest and vital importance to every College man. Let's be there!

The following men joined the ranks at the last meeting: Cotton, Beck and H. Lloyd. Who will be next.

MISSES PARK AND COLLINS STAR IN GOOD THETA MEETING

Two hundred Thetas and loyal friends of Theta (and Theta has some distinguished friends we would have you know) met in Theta Hall Saturday night to be entertained by the new girls. Miss Carmen Park, who acted as chairman of the new Thetas in this work, cannot be too highly commended for her efficient leadership; to her more than to anyone else credit is due for the evening's success. After a short patriotic program which included songs by Miriam Jane Bartlett and Lucile Oliver, a piano solo by Dimple Swift, and a reading by Sue Nuchols, a very clever parody on "Hamlet Prince of Denmark" was presented. The caste was large and the costumes elaborate. Every one who took part deserves praise, but very special mention must be made of Miss Margaret Collins who won the greatest applause of the evening with her excellent interpretation of the Melancholy Dane. The new Theta girls have certainly shown us their talent and we have visions of a Midwinter which shall be the very best yet.

The sad news of the death of the mother of Lenore Stark, '19 was received by friends here last week. Our deep sympathy goes out to the bereaved family and friends.

Winston and Ruth Newton went to Knoxville Saturday to meet their father and mother. Mrs. Newton is on her way to Florida for the winter. Miss Teressa Newton returned with her sisters for a week-end visit at the college.

NEW ATHENIANS DRAKE, WATT, SIZER AND BELT MAKE GOOD FIRST APPEARANCE

Hayes and Holmes Put on Rare Stuff for Entertainment of All Present.

The college section of the Athenian rendered a program Saturday evening, which was full of life and interest. C. W. Dilworth turned prophet, and in his cleverly worked out "Future History of Maryville College" many of his hearers found themselves in the lime light.

The debate, "Resolved, that the neutral nations should be compelled to pay a share of the war expense of the Entente" was handled by Drake, Watt, Sizer and Belt. Though all but one were new at the job all showed excellent promise of making future debaters.

A humorous debate on, "Resolved, that it's better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all" was pulled off by Hayes and Holmes. These fellows, aided by their wealth of personal experiences and their logical powers went into all the deep and abstract intricacies of this momentous question. The judges would not assume the fearful responsibility of a decision. An open discussion was called for, which brought out some very touching, but none the less illuminating experiences for the general edification.

It was the happy lot of the society to receive several more new members, representing a big addition in literary society material.

This week's program includes a five-minute's review of current events, by Huff, a debate on an up-to-the-minute question by Harold Smith and D. Beard, an "Athenian" by Hurst Paul, and another of those fetching musical numbers by Luther Tramell.

On Saturday evening the prep section of this society rendered another of its very successful programs. This section is in a most gratifyingly prosperous condition.

JUST WATCH THE EQUAL SUFFRAGE PEOPLE

Friday night at 9:30 The Equal Suffrage League met in Pearsons parlor and until the lights flashed knitting needles clicked and bandages were whipped with tireless rapidity. Besides sewing the purpose of the meeting was to explain the meaning and purpose of the League to the prospective members who were present in large numbers.

Miss Creswell, Miss Henry, Miss Bogart and Miss Pardue gave short histories of the organization, the work that has been done by the Club and outlined the plans for work this year. Miss Townsend, the secretary, read parts of the constitution for the benefit of the new girls, and Miss Eleanor Moseley, the president gave an invitation to the new girls to join the Club.

Before leaving many new members signed their names as desiring to join attesting the constantly growing popularity of the Club.

THE BUCKEYE CLUB

Students from Ohio met one day last week and organized the Buckeye Club. Officers elected were:

President, Mabel D. Rice; Vice-President, Nelly E. Lippert; Secretary and Treasurer, Louis Harmon; Editor, James Martin.

Members of this, one of the leading clubs of the college are; Edith Brothers, H. H. Ferntheil, Louis E. Harmon, Stanley Lange, Nelly Lippert, W. K. Lippert, Grace Ludman, William Ludman, James Martin, Emily Montgomery, Esther Montgomery, Ralph Agan, Mabel D. Rice, Edgar Stearns, Gail Wilson, Harry Wagner, Dean J. C. Barnes, Miss Hale and Miss Staater.

All the members of this club, with the possible exception of Harry Wagner, feel slightly chagrined at the results of the prohibition election in their state only last week when out of over 1,000,000 votes the "wets" won by barely more than 1000.

This live club held a party Monday afternoon at which games, eats and moonshine were prevalent.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

The first number on the program for November tenth, was a poem by Mason Mann. The character of this poem was somewhat of a variety from the general trend of the last few weeks, in that line. The two numbers which made the program so very interesting were the debate and the "Alpha Sigma Advance". The debate, "Resolved, That the beauty of nature is more wonderful than the art of man", was carried on by I. R. Huffaker, J. C. Hunter, H. D. McGrath and H. Fowler. It was one of the warmest and best given debates we have had this year. The judges voted in favor of the negative, two to one. The "Alpha Sigma Advance" was given for the first time this year. Mr. Latimer afforded us an opportunity to hear much campus talk and serious poetry. Mr. Ratcliff told us in a few words of the Current Events of the week.

The society was the best attended this year; almost every member was present. So far so good, but we can do better. Let every member ask an outsider at least to come and visit the society. A visitor means a member.

PROF. BASSETT ENTERTAINED "MYTHS"

Last Tuesday evening, Prof. Bassett entertained a very interesting crowd at his home. The guests left the two girls' halls as students of the Mythology class, but arrived at Prof. Bassett's an enterprising bunch of moonshiners. After an instructive lecture by the Professor in which many pictures of Roman statuary and architecture were shown, the evening was given over to games, ice cream and cake.

The Professor is an excellent entertainer, and it is a source of regret that other professors have not the facilities for accommodating their classes in such an amiable way.

JOKES

Prof. Gillingham announced to his classes that he would preach on "The Demoniac Boy" next Sunday.

Miss McCampbell at dining table: "I hear that Rev. Everett of Peekskill, N. Y. will preach on Sunday".

Kiger: "Then we wont hear "The Demoniac Boy" on Sunday.

Miss F., who is not in Prof. Gillingham's class: "Is that what they call Prof. Gillingham?"

McGrath was relating to a group of interested students the work at the mission. He told of a little girl who came to "Andy" and asked, "Is there going to be any preaching tonight?"

Andy, "Yes".

Little girl: "That man who was here last week didn't preach, he just gave us a nice talk".

McGrath: "It happened I was the man!"

Smith: "On which finger does a girl wear an engagement ring?"

Beck: "The third finger of her left hand".

Smith: "Are you sure?"

Beck: "Yes, I always play hands with a girl the second time I go with her and I've found several.

PERSONAL OPINION

Logan: "I love the women as much as anybody, but I don't believe in letting everybody know it".

Deck: "It's alright for some fellows to hug some girls".

Cox: "I think we should have compulsory moonshine here at Maryville".

McGrath: "I believe in solidification".

Richards: "I believe in close communion.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

At the meeting of the Ministerial Association Tuesday evening, Nov. 6th., a most interesting report of the work at Battle Branch was given by "Andy" Richards. In the business session the by-laws were amended to suit our present conditions as to a quorum. The committee on the annual banquet reported the arrangements almost completed and this event will take place in the near future. Dr. Stevenson concluded with a short talk on the difficulties of a minister's life. During his remarks, he quoted these lines from Emerson, "A man's actions may speak so loud that we may be unable to hear what he says". He then emphasised the fact of a ministerial student's actions on the hill and how we ought to walk and act worthy of our great calling; or our words will become as a nuisance among our fellowmen if our actions are not worthy of them.

1899.

A copy of The Cumberland Rambler, the college paper of the Arkansas Cumberland College, has come to our attention. It contains several articles about the coming of Dr. H. S. Lyle as President. Dr. Lyle is starting out vigorously in his new work. He has inaugurated a campaign for funds to the amount of $300,000. Two-thirds of this is to be applied to Permanent Endowment and one-third to current expenses. Dr. Lyle and his family have received a cordial reception in Clarksville and are enjoying the new work very much.

1901.

Rev. T. W. Maguire is pastor of a Presbyterian church in Geelong, Victoria, Australia. He began work there about two years ago and a letter from him dated last summer encloses reports and programs that show the importance of the work and his success in it. Before going to Geelong, Mr. Maguire was at Adelaide taking thep lace of the pastor there who had gone to the front as chaplain. Mr. Maguire states that American I. W. W. leaders had been fomenting trouble in Australia but that the recent Federal elections had resulted in their utter rout.

1912.

Orton Duggan and Blaine Duggan are both of them still located at Detroit where Blaine is in business and Orton is Assistant Pastor of the Jefferson Avenue Presbyterian church. A daughter arrived at each home last summer.

1913.

Prof. V. F. Goddard is again this year Superintendent of the Crosby High School at Crosby, oNrth Dakota. A copy of the First Annual Report of this school for the year 1916-1917 is before us. The school has an enrollment of 337. The report shows that Prof. Goddard is using up-to-date methods in his work. Medical inspection, warm noon-day lunches, and standard tests have been introduced.

1917.

Miss Muriel Mitchell is teaching in the High School at Utica, Kansas.

MILITARY COMPANIES PERMANENTLY ORGANIZED

Last Saturday morning Major M. M. Johnson perfected in so far as possible for the present the permanent organization of the military battalion which was organized near the beginning of the term. The time that has elapsed since the tentative organization has given the Major time to consider all available material for the positions to be filled both for commissioned and non-commissioned officers. The battalion at present has the following commissioned officers: Adjutant, Capt. Roy R. Anderson; Fred C. Lewis, captain commanding Company A; Joel S. Georges, captain commanding Company B; Hillary Park, first lieutenant of Company A; Harold Leyshon, first lieutenant of Company B; all second lieutenancies are as yet vacant. Non-cimmissioned officers are: Alfred Campbell, sergeant major, acting top sergeant of Company A; Captain C. Sprinkle, acting top sergeant of Company B. All sergeancies are vacant. Corporals for Company A are Doughty, Gray, Calahan, Howell and Haris. Corporals for Company B are Music, Rice, Adams, and Wilson. Battalion musician is W. K. Lippert.

Prof. Davis: "So if your name ends with 'son' you may be fairly certain that you are decended from the Norsemen, for it was their custom to call a man's son by his father's name, adding the word 'son'".

Miss Simpson: "Oh, that explains how I got my name! One of my ancestors must have been Simp's son!"

We are glad someone has successfully diagnosed the case of the fountain. The cure seems sure.

SHORT PARAGRAPHS

Roy Anderson spent the week-end at his home in Loudon.

Every one is glad to see Mabel Rice back on the hill.

Charles Edgemon visited homefolks in Englewood Sunday.

"Tommy" Loft has been called to the pastorate of Unitia church in Knox county.

Don't doubt me but Mary Heard is one of the most patriotic girls on the hill!

Ray Quinn was on the hill for the week-end, the guest of Miss Velma Wiley.

Mr. Kenneth Thomas from Albany, Ala., visited Miss Mabel Hartwig this week-end.

Rev. Mr. Cotton of Erwin, Tenn., father of Jarvis Cotton, a student, led chapel Wednesday morning.

We are all glad to have our efficient Home Economics Instructor Miss Ryland, back at college.

Montgomery May, Jr., a town student who has been confined to his home for the last two weeks with typhoid is improving.

Dr. W. B. Witherspoon of Kissimmee, Florida stopped by for a few days' visit at Maryville on his way home from attending Synod at Athens, Ala.

Dr. Witherspoon of Kissimme, Fla., conducted Tuesday morning's chapel exercises and made a splendid talk.

E. S. Campbell, known on the hill as "Eddie", one of our number who answered the call to the colors last spring, visited old friends here Friday and Saturday. Eddie is now at Camp Sevier, making a good soldier and liking the service fine.

The editors of the next Chilhowean are urging state clubs and other organizations to get lined up for representation in the Annual and several clubs have responded promptly. Other clubs should be in order. Which will be next?

Keith Postlethwaite, '16 was on the hill a few days last week. He left Monday for New Orleans to enter the Navy and after a few weeks there will go to Annapolis Naval Academy.

Several of the students attended the lecture on "Kaiserism Unmasked" by Rev. Roy E. Vale, pastor of the Second Presbyterian church at Knoxville, Sunday afternoon at New Providence church. The lecture proved very interesting, especially to those who are close students of the events of the war.

Genevieve Gibson and Valle Higginbothan spent Monday in Knoxville. That is—last time we saw them they were well started in that direction, but so was the train.

Mr. and Mrs. Decker and Lawrence were the week-end guests of Winifred Decker.

Dr. Wilson and Dr. Stevenson conducted the funeral services of Mrs. M. G. Wright at the home on West Main Street, Friday morning. Mrs. Wrights' daughter, Carrie Maude, wife of Dr. R. W. Wells received her education here. Interment was made in Magnolia cemetery.

Rev. and Mrs. B. J. Everett and Mr. and Mrs. Thompkins of Peekskill, N. Y. were entertained at the home of Dr. Wilson and Dr. Stevenson for the week end. Mr. and Mrs. Thompkins are on their way to Florida, and Rev. and Mrs. Everett after a short visit to Miss Allene Chase will return to New York by way of Montreat, N. C., visiting the mission school at that place.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 20, 1917. | NUMBER TEN

HIGHLANDERS DEFEAT EMORY & HENRY IN GAME OF STRONG OFFENSE AND LONG RUNS

Lemon and Blue Goes Down By Score of 26-0. Virginians Put Up Game Fight Which Gained Strength As Game Progressed. Boys Rush Inmates of Sullins. Big Parade Monday Night. Tusculum Next, on Thanksgiving.

In the hardest fought game of the season that has been seen on Emory field this year, the Emory and Henry eleven went down in defeat before the strong Maryville aggregation. From the blow of the whistle till the end of the game the contest was a thriller, except for occasional fumbles of which both sides were guilty. The game was further marred by frequent squabbing over the rules.

After the first few minutes it was evident that the Tennesseans were the stronger. Their attack proved too much for the Lemon and Blue for our first two touchdowns were scored within 4 minutes after the referee's whistle had started play.

Only twice during the entire game was the home team within striking distance of the Maryville goal, losing the ball in both instances in frequent attempts to complete forward passes.

The Maryville eleven, on the other hand, used the aerial route most effectively and almost at will.

The shift right and shift left plays were used continually and also our half-back play when he receives the pass.

The star of the game was undoubtedly Hurst whose end runs and his receiving of numerous passes kept him continually in the lime light. McNutt had the best day of his career. As usual Clemens played his stellar game and Bryson did the same. Our whole team played good ball. The only injury is a broken nose-bridge on James. The team shows remarkable improvement since the Centre game and we are all proud of them. On for Tusculum!

Maryville has good looking girls! Aye! Handsome! But Sullins College also has those critters. Some of our football men on a short acquaintance left their hearts in Bristol. Ask McLoughlin, Briggs and McNutt. Poor Jimmie James beause of a "facial impediment" resigned himself nobly to his fate and missed "moonshining" to listen to the canary at the Hotel Bristol.

Isn't it funyy, oh so funny, how a few little girls affect fellows. Some of them evinced a love for mustaches and lo and behold here comes Bryson, Briggs and Johnson with some fuzz on their lips. We wonder how soon they will go back.

Wagner made a tremendous hit with the matron of Sullins. Bring on Miss Molly. McNutt has lots to learn yet about a telephone, Lloyd soared forth into heights of oratory before the two literary societies, Sheeney had his girl stolen from him by an uglier (?) man than him. Mede still longs for his fifth pie, Scholes and Jellicorse still dream of more chicken (sandwiches?), while Coach wants to have some soup and someone to show him how to turn off the lights.

Summary

Emory won the toss and received but failed to make first down, although they brought it back to the middle of the field. Then Clemens, the fleet-footed Maryville quarterback, supported by a wonderful interference ran fifty yards for the first touchdown of the game. He also kicked goal.

Again Emory received the kick-off only to lose the ball on downs and again the visitors skirted right end; Hurst making a spectacular run of 45 yards for a touchdown. Clemens failed to kick goal.

After the next kick Emory settled down and for awhile our team was held to a standstill. By forward passes and by the recovery of a punt they placed the ball in the middle of the field. The quarter ended with the ball on our 45-yard line.

For the next two quarters the Emory bunch fought like demons and despite the fact that Maryville was several times within scoring distance they failed at repeated attempts at forward passes. One long pass from French to Hughes almost resulted in a touchdown, and the third quarter ended with the ball in Emory's possession on our 40 yard line.

In the fourth quarter we added two more touchdowns to our list, one by Hurst who made a brilliant run after catching a pass, and the last by Happy Lloyd who ran 40 yards after intercepting another pass.

Emory also pulled off some great stunts during this period. They got off with two forward passes, one peachy of 40 yards from French to Hughes. These placed the ball on our 10-yard line when the whistle ended the game.

In the second quarter Scruggs was put out of the game after a heated argument lasting ten minutes for tripping.

Jackson, the diminuitive quarterback, was injured two weeks ago most seriously but still had the gameness to play until the fourth quarter when he was taken out.

Emory should be commended for their gameness and spirit displayed at all times. After our first two scores the game was even till the final period. They gained just as much ground as we did during the second and third quarters. French played the best game for the home team. Scruggs also played a fine game.

Maryville Line-up.

GARRISON HEADS I. P. A.

A call meeting of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association was held last Thursday evening in Theta Hall for the purpose of reorganization. As the former president, Frank Cody is in the service of Uncle Sam, Gail Wilson, last year's vice-president presided.

The following officers for the year were elected: Reid Garrison, President; Grace Bailey, Vice-President; Maude Hite, Secretary and Treasurer; J. H. Truner, Program Secretary and Bob Taylor, Editor.

For the past two years the Maryville College I. P. A. has furnished the state representative in the All-Southern Intercollegiate Prohibition Oratorical Contest,—Miss George Simpson, last year, and Pat Quinn the year before. This year the same contests will be held again. It is hoped that the orators of the hill will ally themselves with the I. P. A. and will enter the local contest with the determination of winning a third successive victory for Maryville.

Beginning Nov. 26, the I. P. A. will meet regularly every other Monday evening. Interesting programs will be rendered, in which will be discussed questions concerning the prohibition movement. Visitors will be welcome at all of these meetings. All students interested in the prohibition cause are urged to join the I. P. A. Let's make this one of the strong organizations on the hill.

THE GREAT LAURANT FRIDAY NIGHT

Second Number of Lyceum Promises to be Good Entertainment of Something Out of The Ordinary.

At a meeting in New York, attended by 300 magicians, Eugene Laurant was decorated with a beautiful gold medal and later at a meeting of Chicago magicians he received another gold medal. This illustrates the high standing of the great Laurant among those of his profession as well as the public. He has also appeared on several occasions before socfeties of scientific research.

Each year Laurant changes his program, introducing big new features, both tricks and illusions. This season he is to have three assistants. One of these will be Miss Helen Barnard, a cornetist of great skill.

A beautiful musical opening has been arranged wherein Miss Barnard will take the part of trumpeter. She will also brighten up the intermissions with her musical monologues.

EUGENE LAURANT AND COMPANY

Mr. Laurant will also have his own pianist; also a stage assistant to handle his many properties.

The production of the coming season will be equipped in the usual lavish manner that has characterized all his entertainments, the stage settings surpassing in beauty all previous efforts.

For more than seventeen years the Great Laurant has been a Chautauqua and Lyceum headliner. For more than ten years he has appeared under Redpath management, a fact which speaks for itself.

During the years which he has devoted to the Lyceum platform many offers from vaudeville and theatrical managers have been turned aside by Mr. Laurant because he believed in the Lyceum as a greater field in which to present his work.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE SUBSCRIBES $2,253 TO Y. M. C. A. WAR FUND

Most Remarkable Demonstration of Altruism Ever Shown Here. Nearly Every Student Subscribed. Good Work of Committees. "An Expression of True Patriotism", Says Dr. Wilson.

One of the most remarkable demonstrations of altruism ever shown by Maryville College was exhibited last Wednesday morning when the faculty and student body of this institution subscribed the remarkably large sum of $2253.00 to the Y. M. C. A. War Fund. In this act of positive, constructive endeavor Maryville has proved as never before that she backs up to the letter every bit of the Maryville Spirit which embraces these four elements: 1. A breadth of human interest that is remarkable. 2 Thorough scholarship. 3. Manly religion. 4. Unselfish Service.

The cause of the Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A., (for they are working for the same purpose) was presented by President Edward P. Childs, of Cumberland University, who is giving his services to this campaign in Tennessee, State Student Secretary C. A. Wlliams and Miss Hege, who is resident secretary of the Ward-Belmont Y. W. C. A. of Nashville. In splendid addresses these three speakers impressed upon our minds the indispensable service the organizations of the Y. M. and Y. W. C. A. are rendering "our boys" in the cantonments throughout the United States and on foreign soil. We say "impressed" because we already knew of this great work for we as students of these things are continually reminded of the good work these organizations are doing.

SUBSCRIPTIONS BOTH GREAT AND SMALL

The familiarity of the students with this work was shown after the cards were distributed and signed A total of 513 subscriptions ranged in size from fifty cents to fifty dollars. Five hundred and seven subscriptions from a student body of 650 students and faculty is a fact of record to which we shall long point with pride. Amounts were subscribed as follows: 3-$50.00; 1-$40.; 7-$25; 5-$20.; 60-$15.; 40-$10; 143-$5.; 46-$3.; 110-$2.; 106-$1.00. Many other smaller subscriptions were made representing, no doubt, as great a sacrifice on the part of the giver as the larger ones made.

HALF-HOLIDAY—COMMITTEES WORK

The first contribution to the cause was made by Dr. Wilson when he announced that we should celebrate the event with a half holiday. Uproarous applause followed this generous "donation" which was in turn followed by fifteen rahs for each of the speakers, "Howee-how", and for "our boys" in the training camps.

Committees had been previously listed to take care of the cards after they had been signed by the students in their rooms or on the campus. Great credit is due these committees for they worked tirelessly and assiduously, and the great success of the local campaign was more fully assured by the remarkable energy. By Friday morning the contributions had paid in to Miss Anna Jones, the local secretary, the sum of $507.00, or almost one-fourth of the total amount subscribed.

STORIES OF SACRIFICE ARE VARIED

A story goes with the donation. When the subscriber turns in his amount to Miss Jones she graciously receives the information as to just how the contributor will sacrifice in order to offset his gift. These stories are as interesting as they are varied. Some have agreed with themselves to frequent the ice-cream parlors less often, others have "cut out" the movies while others will take it out on old clothing, and the like. Since all payments are to be made by Dec. 18, this fact no doubt curtailed the amount that would have been subscribed had the time for payment been longer. But the demonstrated generosity of the students and their unanimity and deliberation in taking hold of the thing will live as long as the college stands.

"It was an expression of true patriotism, that kind of patriotism that endures", said Dr. Wilson, who is very much pleased with the altruistic action of the students in this matter.

"O, GIVE THANKS UNTO THE LORD"

To an unusually large audience at Vesper Service, Dr. Stevenson discussed the principles of gratefulness and of appreciation of good. His text was taken from the one hundredth and seventh psalm: "O, give thanks unto the Lord, for he is good; for His mercy endureth forever. Let the redeemed of the Lord say so". Miss Elizabeth Jones beautifully rendered a very appropriate solo.

The preacher of the evening showed that both in political and civil life we find appropriate statements of gratitude for the service rendered; for it is a proper thing to do honor to those who have bravely defended the principles dear to all of us. Accordingly when we see one who in the battle of life, persistently contends with toil by the virtue of his stedfastness, let us by words of commendation acknowledge his splendid deeds.

"A child that pleases his father", he continued, "deserves words of approval and encouragement from his parents. Hence, reciprocally our Father deserves our fullest appreciation and our praises for His goodness to us. When we feel grateful let us give expression to our feelings. In other words if you love a friend worth loving, let him know that you do love him. If a deed appeals to you, if you feel devotion and affection by all means say so", * * * The blessings and goodness of God are limitless, and His grace from everlasitng to everlasting to His children, then let His redeemed give thanks unto their Lord".

"TAR HEEL" CLUB

Students from North Carolina met last week and elected the following officers: President, David H. Briggs; ice-President, Bobbie Pleasants; Sec.-Treas., Robert Hunt; Editor, Ruth Greenlee.

The membership of this club contains the following well-known names:

EDITORIAL

We are of the opinion that the action of the Alpha Sigma society Saturday night will result in some steps being taken which will tend to cure some of the ills that infest the student body. Whatever effectiveness it may have, there is no doubt that it is a move in the right direction, and if the students will get back of the movement as initiated we may be sure that some good will be done.

Things have come to a place where the students of manly caliber must cooperate with the faculty in putting down all infractions of the rules of the college. It is impossible for the faculty to detect the violater in every instance of misconduct, hence the need of student aid.

DR. WILSON WILL ADDRESS THE ATHENIANS

Another of our live, interesting programs was rendered Saturday evening. Every performer was present and prepared, which spells interest. Trammel and Paul's music was fine. A thoroughly interesting news review was followed by a debate and an "Athenian", the latter two numbers given by new members who showed themselves capable of very excellent work.

A rare privilege is the heritage of the Athenians, and their friends this Saturday evening. We are to hear Dr. Wilson speak on "Oldfashioned Debating". He will give us reminiscences of literary fire-works back in the first decade of literary society activity on the hill, at the time when the literary society was a debating society, exclusively. This is the first of our semi-centennial series of Athenian history addresses. A general invitation is extended to the fellows, whether in or out of either society, to come and enjoy this address. The other numbers on the program are music, by Ralph Smith, and a short debate on a question of great present-day interest by George Howell and E. H. Gibbons. The prep section will meet with us on that evening.

DAWSON, MILLER, LOFT, DEYTON AND HOLMES SPEAK AT THURSDAY EVENING PRAYER MEETING

Representatives of Y. M. C. A. Concentrate on "Concentration."

Mr. Dawson introduced the discussion by saying that just as most of the German successes, so far, had been due to concentration of military forces, so also, in the life of the individual, success is due to concentration of the physical, mental and religious forces.

Further discussion of the subject was taken up by four different members of the Y. M. C. A.

Mr. Miller emphasized the need of concentration. He illustrated his point by showing that the sunlight does not burn the hand until the rays have been concentrated upon one spot by having first passed through a lens. In the same way, steam cannot be made of any service to us until it has been confined. He ended his talk by saying that concentration of thought resulted in force of character and mental power. Men with these acquirements would get results, and win success.

Mr. Loft introduced his remarks by quoting, "One thing I know, whereas I was blind, now I see", His theme was concentrating upon God by throwing in one's lot with Christ. Each has the power to chose whether we shall accept Christ. By living the Christ-like life, one can better understand God.

Mr. Deyton added that to know God and serve Him one must determine whether his own life is in harmony with the Divine plan, and must also know whether he is living in the right relation to his fellowmen, for by serving man, do we serve God. The knowledge of all these things comes from a concentrated study of God's Word as found in the Bible.

Mr. Holmes ended the discussion by saying that a "Jack of all trades is a master of no trade". This age of specialization demands skill and accuracy. All great advances in knowledge are the results of concentrated thought and tireless investigation. It is necessary to do one thing well and let other things fall into the background. One thing we all ought to be doing is to concentrate our energies against the forces of evil and save human souls.

BAINONIAN

The Bainonian program for Saturday evening was unusually attractive. The program secretary, Miss Marion Henry, had appointed Miss Edith Moore chairman of the committee of town girls, by whom the program was rendered.

After the business meeting was over the program was opened with a vocal duet by little Misses Lucile Webster and Lora Hibbert. Miss Webster impersonated a litle boy and was handsomely dressed in a dark suit and gray cap. Miss Hibbert, clad in a blue middy suit, made a charming playmate. Miss Cerena Polk followed with a reading entitled "Sweetbriar Rose". The subject of the debate was "Resolved, That it is better to spend your money for chewing gum than for candy". This proved very interesting and entertaining. Misses Ruby Paul and Catherine Wilkinson upheld the affirmative, while Misses Carrie Wilkinson and Beulah Kittrell represented the negatve. The judges voted unanimously in favor of the affirmative. The hall was thrilled with admiration when Miss Helen Bryan beautifully rendered two solos. Miss Marguerite Sullinger then favored us with a piano solo, evincing remarkable grace and skill in that are. The last number for the evening proved to be a song by the Brown-Gamble quartet. Shout after shout of applause filled the room until they were encored for the fourth selection. After the various reports the meeting adjourned.

The next program will be rendered by the Hospital girls, under the supervision of Miss Aileen Chase. All grls are cordially invited to attend these unusual and interesting meetings.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THE TEAM!

In the issue of the Echo, Oct. 30th., the editor-in-chief stated that there was no doubt that there was something wrong somewhere and that every Maryville student should hope for a better working organization than was in evidence in Centre game, and "that" from the top of the squad to the bottom.

Elsewhere there was a severe criticism of the methods of the coach by the athletic editor. The latter explained the system of play which should have been used. What does he think of Sewanee's coach and his methods? Below you will find an account of the "Crushing Defeat For Sewanee" by the same Centre College which defeated us. We believe that the "assumed" power to criticise the coach or his methods should not be given to one boy or girl. We also believe that the headlines of athletic reports should be composed by athletic editor and censored by the director of athletics. "Big Score Piled up Against Highlanders By Mississippi A. & M." 21-0. This was away from home against a team picked from 900 men. The team tied them last year on the home grounds two days after Mississippi A. & M. had been beaten by Kentucky.

Our record compares favorably with the Maryville teams of other years. With only four of last year's letter men back can the critics expect a perfect machine?

It is easy to boost when things are going well, but we need editors who can boost in spite of—well defects on the home grounds.

Some Members of The Team.

CRUSHING DEFEAT FOR SEWANEE

Center College Outplays Tigers at Every Angle of The Game. Score, 28-0.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Nov. 11—Centre college eleven administered a crushing defeat to Sewanee here today, scoring four touchdowns and as many goals and outplaying the Tennesseans at every angle of the game. The Tigers made only four first downs and the redoubtable Wortham did not make a run for for more than five yards except for one brilliant return of a kick-off to the center of the field. The Kentuckians used lateral passes, forward passes, criss-crosses and every variety of trickery known to the game for substantial gains and it was only on two occasions that the Tigers ever grew dangerous or appeared able to gain.

McMillin, the Somerset graduate, distinguished himself with the prettiest exhibition of open field running seen here this season. Young Penn was almost as good. The Centre forward passes worked beautifully. McMillin tossing the ball to Allen for one touchdown, and for probably six or eight additional long runs. Sewanee's kicks were blocked twice.

The Centre line charged through so fiercely that the Tiger line caved back on every play and the interference never formed for Wortham The last blocked kick resulted in the final touchdown, Bell making the score. Sewanee kicked off. Centre at once showed signs of life, but after some pretty runs lost on a fumble. Sewanee couldn't gain. Wortham tried a place kick from thee enter of the field and failed. Centre then marched up field for a touchdown. McMillin and Penn making long runs and Allen grabbing a pass for thirty yards. Mathias finally bucked it over. Sewanee received the ensuing kick-off and after McMillin recovered a fumble, a long forward pass McMillin to Allen, produced the second touchdown.

Sewanee made its lone rush at the opening of the third period. Wortham returned the kick-off fifty yards and the Tigers wriggled to the 15-yard line before they were stopped. Centre then waitzed easily up field, McMillin and Moran making long runs and Allen taking two forward passes. Sewanee held gamely at the goal line but McMillen finally squirmed through a count. Sewanee kept on the defensive and late in the fourth period Hammon's punt from the 10-yard line was blocked and Bell fell on it for a touchdown.

ALPHA SIGMAS PUT BAN ON MISCONDUCT

Favor Reorganization of Carnegie Council and Other Forces of Student Government.

The Alpha Sigma society, as one of the big organizationss of the hill officially arrayed itself against all kinds of unmanly and unwomanly conduct which has been going on here on the hill for some time The acts, in part, to which this society directed most of its attention in this action were those of defacing the bulletin board in Carnegie, tampering with the fire hose, boisterous and untimely noises which disturb the quietude of others, obliterating the campus, defiling the books of the library, marking the walls of the various buildings, and so on to the end of all misconduct that is daily taking place all about us.

COMMITTEE APPOINTED

After the matter was introduced by H. V. House, following Dr. Stevenson's talk, the society saw the advisability ofp utting its moral influence against these practices, and a motion was made and carried that a committee be appointed to confer with Pres. Wilson and such other professors and proctors as are directly concerned with a view to reorganization of the Carnegie council. This society proposes to use its influence to bring about action by the whole student body in this matter, which action shall first consist of a mass meeting to put the matter before the students.

It was brought out that the greater part of the malpractices so far this year have been committed by new students who have failed to become assimilated. The committee appointed to confer with Pres. Wilson and others is composed of J. Morgan Cox and E. E. Loft.

The speech of the evening was to have been made by Treasurer Proffitt, but on account of his inability to be with us, Dr. Stevenson very kindly came to our rescue with another one of his helpful talks in which he told us of several ways in which we could help the college in this time of financial anxiety.

A piano selection by Charles Edgemon was of the variety that calls for more.

J. Morgan Cox ably discussed "What's the matter with the college?" both pro and con.

A parliamentary drill following the program proved to be a most pleasant diversion which was well received and generously partaken of by many, including the members of the Junior section who did us honor by a visit.

THETAS RECEIVE FIFTEEN MEMBERS

Misses Jones and Dawson Furnish Good Music.

Theta Epsilon Literary Society met in regular session Saturday night. The meeting was well attended, and the program well rendered and well received. Elizabeth Jones and Elsie Dawson furnished most excellent music, and we were all sorry that they did not respond to the hearty encores given them. After the music came the debate: "Resolved, that a glass eye is more valuable than a false tooth. Katherine Guess and Mary Kate Lewis upheld the proposition, while Bobby Pleasants and Eva Ritchie denied it. Judges decided for the affimative.

The special feature which we have come to expect for the wind-up of a Theta program, took a surprising turn. But Thetas are always game, and so we enjoyed three excellent and extemporaneous speeches: Allura Moore on Woman Suffrage, Clara Wattenbarger on Moonshine and Bernice Lowry on Styles.

Fifteen new members were received.

Just before the quiz on nerves and brain, Ham remarks, "When he gets to digging for my brain, he's going to pull a bone!"

PROF. WALKER ADDRESSED JUNIOR ALHPA SIGMAS

The program for the Junior Alpha Sigma for Saturday night was fully up to par. The first number on the program was a reading by Paul Kingins. He gave his reading very well and it was appreciated by all. Owing to the fact two members in the debate could not be present the remaining two, Pearsons and Haney carried on the debate in a very acceptable manner. The question was, "Resolved, that separate peace between Germany and Russia would be disastrous to the entente allies. The affirmative was proclaimed victorious.

We were favored with an address by Professor Walker. He earnestly urged us to always prepare our talks well, for only by doing our best each time would we ever be able to become pleasing and helpful speakers. As we must have knowledge so that we can speak interestingly and to any effect, he urged that we by all means read and read widely, even if it were necessary to drop one of our studies.

Every one has done splendidly in preparing his part of the program. but let us remember that the better we prepare our part each time the better will be our talk the next time.

AN UNTIMELY SOIREE

Lt must have been on one of the dark nights of last week that the untimely sounds of at least two wheelbarrows were heard coming from the neighborhood of Stanley and Indiana avenues. The clanking of the metal tires and the steady tread of the manipulators told in unmistakeable terms of the determination of those who were invading those peaceful solitudes for the purpose of carrying out plans to the execution which nocturnal conditions seemed more favorable. But when it is known that the "nightmen" were none other than the president of a certain college, his industrious son and a Senior who had been afflicted with the treacherous and prohibitive malady, which caused this unheralded soiree, the mystery of it all is increased. Circumstances and decorum prohibit further explanation except to say that the baggage of two noted local venders of harmony is acted upon very forcibly by graviy.

PRE-MEDICS REORGANIZE

On Tuesday evening, Nov. 20, the pre-medical students met and elected the following officers: President, Harold E. Smith; Vice-President, N. A. Podesta; Sec.-Treas. Jarvis Cotton; Editor, C. Y. Latimer. The object of the club is to meet in regular sessions and discuss questions pertaining to the medical profession.

The next meeting will be held in Bartlett Hall on Friday evening, Nov. 23, at 6:15 o'lock. The topic for this meeting will be "cancer". Let every one who expects to make a M. D., come out prepared for discussion.

Mr. Momery Talked On The Y. M. C. A. In Syria. Prof. Bassett Next Sunday.

At the Sunday afternoon meeting Mr. Momery gave a very interesting and instructive talk about the work of the Y. M. C. A. in Syria. Since the work of the "Y" is of so particular interest to the world because of the great work it is doing in the war. The generous subscriptions of the students and Faculty on the hill to the funds now being raised to extend the benefits of the Y. M. C. A. among our soldiers and the armies of Europe show how public sentiment considers the work of the Association to be vital to the needs of the soldier, morally and materially, in that it places the influence of the Christian home life, so far as possible, on the very front where spiritual and material aid are needed most by the soldiers.

Mr. Momery showed us where the work of the "Y" was carried on with much greater difficulty in Syria than in America, where we have a country of religious freedom and Christian sentiment to back it up. He told us that two-thirds of the people in Syria are Mussulmen, and that Christians compose only a part of the remaining third. The country is under Turkish rule. He said, "The Mussulmen will accept the fact that Christ was a prophet, but they will not permit any comparisons to be made between the Christian and Mohammedan religion. Thus it is very hard to make known to them the saving powers and redeeming freedom of Christianity. The fact that the people as a whole cannot read and write is another thing that makes the spread of the gospel very slow and difficult. During the thirty years that my father has been connected with this work only two of them have been converted to Christianity. If a Mussulmen professes Christianity he does so at the peril of his life. The Mohammedans are very careful to keep the Koran out of the hands of the Christians, and they are very careful to keep the knowledge of the superiority of Christianity away from the people. Some missionaries have been murdered by people who are adverse to Christianity and by robbers, for there are many robbers there. My father has been severely persecuted because he was a Christian".

Mr. Momery added further: "The work of the Y. M. C. A. is gradually obtaining a hold upon the people by supplying something that the people hunger for. The people are very desirous of learning, and learning is to be had through the ability to read and write. The Y. M. C. A. organizes classes and furnishes instructors for them. Large numbers of them are now becoming better educated through the Y. M. C. A."

Next Sunday's meeting is to have Prof. Bassett as the leader. We can be assured of a most profitable meeting.

A MIDNIGHT GAME

The football game was over,
An before the parlor grate,
A maiden and a man
Were lingering rather late.

They talked of punts and passes,
Things which are rather tame,
Till cupid put his nose guard on,
And butted in the game.

He lined that couple up;
Then made them toe the mark.
Soon he had them going
With a scrimmage in the dark.

As they sat there silent,
In this new found bliss,
The man thought that the scrimmage
Ought to end up with a kiss.

Thereupon he tried one,
An amatuer affair,
But he lost it on a fumble
And instead, it hit the air.

The next he landed on her ear
And the maid did shyly say,
"You're penalized for holding,
Jim;
Likewise for offside play".

Fiercely he tried another;
This time succeeding fine,
For he made a bully touchdown
On that warm, red, two-yard line.

As they sat there in the silence,
Communing soul to soul,
The parlor door swung open,
And father kicked for goal.

GO TO PRAYER MEETING THURSDAY NIGHT

Next week Miss Hale will have charge of the Thursday evening meeting and she promises something unipue. Her topic being "The Bible's Contribution to Music", she will demonstrate how the hymns were sung in the old Jewish synagogue. She has been training a large choir for this meeting for the past few weeks. All who miss this service will have cause for regret.

LOCAL GAMES

A week ago Monday the Varsity bucked up against the Freshman team and although they won with a score about 50 to nothing the underclassmen put up a fine scrap, making it interesting at all times.

On Thursday the Sophomores went to play Polytechnic on the latter's ground. Poly is one of the best prep schools around here, and it is no discredit that the Sophs were beat 18 to 0. In the last quarter with 4 downs to make 7 yards for a touchdown the team from the hill failed to deliver the goods, and lost on downs. Some pretty passing however was executed with Drake throwing and Brown receiving.

A game between the Tigers and the Sophs was to have been played Saturday but the Sophs got scared out.

The next contest between the Fresh and Sophs will be a thriller. All the pep and enthusiasm that ever was known or ever will be known will be right there. Both teams are practicing hard and the tightest game of the season is bound to take place.

We will have an Artcraft super-picture every Wednesday, which costs us about three times as much as any other picture. Also it is impossible for us to get pennies with which to make change and with increased expenses running at 5 and 10 cents would soon bankrupt us. We could cut the service down and run for 5 and 10 but we are going to give you some real pictures.

We have a good program at both houses this week, but we especially wished to announce our Paramount and Artcraft program.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 27, 1917. | NUMBER ELEVEN

APPALACHIAN LOGGERS CONGRESS

Visit M. C. Friday. New President E. A. Gaskill and Judge Lindsay Make Fine Speeches.

After leaving Knoxville early Friday morning, later visiting the seat of the Babcock Lumber Company in this section at Vose, the members of the Appalachian Loggers Congress arrived at Maryville at nine o'clock to which hour the chapel services had been advanced so that the congress might be present at the regular morning congregation of the students. Being fifty or more in number the membership of this company was made up of some of the most representative men connected with the logging industry in the United States.

In a magnificent address of introduction Dr. Wilson told the students of the close relation of Maryville college to the lumber industry. Especially was this so since it was Dr. Daniel K. Pearsons, one of the greatest lumbermen of the west, that made possible our Pearsons hall. He also expressed our appreciation of the honor bestowed upon us by the visit of such a representative body of men.

Dr. Wilson then introduced those members who were able to find seats on the stage. The newly-elected president of the company, E. A. Gaskill, of Cresmont, Ky., was then presented and he responded with a splendid address on "Cooperation and Unselfish Service". He spoke of the purpose of the organization being to aid the lumbermen in all parts of the country to co-ordinate their efforts toward doing a more efficient service in aiding the government in the prosecution of the war.

Judge Lindsay was the next speaker. He told of his long interest in Maryvill college and the part it played in determining the locating of the Aluminum Plant and the Babcock Lumber company. He said he presented the college as one of the big assets of Maryville at a meeting of the promoters of the Aluminum plant, which meeting was held in Pittsburg when the project was first being considered. His address was full of humor and sound common sense and his pungent remarks were enthusiastically received by the students.

Yells were given so loudly and so cheerfully that the visitors had no hestitation in feeling that the student body were appreciative of the honor of their visit.

Visit Alcoa

As the party left at ten o'clock for a trip to the works of the Aluminum company and the Babcock Lumber company in the regions about Alcoa, it added three recruits to its personnel. These were Dr. Wilson, Dean Barnes and Treasurer Proffitt. Although the snow fell in plenteous quantities all day and much of the travel in the mountains was done on flat cars, the party's unusual interest in the operations in that region led it to visit and inspect all the works at Alcoa, Tapoca, and Cheoah. Members of the congress expresed united admiration for the way in which the developments are taking place in these regions and felt that on account of these great enterprises Maryville college and the town of Maryville will be greatly benefitted. The party returned to Knoxville Saturday night on the same special train, furnished by courtesy of W. P. Hood, superintendent of the K. & A. railroad.

Invitation to students to visit Babcock's

Mr. Babcock, president of the Babcock Lumber company was also on the stage. The students were given an invitation to visit his works in sections. Such a visit should prove a very instructive occasion for the Babcock plant is one of the most modern concerns of its kind in the United States. It is still growing. One fo the latest developments out there is the beginning of the construction of six mlies of concrete platform on which to stack lumber. This gives an indication of what magnitude the plant will ultimately reach.

Will Hamilton, of Columbus, Ohio, an alumnus of Maryville college was with the party.

The spring meeting of this concongress will be held in Cincinnati.

SOUTHERN SECRETARY OF I. P. A. HERE

Secures Members and Arouses Much Interest in Local Organization.

S. W. Grathwell, Southern Secretary of the Intercollegiate Prohibition Association, was present at the Thursday morning chapel services and after leading the chapel worship made a fine talk on the prohibition movement as it is being carried on through the colleges and universities of the south. In a manner of unusual forcefulness he made an appeal to the students here to ally themselves with the I. P. A. in order that they may learn more of the work that is being put forth throughout the country in the nation-wide effort to put down the liquor evil. He asked the question: "How many of you could get up before an audience now and make an intelligent and instructive talk on the liquor problem". The purpose of this interogation was to impress on the minds of the students their comparative ignorance of the prohibition movement, one of the big forces of the day. He congratulated the college on having the winner of the state championship of last year, Miss Simpson.

In the aftrenoon Mr. Grathwell met number of interested students in the chapel and talked over plans and prospects for the coming I. P. A. contests. He said he could have the interstate contest held here if the students desired it. Several of the members of the local organization responded to this offer in brief and interesting talks expressing their hearty approval of the inter-state contest coming here. Miss Simpson, who won the state honors last spring will represent Tennessee.

Throughout the day Thursday a campaign was put on for membership to the I. P. A. and by afternoon upwards of seventy-five members had been secured. It is the plan of the organization to put on some of the livest programs of any organization on the hill. Bi-weekly meetings are held in the Theta hall on Monday evenings. The drive for members has not yet come to a halt and members are joining the ranks of this uplifting force continually. The visit of Mr. Grathwell greatly stimulated membership. It is expected that the local organization will number a hundred members in a short while.

The inter-state contest will be held here about the middle of January. This should be one of the most educational events that has come to Maryville for many a day. All the orations of the previous inter-state contests have been remarkable for their tought and oratorical composition. Since Maryville has the honor of attracting this big event here, the student body will no doubt lend all their enthusiasm to the occasion in support of our local representative.

The local annual contest will be held as usual in the spring. There should be several speakers in this event for to win a prize in one of these contests is no small honor.

INSTINCT, VITALITY, AND FAITH IN GOD SHOULD PRESERVE US FROM EVIL

In a clear, concise, elaborate address at the Vesper Service, Dr. Stevenson pointed out the faithfulness of God in protecting his children from the dangers about them. He showed three ways by which the protection of God is manifested.

First, he called the attention of his audience to the fact that God has planted an instinct in us to warn us of evil. This inner power of discrimination being so useful in animals, ought to be at least a channel through which to escape and avoid evil. Then, by vitality of life, which God gives us, He places in us energy and strength to guard against evil. "By their richness and vitality of His love He keeps us from harm and evil. So long as we are strong spiritually, and strong within, we are safe". And finally, he showed that we are guarded by our Faith in God. It is faith in a loving Father, that lifts us out of our surroundings, and plants our feet on the everlasitng rock. "When the child of God has seen His wonderful love—he strives to do His will, thus getting the full benefit of God's protection from evil".

DR. WILSON REVIEWS BATTALION

Staff Officers Have Organization Perfected as Nearly as Possible. Drill Changed to Afternoon.

Tuesday afternoon the four companies of the local battalion were reviewed by President Wilson and Commandant Gillingham. Judging from a strictly military standpoint some few defects could be found in the execution of some of the movements, but in the time spent in drill this fall the companies have done well in mastering the maneuvers in all their complexities of the schools of the soldier, the squad, the company, and the battalion. Preisdent Wilson made a brief address to the battalion in which he congratulated its members for such willing and efficient action in the execution of this patriotic duty. The Commandant also felicitated the battalion on its efficiency.

The permanent organization of the military battalion is being perfected as rapidly as possible with a view to greater efficiency all the while. The organization and personnel of the officers are as follows:

Staff officers are, Commandant Gillingham, Meade Johnson, Major; Roy R. Anderson, Adjutant; Alfred Campbell, Sergeant Major; Celeste Moseley, Sergeant.

Company A

Fred C. Lewis, Captain; Hillary Park, First Lieutenant; (second lieutenancy vacant); (top sergeancy vacant); L. R. Doughty, First Duty Sergeant; J. A. Grey, Second Duty Sergeant; Corporals, George Callahan, George D. Howell, J. H. Turner, George Harris, S. C. Lange, E. J. Huff.

Company B

Joel S. Georges, Captain; Harold Leyshon, First Lieutenant; (second lieutenancy vacant); C. B. Sprinkle, Top Sergeant; Lincoln Musick, First Duty Sergeant; Robert W. Adams, Second Duty Sergeant; Corporals, Lamar Wilson, C. Y. Latimer, E. M. Sizer, C. W. Simmons, Hary Wagner, Harold Bills.

Company C

Marion Henry, Captain; Beatrice Marshall, First Lieutenant; (second lieutenancy vacant); Winston Newton, Top Sergeant; Amelia Rendon, First Duty Sergeant; Mary Key Dolvin, Second Duty Sergeant; Irrovia Corry, Corporal.

Company D

Elinor Mosely, Captain; Mary Hartman, First Lieutenant; (second lieutenancy vacant); Edith Moore, Top Sergeant; Lona Floyd, First Duty Sergeant; Claudia Bogart, Second Duty Sergeant; Elizabeth Jackson, Corporal.

The time of drill has now been changed to afternoon, the order being effective till some time in the spring. This was thought advisable by the higher command for several reasons. Both girls' and boys' companies will probably use the same afternoons for drill.

SLEIGHT OF HAND AND LEGERDEMAIN

Magician, Illusionist and Entertainer Pleased Large Audience.

That the large audience which attended the second number of the Lyceum Friday night was entertained every minute of the time there is not the slightest doubt. Mr. Laurant, assisted by Miss Barnard, his cornetist and his male pianist filled every minute of the evening with something full of interest and curiosity.

To mention all the stunts and tricks this great magician did would be as difficult as to explain them. But to see Profs. Gillingham and Davis conjure the magic clock to see engagement (?) rings cruelly beaten into a pulp only to be restored whole again to the happy owners, these and numerous other spellbinding features of the hour conspired to make the evning one of high class entertainment. Candles were lighted as if by magic thought and their flames extinguished by nothing more than a word. Silks of indefinite length were produced from almost anything and anywhere. Card tricks of the most astounding variety were done right before the eyes of the audience, and a maze of illusion surrounded them all. How the magician ever did those things will never be known. But every step he made on the platform, from the platform up and down the aisle, every turn of his crafty hand, every gesture, was fraught with illusion and amazement. A continuous series of tricks, sleight of hand and legerdemain, the intricacies of which are sufficient to satisfy the most fastidious, was continually before the audience.

The program was enlivened and enriched materially by the piano and cornet both of which were handled with much skill.

Mr. Laurant did not neglect the little folks in his audidence, but had them come on the stage and help him with his performance. The delight of the little boys and girls furnished incerased interest for themselves and for the audience.

FIRST DEBATE PRELIMINARIES DEC. 3 AND 4.

President of the Forensic League, E. K. James, announces that the date for the first preliminaries has been changed from November 26 and 27 to December 3 and 4. This change has been made in order to give the men who are preparing their speeches the benefit of the Thanksgiving season for more thorough preparation. All the men are burning the midnight oil with such earnestness as to bespeak well for the quality of the compositions under construction. Definite arrangements as to the colleges which will oppose Maryville have not yet been perfected. It is expected this part of the program will be ready for publication within the next week.

The amount subscribed to the Y. M. C. A. war fund by the students continues to climb. The figures to date show a total of $2275.50, representing 518 subscriptions. The sum of $769.40 has been paid in already. A very cerditable showing indeed.

TIGERS WALLOP KNOXVILLE HIGH SCHOOL

Piled Up Score of 18 to 12 Against Strong Prep School. Fast Game Throughout.

The Maryville Tigers, who have been defeated only once this year, sustained their good reputation by beating the Knoxville High eleven last Saturday in Knoxville. The Tiger agregation left Saturday morning on the 11:30 train, arriving in Knoxville at 12:15 p. m.

The game was called at 2:30 p. m. on the Knoxville High gridiron. The ball was kicked by Knoxville to the Tigers' thirtyfive yard line, but was returned by Gray to the fifty-yard line. From here the Tigers pushed the ball over the Knoxville goal line by steady line plunges gaining from three to seven yards on every attempt, but failed to kick goal.

The Tigers kicked off to the Knoxville thirty-yard line and Ash, K. H. S.'s star fullback, returned it for a tuochdown but failed to kick goal. Score M. C. Tigers, 6; K. H. S. 6.

Knoxville kicked off to the Tigers thirty-five yard line and Buchanan returned it fifteen yards. The ball went over on the Knoxville forty-one yard line. The High School then pushed the ball to Tiger's forty-yard line where they were held to the fourth down. The Tigers, by a series of end runs and line plunges pushed the ball over the K. H. S. goal line, but again failed to kick goal. The half ended with the score 12 to 6 in favor of the Tigers.

Second Half

The Tigers began the second half by kicking the ball to the Knoxville thirty-yard line. Perkins received the ball and returned it ten yards. By their long passes and end runs the Knoxville eleven placed the ball on the Tiger's one yard line, then with a series of line plunges placed the ball over the Tiger's goal line but again failed to kick goal and the score stood 12 to 12.

Knoxville kicked to the Tiger's twenty-yard line and King returned it ten yards. The ball was driiven to the High School forty-yard line where it went over. The Tiger's recovered the ball on a fumble on the fifty yard line. There with only four minutes to play they pushed the Knoxville eleven back for a touchdown. The game ended with the score 18 to 12 in favor of the Tigers.

The game was one of the closest and snappiest of the season. Both teams showed the effect of daily practice and training. Although on an average the Tiger team was outweighed ten pounds. Most of the Tiger gains however, were made through the line while the Knoxville eleven showed up best on end runs. Knoxville made five forward passes, two of which were completed. The Tigers attempting only three passes, one of which was completed. Gillespie was often called back for long runs, while Kennedy played a star defensive game also netting good gains for the Tigers on the offensive. King on right half made some good runs around left end and through the line while Buchanon's hobby was line bucks.

Leyshon at quarterback, although he made no long runs, managed the team in splendid style. The line played a fine offensive game while only a few gains were made through them on the defensive. A crowd of about three hundred witnessed the game and much rooting was done.

The line-up is as follows:

Ryder, r. g.; Gillespie, l. g.; Sprinkle, r. t.; Erwin, l. t.; Gray, r. e.; R. Smith, l. e.; Leyshon, q.; E. King, r. h.; Kennedy, l. h.; Buchanon, l. h.

Subs: Caughron for Buquo.

EDITORIAL

Do you ever think of the many things for which you should be thankful? Look about you. On every hand blessings abound. It doesn't take a microscope to find them; they are not that small. It doesn't take field glasses to see them; they are not that far away. It doesn't take a season of brain-racking to think of them; they are not that scarce. They are great, near, and abound at all times.

LIEUT. LOFT KILLED IN ACTION OCTOBER 28

Lieutenant Arthur Loft, of the Western (Canadian) Universities Battalion, brother of "Tommy" Loft, was killed in action while the Canadians were taking the strongly fortified town of Passchendaele, on Sunday, Oct. 28. News of the death of Lieut. Loft reached his brother here through a friend in Canada who got the information from the press reports. The war Office in Ottawa has later officialy notified "Tommy" of the death of his brother.

Official and newspaper reports of the fight around Passchendaele refer to this engagement as one of the fiercest battles of the war, and give the Canadians unstinted praise for their valor and bravery in this most sanguinary attack which attained its objective.

Lieut. Loft was a graduate of the University of Manitoba, of the class of 1913. After his graduation, he visited his old home in Kent County, England. On his return to Canada in the spring of 1914 he was ordained to the ministry and preached in northwestern Canada for one year after which he joined the Canadian forces. Letters from his chaplain and friends in the army tell his brother here that he was an ideal soldier.

Of the five Loft brothers, three are left wearing the uniform of their country. One is in training camp in Canada, another is inspector of munitions in England, and still another is in the British aviation corps flying over the Turkish lines at Salonica. Four of them were under arms till one made the heroic sacrifice. "Tommy" tried to make it a quintet last summer by volunteering with Company B, in which unit there are so many Maryville men, but he was rejected on account of impaired eyesight. He was also rejected on the same grounds in the draft.

In this time of sadness the students here would comfort "Tommy" with their sympathy which is deepened because of the similar sacrifices we all must make before long in our united fight for the Great Cause.

MRS. ALEXANDER VISITS THETAS

That Theta Hall needs more chairs was again demonstrated on Saturday evening, when the chairs belonging to the society were scarcely sufficient to seat all those present The first row was occupied by moonshiners. Knitting bags and Khaki yarn, as everywhere in these days, were in evidence.

The musical part of the program was of the highest excellence that could have been expected, for Bernice Lowry gave the piano selection, and Aletha and Madreth Purdy sang "Kathleen Mavourneen".

The Thetas very much appreciated Mrs. Alexander's presence, and will look forward to her next visit. She spoke to us on John Millington Synge, the Irish dramatist. He was a stranger to most of us, but we feel acquainted now. After outlining his life and characteristics and giving a synopsis of a comedy, Mrs. Alexander read in the beautiful and unique way which we all admire so much, "The Riders to the Sea". The girls enjoyed it very much and popular opinion says it was one of the very best meetings of the year.

COTTON STATE CLUB

Last Tuesday the students from Alabama met and organized. Preliminary arrangements were made for a social and the following officers were elected: President, Rush Hickman; Vice President, Hattie Hayes; Secretary, Gaston Cooper; Treasurer, Mabel Harting.

The club is composed of the following members: Mary Bigelow, Florence Collins, Margaret Collins, Gaston Cooper, Jean Harms, Mabel Harting, Hattie Hayes, Young Hayes, Idella Hemphill, Rush Hickman, Mr. and Mrs. Holmes, J. G. Johnson, John P. Kennedy, Mary Mason, Martha Robinson, Mildred Striplin, Orramantor Striplin, Roy Scholl, Moody Walker, Nanette Walker, Lela Ware, Beatrice and Doris Wilson, and Marie Wilson.

PROF. BASSETT GIVES FINE TALK AT Y. M. C. A.

The boys were particularly favored last Sunday afternoon by the excellent treatment that Prof. Bassett gave to the subject "Ambition". Prof. Bassett got right into the heart of the subject and placed it before the audience in such a forceful and convincing way that it was a direct appeal to all who were present. It was an appeal that challenges the thought of each person and causes his reflection into the real ruling factors that determine the ultimate outcome of life. These ruling factors are the ambitions that we cherish. So, the outcome of education, of life, depends upon the quality of ambition that directs our course.

The gist of his thoughts were expressed in the following: "Our ambition must be worthy. Our ambition must be high. Our ambition must advance. Our ambition must be generous. Our motives must be right. How are we to decide what is right ambition? What talents have I, and how can I best develop them? How may I best use my talents?"

We are always glad to be favored by such talks, Professor, and wish to express our sincere thanks for a talk of such pracitcal value.

Morgan Cox will lead the services next Sunday.

TRIANGLE ART CLUB

The art class met last Wednesday evening, and under the direction of Miss Anna Belle Smith organized the Triangle Art Club for the purpose of studying the lives and methods of some of the master painters.

The following officers were elected: Lois Butler, President; Estella Walker, Vice-President; Beatrice Wilson, Secretary; Frances Hickey, Treasurer.

Committees were appointed for different phases of the work.

Misses Marjorie Loyd, Katherine and Mary Ridgeway and Annette Walker spent Monday in Knoxville.

THANKSGIVING SERVICE FOR Y. W. C. A.

The devotional meeting of the Y. W. C. A. on Sunday evening Nov. 25th, was led by Miss Pardue, subject, "Thanksgiving".

This was an especially interesting meeting. The leader's discussion of the reasons why we should be grateful this year above all years, and the ways by which we may show our appreciation, was very impressive.

She closed her talk with this very appropriate sentence, "Thanksgiving comes only with self-giving".

"America", a thanksgiving chorus, a vocal solo by Miss Ethel Jackson, a vocal duet by the Misses Montgomery, a piano solo by Miss Gibson, added greatly to the interest of the meeting.

On next Sunday Miss Townsend will lead. Subject "Habit; A Tool or a Chain". Every girl cordially invited to be present.

CHALLENGE TO SUFFRAGETTES

In view of the fact that the question of women suffrage has become vital in the State of Tennessee, and that for the safety of our land it is necessary first that if our women agitate the issue, they should do so, not for the sake of fad but from an honest convicition which is the result of an unbiased hearing of both sides and, second; that in the impending elections our men should cust their votes intelligently and dispassionately; therefore, the members of the anti-suffrage element of this college, do herein formally and publicly challenge the woman suffrage club to a joint debate of the question; the details of which debate are to be arranged by concurring committees of the respective clubs.

By Executive Committee.

Miss Buxton's vaccination is acting rather unusual. She can't walk.

ROLL OF HONOR CONTAINS 154 NAMES

Below is the second installment of the Roll of Honor. It contains 51 names of M. C. men who are in military service, and is supplementary to the first installment published in the Echo of Oct. 16, 1917. If the names of other men who are in active service are known they should be turned in to the college office. The roll now contains 154 names. The last 51 are:

Adams, Frank (Infantry)
Barbour, Myron, (Aviation)
Browning, Fletcher W. (Navy)
Butler, Bruce
Cowan, Kenneth B. (Navy)
Dawson, Charles, (Artillery)
Dickson, Reid S. (Y. M. C. A.)

ALPHA SIGMAS AND THETAS TO HAVE JOINT MEETING

Attractive Program to be Rendered on Next Saturday Evening in Theta Hall.

Members of the Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon Literary Societies are to enjoy one of the biggest treats of the year on next Saturday evening when the two socities meet in joint session. The great amount of excellent talent in these societies assures a splendid program, which, in part is as follows:

Welcome Address - Eleanor Moseley
Response - - - - J. H. Turner
Piano Solo - - - Elsie Dawson
Reading - - - - Esther Covert
Quartet, - Cola Turner, Elizabeth Jackson, Robert Adams, J. H. Turner.
Debate: Resolved, that there is more pleasure in the pursuit of an object than in the attainment of it. Affirmative, Bob Adams, Negative, Deck Williams.
Vocal Solo, - - - Elizabeth Jones
Banjo Solo - - - Reid Garrison
"The Girl and the Mouse" - - - - - Valle Higginbothane

George Steelman, ex-'18, dropped in Friday for a few days visit with old friends. He is with Uncle Sam's forces at Camp Wadsworth, Spartanburg, S. C. and has been there since spring.

"Doc" Feeman, after a sojourn in Wisconsin for the last several months in the automobile business, has returned to the old hill for a stay of unknown duration.

DR WILSON ADDRESSED ATHENIANS

The First of a Series of Speeches Having to do With History of Athenian. Good Program Also Carried Out.

The first event in the celebration of our fiftieth anniversary took place in our hall Saturday evening. The feature was an intensely interesting Athenian history address by Dr. Wilson.

In beginning Dr. Wilson referred to his cherished memories of literary society experiences and to the immeasurable value to him of what he gained during his five years in the society. He told of the crude appointments and the simplicity of work when he, on Sept. 5, 1873, first visited the A. L. S., a society of ten members, every one of whom took part in the program. He described his extreme trepidation on the occasion of the first of his 180 society debates, mentioned the heartening encouragement given him by older boys, reproduced his first accidental gesture, told of the first Athenian "Mid-winter", which he helped to arrange and carry out, and vividly pictured other experiences, paying appreciative tribute to many a notable oldtime fellow-Athenian.

In an impressive way the speaker discussed the good features of the oldtime debating and then pointed out the fact that our "newtime" debating may be better and more beneficial to the debaters than the former, because of our better access to material and our greater opportunity to learn outlining, one of the most important essentials. He concluded by urging the employment of the will in overcoming timidity and mannerisms and in keeping at the persistent hard work, which is the price of effective public speaking.

This our first of our series of historic talks proved to be more than a merely interesting address. It inspired the hearers with a high appreciation of the power and value of public speaking, and it may be expected to bear fruit in better literary society work. Other addresses in this series will be by Prof. Ellis, Prof. Bassett and possibly some other former Athenians.

The other numbers on our Saturday evening's program were a closely contested debate by Howell and Minerick and a very excellent trombone solo, with an encore, by Ralph Smith, who is a new member. Mr. Smith was in Knoxville doing his part in the football defeat of Knoxville High, and after the game he took an auto post-haste for the Athenian hall, in order that there should be no break in our program. This kind of devotion to the interests of the A. L. S. is highly appreciated and might well be emulated by some older members.

This week a joint meeting will be held with the Bainonians.

I. P. A. HAD WELL PREPARED PROGRAM

The first regular meeting of the Maryville College I. P. A. was held last Monday evening in Theta Hall. A large number of enthusiastic members and visitors were present, due perhaps to a persistent interest in the prohibition cause and to the interest aroused by the Southern Secretary of the I. P. A., who was on the hill last week.

A well prepared program was rendered as follows: "War on liquor in England", by George Harris; "War on liquor in France" by Ashton Clayton; "Lost in Ohio" by McGrath; Music by Maude Hite; "Prohibition in other recent elections", by Gail Wilson.

Several new members were enrolled and much enthusiasm over the work for the year was manifested.

The I. P. A. is on a boom! Your presence at the next regular meeting, Dec. 10, is requested. We belive that you can help us and know that we can help you. Let's make the I. P. A. one of the strongest student organizations on the hill.

Prof. Southwick wired last week that he will enter training camp at Chillicothe, Ohio, on Tuesday of this week. Thus, all hopes for his return to Maryville are abandoned. As much as we regret to give up the professor that in the short time of his stay here endeared himself to all of us, we know that the interests of the country are always above those of the community, therefor we cheerfully make this another one of the great sacriifices the war imposes upon us.

LARGE AUDIENCE ATTENDS PRAYER MEETING

Miss Hale is Assisted by Antiphonal Choir.

The Thursday night prayer meeting was led by Miss Hale, who gave an elaborate, instructive and interesting address on "The Music of the Bible", to one of the largest audiences that ever attended these services. Assisted by the quartet, which sang an ancient selection composed by Pope Gregory in the fifth century; by a choir of more than fifty feminine voices, and a chorus of male voices stationed in the gallery; and also by Miss Staater who sang two beautiful selections, she emphasized the historical evolution of music, and the wonderful influence it has had on religious worship and on the progress of other arts in general.

Miss Hale began by discussing music as "local color" and a responsive agency by the study of which we are able to understand the people whose surroundings and customs it represents. "How eloquently does the music reveal the characteristics of a people, or the conditions of their suffering". And thus she proved that the history of sacred music and of its development is a history of a highly organized civilization. It played a great part in religious ceremonies for the Hebrews and the other nations of antiquity, and introduced both music and the dance into their temples of worship. "To the Hebrew", acording to Miss Hale, "music suggested all that was sublime and divine. Thus their literature is saturated with poetic thoughts and expressive phrases of praise".

This week's service will be held on Wednesday evening instead of Thursday evening. The leader is Prof. Knapp with the subject "Thanksgiving".

ALPHA SIGMAS HEAR DISCUSSION OF UP-TO-DATE QUESTIONS

A live and thorough discussion of some of the most up-to-date questions of the day interested a large number of Alpha Sigmas in their hall on last Saturday evening. This program was one of many which prove the good work being done at our society meetings. There was fun a plenty, yet no one could have possibly escaped without carrying with him some new thoughts and ideas, which were produced in abundance during the rendition of this program. "Why I believe in the $35,000,000 Campaign" by Bartlett; "Alpha Sigma Advance", Briggs; Debate: Resolved, that moral rather than physical forces shall determine the outcome of the war". Affirmative, Bob Taylor, negative, Joel Georges.

Remember, the joint meeting next Saturday night! Be on time if you expect to get a seat.

MEN GET COMMISSIONS

Maryville college has just cause to be proud of her representatiives in the second officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe which camp closed Monday. Every M. C. man got a commission. They are Tom Goddard, J. G. Sims, H. B. Frater M. B. Crum and Marcus Boring. Lieutenants Sims, Frater, Boring and Goddard returned to Maryville Monday night before going into active service fifteen days hence.

It is going to be a gay old time the Seniors will have out at Dr. Huddleston's Tuesday night when they leave all their inherent dignity in their rooms, cast it to the winds, or dispose of it in some other happy-go-lucky careless way. Committees on decorations and eats have dwelt over their tasks thoughtfully and have acted on their best judgments with diligence and effectiveness. But probably the hardest working committee of all is that intrusted with the coupling function, for everything must be just so. The success of the occasion will be due in no small degree to the untiring efforts of thisl ast-named committee.

Bryson: Don't you think my mustache is becoming?

Margaret Bassett: It may be coming but it hasn't come yet.

Tom Goddard was commissioned First Lieutenant at Fort Oglethorpe Monday. He accepted this commission for immediaite action in preference to that of a captain on the waitng list.

The Alpha Sigmas and Thetas will have a big time in joint meeting Saturday night. It has been rumored that they may debate woman suffrage. If so, it may not be a big time, but also a hot time.

—z—

Miss Mildred Cash of Knoxville, Tenn., spent the week end with Miss Olga Griffin. Misses Sue Nuchols and Mabel Harting gave a feast in her honor, Saturday night which was also much enjoyed by ten other girls.

Dr. Wilson made a trip down to Camp Sevier the first part of last week. All the Maryville men there are well and in fine spirits, regardless of the epidemic which has sized the camp. Since the outbreak of typhus there wonder if the men wouldn't just as soon change the spelling of the name and call it Camp "Severe"?

Stop! Look Listen! The last football game of the season of 1917-18 will be played between the Freshmen and Sophomores on Saturday, December 1st. With the playing off of this game the men on the hill will turn their attention towards basketball. A fast game is predicted. This is the first occasion for inter-class contests. Come out and stand behind your class team. Game called at 3:15 sharp.

From 7:30 to 10:15 on Monday evening, Nov. 19, a most delightful evening was spent at the home of Professor Bassett. An interesting and instructive talk was given as the class took a short trip sightseeing through Italy. Much talent was displayed in poetry composing. Refreshments were served, and games continued until the lights flashed. Hearty appreciations from the class.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

PALACE

Wed. Nov. 28—Mutual Feature in five parts starring Jackie Saunders entitled "A Bit of Kindling". Miss Saunders is well and favorably known for her portrayal of "tomboy" parts and she is some tomboy in this picture, taking the part of a ragged newsboy who turns out to be a girl. In a regular street fight with a bunch of urchins Miss Saunders more than holds up her end of the scrap.

Thurs. Nov. 29—If you want to ward off an attack of indigestion after that Thanksgiving dinner pay us a visit and see Olive Thomas, the new Triangle star in a rollicking comedy-drama in five parts, entitled "Madcap Madge". A good laugh is at once a preventative and a cure for indigestion and Madge will certainly hand you that laugh. Also a funny Triangle comedy entitled 'His Bitter Fate'. A six reel show for Thanksgiving day that will make you glad to be alive.

Friday, Nov. 30—Love, Mystery, and Millions figure in 'The Millionaire's Double", a five act Metro Wonderplay of a rich man who laughed at death. Lionel Barrymore as the star. If you saw your own death notice and met your "widow" what would you do? That's just what Bide Bennington did. Don't miss this one.

Sat. Dec. 1—A new Paramount picture in five acts entitled "The Son of His Father", featuring Chas. Ray. In which the father puts a bluff up to his boy and the boy calls it in a way that will thrill you through five interest compelling reels. Commencing today admission prices will be 10 and 15 cents and we pay the war tax until said tax is lifted.

Mon. Dec. 3—Bessie Barriscale is truly delightful as a hater of men in her latest Triangle production, entitled "A Hater of Men". The play was written by C. Gardner Sullivan who has produced so many of those interesting Triangle palys. It is the story of a girl who tries to make herself believe she is not human, and that all men are frauds and deceivers, but who later finds that she doesn't hate the sex as much as she thought she did.

Extra added attraction—Charlie Chaplin in his last picture under the $670,000.00 contract entitled "The Adventurer". This shows Charlie as an escaped convict and the Board of Health has required the management to put mattresses in the aisles to prevent those who fall off their seats with laughter hurting themselves. You can imagine the scrapes an escaped convict could get into, but it remains for Charlie to find some that were never heard of. Also funny Triaingle comedy.

Tues. Dec. 4—William Duncan and Carol Holloway in the 11th chapter of "The Fighting Trail", the serial of the great out-of-doors, and one that is causing more talk than any serial ever run in Maryviille. Capt. Jinks, Cobbler, a funny Frank Daniels comedy and Bobby, Pacifist, one of thoser ip roaring kid pictures, featuring Bobby Connelly, the youngest star in fildom.

Wed. Dec. 5—Artcraft Pictures Company presents Marguerite Clark in "The Amazons", written by Sir Arthur Wing Pinero and a story that has a wonderfully natural appeal to all ages. The weakest imagination can see screamingly funny possibilities in the idea of a mother bringing up her three daughters as if they were sons. Artcraft pictures being super-productions will bring the admission price to 10 and 20 cents, we pay the war tax. These prices are for Wednesday only.

DREAMLAND

Wed. Nov. 28—When False Tongues Speak, a William Fox production in five parts featuring Virginia Pearson, the celebrated Fox vampire.

Thurs. Nov. 29—Mutual Feature in five parts entitled "The Gilded Youth" featuring Richard Bennett.

Fri. Nov. 30—Chapter 9 of the Grey Ghost, featuring Eddie Polo. Also funny two reel L-KO Comedy and Universal Animated Weekly.

Sat. Dec. 1—Maria Sais in further instalments of the American Girl and funny Keystone Komedy and Ford Animated Weekly.

FRESHMEN DEFEAT SOPHOMORE IN GREAT INTER-CLASS GAME

Sophomores Bow to Superior Play of Fish to The Tune of 28-6, Featrued By A 90 Yard Run.

The annual football classic of the year, took place last Saturday afternoon when the Freshman played the Sophomores. The final score was 28-6, but this does not show the closeness of play at times. The crowd of three hundred, including the 'royal rooters' of both classes was kept in one continual excitement as brilliant play after brilliant play was reeled off. However the game was marred by frequent fumbling, quibbling, penalties, crossed signals and loose playing. But the two teams played as well as could be expected. The Fish had the edge all the way through, due to longer practice and more thoro coaching, training and machine-like precision of plays.

The Fish won the toss and received at the west end. They started in immediately with a series of end runs by Grey, Clemens and Wagner that took the ball deep into Soph territory. The Sophs held on their 10 yard line and took the ball but the Fish were not to be denied for after some desultory playing they sent Clemens across with the first touchdown. An awful argument followed as to whether the ball was dead when the referee blew his whistle, but he decided to allow the socre as he was really blowing it for the timekeepers, since they had no whistle. In the second quarter the Sophs took the ball but were able to make but little headway and on the second play the Freshmen made, Bob made another 40 yard run for a touchdown. He displayed a most remarkable array of dodges for no less than 9 men tried to hold him, and he eluded them all even crossing the goal line 3 times before he finally placed it between the posts. A brilliant return by Wagner of Hickman's punt together with another touchdown by Buchanon at the receiving end of a pass of 20 yards featured the rest of this half. Bob kicked all three goals in this half. They simply sailed over.

In the second half the Sophs came back with a rush and clearly outplayed the Freshman. This was due to Clemens' absence from the game. He was the only varsity player on the Fish team and with his speed the embryo Soph players had their hands full. But with him gone the story was different.

The Sophs uncovered some real playing in this half and most of the play was in the Fish territory.

Several passes, Drake to Brown, were executed besides fine defensive work by the line. The Fish, ready to seize every opportunity, made another score when Wagner picked up Campbell's fumble and raced 90 yards for a touchdown in a run that brought the crowd to its feet. He also kicked goal.

In the foruth quarter the Sophs were determined to put over a score and by the excellent work of Drake and iHckman the ball was finally shoved across. The rest of the game was in midfield with both teams holding the ball at times.

Clemens while in was easily the star, but the whole team played well for the class of '22. Wagner at quarter was always sure of himself and his speed and generalship inspired confidence into the rest. Grey's and Giillespie's line plunging and tackling were of high quality. In the line Coughron and Buchanon at ends played exceedingly well, as did all the rest.

For the Sophs Hickman in the backfield was the star, his off-tackle plays and plunging being of high standard. He gained more ground than any other Sophomore and undoubtedly prevented a much larger score from being rolled up against them. Drake handled the quarterback position in entire keeping with his playing on the scrubs. Brown at end received some pretty passes and Callahan played good ball. Johnson, Price and Hamilton were towers of strength both offensively and defensively.

Lineup:

PROF. GILLINGHAM TO CAPTAIN NATIONAL GUARD

To allow men of military age to get some experience at home there is being organized the Fourth Tennessee Regiment of the National Guard. Companies are being organized at different points, among them one at Maryville. Part of the company is in the process of organization among men of military age on the hill. Already a number of them have signified their willingness to join this, and many more should follow. Uniforms and guns will be supplied by the government, one-sixth pay will be granted while performing only the ordinary drills and the rifle range at Fountain City will be open for us.

Prof. Gillingham will probably be captain. As yet he has not his commission, but petitions are being circulated all over the county for him and undoubtedly he will get the commission. We can imagine no better captain than our own Professor whose military experience and executive ability fits him admirably for this position. We are all anxiously waiting to learn that he has been elected to this responsible position. It will be fortunate for students to be permitted to be in such an organization led by such a competent head.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

A new feature has been added to the meetings of the Association which will prove a great help in our present and future work. Every other meeting, a text is chosen, a leader assigned, others prepare outlines, and at the meeting, the members enter into a full and thorough discussion. Dr. Stevenson very kindly guides and directs our thoughts into the proper channels, and instructs us in simple homiletics.

The meetings are being well attended and several important meetings are in store for the rest of the year.

SAMSON'S RIDDLE APPLIED TO EVERY-DAY LIVING

Samson's riddle, "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness", was the nucleus around which Dr. Stevenson construed so logically his instructive and compendious address at the Vesper Service. He claimed that it was an eternal truth that whenever and wherever a man couragiously overthrows his enemy, he will find sustenance from his defeated foe.

Tracing the progress of the primitive savage until the time he was able to make himself tools and weapons for support and protection he proved that it was by meeting the difficulties bravely and by defeating his adversaries that man was able to develop to a stage of higher civilization. Then he showed that by the Divine Power the destructive energies of evil, and the roaring lion of adversity, may be converted into advantageous powers. In the very face of despair and discouragement, the Gospel of Christ brings courage and help to overcome the enemy.

UPPERCLASSMEN FLOCK TO COLORS

Many Prominent Juniors And Seniors Go.

Last week and this has seen the departure of several of the most prominent students of the hill for national service. From the senior class have gone Reid Garrison, basketball star, Ben Watkins and Judge Turner, editor of the Echo, while from the Juniors have gone E. K. James, star debater, Fred Cagle, Tom McConnell, Myron Barbour, and "Red" Hayes, the college comedian. All except Hayes have joined the aviation corps and after spending a week or so at Ft. Oglethorpe will leave for camp at San Antonio, Tex. "Red has joined the marines. It is with no little sorrow and regret that we see these men leave us. It will make a big gap in college activities. But national duty is paramount and they are doing this duty. Our best wishes follow them as they stand up for Uncle Sam, and for Maryville College.

DR. VALE ADDRESSED CHAPEL THIS MORNING

In the finest chapel address of the year, Dr. Vale, the pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church of Knoxville, spoke to the students this morning. His subject was, 'The Big Triangle of Life'. This consists first of Friendship for Students, Faculty and Men whom they study; secondly of an aim and goal to which we work, and third your job. The address was excellent in thought and delivery, and was thoroughly enjoyed. Dr. Vale has a wonderful personality and pleasing manner that made him and will always make him a welcome chapel speaker.

Before this address the student body showed its appreciation for the boys who left us today. Dr. Wilson said it was like a commencement, and it brought with it a realization of even a greater task to whip Germany than our ordinary tasks at graduation.

"Buzzy" Crowe has been visiting friends on the hill for the past few days. It seems good to hear her laugh again.

Thursday night the customary snap in the gym came off. Everybody reports a fine time.

Does Mary powder?

Powder? Why to kiss her is like eating a marshmallow.

MARYVILLE CLOSES SUCCESSFUL SEASON WITH GREAT VICTORY OVER TUSCULUM

Big Score Piled Up Against Ancient Rivals. Great Part of Scoring in First Quarter. Brilliant Play All Around For M. C. Bryson And Clemens Star.

On Thanksgiving day, Nov. 29th., after a sumptuous meal at the boarding club the student body witnessed the first Turkey Day game in three years when Maryville met Tusculum on the gridiron. Already happy from a physical standpoint they were made much more so when M. C. triumphed over her ancient rivals to the music of 32-6.

For four quarters the two teams battled in a contest closer than the score indicates, and when the whistle finally ended the game we realized perhaps for the first time this year that we had a team.

All the day before and Thanksgiving morning a slow drizzle kept all in a bad humor. Even during the game the rain fell in a slow way which made it unpleasant for the spectators.

The start of the game was delayed because of the failure of the officials to arrive. As soon as they did however, the game started. Maryville having won the toss elected to receive. The first play gave a whiff of how it was going, for although he fumbled, Bob Clemens raced 45 yards on an end run, and only because he tripped himself did he fail to get a touchdown. Within the first three minutes Eagleton had crossed the line after catching a forward pass for the first touchdown. Then followed in rapid succession two more scores, one thru a line buck, and one on an end run. The heavy scoring was done in this first quarter, before Tusculum could realize what was taking place. After the first score the issue was never in doubt, the only question being how large the score would be.

A long pass gave another score in the second quarter, but also one for Tusculum. In all true veracity, it can be said that as far as the playing was concerned this score was undeserved. And yet when one thinks that Doak was 22 yards from the goal, that he took one whopper of a line plunge, that at least six M. C. men had their hands on him, and that he had his own head down and looked as though he would fall at any time, one cannot but give hiim credit for a remarkable performance. Bryson and Clemens hit each other in trying to get at Doak, but Doak eluded both of them. It was a combination of queer circumstances, certainly.

Between halves 'ze ole time' rooter, Doc Mitchell, led a snake dance on the field that added to the interest of the spectators.

The second half was closer than the first. The rest made the Tusculum team get up a little more pep and they displayed some good playing. Only one score was made in this half, when Clemens made a touchdown on an end run.

The game was marred by frequent quibblings and penalties, M. C. being the chief offender since she lost 85 yards by this route alone. Most of these were for holding too, but Tusculum was also guilty of this. Fumbles were frequent also, some losing, but one long run after a fumble paved the way for our first touchdown.

Tusculum was on the defensive most of the game and hence did a great deal of punting, but R. Campbell's toe usually put Tusculum out of danger at least temporarily, his punts averaging 41 yards. As in the former game in Knoxville, the only play they had was their tandem play, where only mass action could accomplish results.

On the other hand Maryville displayed remarkable ability in every department. Bryson and McNutt hit the line heavy, while Clemens and Hurst took care of the end runs. On these we gained almost two times as much as on line bucks. In forward passing we completed but one-third of the attempted ones but these went for 200 yards, or 25 yards apiece.

For Maryville the whole team played football, real football. It is a pleasure to realize that even though we have lost to teams much stronger than we are, we still have a team that is above the ordinary school's during these war times.

MANAGER BRYSON

In his last game of his collegiate career, our manager and fullback Bryson displayed the best brand of football seen here for a long time. Usually a full doesn't star, but in his line plunging, his hard tackling, in his blocking, his pep and his catching of passes, he can boast of having made a fitting climax to his six years' experience on our team. We will miss Bryson, surely. Perhaps he played better because of a certain young lady on the side lines.

Clemens played his usual stellar game. His passes were exceptionally brilliant Thursday, as were his end runs. At halves McNutt hit the line hard all the time and made some pretty tackles, while Hurst, always consistent, upheld his reputation as the fastest man on the team, as a sure tackler, as a sure receiver of a pass, and as an interference man. Lloyd made some good plays, one especially after recovery of a fumble It is unfortunate that "Happy" couldn't have been out all season instead of "out" with a broken arm.

The whole line played good ball and only in the tandem plays was Tusculum able to make any impression.

As usual the stars for Tusculum were brothers. It used to be the Foxes and Doaks, now the Campbells and Doaks. M. Doak is a crackerjack of a line plunger and defensive man and his brother, the captain, plays a good consistent game. At quarter R. Campbell ran the team very well and his toe was much in evidence.

Details of Game

Maryville won the toss and elected to receive at the west end of the field. M. Doak kicked 45 yards to Hurst who returned 10 yards. On recovered and made a brilliant run around right end for 45 yards. Bryson hit the center for 6. M. C. was penalized 15 yards for holding. "Ducky" McNutt retrieved this with a 12 yard plunge through tackle. Clemens skirted end for 6 more. A forward pass, Clemens to Eagleton, netted a touchdown. Bob failed to kick goal. Score M. C. 6; Tusculum 0.

Clemens kicked off 55 yards to M. Doak who returned 25 yards, Tusculum was scared and R. Campbell punted 35 yards to Hurst. A

EDITORIAL

You will notice from the front page that this seems to be a football issue, and such it is meant to be. Having had two football games the past week to which enthusiasts have been treated, it is by far the chief object of conversation. Football is known as the major sport and as such deserves proper attention. As with other papers and magazines that dedicate an issue to some one activity, so we dedicate this current issue to football, the greatest college game.

"SERVICE" SUBJECT AT Y. M. C. A.

Morgan Cox spoke in Y. M. C. A. last Sunday afternoon, and gave his hearers a most able presentation of the story of Gideon's Three Hundred. His theme was "Service", and he showed how 212,000 men were sifted down until his small band consisted only of men who had gone through a threefold test. The necessary qualities for service are willingness, courage and zeal. His talk was well thought-out and ably presented, and gave spice to the meeting. Mr. Miller will lead next Sunday.

Lieutenants, Frater, Crum and Reece are numbered among the quite frequent military visitors at college. The first two have just recently obtained their commissions after passing then ecessary exams.

LETTER FROM FRED HOPE IN AFRICA

War Hits Missionaries Hard Blow. Commends M. C. Students For Their Help in This Mission.

A letter received by Prof. Bassett from Fred Hope '06, in Africa brings the news that his family now consists of three little girls. Since returning to Africa Hope has been doing some preaching in addition to his work as Superintendent of the Frank James Industrial School. He writes of preaching nine Sundays in succession to a total attendance of over 12000. All foreign articles are scarce and high on account of the war. Flour is $35.00 a barrel.

The following extracts from his letter will be of general interest.

"We were a long time getting to the field even considering the war conditions and were at Ferando Poo over six weeks waiting to get over to the mainland. There were about 15,000 native African troops interned there and on top of that the place is very unhealthy. We were all more or less injured by the stay there. Soon after reaching Elat I went down with tropical fever.

"As soon as my strength was sufficiently gained I called for all the Indutrial students and opened the Frank James Industrial School. Most of the boys came back. Some disappeared during the war. All the classes opened except the shoe class. The Germans had commandeered all the supplies. In fact they had commaneered every thing the School had that they could use and turned the plant into a munition factory. Everything was in bad shape and it took some work to put things back into shape again.

"In spite of the difficulty in obtaining supplies the gross receipts for the year have been over 48,000 francs. ($9,600.) During the ten years I have had charge of the school the total gross receipts have been 350,000 francs. ($70,000.) The invoice shows the school to be worth $16,000. Of this amount ($16,000) over $9000 has been a net profit above the running expenses. From the Board, Maryville College students and other friends came the rest of the amount, which is about $7,000.

"One thing will be of interest to you I am sure. During the year the new French Governor was making the rounds of the Southern Cameroun, he was coming nearer Ebolowa and the reports that were coming to us from our people at the outposts were very bad as regards his bearing toward our work. He told the chiefs as he passed through their towns that there was "No God palaver", mistreated the evangelists and allowed his soldiers to abuse them. Also told the chiefs they did not have to respect the evangelists but could catch them and send them to the beach for loads or make them work

"These reports kept coming in to the mission as he came closer and we were looking for trouble. When he came to Ebolowa, Mr. Johnston sent up asking when we might come to pay our respects. He set a date and we were there at the appointed time. He kept us waiting for over a half hour. (It is almost an insult for one white man to treat another like that in this country.) We felt as though we would like to leave but being missionaries could not.

"When finally he did come he was cold, haughty and distant in his manner toward us. He immediately asked if we had grown men in our school and said if we did we must put them out as he would not allow men or boys big enough to do a man's work to go to school. Mr. Johnston told him to come down and put out such as he did not allow to go to school. He further remarked that the Catholics claimed that their grown men were teachers, but that he could not be caught by anything like that. To talk like that was adding to his insult. It is not said to Mr. Johnston, "I am greatly plased with what I have seen here and if at any time I can be of service to you in your work here, you have only to command me".

"His actions since have borne this out. We have heard from him several times and ways. He gave a banquet to French officials and other Europeans living near his headquarters and in a speech he spoke in the very highest terms of the mission and their Industrial school. Said it was a new thing to him to see a mission doing such work as the American mission was doing. He completely turned in his attitude toward the mission and missionaries.

"In the Elat district eighteen years ago there was not a Christian; now there are nine churches with a total membership of 8058 and in the inquiry classes there are something like 20,000 where a quarter of a century ago a white man had never been and Christianity was unknown".

THANKSGIVING PRAYER MEETING

Prof. Knapp Gives Fine Address.

The Thanksgiving service was led on Wednesday night by Prof. Knapp, who made a brief survey of the conditions of last year, and our national position in our international relations, then picturing our present struggle in the world conflagration. He showed many blessings for which we ought to be thankful as individuals and as a nation. As he so nicely put it, "we must not forget that though our mission is enormously grave, when we are dealing with a nation that has passed the Hun and the Vandal in her atrocities, we should thank God that America has joined the allies fighting to vindicate the principles of democracy. 'This is our greatest opportunity', he concluded, 'for which we should be thankful.'"

BOYS TO TAKE DOMESTIC SCIENCE

On last Saturday evening the members of Athenian and Bainonian assembled in Bainonian Hall. The room was crowded to overflowing, but the meeting was very enjoyable in spite of the close quarters. The program was opened with a piano solo by Miss Elsie Rhea. Miss Jessie Creswell followed with a delightful reading, and for her encore she gave another humorous selection. The star feature of the evening was Mr. Trammel's violin solo. Shout after shout of applause filled the hall as the last clear notes died away. The debate, "Resolved, That all boys should take a course in home economics", was carried out in a spirited and interesting manner. Miss Ruby Paul and John Witherspoon enthusiastically supported the affirmative, while Miss Carrie Sheddan and Mr. William Jennings Bryan Holmes, Jr., upheld the negative. The judges voted two to one for the affirmative. The last number on the program was a vocal solo by Mr. Anderson, entitled "The Melody of Home". After Mr. Trammel rendered another violin solo, the meeting was closed with the college song.

GIRLS OPEN SEASON WITH VICTORY

Defeat Young H. S. In One-Sided Game.

On Tuesday night, Nov. 27th., the Maryville College basketball season started when the varsity girls met Young High School on the former's floor. Maryville won to the tune of 50-5, a complete whitewash for Young H. S. The latter showed poor form and inability to hold the ball coupled with loose guarding made a big score inevitable.

The Maryville forwards played a stellar game, both Misses Marshall and Webb throwing baskets from all angles. At center Miss Moseley outjumped her opponent while the guards effectually kept the ball out of the High School's territory. So one-sided was the score that at the beginning of the second half players were changed right and left, so that altogether 14 girls played for M. C.

The team is as yet in the process of making, but from present indications, the coach, Miss Lois Wilson, will have a team that will rival those of former years.

THE Y. W. C. A. "HABIT"

Miss Marie Townsend led the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday evening.

The topic for discussion was: "Habit a tool or a chain". The subject was well presented by Miss Townsend, Mrs. Stevenson, who had been asked to speak on "The responsibility of parents in helping the children to form habits", Miss Martha Robinson, who spoke of the "Habits we form at college", and Miss Eleanor Moseley who mentioned the influence of good habits on our lives.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion and twenty girls responded with helpful thoughts from their lives and experiences.

The music was especially good. Miss Winnie Newton sang a solo. Miss Mabel Rice gave a piano solo, and Misses Mary and Emma Miles sang a duet.

The meeting next Sunday will be led by Miss Emma Montgomery. The subject is "Shield of Faith".

All the girls are cordially invited.

THETAS AND ALPHA SIGMAS HOLD GREAT MEETING

The semi-annual joint meeting of the Alpha Sigma and Theta Epsilon societies took place last Saturday night in the latter's hall. After the welcome address and response by the twop residents a fine program was rendered. The musical events, a piano solo by Elsie Dawson, a vocal solo by Elizabeth Jones and a banjo solo by Reid Garrison were thoroughly enjoyed. Reid was encored twice. Two readings by Esther Covert and Valle Higginbothane were well rendered. The debate of whether there is more pleasure in the pursuit of an object than in the attainment, was well handled by Bob Adams and Deck Williams. Humor was present continuously and especially did Deck keep the crowd in an uproar. Also he won the debate. After the program, occurred the social hour in which many took Frater's advice to moonshine. A large crowd was present and a great time resulted.

pretty pass to Scruggs brought us 45 yards. An incomplete pass to Eagleton followed. M. C. fumbled but recovered, McNutt going thru tackle for 5. With beautiful interference Clemens ran around end to the 5 yard line and on the next play McNutt was shoved over for a touchdown. Clemens kicked goal. Score, M. C. 13; Tusculum 0.

Clemens kicked off 45 yards to R. Campbell who returned 15. Campbell followed by catching a short 10 yard pass for a first down. M. Doak plunged 7 through guard. Hurst intercepted a forward pass. On an end run Hurst made 16 yards, then failed to catch a pass. McNutt skirted left end for 7 yards. Bryson hit the guard for a 9 yard gain and a first down. Lloyd takes place of McNutt. Clemens then went around left end 20 yards for a touchdown, but failed to kick goal.

Score, M. C. 19; Tusculum 0.

Clemens kicked off 45 yards to M. Doak who returned 18. A short pass over center gained 9 yards. R. Campbell went around right end for eight more. An incomplete pass followed. Benson failed to gain, and M. Doak was downed by Lloyd just as he caught a 7 yard pass. Tusculum punted back of the goal line and the ball was put in play on our 20 yard line. Hurst gained 5 through tackle, Lloyd 3 and Bryson made first down but fumbled, Tusculum recovering. Doak failed to gain through line, quarter made 2 through center, Lloyd blocked a forward pass and on the fourth down, F. Campbell tried a drop kick from the 35 yard line but failed. Again the ball was put in play on our 20 yard line. On a left end over play, Clemens made 38 yards on end run. He executed some pretty dodging. An incomplete pass followed. With no interference Lloyd lost 2 yards, but Bob followed with 11 around right end. Bryson then plunged 6 through guard.

Tusculum broke through on the line felt play and blocked Bob's pass. McNutt went 2 through guard, followed by a 5 yard penalty for being off side. A short pass of 7 yards was completed to Hurst over center. Bryson just failed to make first down and the ball went over. R. Campbell made first down with an 11 yard plunge. On tandem play Doak went 8 and Benson made first down.

Second Quarter

Tusculum was penalized 5 yards for being offside. F. Campbell makes one yard on end run. R. Campbell then punted 45 yards to Clemens who returned 15. McNutt made 4 on skin tackle play, then missed an easy pass over center. Cooper took place of Eagleton. On a fake left-end-over-play Bob went around the other end 8 yards. Hurst made one through tackle. A beautiful pass was next executed, Clemens to Bryson, which netted 35 yards. McNutt made two through center. Bob threw the ball to Bryson behind the goal line but it was incomplete. Tusculum's ball on her 20 yard line. A short pass to Wieber netted 8 yards. Bryson threw Campbell for a 4 yard loss in a pretty tackle. R. Campbell punted 45 yards to Clemens who returned 15 yards. M. C. penalized 10 yards for holding.

Hurst goes through tackle for 7 yards. Cooper caught a peach of a pass for a 40 yard gain. Clemens lost 5 yards on an end run. Incomplete pass to Bryson of 30 yards. Hurst ducks through the line for 7. On a fake placement by Bryson, Clemens passed the ball but Tusculum intercepted it.

R. Campbell punted 45 yards to Clemens who returned 20. Bryson hit the line for 11 yards. Hurst caught a short forward pass over center for 9 yards. Bob failed to gain through center. Incomplete pass to McNutt on a line-left-play.

Bob then passed the ball 35 yards to Johnson behind the goal line for a touchdown. Clemens kicked a beautiful goal.

Score, M. C. 26; Tusculum 0.

Clemens kicked off 45 yards to M. Doak who returned 20. On a

SOME INCREASE

Price hunted a long while for a summer position, without success. At last he went to Abe Finglestein and agreed to work two weeks gratis, to secure work. The two weeks passed, when Price timidly inquired:

"Mr. Finglestein, what will my salary be from now on?"

"What are you getting now"? his employer asked.

"Nothing", responded Price. With a wicked little smile, the old man answered:

tandem play Doak went through center for 9 yards. Benson made first down. R. Campbell went thru line for 6. Doak plunged 3. Register made four around end. McNutt got Campbell after a 2 yard end run. M. C. penalized 5 yards for being offside. Then M. Doak went thru guard with his head down and with apparently all the Maryvile players heads down too, for a 22 yard plunge for a touchdown. He failed to kick goal. Score, M. C. 26, Tusculum 6.

M. Doak kicked 35 yards to Johnson, and the big tackle returned 10 yards. Tusculum was penalized 15 yards for holding. McNutt skinned tackle for 2 yards. Two incomplete passes followed. Clemens punted over the goal and the ball was put in play on the 20 yard line. Doak made 3 through center, but R. Campbell lost this on an end run. Scruggs was caught holding and M. C. was penalized 15 yards. Doak on a tandem play made 18 yards in a fine piece of work. Hurst intercepted a pass and returned 10 yards. An incomplete pass to Bryson followed. A. Doak broke thru the line and tackled Clemens for a 5 yard loss. R. Campbell intercepted a pass to Hurst just as the half ended.

Second Half

Clemens kicked off 50 yards to Benson who returned 25 yards. Doak on tandem plunged for three yards, then the two Campbell brothers followed with 5 and 1 yard gains. Tusculum failed to make first down. House took place of Scholes. Hurst made five on an end run offset by a penalty for offside. He followed with 3 around right end. Scruggs dropped a pass. On line-left-play Benson intercepted a forward pass. F. Campbell gained one through center and Doak one more. Incomplete pass to Sturm Doak catches a pretty 25 yard pass and ran 5 more till Johnson made a pretty tackle from behind. F. Campbell failed to gain and his brother fumbled, recovered, but lost 15 yards. Doak lost 3 on an end run. R. Campbell punted 35 yards to Clemens who fumbled, recovered but failed to gain. Clemens punted 30 yards on the ground to Campbell who fumbled again but this time Bryson recovered. Bryson hit the tackles for two plunges that netted a first down. McNutt went for 2 more and Bob 5 on end runs. McNutt fumbled and Tusculum recovered. Benson went 6 through guard. Doak made first down on tandem play. Johnson tackled R. Campbell for a pretty loss. Briggs got Benson after a two yard plunge. Incomplete pass to Doak followed. R. Campbell punted 40 yards and Clemens returned 10. On a line shift play he lost 8 yards around end. M. C. was penalized 5 yards. Clemens punted 45 yards to R. Campbell out of bounds. Tusculum was penalized 15 yards for piling on after the whistle blew.

Incomplete pass to Doak, followed by two line plunges that brought no gains, Bryson making a fine tackle. Lloyd for McNutt. R. Campbell punted 45 yards to Clemens and he returned 8.

Fourth Quarter

With the ball on our 30 yard line we suffered a 15 yard penalty for Lloyd failing to report to the referee. Lloyd gained 1 yard, and Clemens 7 through tackle. He next punted 35 yards to R. Campbell who returned 15. Doak failed to gain. R. Campbell also lost 8 yards on an end run. Following an incomplete pass R. Campbell punted 40 yards to Clemens who returned 10. Bryson hit line for 2, Lloyd gained 7, and Hurst made first down with a six yard end run.

Lloyd went trough guard for 8 more and Bryson 6. An 8 yard pass was completed to Lloyd. Tusculum was penalized 15 yards for roughness. Scruggs failed to catch a pass. Clemens made 17 on a right end run. Another incomplete pass took place to Cooper across the goal line. Wagner was substituted for Hurst, and Hurst for Scruggs. Bryson found a hole through guard and gained 7 yards. On a line shift play Clemens went 15 yards around left end for a touchdown. He punted out to Lloyd but failed to kick goal.

Score: M. C. 32; Tusculum 6.

Clemens kicked off 30 yards to Benson who returned 45 yards on a pretty return. He did some tall dodging too. Doak lost 6 yards on an end run. On three consecutive tandem plays Benson made 8 yards, Doak 6, and F. Campbell 5. McLaughlin threw Benson for a loss. Davidson took place of House. An offside for M. C. lost 5 yards and gave Tusculum first down. Doak fumbled and Lloyd recovered and sprinted for a 25 yard gain before tackled from behind. Wagner skirted right end for 12 yards. Lloyd then ran 55 yards for a touchdown, but because of M. C. being offside we were penalized 5 yards and the score didn't count. Clemens punted 45 yards to Campbell who returned 10. Davidson tackled Doak for no gain. A pass to Benson gained 12 yards and first down just as the game ended.

When Miss Adah Howard was teaching "somewhere in Blount county" one day she received the following note from the mother of one of her little boys:

Dear Miss Howard:

You rite me about whippin Sammy. I hereby give you permission to thrash him ever time he needs it to make him larn his lessin. He is just like his daddy—you have to larn him with a club. Pound nolege into him. I want him to get it and don't pay any attention to what his dad says. I'll handle him!

The two shortest men mentioned in the Bible are "Knee-high-my-ah" and "Bildad the Shu-hite".

WANTED—To know why everyone looked at the feet of the masqueraders when trying to guess who thy were.

"A joke is a form of humor enjoyed by some and misunderstood by most; in England it requires a diagram, raised letters and a club."

The faith and patriotism exhibited by a St. Louis billposter should not go unrecorded. On a cemetery fence he tacked this plea: "Awake; your country needs you".

Dr. Barnes—When you have a fit of coughing what happens?

Miss Putnam—(impressively) —The whole body is agitated.

Sometimes the conductor and brakeman do not agree as to the proper pronuncintion of the name of a certain railway station in Montana. Eurelia is a pretty name, but not all the trainmen speak it alike.

It is startling to hear the conductor, opening the forward door, yell at the inoffensive passengers:

"You're a liar! You're a liar!"

Then, before one has a chance to rally from this unjust accusation, the brakeman is likely to open the rear door and shout:

"You really are! You really are!"

No wonder that well-behaved travelers are glad when the houses of Eurelia fade into the background.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, DECEMBER 11, 1917. — NUMBER THIRTEEN

COMPANY B's GRATITUDE

Sends Check to Self-Denying Girl Who Contributed to Army "Y".

On his recent visit to Camp Sevier Dr. Wilson described to the Maryville boys in Company B of the 117 Regiment the raising of the Friendship Y. M. C. A. War Fund of $2,200 at the college, and told of the modes of self-denial that had to be employed by the students in order to be able to make their subscriptions. He mentioned the girl who gave the seven dollars that she had saved to pay for necessary dental work. She had been suffering much from toothache, but when the call came she "cast in all that she had" into the war fund.

On Monday of this week Dr. Wilson received a letter from Company B enclosing a check for $115.00 which the Company directed should be given in their name to the young woman who had denied herself comfort and health in order to contribute to their welfare. The following letter tells how the check came to be contributed and the company letter to be written.

"The other night some of us Sergeants were sitting around the fire in our tent talking, and one of the bunch said: 'I have been thinking a whole lot about that girl that gave her last $7.00 to the Army Y. M. C. A. fund, and I have been wondering if we could not do something to show our appreciaiton?' We all said that we had been thinking just about the same thing ever since you told us about her, and we decided right then to chip in and help that girl along a little bit.

It wasn't fifteen minutes until we Sergeants had chipped in about $40.; and the next day we put it up to the company and they just ran over each other coming up to put in their dollars. Several of them wanted to give mighty bad, but didn't have it to give. If the girl to whom the money goes gets half as much joy out of the use of the money as we did out of the giving of it, she will be happy indeed.

"The whole $115 is to go to the girl who gave her $7.00, saved up to have her teeth fixed, to the Army Y. M. C. A.

"The story of her sacrifice got next to the boys as nothing lese could.

"The Cub (the Company Mascot a young bear from Blount County) came marching up with his part too. He threw $7.00 into the hat and whined because he could not throw in more.

"We are sending a money order for the amount and with it is a letter from the company. The letter is written in official military form".

The letter from the Company explains itslef, and is as follows:

Office Co. B. 117th Infty.,
Camp Sevier, S. C.,
November 28, 1917.

From: Company B. 117 Infty.,
Camp Sevier, S. C.

To: Miss————, Maryville, Tenn.

Subject: Appreciation for gift.

1.We are writing this note and sending this little gift to you, whom most of us have never seen. True, we have never seen you, but we have heard of you, and what we hear has touched the heart of every man in Company B.

2. Dr. Wilson visited us here in Camp Sevier a few days ago, and he gave a glowing account of the campaign at Maryville College for the benefit of the Army Y. M. C. A. We were all very much interested and enthused by the story of the wonderful campaign, but the part of the story that touched the heart of every man to the depths was that part that told of your generous sacrifice to help us soldiers who are here ready and willing to give our lives for our country. There is not a man in the Company who does not appreciate more than he can tell what you have done to help carry on the Y. M. C. A. work in our army camps, for we all know what great good it is doing. 'Tis true, your gift was a small one compared with some others, but the fact that it was the last of your hard earned savings makes it the greatest gift of all. The Red Cross is doing a magnificient work in saving the lives of the soldiers, but the Y. M. C. A. is doing a much greater work, it is saving the souls of the soldiers.

3. The Y. M. C. A. huts here are large, well ventilated, well lighted buildings. Everytihng is done to make them comfortable "homes" in which the soldier can while away his time when off duty. He is supplied there with all the stationery he can use and all the magazines he can read. A piano and victrola are there to cheer the soul of the homesick "rookie". The Sunday School classes and other religious services conducted in the Huts are keeping the men in touch with the God of their fathers and mothers. Too much praise cannot be bestowed upon the Y. M. C. A. for its great work here.

4. The undersigned men of Co. B appreciate your sacrifice to such an extent that we have decided to refund the money that you have given indirectly to us and also to add to it a little bit more to be used by you in your struggle for an education. Of all the heroes and heroines of the war none deserve the name more than you. We all honor you and wish you health and happiness throughout all the days of your life. Our mascot the bear cub, gave more than any of us, and was sorry he could not give more.

Signed,
"The Boys of Company B".

VISITORS LEAD CHAPEL EXERCISE

Dr. Marquis Addresses Student Body.

Dr. Marquis, ex-Moderator of the Presbyterian Church and the President of Coe College Iowa, accompanied by Dr. Welsh of Louisville, Kentucky, representing the Home Mission Board, and Dr. Phelton of New York arrived at Maryville Thursday at half past eleven o'clock. The chapel services had been advanced so that the distinguished visitors might be present at the regular morning worship.

Dr. Phelton led the morning worship and spoke briefly of the work among the backward sections of the country. Then Dr. Marquis made the principal address. His theme was the complexity of life. He began by showing the necessity of leadership, because the days of muscle and awkwardness are passed and the day of mechanics and of science has dawned. He showed the progress in farming and in other professions which has been made during the recent years. "To meet these requirements", he continued "one needs training, thorough training, hard work, real sacrifice on the part of the students in order to assume their positions as leaders.

According to Dr. Marquis college education trains a student in accuracy and discrimination, and sharpens man's most important tool, the brain, to choose between a whole lot of things that are equally good, and to get the very best one. He showed that the complexity of life applies equally in moral and religious life. "Our age is becoming as moral as it is scientific. Don't go out into the ill-balanced and one-sided life, for a man without a moral training is one-sided". He concluded by saying that "the responsibility rests upon the college students to become the leaders of the country".

Dr. Welsh also made a few pleasing remarks. He kept the sutdents laughing from the moment he got up until he took his seat in a roar of applause.

LIEUTENANT BRITTAIN SPEAKS IN CHAPEL

Boys Urged To Remain In School.

On Friday morning Voorhees Chapel was a scene of unusual enthusiasm as a result of Prof. D. J. Brittain's visit. He led the morning worship and made an excellent speech, a portrayal of camp life in a very interesting and expressive way characteristic of Brittain. Lieutenant Brittain, accompanied by Dr. Wilson passed through the columns of the two companies that were standing at attention in front of the chapel in honor of the ex-commandant of the battalion who was commissioned last June and has been in active service at Camp Seveir with Field Artillery ever since. He told the students that he considered Maryville College the best spot on the earth, and that to be once more among them, even though as a visitor, was a joy unequalled.

Before giving a full account of a day's routine at a training camp, he emphaisized the fact that those young men who are thinking of answering the call of the country, should think twice before taking that important step, for some must stay behind and continue the important affairs of the nation. Then he pictured the existing conditions of Camp Seveir, dwelled upon the good heartedness and the optimistic bright lives of the "fellows" who laugh and joke, amid the hardships and who, as Lieutenant Brittain put it, "are there for business".

BOYS GO TO ARMY

Many young men continue to volunteer for service in the various branches of the army and navy. The number of names on our honor roll is still increasing. The following is a list of the names of those students who have left school during the past week: A. H. Webster, '18; H. H. Ferntheil, '18; "Pop" Jordan, '18; J. Morgan Cox, '19; G. Stanley Lange, '19; John Hite, '20; Theodore Coulter, Rella Hurst; Craig Rainey, Cleland Ratcliffe, and Emory Jones.

"PRINCIPLES OF GENEROSITY AND HOSPITALITY" PROPOUNDED

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers", and the principles of hospitality and generosity were propounded by Dr. Stevenson in his Vesper Service address. This admirable quality which is the crowning manifestation of brotherly love, was urged upon the early church by the Apostle Paul, reminding the people that some have entertained angels unawares. And today we are urged to entertain strangers, as Dr. Stevenson showed, not with the expectation of seeing angels, but from pure brotherly love.

He discussed the proposition in its triple application to the life of the individual. How is hospitality applied to the home, for proverbially angels do not visit us. "Our angel is a messenger of God—those ministers of God that come to us unrecognized and unexpected".

Again, hospitality was analyized in its application to the realm of experience. "Some times a strange experience comes to us, either through suffering and sickness or through some eventful moment that breaks the monotony of our lives. How do we receive such an unusual experience? Be not forgetful of strangers".

And finally he applied hospitality in our relations to God. "We should have receptive hearts and open minds to receive all true things, though they be new. A new thought, a new yearning after the love of God, though perhaps a strange one should be received, with hospitality and generosity".

REVIEW OF SUCCESSFUL FOOTBALL SEASON FOR MARYVILLE

A Strong Schedule in Which We Lost to Only Three Good Teams. 123 Points For Us to 79 Against Us. Individual Players Do Good Work.

In a year in which college football all over this country was shot to smitherenes, with many schools putting out no teams and others only informal ones, with schedules changed right and left, Maryville is indeed fortunate in having a team of almost standard peace-time ability. Five of our scheduled games were canceled because of the war, and Manager Bryson has admirably completed a schedule every bit as good as our former. In Kentucky State, Miss. A. & M. and Center College, the champions of Kentucky, M. C. has bumped against some of the South's strongest teams and it is no disgrace that we lost to them. The first two of these games were on foreign fields and were only lost by three touchdowns. Center beat us here, but she also vanquished Kentucky State and Sewanee.

Our first game was with Polk County High School and was only a practice game. The second was our ancient rivals Tusculum, in Knoxville. A peculiarity of schedule exists in that this year Tusculum met M. C. twice, a rarity in football circles. The next three games were with teams stronger than we, and we lost. Emory and Henry furnished a good feast on Nov. 17 and Tusculum on Thanksgiving.

Schedule

Sept. 22,	M. C. vs. Polk Co. H. S.
Sept. 29,	M. C. vs. Tusculum
Oct. 6,	M. C. vs. Kentucky State
0		19
Oct. 20,	M. C. vs. Miss. A. & M.
0		21
Oct. 27,	M. C. vs. Center
0		33
Nov. 17,	M. C. vs Emory & Henry
Nov. 29,	M. C. vs. Tusculum

In total points scored we have 50 per cent more than our opponents, 123 to 79. Of these Capt. Clemens has scored most. He has made 6 touchdowns and kicked all our goals, which number 9. He is followed by Bryson and Hurst with 3 each and McNutt 2. Lloyd, Hayes, Eagleton Johnson and Drake have all scored one apiece. Each defeat was a shutout for us. On foreign grounds we scored 39 points to our opponents 40. On our home grounds the record was much better, 84 to 39.

As a team, M. C. has been g[illegible]. There have been several weak spots and several places filled by inexperienced players, but on the whole it has been a team of no inferior ability. The backfield has played extraordinary football, due to the more experienced players in it. At quarterback Capt. Clemens has proved his merit. He has run the team in great shape. has thrown forward passes, skirted ends, scored touchdowns, punted and kicked goals like the veteran that he is. We are fortunate in having him here for some time unless the war interferes. Manager Bryson, at fullback, has given the team the proper stability that only a six-year man can do. His linebucking, interference, tackling and pep stamp him as a born player.

Hurst has played as consistently as any man on the team. No more regular trainer and appearer at practice can be found. He has run ends, caught passes and blocked tackled, and interfered as is fitting for the fastest man on the team. He is a coming star indeed. McNutt, brother to "Hal" of last year's fame was there with the goods all the time. His specialty was to make hard line-plunges, and he was a past master of the art. Hayes and Lloyd did good work, but were unfortunate in having injuries that kept them out much of the season. Witherspoon was a capable full when needed, while Wagner was a good understudy of Clemens.

Our line although not as experienced as the backfield still was dependable on most occasions. Eagleton at end was fast on his feet and could hang on to a pass, one of the necessary requisites for an end. Scruggs and Cooper in their last collegiate games managed their ends very creditably. Garrison was a hard worker and played hard ball when in the game. At tackles two men held down the positions the whole year, Briggs and Johnson. Briggs was full of pep always, and took care of two men usually. Johnson on the other side has the unique distinction of being the only man on the team to play every minute of every quarter of every game. Surely a remarkable tribute to his playing. At guards and center we have had three new players, Jellicorse and James at guards, and McLaughlin at center. They are three big men, combining the necessary equivalents of size, charging and bean power for the center trio. Scholes and House have rubbed occassionally in the line and if Scholes is back he will make a good man next year. Davidson has played several positions, each with a good degree of ability.

It is not yet even assured that we will have a team next season. The war has hit everybody until maybe not enough will be left. The newly elected manager Briggs is rapidly filling out a schedule and announcement will be made soon. If we have a team we will have a good nucleus to start with, and if we do not our record this year will still add glory to next season.

ATHLETIC BOARD OF CONTROL

Football Manager Elected and M's Awarded.

There have been several meetings of the Athletic Board of Control this past week. "Sheeny" Briggs was elected to the football managership for next year and is rapidly working out next year's schedule. Ocey Webb's place was taken by Maud Pardue as a member of the Board.

On Saturday letters were awarded to 14 men. Only eleven worked in enough quarters to automatically get one. These were, Capt. Clemens, Mgr. Bryson, Hurst, Cooper, James, McLaughlin, Johnson, Jellicorse, Briggs, McNutt and Eagleton. At the recommendation of Coach Brown, Davidson, a consistent man, Lloyd who only failed to get in 15 quarters because of injuries, and Scruggs, were also given emblems.

MIDWINTERS CALLED OFF

Both the Athenian and the Alpha Sigma Literary Societies have called off their annual Midwinter entertainments, on account of some of the principal participants having left school at the time when preparations had been nearly completed. It was with regret that this action was necessarily taken by the two socicties. The members of both societies have determined that they will not let the time honored custom, of having an annual Midwinter, fall into dis-use, and they look forward to having their regular entertainments again next year.

However, in order to make up for not having the Midwinters, a recital, will be given in the near future by the mixed college quartette, the members of which represent the four literary societies of the hill. It is understood that the proceeds from this recital will be given to the literary societies.

"OUR BOYS"

During the past two weeks we have had occasion more than once to cheer for "Our Boys". Once "Old Glory" was hung at full mast. Our boys were rallying around the flag.

Several young men who were expecting to be drafted in February have volunteered for army service. They have enlisted as privates, considering it their patriotic duty to their Government and also feeling it is better to go into the service now than to wait to be drafted later—especially since it will be impossible to choose any particular branch after December 15.

A number of fellows who were not subject to draft have volunteered also. An army made up of men with such loyalty and patriotism as they have shown should be able to win any war against all odds.

By the departure of these men the war is brought closer to us. Whether we should follow their example, by enlisting is a question that each of us must decide for himself. The impressive fact is that we have a bit to do also. Many of us can better perform our patriotic duties by remaining in school. Unquestionably there is a need for trained men and women. That fact is worthy of consideration. Let us therefore determine, now on the departure of these our fellow-students, to take advantage of every opportunity afforded us, while here in shool, to prepare ourselves that we may be able to perform the higher and more complicated duties that may later fall to our lot.

ARMY "Y" SENT CHECK FOR $1,000

Total Amount Over-Subscribed. Students Make Sacrifices in Order to Do Their Bit.

On Dec. 5, a check for $1,000, part payment of the amount subscribed to the Army Y. M. C. A. by the students and faculty, was sent to Francis Phraner, the National Treasurer of the Student's Friendship War Fund. The receipts for this amount and for the checks that will be sent later will be framed and hung in some conspicuous place—very probably in the Library.

New subscriptions to the "Y" fund are still being handed in to Miss Jones. The total amount subscribed approximates, $2300. Of that amount, $1297.35 has already been paid, although not due before Dec. 15.

On pay day, those who had been at work last month, came in to the office in shoals to pay their subscriptions. Undoubtedly many have made great sacrifices in order that they might do their "bit". A very beautiful spirit has been shown by the students and faculty who have contributed to the fund freely and unhestitatingly. The "Maryville Spirit" has certainly been exhibited as well as the spirit of patriotism.

We are delighted to know that the total amount subscribed in the recent campaign to raise funds for the Army Y. M. C. A., was $50,000,000—$15,000,000 more than was asked for. This extra amount will enable the Y. M. C. A. to do a still greater work. It will provide for more secretaries and for better equipment to accommodate 'our boys' at home and abroad.

SENIORS HAVE PICTURES MADE

Thursday morning the Senior class had a group picture made, since four of the members Garrison, Watkins, Webster and Turner were leaving on the morning train for the training camp. Before the meeting was adjourned, the members of the class agreed to meet on the hill at commencement in 1920 if the war is over; if not, they will meet the first year after the war is over. The members will keep in touch with the class president, Horace Dawson.

As "Our Boys" go out into the training camps our hearts go with them. We wish them God-speed in their work, and pray for their safe return.

:—:—:—:

The next issue of the Echo will not be put out until after the holidays. We sincerely hope that it will be possible for a large number of students and faculty to spend the Christmas season with their home folks and that those who remain on the hill will have a very pleasant time with no rules to deprive them of moonshine. We wish all of them a Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

ALPHA SIGMA'S ELECT OFFICERS

Lieutenant Sims Gives Stirring Address.

Three events all of importance and interest, occurred at the Alpha Sigma meeting last Saturday evening. Every society member should have been a participant in each of the three, at least in the capacity of a listener.

First, was a brief, brisk and well-prepared program. As the first number H. Dawson gave a reading in his usual effective manner. The second number was "An Appreciation of the men who have left us", by Deck Williams. Deck, being a warm friend to these boys, paid a most fitting tribute to their loyalty, character and friendship. Third, was a very appropriate poem, entitled "The way to France", splendidly rendered by Bob Taylor. The next number of the scheduled program was some ably rendered flute music by Harvey House. The society regrets that Mr. House is to leave us.

The second event was the election of officers which resulted as follows: President, Deck Wiliams; Vice-President, H. Dawson; Corresponding Secretary, G. Lloyd; Recording Secretary, B. Bartlett; Assistant Recording Secretary, G. Callahan; Treasurer, C. V. Miller; Sergeant-at-Arms, Simmons; Censors, Adams, Briggs, and Johnson; Editor, Hal Lloyd.

The third event was of profoundest interest to so loyal and patriotic a group as the Alpha Sigmas. A most timely address, realistic in its picture of camp life, comprehensive in its survey of the "army whole", and its departments; and patriotic in its tone and tribute to our country and her mission. Lieut. J. G. Sims the speaker is now master of the art which he learned while an Alpha Sigma. He has recently received a commission as Second Lieutenant and therefore his advice concerning and descripti-n of the army came first hand. The society sends with him her tidings and awaits his safe return.

"OUR NEW EDITOR"

Turner, Joins Colors; Taylor His Successor.

"Red" Turner, faithful editor of The Highland Echo has seen fit to answer the call of his country. The entire student body feels deeply indebted to him for his efficient services as their editor, and all wish him well in his new field.

Robert L. Taylor has been chosen as the new editor. Mr. Taylor's reputation for faithfulness to every duty goes with him into his new work. He is by no means new to the duties of an editor having served last year as the the very efficient Associate Editor of the Chilhowean. Every student should be a positive contributor toward the support of his paper. What more practical contribution can we make than the loyal, unqualified, support of our Editor, that the good work of The Highland Echo may continue.

MISS MONTGOMERY LED Y. W. C. A.

The regular meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was held in Bainonian Hall Sunday evening.

Miss Emily Montgomery led the meeting, the subject being "The Shield of Faith". The leader gave a splendid talk in which she brought out the essentiality of Faith, the power of Faith, and the demands on Faith.

After the reading of a very appropriate poem by Miss Jonnie Trotter, the meeting was open, and several took part. The special music was especially good. Miss Elizabeth Jones sang a solo, and Miss Esther Montgomery and Miss Bartlett sang a duet.

Next Sunday the Sophomore Class will have a Christmas Meeting that is sure to be very good.

Let all help to make a large attendance.

FIRST FORENSIC PRELIMINARY CONTEST HELD

Eight Men Eligible For Next Contest.

On Monday and Tuesday evenings of last week the first preliminary contest for the choosing of debaters was held in the Athenian hall. The presiding officer was Horace Dawson. The judges were Professors Knapp, Bassett and Hoyt. The fifteen contestants were well prepared, and were heard by enthuiastic and attentive audiences. Eight of these men, with those who have previously made the Maryville College intercollegiate debating teams, will be eligible to participate in the next preliminary contest for the choosing of teams to represent Maryville this year.

The eight successful contestants are Hal Lloyd, Glen Lloyd, Cooper, Stanton, Deyton, Bartlett, Hamilton and Martin.

The other men were classified in the order in which they will be chosen to participate in the coming contest in the case of any of the above named men being compelled to drop out. They were classified in the following order: Drake, House, Taylor, Callahan, Harris, Brown, and Howell. It is very probable that some of these men will have a chance to participate in the next preliminary, which will be held in January.

NATIONAL GUARD FOR MARYVILLE

On Sunday afternoon, a mass meeting of the citizens of Maryville and Blount County was held in the Court House for the purpose of organizing a unit of the National Guard in this vicinity. The army officers present were: Major C. L. Daughtry, of Nashville; and Lieut. Col. D. C. Chapman and Captain J. W. Brownlee, of Knoxville.

An opening prayer was offered by Prof. C. H. Gillingham. Hon. T. N. Brown delivered a very stirring patriotic address, explaining why the Fourth Tennessee Regiment of the National Guard is being formed and urging the men to become members of it. Afterwards a company was mustered into service by Major Daughtry.

Among those who formed the company are Prof. Gillingham and several students. More students will probably join later. These men will be supplied with uniforms, guns and ammunition by the Government. They will receive one-sixth pay while performing only the ordinary drills and will have access to the rifle range at Fountain City. Altho membership in the company does not exempt one from being drafted, the experience the men recive will be very helpful to them in case they are drafted. College men realize this fact and are therefore taking advantage of this opoprtunity to learn something about military tactics.

ATHENIANS

The Athenian Society, college section, held the term election of officers Saturday evening. A number of strong men of the society have left for training camps. We feel their loss, yet the society finds itself in fine shape for the opening of the new term and we still expect to make our semi-centennial year a big year for the Athenian. A Godspeed to the fellows who are going.

The last meeting of the term will be held Saturday evening, beginning at 6:30. A short voluntary program will be carried out. The newly elected officers will be installed, after which if time permits, a few minutes will be devoted to parliamentary drill. The full corps of officers follows:

President, G. Cooper; Vice-President, F. R. Watt; Recording Secretary, T. C. Drake; Program Secretary, Harold Smith; Treasurer, V. B. Hamilton; Editor, Herbert Kiger; Critics, Harry Wagner and Hurst Paul; Janitor, C. W. Dillworth.

FORMER STUDENT UNDER SHELL FIRE

Letter From "Billy" McClenaghan Telling of Experiences At The Front.

Willis C. McClenaghan, ex-'18, who was in school here last year and is now in the Ambulance Corps, is seeing real service in France.

The following has been extracted from a letter received from him:

"We are up at the front now and all are happy. Two days ago I received my first experience under shell fire. It was sure some experience, too. After the first three shells I was alright. At night on this particular post we sleep in a dugout; and that in itself is some experience. I can hear the guns booming now from our base camp, about eight kilometers from the line.

"At times it does not seem as if there is any war at all. In the morning every tihng is so quiet, but in the afternoon and night is when things liven up".

"Billy" is now at the front, driving an ambulance car. He is in a branch of service that is doing a great work. We wish him the greatest success.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR SOCIAL

Last Saturday evening a Christian Endeavor social at the Presbyterian Church was enjoyed by a number of college students. A greater part of the evening was spent in popping corn and in exchanging chairs. Weisbecker and Wagner were proficient in popping and eating—particularly in doing the latter—pop corn. The C. E. invites all college students to its socials and especially to its meetings. The Christian Endeavor is unusually strong this year, and the college students as heretofore are taking a great interest in its work.

CLEMENS FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

To day at noon Bob Clemens was re-elected captain of the football team. He has served efficiently and faithfully in that capacity during the past season. The team will be fortunate in having him back next year to lead them to other victories.

SUFFRAGETTES ANSWER CHALLENGE

TO THE ANTI-SUFFRAGE "ELEMENT"

In answer to the challenge that appeared in the Highland Echo week before last the Equal Suffrage Club wishes to state that its time is so taken up with Red Cross and war work that the club considers that it would be unpatriotic to spend precious time in quibbling over a question that has been conceded by the great men of all countries to be undebatable. And since the great men have decided in favor of woman's suffrage why should we stoop tc argue with LITTLE men (such as saloon-keepers and the narrow minded faction existing here).

Moreover, an anti-suffrage organi zation is not known to exist on the hill. Its work evidently has not become very wide spread. So, indeed, it would be beneath us to deal with a mere antediluvian "element".

We even begrudge the time it has taken to answer this trivial challenge.

SUFFRAGE NOTES

Monday afternoon from four to five in Bainonian Hall the Suffrage Club entertained with the second of a series of teas.

Clicking needles and flying tongues stopped long enough to listen to vocal solos by Miss Sheddan and Miss Newton, and readings by Miss Eleanor Moseley and Miss Townsend, all of which were delightful.

DR. LYLE NOW PRESIDENT OF A. C. C.

The coming of Rev. Hubert S. Lyle, the new president of A. C. C. was a joy to the friends of the College. Dr. Lyle is a college man, was professor in one of our Eastern colleges, then pastor of the church in the same city, and is by experience thoroughly competent to see all questions from the standpoint of the church and that of college as well. He has taken hold of the A. C. C. situation tactfully, and has large and well matured plans for the prosecution of the work. These plans have been adopted by the faculty, the student body, the educational commission, the board of trustees, and finally by the Synod. The plan means a forward movement, carrying in it all interests of the College; the enlarging of the faculty, the construction of buildings, repairing of the administration building, and many other details. The execution of these plans means a new A. C. C., and we have reasons to believe that each year will witness the completion of an important part of the task, and in a short period of time the school will prove to be the pride and delight of every Presbyterian in Arkansas.

Dr. Lyle has watched the development of Maryville College from conditions much inferior to that of ours to its present state with an enrollment of six hundred students, and a number of handsome buildings with several hundred thousand dollars endowment.

1908

Miss Marguerite McClenaghan is employed in one of the banks at Princeton, New Jersey. Her work recently has been largely with the Liberty Loans and Y. M. C. A. War Fund. We print in another column a letter from her brother Willis, ex'18, who is in service in France.

1912.

Mr. Harry Proffitt and his wife, Mrs. Lelia Graham Proffit, '12, are rejoicing in the arrival of a son who joined the family circle a few weeks ago.

1914.

Miss Mayme Maxey has accepted a position in the Post Office at Maryville.

1915.

Addison Moore is one of the Maryville boys now serving in France. His parents received word some weeks ago of his safe arrival.

1916.

1917.

The Secretary of the Class of 1917 has kindly furnished us with a copy of the class bulletin, from which the following items are obtained. We shall draw on it for additional notes in later issues of the Echo. The Alumni Editor would be glad to receive class bulletins from the classes. Let all the Alumni hear through the columns of the Echo what your own class is doing.

Miss Frances Akerstrom, after spending the summer in New York, is teaching this year in the Farm School near Asheville, North Carolina.

"Bob" Gamon, former editor of the Echo, is in Philadelphia attending the Medical Department of the University of Pennsylvania.

Miss Nellie Garrison is teaching mathematics in Murphy College at Sevierville. She reports that she is teaching nine classes in Arithmetic, Trigonometry and intervening subjects.

Augustus Sisk is Principal of the Rock River High School in Cabarrus County, North Carolina. He outdoes Miss Garrison by teaching twelve classes a day. Mrs. Sisk is teaching music, both vocal and instrumental.

THETA EPSILON

Theta Epsilon enjoyed a meeting that was short and sweet Saturday night. The musical part of the program consisted of a piano solo by Ida Gilbert and a duet by Miriam Crum and Mabel Rice. Miss Guilbert plays beautifully; while the excellence of the music which Misses Rice and Crum furnish, is too well known on the hill to need comment. The literary end of the program was upheld by Dimple Swift and Josephine Wicks. Miss Wicks gave "I ain't goin' to cry no more" in realistic fashion; and Miss Swift gave two readings, one concerning William Green Hill and the other a scene in a photographer's studio, both of which showed much skill and talent in impersonation.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

The society had an extemporaneous program which was well rendered for such of its character. C. R. Gleason made a short speech after which David Stafford and Fowler engaged in a lively debate.

The election of officers took up the greater part of the evening. The following were elected to office:

President, Rufus Ford; Vice President, Harvey Pearson; Recording Secretary, H. D. McGrath; Assistant Recording Secretary, Paul J. Kingins; Program Secretary; Huffaker; Sergeant at Arms, O. L. Parks; Censor, C. Y. Latimer; Janitor, Stafford; Editor, H. C. Webb.

After election of officers a short parliamentary drill was carried on which was beneficial to all.

Let every one be out next time for we need men to fill the places of those who are joining the army.

Y. M. C. A. LED BY MILLER

Open Meeting Next Sunday

Last Sunday afternoon, to an attentive and thoughtful audience, Cederic Miller analyzed in a clear manner the word Loyalty; a word which has rung true in so many hearts of late. Loyalty was defined as fidelity to a cause or person to whom we are obligated. A man should be loyal to God, to fellow men, to country, to principle, and to himself. It takes a strong man to be loyal.

In place of the usual service for next Sunday there will be an open meeting. The subject, as appropriate to the Christmas season, will be "Christian Giving". Man can best commemorate the birth of the "Great Giver" by giving. The perplexing question in every mind today is how to give and what to give. Every one is free and welcome to speak on this topic. Come and hear a helpful and attractive meeting.

BAINONIAN

The Bainonian program for Saturday evening was rendered by the Bainonian girls in Baldwin Hall under the direction of Miss Grace Ludman. Next Saturday evening the officers for the ensuing term will be elected, and an extraordinary meeting is expected. Every member is urged to be present, and all visitors will be cordially welcomed.

"DADDY LONG LEGS" NEXT MONDAY EVENING

On Monday evening, Dec. 15, at eight o'clock, the Dramitization Class of the Department of Expression will present a three-act play entitled "Daddy-Long-Legs". The play will be given under the auspices of the Y. W. C. A. The Departments of Music and Voice will assist in the evening's entertainment. A large audience is urged to be present. Splendid entertainment is assured.

"SIR WALTER RALEIGH"

Last Thursday evening the regular prayer meeting service was held by Miss Jewell. The subject of her address was "Sir Walter Raleigh". The life of Sir Walter Raleigh was outlined in a very interesting manner and lessons of patience, fortitude and encouragement were drawn from it. The meeting was interesting and well attended.

PERSONALS

We are glad to note that Huskey, after having undergone a successful operation for appendicitis, is able to attend to his work again.

To the delight of his friends, Phil Sheffey has recovered from a very serious illness and has returned to his home from the Knoxville hospital, where he was operated on for acute appendicitis.

Arrangements are being made for reduced railway rates to be had by students going to Cincinnati on Dec. 19. By taking advantage of these reduced rates, many will be enabled to spend the holidays at home,their train fare costing little more than their expenses would be here.

All her many friends rejoice to have Miss Grace Blank back from the hospital in Knoxville and rapidly recovering.

Lieut. A. B. Caldwell, '16 from Camp Sheridan spent Friday with friends on the hill.

Miss Verna Barrett of Vose was entertained by Miss Jessie Creswell and Winifred Decker for the week end.

Miss Lillian Prentis was called to her home in Kissimmee, Florida by a telegram Thursday. The many friends she had made on the hill regret to see her leave and she will be greatly missed in the student activities in which she took part.

Misses Carrie Sheddan, Elizabeth Dearing, Elizabeth Jones, Beatrice McDouald, Clara Wattenbarger and Jane Morton spent Monday in Knoxville.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, JANUARY 8, 1918. — NUMBER FOURTEEN

OLDEST ALUMNUS OF COLLEGE DEAD

Graduated in 1854 With Honors. Spoke of Maryville Just Before His Death.

Captain Lycurgas Leven Stanford, who for several years was the oldest living graduate of Maryville College, died at his home at Hamilton, Georgia, on October 5, 1917, after a brief illness. Captain Stanford was born at Stanfordsville, Georgia, on December 10, 1831. He was the son of Nehemiah and Elizabeth Wyatt Stanford. On his paternal side he was descended from Joshua and Elizabeth (McGhee) Stanford, who, natives of England and Scotland respectively, emigrated to Maryland with Lord Cecil and settled on the eastern shore of Chesopeake Bay. His maternal grandparent Sylvester Wyatt was a native of England, emigrated to this country before the revolutionary war and settled in North Carolina, was on the committee that drafted the ordinance of separation from Great Britain, and was a soldier in the patriot army during the war for independence. Captain Stanford was reared on the farm and received his primary education at Jefferson Academy in Putman County, Georgia. He afterward attended Maryville College, from which he graduated in 1854.

After having completed his course at Maryville College, Mr. Stanford went to Cumberland University, from the law department of which he graduated in the year 1859. After the outbreak of the Civil War he served four years in the Confederate Army. In 1862, he was commissioned as Captain. At the battle of Resaca, May 14, 1864, he was captured, and was then sent to Johnson's Island, where he was detained as a prisoner for about thirteen months, reaching home after his release in July, 1865.

As soon as the smoke of battle had cleared away and peace had been restored, Captain Stanford, resumed the practice of law. In his profession and in the political field, to which as a lawyer he was naturally attracted and drawn, he won for himself signal honors. During his life he made many close friends, some of whom remain to mourn his death.

Mr. J L. Stanford, Professor of Mathematics in the Georgia School of Technology, has supplied the following information concerning his father.

"When L. L. Stanford entered Maryville College he was unprepared to do college work. At the present time he would have been rated as having completed the sixth grade work. But he had read several ancient histories and some good books. Dr. Anderson examined him personally and found that he could parse and was fairly up on Smith's English Grammar and could work some Arithmetic. He sent him to a drug store to buy a Latin Grammar and told him, when he had committed it to memory to come to him at any time after regular class hours to recite. In three days he was prepared to recite one-third of the grammar and knew it. He completed it in three weeks—sentences and all, and also read De Amicitia in Latin and was assigned to the class in Caesar. In the meantime he was carrying on other work. This was in January, 1851. In July, 1854 he graduated from Maryville College with first honor. His diploma shows the exact date.

"Dr. Anderson did not usually comment on the record of any of his students, but at the commencement exercises in 1854, he said that L. L. Stanford was the first man who had ever graduated with honors in Maryville College in three and one-half years. In his senior year he had fourteen studies, and had to review the entire course offered by the College from the first. He did little reviewing. He knew the course and passed the examinations easily. He had a master mind. He knew his college course sixty years after graduation, and could read Latin and Greek more readily than some men read English. He had a wonderful memory. He received his Master of Arts degree from Maryville College in 1859.

"Captain Stanford spoke of Maryville College only a few hours before his death. He loved his alma mater, and frequently spoke of it and of Dr. Wilson."

HAL LLOYD DIES AT KNOXVILLE HOSPITAL

Illness Not Considered Serious Until Shortly Before Death. Friends Surprised and Deeply Grieved. Resolutions Drawn Up By Various Organizations.

After an illnes of about ten days and after having been operated on for appendicitis, Hal L. Lloyd, aged 18 years, of Vernal, Utah, a student of Maryville College and a member of the Freshman Class, died at the Knoxville General Hospital Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Lloyd. The remains were taken to the home of his uncle, Dr. W. A. Greer, 1715 Highland Avenue, Knoxville, Tenn. Interment will be at Woodlawn cemetery at Knoxville, but funeral arrangements cannot be completed until the time of the arrival of his parents is known.

The deceased is survived by his parents, one sister, Eva Lloyd, and three brothers, Ralph Lloyd and Carl Lloyd, former students of Maryville College, who are in the army, and Glen A. Lloyd, who is still in school at Maryville College.

His many friends on the "Hill" were deeply grieved and surprised to learn of his death since his illness had been so brief and was not considered serious until a few hours before his death.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Alpha Sigma

WHEREAS; God, in His infinite wisdom, has taken HAL L. LLOYD from this world of care unto Himself in glory, and

WHEREAS; our departed brother was a member of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society, and was faithful in the performance of every duty, elevating by his example the standard of society loyalty and work, and standing in the foremost place as an ideal society man; therefore be it

RESOLVED; That we, as brothers in the Alpha Sigma Literary Society, do extend our fraternal sympathy to the family of our departed brother; and that we shall ever think of him as a man of true principles, of high motives, and of worthy ambitions. Be it further

RESOLVED; that a copy of these resolutions be framed and presented to the bereaved family, that a framed copy be placed in the Alpha Sigma Hall, and that a copy be published in "The Highland Echo".

IMPRESSIVE CHAPEL SERVICE

Visitors Present. Stirring Patriotic Address by W. A. Hamman.

On Thursday morning there were present at te first chapel service of the new year, two distinguished visitors—Rev. Frank E. Moore of Mt. Vernon, Ky., a former pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian Church, and W. A. Hamman, a former student of Maryville College, a graduate of the Law School of Chicago University and now professor of public speaking in Muskogee, Okla.

After Mr. Moore led in the responsive reading and offered a prayer, Mr. Hamman made a very stirring patriotic address. Mr. Hamman began the address with a vivid description of a picture of two female figures,—one representing France, tattered, weak and exhausted; the other, Columbia, fresh, erect and strong, offering aid to her. He emphasized the need of such aid and the debt as old as the nation that should be paid by giving this aid. "Twenty years from now the French children will open the pages of history and read of the years 1917 and 1918. May they never read of America failing to do her duty". With impressive eloquence he praised the bravery, generosity and chivalry of the American soldier, and declared that the age of true chivalry has just begun. The one thing required, he asserted, is that those who stay at home do their full share by self-denial and by giving of time, work and money so that the French and the whole civilized world may heartily say, "Long live America".

NEW YEAR'S SERVICE AT Y. W. C. A.

The Y. W. C. A. New Year's service was held in Bainonian Hall Sunday night. The subject for discussion was "The Christ of the Centuries". Miss Martha Robinson led the meeting. Her suggestion that "If our ideals for 1918 are placed higher than those of 1917, we may more nearly reach those of 1917", is a suggestion we should all follow.

The subject was divided into two parts. Miss Mamie Wilson spoke on "The Christ of the Centuries in other lands", first giving a brief history of the growth of Christianity and missionary work; and next the great advance that Christianity and Christian morals are gaining in allied armies and camps, and in the country of Belgium.

"The Christ of the Centuries" in the United States was presented by Miss Mary Bigelow. Some of her points were that the success of the United States is due to the christian principles of our country from the time of the Pilgrims and the constitution to the present day; that our wars have been fought for liberty, and the principles of freedom, first for ourselves, then for the slaves, for the Cubans and now for world freedom. The open meeting was exceptionally beneficial because so many good resolutions were given.

Miss Emma Miles sang "The Light of Heaven's Own Day". And Miss Mary Jane Hartman played "Harmonies du Soir" by Pachulski.

The meeting next Sunday will be lead by Mrs. Alexander. The subject will be "The Symbolism of the Flag".

Those men, subject to draft, who enter school this term will have pro-rata tuition and room rent refunded to them in case they are called into military service. There should be no reason, therefore, for any of the students staying out of school this term for fear of being drafted in February.

MILLIGAN COLLEGE SUFFERED DEFEAT

Basketball Game Close and Exciting. Final Score 23-18.

On December 12th., the varsity basketball season started off with a victory over Milligan College. The final score was 23-18 and the game was close and exciting at all times. The score see-sawed back and forth with first one ahead and then the other. The half ended with 12-11, only one point difference.

Maryville's squad some twenty strong was out in full strength, but Coach Brown could not afford to run the risk of losing the game, so only the regular men played. Only one substitution was made, Davidfor Eagleton, each playing one half. The team is going to sadly feel the loss of a good forward, Davidson, who has joined the navy.

A crowd that filled the gym on all sides witnessed the game, and at times the yelling and rooting were so deafening that even the whistle could scarcely be heard. There was a crowd of at least four hundred and fifty present.

After such a short period of practice the team displayed a fine array of short passes and general teamwork, although basket shooting is still on the blink.

Milligan was not far behind in these departments and they put up a scrappy game.

Maryville line-up:

R. F., Wagner; L. F., Eagleton; Davidson; C., Peters; R. G., Witherspoon; L. G., Clemens.

HOUSE WARMING AT "HOUSE IN THE WOODS"

The students, faculty and other friends of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson were delightfully entertained by a "House Warming" at the "House in the Woods" on New Year's afternoon. A big log fire blazed cheerily in the spacious living-room fireplace while quaint and charming colonial ladies assisted in serving delicious refreshments of gingerbread, cocoa or coffee. From two to five the guests came and went, warmed by the cheerful glow of the fire and the cordial hospitality of host and hostess. So began the career of the beautiful home whose destiny is fraught with so much of joy and happiness.

OPEN MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. A SUCCESS

The first meeting of the Y. M C. A. in the new year was well attended, despite the inclement weather. "A schedule of conduct for the coming year", was the subject. The time was filled with a series of well-prepared talks which dealt pointedly and concretely with the topic. Some of the contributions were as follows: Be punctual! Be frank in act and word. Take good care of your body. Do not use tobacco. Memorize a Bible verse each day. Take a few moments out of the day to think of the big and eternal things of life. Cultivate a gentle and refined style of conversation. Work hard and along the right lines.

The prospects of the Y. M. C. A. for the coming year are very bright.

SUNDAY SERVICES HELD IN COLLEGE CHAPEL

The regular Sunday morning religious services of the Presbyterian Church were held in Voorhees Chapel, January 6th., on account of the furnace of the New Providence Presbyterian Church being out of order. Depsite the inclemency of the weather there was a large attendance at both the Sunday School and church services. A very appropriate sermon, the text of which was, "This month shall be the beginning of months", was delivered by Prof. C. H. Gillingham.

PRESIDENT WILSON LEAVES FOR CHICAGO

Necessary For Him To Be Absent Until Commencement To Secure Funds For College.

President Wilson has decided that it will be necessary for him to spend most of the time from now to commencement in the field trying to secure funds for the college. There will be a deficit of at least $10,000 in the current expense account unless special help is secured to meet the increased expenses and the losses of the year. The coal bill is $5,000 larger than last year, and the receipts from students will be $5,000 less than last year. Then, too, the General Education Board has kindly offred to pay to the college the interest on $25,000, its share of the first $100,000 of the Centennial Fund of $325,000, provided that the college by the first of June have collected $75,000 of that first $100,000. About $50,000 of this $75,000 has been collected in the past two years; so if $25,000 more can be collected by June, the interest on the full $100,000 will hereafter be available.

The exigencies of the case then seem to make it necessary that President Wilson shall go out into the field in spite of the war and its monopoly of public interest and benevolences.

President Wilson's first visit will be to Chicago and the Northwest, where he will spend the next two or three weeks. After the February meetings he plans to go to New York and the East for the spring campaign. Such work is surrounded by many difficulties in times of peace, and, of course, by many more in times of war. Providence, however, can make such campaigns successful, even in such times as the present.

The backing of the president in his arduous undertaking by the sympathy, prayers and loyalty of the student body will strengthen him greatly for his task.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT

This evening at 8 p. m. the Maryville College girls' basketball team will meet Johnson Bible College in a battle royal. The Johnson Bible girls defeated Murphy College who defeated Maryville last term. One of M. C.'s star players will be out of the game considerably weakening the team.

Come out and bring your tin horns, pans and drums and root for a victory. It will be a hard game.

ANNUAL PRAYER MEETING HELD BY FACULTY

The annual New Year's prayer meeting, held at President Wilson's home on Sunday evening, Jan. 6, was conducted by the President, who spoke on the subject, "Be of good cheer for I have overcome the world". He emphasized that one is commended to be of good cheer and that partnership with Jesus Christ makes this possible, even in this war year so full of sorrows and uncertainties.

Many of the teachers added helpful thoughts, and every one left the meeting inspired for the New Year's work. On the whole it was one of the most interesting and most helpful services of the whole school year.

CURTAINS FOR PEARSONS HALL

Pearsons Hall has been very much improved by lovely cream scrim curtains at all the hall and balcony windows. The girls wish to thank the College Pastoress for this assistance towards a more homelike atmosphere and will strive to show their appreciation by an added zeal in improving each of their college homes—their rooms.

A NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION

At the beginning of this New Year, with the clouds of war hanging so heavily above us, and in times so trying and so uncertain, the forming of good resolutions is far more appropriate than ever before. Former students of the College, not to mention the millions of other men, have had to sacrifice their hopes and ambitions that they might do their share in making the world safe for democracy. We who are here now have been spared from that sacrifice. As yet our hopes remain unshattered. We are still permitted to pursue the 'even tenor of our way', while our brothers undergo all manner of hardships for a cause we all love. We have not been called into military service as have been our brothers. Our lot is far more pleasant than theirs, but our duties are none the less imperative. Their duties are in the training camps and at the front. Our duties are here in school. They fight the battles of today. We will offer our services tomorrow. Our duty is to prepare ourselves that we may better perform the duties that will fall to our lot in the future. It behooves us to waste no moment and to spare no effort in shaping our latent abilities into a form of greater usefulness. Let us hereby resolve, at the beginning of this New Year and at the beginning of this new term, to be more faithful to our duties than ever before, to make this the best year of our lives, and to make of ourselves the very best men and women.

THE DEATH OF A FELLOW STUDENT

In the loss of our beloved friend and fellow student, Hal Lloyd, we are touched with deepest grief. Our heart-felt sympathy goes out to his brother Glenn A. Lloyd, who is a member of the Senior Class, and to his other brothers, who also have attended Maryville College. On the "Hill", Hal was respected by all who knew him. In his classes he ranked among the foremost. Although this was his first year in college he played a prominent part in nearly every phase of college activity, winning for himself a place on both the foot-ball and the basketball teams, and coming out in the first place in the preliminary contest for the debating team. Even though we are saddened beyond expression by the death of our fellow student, we find consolation in the thought that he has been transported from this earth so full of trials and hardships to a world of eternal peace and joy.

A THREE-FOLD NEW YEAR'S RESOLUTION, "I OUGHT", "I CAN" AND "I WILL"

(BY DR. STEVENSON)

"I propose to you on this first Sabbath in 1918", said our College Pastor, "a good, strong resolution with which to bind yourselves to truth, virtue, and honor throughout the days of the New Year. This cord of resolution is composed of three strands,—"I ought", "I Can", and "I will". The logical sequence in this resolution is sufficiently plain. "I ought", means Duty, of which every man has at least some convictions. Then, since it cannot be our duty to do an impossible thing, therefore "I can", follows the perception of obligation. And if "I can" do what I see "I ought" to do. Then surely the declaration "I will" do it, should naturally follow.

One great thing distinguishing man from every other living creature on earth is that he has a conscience, and that he has the knowledge and the power enabling him to say, "I ought", and "I ought not".

Ever since man began to think and to reflect upon life the rivalry between Duty and Inclination, between "I ought to do this", and "I'd rather do something else", has been very keen.

'I am glad to believe that the great majority of the students on College Hill are earnestly striving to keep conscience and a strong, true sense of truth and honor alive and active.

Such young men and women are the savoring salt of our institution, and from their ranks shall come forth those who shall be the staunch, supporting pillars in both state and church.

'With regard to the second strand in the cord of our proposed New Year's Resolution,—"I can",—let me urge all to turn a deaf ear to those who would tell us that it is impossible to live a christian life in the midst of present-world conditions.

"Difficult it doubtless is, even as it always has been, and always will be—the best things in any line of human achievement have never been easy to attain,—but it is not impossible. God never requires the impossible. We know perfectly well that we have the choice between good and evil; we know perfectly well that we are not chained the helpless slave of circumstances; we know perfectly well that we can assert ourselves, resist evil, and conquer temptation, and in our heart of hearts we will, and want to do so. It is not enough to say "I ought"; it is not enough to follow this up with "I can", unless we grow to say, and to mean it when we say, "I will".

That endowment which above all makes this man a man, is his possession of will, the power to shape his own character and determine his own destiny. It is for us to cultivate this power of will, this ability to choose and refuse, until as we realize we "ought", and recognize we "can", we shall not follow or fail to say "I will". Do not be discouraged if you will be weak,—God is both able and willing to make His strength perfect in your weakness. Do not despair because you have been beaten and baffled again and again by some overpowering temptation.

Go to any Salvation Army barracks, or Christian Settlement House in the lowest slums, and you will find men whose flabby wills had been pulverized beneath the blows of repeated transgressions, and yet when such men took Christ into their lives, He gave strength to their weak wills, and made them strong to stand and brave to conquer. But even Christ the omnipotent Son of God cannot help unless we are ready and willing to let Him.

'So since I wish you young men and young women to grow up to, and stand fast in, the liberty with which Christ makes His children free, as you stand on the threshold of the New Year, facing its great duties and precious opportunities, I beg of you to say with all your hearts,—"I ought", "I can", and with the help of God "I will".

"DADDY LONG LEGS" A GREAT SUCCESS

Department of Expression Requested to Repeat Play In Local Theatre. Benefit of Red Cross.

Friday evening, December 14th, the Dramitization Class of the Department of Expression presented in a very delightful manner a four act play entitled "Daddy Long-Legs", by Jean Webster. A large and appreciative audience was present. The proceds went to the Y. W. C. A.

The chief interest of the play centered about Judy Abbot, an orphan in the John Greer Home, and Jervis Pendleton, a member of the board of Directors in the institution. Unknown to Judy, Jervis Pendleton sends her to college. The play is made up of Judy's experiences in college and in the home of Mrs. Semple, with whom she spends the summer vacations.

The cast of characters includes the following:

Horace Dawson, Robert Taylor, Deck Williams, O. H. Logan, Josephine Wicks, Maude Pardue, Gail Wilson, Esther Covert, Doris Wilson, Helen Lewis, Beatrice Wilson, Agnes Dolvin, Troy Haddox, and Genevieve Gibson.

Splendid music was furnished by the Departments of Piano and Voice.

The play was presented so successfully and made such a favorable impression upon the audience that the Department of Expression has been requested to repeat it for the benefit of the Red Cross Association. It will probably be given within a few weeks in one of the local theatres.

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Society begins the new year in good shape and with very bright prospects. The loss of the boys who have entered military service is much felt, particularly in the college section, but those who are left are the more determined to make this semi-centennial year a big year in our history.

The first meeting of the year was a joint meeting called on the evening of January 2nd., for the purpose of hearing an address by W. A. Hamman, a renowned former Athenian and one still deeply interested in the society.

On the first Saturday evening, as usual, a joint program was rendered. The members and a goodly number of visiting new students were on hand early and the meeting opened a little before the appointed time.

The new president, F. G. Cooper, in his address of welcome, struck the key-note. Certainly every Athenian should rally to the support of the enthusiastic president, and many new fellows with them.

A good program of music, reading and debate was rendered, with every performer on the job, in Athenian fashion. Later several of the visitors spoke, some expressing their wish to join the society.

This week the sections will meet separately. See programs in the bulletin board.

New students are cordially invited to come into the old society of the owl and the crescent. They will be made to feel at home among the Athenians and will find entertainment and agreeable conditions for literary development.

BIG FEED ENJOYED

Tommy Loft was the delighted recipient of a huge and generous Christmas box from Teddy Higginsbotham during the holidays and a most enjoyable banquet was the result. Plates were laid for nine, the guests being Mary Heard, Minnie Hunter, Ashton and Dexter Clayton, Carrie Sheddan, Mamie Witherspoon, Celeste and Elinor Moseley and John Witherspoon. Later in the evening Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson and Miss Caldwell assisted in making the evening a most joyful one.

L. E. Davidson, S. R. Daughty, and "Ducky" McNutt joined the Navy just before school was dismissed for the holidays.

ALPHA SIGMA

The Alpha Sigma Literary Society began the New Year and also the new regime of Deck Williams as president in a most auspicious manner on last Saturday evening when both sections met in joint session. The hall was almost full and an enthusiasm was present that has been lacking the past few meetings. The opening number on the program was a piano solo by Robert Adams which was enjoyed so thoroughly as to call for an encore. President Williams followed with an address of welcome, pointing out the advantages that the society offers to the new members, showing the real Alpha Sigma pep, and telling all their duties in plain English. He made one of the best speeches of his life. Two "Bobs" came next with a debate on the subject, "Resolved, That a League of Nations should be formed to Enforce International Peace" Bob Taylor upheld the affirmative and Bob Bartlett the negative. The debate was by far the best prepared and the best delivered of any debate this school year. The decision of the judges was rendered in favor of the negative. In his selection, his masterful delivery and his ease in presentation Horace Dawson rendered a reading that won for him the congratulations of all present. This was by far the best part on the program as every member will attest. Dawson is a fine reader at any time, but he certainly was at his best in the reading which he then rendered. Following the censor's report by Briggs, the meeting adjourned to down stairs in front of Anderson where three rousing yells were given for the society, the Thetas and the visitors. Such a great beginning betokens better things for the society through this term.

"WAR SONG FOR THE STAY-AT-HOMES"

"My Tuesdays are meatless—
My Wednesdays are wheatless;
I am getting more eatless each day;
My home it is heatless,
My bed it is sheetless—
They're all sent to the Y. M. C. A.
The bar-rooms are treatless,
My coffee is sweetless,
Each day I get poorer and wiser;
My stockings are feetless,

A HOOVERIZER

Sunday at dinner in Pearsons Hall a new boy said to the waitress: "I'm not coming to supper—don't forget to tell Professor Walker.

"Willie", said his mother. "I wish you would run across the street and see how old Mrs. Brown is this morning."

"Yes'm", replied Willie, and a few minutes later he returned and reported:

"Mrs. Brown says its none of your business how old she is".

BAINONIAN

The members of the Bainonian Society will hold a reception Saturday night for the new girls. All girls who are not yet members of a literary society are cordially invited to be present.

The old girls are hard at work planning interesting and instructive as well as novel programs for the term.

One of the new features is the Bainonian chorus which will be organized this week. The chorus will give selections at the society meetings every other week.

The officers elected for the new term are:

President, Genevieve Gibson; Vice President, Edith Davis; Recording Secretary, Grace Bailey; Program Secretary, Winifred Decker; Literary Critic, Maude Pardue; Music Critic, Marion Henry; Censor, Nellie Lippert; Sergeant-at-Arms, Elizabeth Jackson.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

What promised to be one of the worst terms in the history of the Junior Athenians has turned out to be the most successful. The surmounted difficulty of furnishing the new hall seems to have instilled into the members a confidence and love for the society that is finding an outlet in literary work of a better quality than usual. The debates of the term have been especially interesting for the society has a large number of debaters of the first class. Of the papers read one on Mohammedanism, by Wm. Momary, deserves special recognition.

The society is looking forward to a term that will be even more successful than the last for it has an abundance of talent, both of old and new. The return of Norman Black and Wm. Dillinger, make the prospect for the future brighter than ever for they are two of the strongest literary society men on the hill.

THETA EPSILON

Theta Epsilon will hold its first regular meeting of the term on Saturday, January the 18th at six-fifteen p. m. The new girls are cordially invited. Members will be received after the new students have had an opoprtunity of visiting both Literary Societies.

PERSONALS

A. B. Sears is teacher and athletic director in a high school at Solfax, Illinois. The student body miss him here and trust he will be back.

Miss Mary Camp so well-known here a few years ago has subscribed for The Echo to keep in touch with happenings on the "Hill". She is now at Chambersburg, Pa.

Miss Lelah Jarret whose stay in Maryville was short but pleasant to her many friends, now has a good position in the schools of South Pittsburg, Tenn.

"Judge" Turner and "Red" Hayes who left school just before the holidays are now together in the 241st. Aero Squadron of the Aviation Corps located at San Antonio, Tex. The other boys who left with them are scattered all over the camp. "Judge" has already been promoted to First Sergeant.

Sergeants Howard H. Wilson, '15, and Robert Wood Wright have been appointed to the Officers' Training Camp at Leon Springs, Texas. The camp will begin work on January 5th.

Robert S. Gamon, '17, editor of the Echo last year, and now a student in the University of Pennsylvania, has recently enlisted in the Medical Officers' Reserve Corps. This branch of the service is at present allowing the medical students to continue their course.

Reid Garrison, a member of the Class of 1918, who joined the Aviation Corps during last term, has been promoted to First Sergeant. He expects to sail for France within a very short time.

Dean Barnes was indisposed last week and was unable to meet his classes on Thursday and Friday.

ALUMNI NOTES

1909.

Rev. H. B. Phillips is now pastor of the Cleveland St. Presbyterian Church of Nashville, having moved there from Cowan a few months ago. His new congregation showed their appreiation of him by presenting him with a watch at the Christmas service.

Miss Almira C. Bassett, who is teaching Latin in the High School at Waterloo, Iowa, spent the holidays with home folks in Maryville.

The following item from the last issue of the Maryville Enterprise will be read with sympathy by the many friends of Lieut. and Mrs. Brittain. We understand that the accident did not prove to be as serious as was at first feared:

"Mrs. J. F. Brittain was called to Greeneville, S. Car., Saturday by the critical condition of her grandson, the son of Lieut. and Mrs. D. J. Brittain, who was burned accidentally. Particulars are not yet obtainable, but the message stated that the little one, just past two years old had been seriously burned by its clothing taking fire from a spark. It is thought the spark came from an open fire place. Lieut. Brittain is in the army, with the 114th Field Artillery."

1913.

William E. Moore, who received his Master's degree at Chicago last summer is teaching history in the High School at Okemah, Oklahoma. He spent Christmas at home in Maryville.

Mrs. C. H. Newell, the mother of Miss Ruth Newell, '13, died at her home in Knoxville on Friday night, January 4, at 8 p. m. The funeral services were held Monday at Knoxville. Friends of Miss Newell regret the loss of her mother and extend to her their condolences.

1914.

Miss Jonnie McCully Taylor visited with relatives in Maryville at Christmas time.

1916.

Miss Edna Foster left last week for Crosby, North Dakota, to accept a position in the High School at that place. Prof. Volta F. Goddard, '13 is Superintendent of the Crosby Schools.

1917.

Miss Lena Pardue spent last summer doing summer relief work in a hospital in Philadelphia. In the fall she commenced work in the Cincinnati Conservatory, but was called home by her mother's illness. She has accepted a position in the Maryville College Preparatory Department for the remainder of the school year.

Miss Annie Pleasants is teaching at Cades Cove, Tennessee. She spent a few days with her sister in Maryville during the holidays, walking ten miles over the mountains each way.

To the delight of the students the Dean is out again and is able to attend to his work.

Harry H. Ferntheil and Herbert J. Jordan, '18, are pleasantly located at Camp Joseph E. Johnson, Florida. Mr. Jordan is in the Motorcycle Co. No. 1. This company expects to be called to France at any minute, since their school is over. Mr. Ferntheil is in Class A of the Provisional Office Workers Co. No. 3. His school has just started and will last from six to ten weeks, at the end of which time some will be appointed as corporals, sergeants, or second lieutenants. The climate is delightful and the quarters are comfortable, the men are congenial; while the people in Jacksonville treat the soldiers with great kindness. Messrs. Ferntheil and Jordan are teachers of Bible classes at the Y. M. C. A. They are "with the colors"—the stars and stripes and the red triangle.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, JANUARY 15, 1918. — NUMBER FIFTEEN

JOHNSON BIBLE SNOWED UNDER

Girls' Basketball Game A Complete Walk-Over. Final Score 57-9.

On Tuesday night, Jan. 8., the girls' basketball team continued on their way to the customary girls' championship by towing into camp the strong Johnson Bible College quintet. For the sake of courtesy it can be called a game, although in reality it was like almost all other girls' games, a complete walk-over. The half ended with the score 37 to 3 for Maryville, and when the final whistle blew this had been further increased to 57-9. At no time did the visitors become dangerous and the ball was in M. C.'s territory practically the whole game.

The star of the game was "Bee" Marshal. Her shooting verged on the spectacular, and the rapidity of her shots amazed even the home rooters. An even two dozen times the ball was caged through the hoop, a sufficient number to win any game by itself. Edith Davis at the other forward position was able to play a good heady game, scoring some herself though she acted mainly as a feeder to "Bee" Marshall. The center should be given credit for great jumping. Not once did the opposing center outjump her and the large score was due to a large extent by obtaining the ball on the jump-off. The guards played true to form, Sue Nuchols holding down Mary Johnson closer than in any previous game of the latter's.

It was Mary Johnson who is responsible for all the visitors' points, and when she had the ball she displayed some pretty floor work. But she was held too close to do any damage.

An enthusiastic crowd of 450 cheered and yelled at their first opportunity in 1918.

BASKETBALL TONIGHT MARYVILLE vs. TUSCULUM

This evening at eight o'clock Maryville meets its ancient rival, Tusculum, on the basketball floor. A game between these schools is always close and exciting and this year will be especially so. The usual infallible quintet of ancient days has been weakened by the loss of two star players—Clemens and Garrison, but despite this fact the squad looks pretty good. Tusculum is reported to have a husky bunch that expects to put up a scrappy fight. Before Christmas they beat Milligan College worse than M. C. Last night at Knoxville, Tusculum lost to U. T. by only two points, the final score being 21-19. It was a fast game and clean throughout. Had Tusculum been able to throw fouls, she would have won. At best, tonight, Maryville can expect to beat them only by a close score. So let everyone come out and fill the gym from orchestra circle to nigger heaven, and be prepared to help the boys win a hard fight.

The chapel of the University of Tennessee will soon be adorned by two flags—a large one of silk, and a service flag which, being unable to hold the numerous stars, will have a number on it. —Exchange.

BATALLION TO HAVE UNIFORMS

Raw Recruits Being Taught The Rudiments of Military Tactics.

A special called meeting of the men taking military training was held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium on Saturday afternoon, January 5 to consider equipping the batallion with uniforms. Commandant Gillingham had received special prices on military supplies from a Philadelphia clothing company. After a short discussion several of the men decided to procure these uniforms. Measurements were taken and the first order was forwarded Tuesday. Another order may be sent in at a later date if a sufficient number of men desire equipment.

At three o'clock Wednesday afternoon, January 10th., the batallion received its first order of the year to fall in. Among those obeying this order were several "rookies". These were divided into squads under "non-coms" and drilled in the school of the soldier. Guns were issued to the old men and they were given a "stiff" drill in the manuel of arms.

At the same time, while the men were drilling in the Swimming-pool the girls were doing "right face" and "about face" in the gymnasium. They, too, had a few "raw recruits" showing signs of awkardness, which will disappear after a few days of drilling. The girls have two companies and they make a dandy good showing along side the boys.

The whole batallion, both men and girls, is beginning to make a very formidable appearance. When the uniforms arrive the old campus will begin to breathe quite a military atmosphere with the guns and the swords and the khaki.

ALARMING SHORTAGE OF COAL SUPPLY

There was quite a bit of commotion among the students Saturday evening when the surprising announcement was made at the Boarding Club that only two meals would be served on Sunday, that there would be no church and Sunday School services in the chapel, and that lights would be turned off in all the buildings at an earlier hour each evening. One blow at a time was not sufficient. Close on the heels of this announcement followed another that an unwelcomed vacation is impending, that the coal supply is sufficient to last only about ten days, and that school will have to close unless more coal can be secured or unless there is a favorable change in the temperature.

It has later developed that the college is trying to save fuel whereever possible and that on account of the general shortage of fuel there is a great difficulty in securing coal.

In order to avoid the possibility of having to close school it has been decided to shut off light and heat one hour earlier each evening; also to close during the week ends all the buildings except the dormitories. This policy of saving fuel is not only a necessity but is also good patriotism. Therefore the college feels that, while private families lack fuel, and factories making war necessities have a meager supply, public institutons should make every possible saving of fuel consistent with efficient work. The cooperation of the student body in the form of turnng off unnecessary lights and the like, will be welcomed. At the same time they too may perform a patriotic duty.

LYCEUM NUMBER NEXT TUESDAY

Schumann Quintet Renowned For Educational And Entertaining Program.

The Schumann Quintet will present in Voorhees Chapel next Tuesday evening, one week from tonight, at eight o'clock, what will be perhaps the most entertaining number of the whole Lyceum Course. The Redpath Lyceum Bureau recommends this company as one of the very best musical companies available. Classical music will be rendered in such a manner that it will be appreciated by every one present. Mr. Lampert, in his historic introductions and interpretations has a real message for the masses and the Schumann programs, according to those here who have heard them, are as educaitonal as they are interesting.

A large audience is urged to be present. Season tickets for the remaining three numbers of the Lyceum Course will be sold for $1.20. Single admission for each number will be fifty cents.

SCHUMANN QUINTET.

Headed by Mr. Carl Lampert, for nine years first violinist with the Theodore Thomas orchestra, the Schumann Quintet is to appear here in an evening concert. This company brings a genuinely new idea—that of presenting symphonic concerts with a company of only five musicians. To secure this effect an especially constructed organ is carried. It gives all the reed and wind effects of a large orchestra and, combined with the piano and stringed instruments, produces results at once surprising and unique. To create added interest the quintet gives historic introductions to its programs.

In addition to Mr. Lampert, the company consists of Mr. Carl Portune, a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music; Miss Helene Portune, dramatic soprano and concert violiniste; Mrs. Grace Kaplun, concert pianiste, and Mr. Harry Kaplun, cello virtuoso. Mr. Kaplun formerly was a member of the Cincinnati Symphony Orchestra.

The Schumann Quintet makes popular such interesting numbers as Mozart's "The Marriage of Figuro," Wagner's "Tannhauser" and Liszt's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 2."

MR. PAUL SPEAKS

At the regular chapel service, Wednesday morning, Jan. 9, Rev. G. W. Paul, pastor of the Methodist circuit of Maryville, and the father of Ruby and Hurst Paul, who are students here, led the worship and made a short talk on "Service". Mr. Paul asserted that "service" is the keynote of life today". From his subject he drew several lessons which were of much interest, particularly the though that there are many worse things than war. For instance, he said that the spirit of "don't care" is a worse thing than war.

Although Mr. Paul has been living in Maryville for about fifteen months, his work has kept him so busy that he has been unable to visit the college before this time. The student body always welcomes visitors, and will be glad to have Mr. Paul to come again.

FUNERAL OF HAL LLOYD CONDUCTED SATURDAY

Beautiful Service Full of Sympathy and Consolation Led By Dr. Stevenson.

The funeral services of Hal L. Lloyd were conducted at the home of his uncle, Dr. W. A. Greer, at Knoxville, on Saturday afternoon, by Dr. Stevenson, assisted by Dr. W. R. Dawson and Rev. W. T. Thompson. In spite of the extremely cold weather a large company of friends filled the house, a delegation of teachers, classmates, and fellow students having come from Maryville College.

The service was opened with prayer by Dr. Stevenson, and the song, "Abide With Me", was sung by the Senior quartet. Dr. Dawson read in his usual pleasing manner a rhapsody of Bible passages which were befitting and consoling , and then spoke of the poise and calmness with which Hal passed into eternity even in the throes of death. "Such Calmness", he said, "would have been impossible in one who was afraid to meet his God". An appropriate solo, "Some Day We'll Understand" was rendered by Roy Anderson, and a prayer was offered by Rev. Thompson. The quartet sang "Rock of Ages".

An address, full of sympathy and consolation, bringing a message to every one present, was delivered by Dr. Stevenson. He spoke first to the bereaved family, offering them comfort in the promises of God. "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth and scourges every son whom He receiveth". "He doth not willingly afflict the children of men". "Weeping may endure for a night but joy comes in the morning". "What I do thou knowest not now, but thou shalt know hereafter". Dr. Stevenson then spoke to the young people present, especially to the students who were intimately acquainted with Hal, saying that those qualities in him which were so admirable and which made him the favorite of his teachers and his fellow students were the qualities produced by his Christian faith. "Hal has graduated from the school of life", he said. "It may be that he was more teachable and learned the great truths of life more readily than the rest of us, and deserved to enter into the joys of the spiritual world even before those who are older". Lastly, Dr. Stevenson spoke of the comforting power of Christian faith which enables us to stand at the edge of the open grave and to look out into the here-after with implicit trust that "All works together for good with him who loves the Lord". "Jesus Christ", he said "went down into the grave, opened it up, and made of it a passage way into eternal life." He concluded the address with the exhortation: "Let us live so that when our summons comes we too can say, 'I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness' ".

"Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" was sung by Mr. Anderson, and the service was dismissed with prayer by Rev. Mr. Thompson.

On account of the weather interment was deferred until Monday when it took place at Woodlawn cemetery.

BAINONIAN MIDWINTER

Monday night, January 21, at eight o'clock the Bainonian Literary Society will present their annual midwinter entertainment. The girls are working hard, and an attractive and instructive program will be given. Posters will be up and tickets will be put on sale within a few days.

She: "Do you really love me enough to die for me?"

He: "Well, hardly. My love is of the undying kind you know.

JUNIORS CANCEL ANNUAL CONTRACT

Many Reasons Make The Publcation of The Chilhowean Inadvisable.

At a meeting of the Junior class last Friday it was definitely decided not to put out an annual this year. It has been customary for the Juniors to undertake what is perhaps the biggest task in school among student activities, but this year many reasons have combined to make such a course inadvisable.

For some time the air has been rife with rumors to the effect just stated and many have been wondering just what would be done. To these this announcement comes as a relief from the position of not-knowing, to others it comes as a grief.

As has just been stated many reasons have combined to produce this action. All these rest upon the war, for had that not come no question would have existed or would now exist about putting out an annual.

Chief and foremost, the class itself has been decimated to a greater extent by the war than all the other classes in school put together. Out of twenty-nine boys twenty have enlisted or been consripted. Among these were the Business Manager and the boy Associatet Editor, and the original Photograph Editor. With the class decreased two-thirds in boys, even though good talent was left, the staff decided that in view of all present circumstances the year book should be dropped.

From the business standpoint it could never have been a success, or even have approximated a success. Advertisers this year are skeptical about student publications and with the government calling upon them for all their resources, the annual had to suffer. Even after the work of four solicitors the total in advertising only reached half of last year's amount.

Then the fact that so many upper-classmen have been called to the colors, or are liable to be called makes the financial situation on the hill itself precaucious. It is upon these Juniors and Seniors that the formation of most of the clubs and state organizations depends and with a decreasing number in school the chances are that many clubs hitherto in the annual would this year not be represented. The financial burden would have rested upon the girls to a much larger extent than usual because of the boys leaving.

Then again all are called on to save everywhere they can, and an annual is a luxury. Many students could not afford to obtain an annual,

Then the number of annuals would probably have been decreased also, although the cost of printing a large number would have been but little more.

The matter has been thoroughly discussed with the faculty who are unanimous in praise of the step taken.

Then last of all the Hammersmith-Kortmeyer Co., of Milwaukee who had obtained this year's contract very kindly agreed to release the Junior class from its pledge. The appreciation of the class for this most unusual favor is very apparent.

The class and staff at this time take the opportunity of stating that they too share with most other students the sorow that must be theirs at such news, but in this hour of war when all energies must be devoted to the best end, the students must remember that this is their sacrifice, and that the class in taking such action did so only with sincere regret that it should be necessary.

"TWELVE HOURS IN A DAY"

Theme of Prayer Meeting Talk By College Pastor.

"The possibilities and responsibilities of a day" was the subject discussed by the College Pastor at the first regular Thursday evening prayer meeting of the New Year, which was held last week.

Two important thoughts, suggested by Christ's question, "Are there not twelve hours in a day?"—first, that there are twelve hours in a day, and second, that there are only twelve hours in a day—were brought out in a very impressive manner. "It is not long", said Dr. Stevenson, "but it is enough for the tasks alotted to it, for the burdens that must be borne, and the trials and troubles that must be endured. There is all the time we need to do all God asks us to do, but there is not one minute to spare, not one moment waste.

One of the great lessons we need to learn is how to use the hours of each day, how to gather up and utilize the broken fragments of time. The astonishing things achieved by some in these detached intervals teach us the possibilities residing in the remnants of time permitted by many to lie neglected upon the bargain counter of life".

How, then, are we to redeem our days, and make the most of these twelve hours?

Let every day be begun with its season of prayer, for this, however brief, will give a tone and quality to the rest of the day that will ennoble and conserve it. Such a habit will save us from hurry, and yet stimulate us with a sense of divine urgency and obligation. Such a practice will induce a feeling of calmness and a spirit of peace and serenity,—things much needed in these anxious days.

Each day brings its duty, but each day brings also its needed grace and its blessed assurance,—As thy day is, so shall thy strength be'. So we should be diligent, earnest, consecrated, yet joyous, full of hope and peace, and,—

"Build a little fence of trust
Just around today;
Fill the space with loving work,
And therein stay.

"Look not through the sheltering bars
Upon tomorrow,
God will hlep thee bear what comes,
Of joy or sorrow.' "

EQUAL SUFFRAGE OFFICERS

The Equal Suffrage Club met Monday, January 14th., for election of officers and the result was as follows:

President, Elizabeth Henry; Vice President, Mattie Fisher; Secretary, Maude Pardue; Treasurer, Claudia Bogart; Editor, Carmen Park.

Two new members were enrolled and much enthusiasm over the work for the new year was manifested.

Y. W. GIRLS ENJOY UP-TO-DATE CARNIVAL

The informal reception given Saturday, January 5, by the Y. W. C. A. to the new girls, was a great success. It was one of the up-to-date carnivals of the day.

Some of the strongest hearted were brave enough to take their first aeroplane flight. With very little extra trouble, reserved seats were obtained for a rare entertainment of dance and song by two of the Apache Tribe.

The Chamber of Horrors was one of the special features of the carnival. Visitors were struck with horror and trembled at the sight of Blue Beard's wives and the shrieks of hideous devils who were guarding a coffin.

A gypsy and an Egyptain, quaintly costumed, told the future good luck to come to their patrons, at very moderate rates. The carnival band led by Miss Ethel Jackson furnished the latest popular hits to all lovers of classical music.

The Patent Medicine Demonstration produced much wonder and awe at the wonderful results produced. The Topsy Turvy chorus performed a difficult feat which was equally attractive.

The future history of several celebrated moonshiners was given.

Lastly, to show the patriotism of the managers of the carnival, a Hoover demonstration was given in the form of "stick candy to all".

THE CHILHOWEAN

The action of the Junior Class in deciding not to put out the Chilhowean this year, according to the terms of their contract with the publishing company, was certainly well taken. It is a double sacrifice that the Juniors make; they not only have to do without the annual, as do the other classes, but also have to sacrifice the honor of publsihng it. The class is to be congratulated on its unselfish move and the publisihng company is to be commended for its leniency and generosity in permitting the contract to be annulled.

However, in not being more open in their procedure, despite the advisability of their action, the Juniors have subjected themselves to the criticism of their fellow students. The Chilhowean is the product of the entire college. Although the Junior Class is responsible for its publication the other classes and organizations are greatly concerned. In deciding whether the college should or should not have an annual this year, the Juniors assumed a little more than their share of authority, or, to say the least, they were somewhat selfish in their exercise of it. The other classes—not only the Senior, but also the Sophomore and the Freshman—should have been given proper consideration, and should have at least been advised of the action at an earlier date.

This year the publication of an anual is vastly more important than ever before. Although it is rendered more difficult by the present national crisis, it is also made more desirable. Already many of our fellow students have answered the call of our country in her hour of need. Many more of our classmates will have to follow later. The grim reaper will have her toll from amongst us and many times we will have cause for regret if in the future we have no means by which the pleasant scenes and familar faces of this school year may be recalled to memory.

Of course, at a time of such uncertainty, the publication of an annual is too great a responsiblity and also too great a burden for one small class, but for the college as a whole the task would be very small. Many of the students are anxious to have some kind of a year book, even though it be meagre in its pretentions. Any one of the classes can put out a small book, but in order that a fair representation of the college may be had the co-operation of all the classes is necessary. Before definite action is taken by any one organization this matter should be given consideration by each and every class.

VESPER SERVICE IN DINING HALL

Almost Every Student Present. An Appropriate Subject Ably Discussed.

Owing to the bitter cold weather for seme time prevailing in this region, and which made the heating of the chapel difficult, the Vesper Service last Sabbath was held in the spacious dinng room of Pearson Hall. One of the results of holding the service in this unusual place and immediately following a substantial and excellent dinner, was that almost every student was present; and another was that our College Pastor took a rather unusual text, finding it in Job 38:22,—"Hast thou entered into the treasures of the snow?" He asserted that the symmetry, order, and beauty of the glittering snowy crystals created a very strong presumption in favor of a belief in the existence of a personal, intelligent, God.

That this conviction becomes stronger the more carefully the flakes of snow are examined, since one cannot escape seeing that each one of them is perfect, thus differing from every piece of man's handiwork. Perfection is the Divine Trademark, and there never yet has been any cause for action arising from any human infringementts.

"The infinite variety in these crystals joined to their being fashioned under a common law, and under that law are uniform, and perfect, still further deepens this conviction. A law pre-supposes a law maker, and to ask us to believe that all these symmetrical and orderly forms of beauty merely happen, and, more wonderfully still, keep on happening, imposes too great a burden on our credulity. Go back as far as you can in your scientific researches, sooner or later you come to a curtain hanging before an inner chamber, and when you draw it you stand in the presence of God". He showed also how the snow illustrates the text—"Lo! here is the hiding of His power", by referring to the might of the accumulated snowy masses, so silent, yet so stupendous. The heat and cold, the rain and the snow, are God's tools by which He builds and shapes His temple without the sound of axes or hammers.

God's kindness and care for his creation was indicated also in that "He giveth His snow like a covering of wool", thus protecting seeds and roots and tender grasses and grains. But if all these were forgotten he urged that this should be remembered,—"Come now, let us reason together saith the Lord: though your sins be as scarlet, they shall be as white as snow". After all, this is the wonder of wonders in a wonderful world,—there is forgiveness with God!

"THE SYMBOLISM OF THE FLAG"

Mrs. Alexander addressed the Y. M. C. A. Sunday evening in Theta Hall on "The Symbolism of the Flag". "The Symbolism of the flag" said Mrs. Alexander, "may be spoken of in a naitonal way and in a personal way. The Flag is symbolic of Nationalism, it is symbolic of the individual and symbolic of the best we have.

The flag is to us what the Tabernacle was to the Jews.

"The forty-eight stars symbolize the United States. It is not only a flag of service but a flag of united and organized effort.

"Red symbolizes the Red Cross. White symbolizes Temperance, is the badge for the W. C. T. U. Blue is the symbol used for the dogs used in the Red Cross.

"Indvidually, the flag is symbolic of the traits of character.

"Red stands for courage as shown by our boys.

"Blue stands for Truth and Honesty.

"White symbolizes the purity of self-control".

Mrs. Alexander closed her talk with the thought "Though the Flag is only symbolic, it becomes to us what we make it. We can not look at the Red, White and Blue—our flag and not long for the truth.

DEBATING CONTESTS BEING ARRAYED

Dawson Elected President of Forensic League. Coaches Appointed by Faculty.

At a meeting of the Forensic League last Tuesday evening Horace Dawson was elected President to succeed E. K. James who joined the Aviation Corps last term. Mr. Dawson has represented the college in inter-collegiate debates for the past two years and is well fitted for his new office.

Until recently it seemed that it would be impossible to have any debates at all. At the beginning of the school year the debating coach, Prof. Southwick, was called into military service and since then a number of last year's debaters have had to leave school. At present prospects are much brighter. The showing made by those who tried out in the first preliminary held before Christmas was certainly encouraging.

At the meeting, Tuesday evening, Prof. Bassett, representing the faculty made the following report: Prof. Gillingham has been appointed coach for outline; Prof. Knapp, delivery; Dean Barnes, material in Political Science; Dr. Hoyt, material in Social Science; and Prof. Bassett, correspondence.

Attempts are being made to arrange for about four debates. Since the triangular between Vanderbilt, U. T. and Maryville has been called off, it is thought that a single might be arranged with U. T. Probably there will be a dual with Emory and Henry and a sngle with Tusculum, or perhaps a triangular with any two of the above-named schools. Further announcement will be made later.

SENIOR AND JUNIOR ATHENIANS MEET IN JOINT SESSION

On account of the lack of heat the two sections of the Athenian met again in joint session Saturday evening, in the old hall now being used by the college section. A most interesting program was rendered, consisting of parts of what had been prepared by both sections.

Especially worthy of mention was a debate in which Rev. W. E. Coleman, of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church of this place, who is a member of this society argued with William Dellinger, one of the Berea-Maryville debaters of last year, the question "Resolved, that the U. S. Government should take control of the coal mines". Both made their arguments so convincing that when a vote was taken on the question the house was almost equally divided.

Another very good debate on a live question was engaged in by Moody Walker and M. Farmer. Holmes gave a short, but impressive reading, and for the final number Black read the latest issue of "The Athenian" containing lots of original fun.

After the program Weisbecker, a member of the Alpha Sigma and one of the Berea debaters made a very good talk in which he praised the high quality of work he had witnessed in his two visits to the Athenian society. We are glad that such a cordial feeling exists between the two boys' societies.

The Athenians were glad to have so many of the new students with them at this meeting, and urge them to come again. The two sections hope to meet separately this week and good programs are promised. The prep section is planning to organize a quartet. The next number in the series of Athenian historic addresses for this semi-centennial year will be given by Prof. Ellis on February 1, the last program before the "February meetings".

BAINONIAN RECEPTION TO NEW GIRLS

Monday afternoon the Bainonians entertained the new girls at a kid party. In the course of the afternoon amidst the games and crazy antics shouts of uproarious laughter filled the hall. A large piece of manilla paper, a handful of bright-colored squares of tissue paper, and a supply of paste were given to each kid; then the "Busy Work" began. Each kid produced a cubist picture. Much latent talent was stirred, and from the results it may well be expected that a school of cubists and expressionists will spring up soon on college hill.

During the afternoon, pop-corn, ginger cookies, and all-day suckers were served. Later the Bainonian chorus sang "You Said Something", from "Have a Heart". After an afternoon of relaxation the girls departed in high spirits with happy hearts and glowing faces.

PERSONAL

It is circulated in town that the College Boarding Club Cupboard is empty. This wild news was occassioned by droves of boys being seen Sunday night in the New American Cafe, Busy Bee and Southern Cafes.

Delegations from the Faculty, Senior and Freshman Class and other members of the student body went to Knoxville Saturday to attend the funeral of Hal Lloyd.

Miss Mary Mason had a fall Thursday whch resulted in an injury to her spine. We are glad to know that she is now on the road to recovery.

Pearsons, and Baldwin Halls are glad to welcome twenty-eight new new girls to the student body of old M. C.

Sergt. E. S. Campbell is another soldier boy that is a welcome visitor on the hill.

Several students are in the hospital enjoying a slight attack from the Germans in the form of German measles.

Mrs. H. P. Mackey, looking if possible more charming than Miss Ocey Webb, was a welcome visitor among old college friends for the week end.

Miss Bobbie Pleasants was called home by telegram Thursday.

Robert Adams received a telegram Friday evening stating that Ernest K. James will take his examination for the flying school soon. This means he is on his way for a commission shortly. All his friends on the hill wish him the best of success as he "mounts his Pegasus" and fights for Uncle Sam.

Lieut. H. B. Frater, on a twenty-four hour leave of absence from Ft. Oglethorpe, spent Sunday in Maryville with friends.

Cecil Goddard, a former student who joined the navy last spring, has been assigned to the great super-dreadnought Mississippi, the world's largest and most effective battleship, the officers and crew of which number about two thousand men. Since entering the navy Mr. Goddard has already been given two promotions. His friends on the "Hill" are glad to hear of his good fortune and entertain the best of wishes for his future success.

ALPHA SIGMA

The regular Saturday evening meeting of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society was dispensed with last week on account of the hall being made uninhabitable by the zero weather. A good program is being prepared for next Saturday. It will be as follows:

Debate, Resolved, That the United States should permanently retain the Philippine Islands.

Affirmative, Briggs and Wilson. Negative, McLoughlin and Weisbecker.

The Life of General Pershing, Johnson.

The Alpha Sigma Advance, Stanton

Current Events - - - - - Miller

All new men are invited to be present at the next meetng, Saturday evening. Come and receive a hearty Alpha Sigma welcome.

THETA EPSILON

An excellent program was rendered in Theta Hall Saturday evening. Mabel Rice and Miriam Crum gave very pleasing music, as was testified by the enthusiastic applause they received. Miss Sue Nuchols gave two readings which were fully up to the high standard already established by her. The debate was decidedly funny. Celeste Moseley and Helena Turner earnestly discussed the proposition, Resolved, That bald heads have done more for the uplift of mankind than flowing locks. The judges decided in favor of the affirmative.

Next week Theta Epsilon will entertain for the new girls.

1888.

Rev. S. E. Henry, D. D., '88, is in the Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Hansock, Augusta, Georgia. He is connected with the Y. M. C. A. No. 77. "This work", says he, "is very interesting and tremendously important. There are from 35,000 to 40,000 young men here, and the Y. M. C. A. has won a warm place in their hearts; so it gives a man a very fine opportunity to get close to them".

1913.

Miss Nellie Pickens, who with her mother is now living in Maryville, has accepted a position in the Polytechnic High School, where she is teaching English and Latin.

Last summer the Presbyterian church in Decatur, Michigan of which Rev. Hugh Creswell is pastor was burned down. The town has only about 1,000 inhabitants and the church 116 resident members, none of whom are wealthy, but in a special campaign recently the sum of $13,000 was raised, in addition to the insurance, to erect a commodious and thoroughly up-to-date building. The Continent (Chicago) contains an acount of the campaign.

Miss Cora Hopkins is principal in the Annville Institute at Annville, Kentucky, where she is teaching Latin, German and Algebra.

Miss Erma Russell has a position in the island of Porta Rico, where she is teaching in Yabucoa. She is the only American in the town.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

The first meeting of the Ministerial Association was held last Tuesday evening and was well attended both by the members and by others interested in the work of the Association. A special course of lectures, which deal with some of the difficult and knotty problems of the Bible and their application to every day life and which are of especial interest to those engaged in Christian work, has been arranged by the College Pastor. Those who attend these lectures are encouraged to ask questions and to take part in the discussions. The course, although not required of any one, would be helpful to every student in college. If you are interested come out to the meetings at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium, every Tuesday evening, and many perplexing problems may be cleared up for you.

PRE-MEDS TO HAVE SERIES OF LECTURES

The Pre-Medical Association met last Friday evening in Bartlett Hall and dicussed plans for the remainder of the year. It was decided that a book should be bought and studied, and that a series of lectures will be given in Bartlett Hall on Friday evening, January 25, by Dr. Edwin L. Ellis, one of the city's leading physicians. Let all men who expect to study medicine come out and hear him. All students are invited.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

At a meeting of the Sophomore class on Wednesday of last week, the President, Mr. Joel Georges, tendered his resgnation. Mr. Georges has given up his college work, and expects to leave soon for Texas, where he will enter some branch of the service. For the time being, Miss Celeste Mosely, the vice-president will succeed to his office.

The class regrets very much the loss of their President and extends to him their best wshes for success in his new work.

FRESHMEN ELECT CAPTAINS

The past week the Freshmen elected as captains for the class basketball teams Leven Graef and Elsie Dawson. A number of Freshmen, both boys and girls promise to be exceptional basketball players and their class has reason to have great confidence in them. The time set for the games will be announced in the near future.

VOLUME THREE — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, JANUARY 22, 1918. — NUMBER SIXTEEN

TUSCULUM TAKES TROUNCING TUESDAY

Good Team Work Enables Highlanders to Win by Score of 25 to 15.

Starting off with a rush that could never be headed Maryville wiped up with the Tusculum quintet last Tuesday night. The night before Tusculum had held U. T. to a 21-17 score and before the game there were many opinions expressed that M. C. would be defeated. But at the first jump-off, inside of ten seconds of play, Peters had caged a goal. This took the pep out off the visitors and score after score was rolled up. At the end of the first half the score was 17 to 6. Eagleton was working his famous overhand shot from the corner with regularity and five field goals lay to his credit. Wagner was a wonder in covering the floor and in dodging, while the guards by remaining under the enemy's goal kept down the visitors' score. In the second half the team eased up a little and for the first part the teams battled quite evenly. Only one substitution was made on each side, each coach preferring to keep the strongest line up possible in the game. Dugger's long suit was fouls and at that he made up to a large extent the failure of the whole team to find the hoop.

Peters out-jumped Campbell the most of the time and gave M. C. a big advantage. The home team showed vast improvement in team work and big things can be expected in the future. The final score 25-15 is witness enough that Tusculum was entirely outplayed.

The gym was packed with loyal rooters which were kept on tip-toe throughout the game. One accident, most unfortunate, happened when Peters sprained his ankle. This will keep him out of the game for several days and the team will feel his loss.

VISITORS CONDUCT MORNING WORSHIP

This morning at Chapel there were present two visitors who took part in the regular exercises. Rev. Mr. Adams of Burnsville, North Carolina, who is visiting his son Robert, read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer. Then Rev. Mr. George Winn, who for nine years has been a missionary to Korea made a short interesting address, in which he told of numerous incidents that had taken place in his work in Korea. He said that when he first went to the foreign field he thought that it would be necessary to establish his own veracity before he could prove Christianityt, but that he soon found that Christianity needs no proof. As a basis of his talk he took for a text "I am not ashamed of the Gospel of Jesus Crist for iti s the power of salvation to all that believeth". In substance, the speaker said that the Gospel of Jesus Christ is the power that convicteth sinners, that transforms life, and that sustains life. He concluded with a plea that more go out into the foreign fields and fight the battles of Christianity.

It is easier to be good than great—there is less opposition.

OFFICERS' TRAINING COURSE BEING GIVEN AGAIN

Thirty-Five Young Men Being Trained to Become Military Instructors.

Among the patriotic activities of the College, undertaken at the opening of the fall term, was the organization of an Officers' Training Class under the direction of Professor Gillingham. There were twenty men enrolled in the class at the beginning of the term, but of this number eight enlisted or were called into service by the time the term had closed. Of the eight members of the class who entered the service last fall, all who had been in the class long enough to get any considerable training immediately became non-commissioned officers. Mr. J. H. (Red) Turner, not only became a Corporal at the time of his first infantry drill, but within three weeks was made Top Sergeant of his Company. He is now preparing to take up the work leading to a commission in the Aviation Corps.

So great has been the demand for another class of the same kind during the winter term that a new class was arranged for. There are thirty-five young men enrolled. Owing to the crowded condition of the schedule and the very heavy burdens that are having to be carried by all the members of the Faculty, it has been necessary to do the work outside of regular school hours. The class drills one hour on Wednesday afternoons and meets for drill or classroom study, or both, on Thursday and Friday afternoons from three to five o'clock.

The purpose of this course is not merely to train the men in infantry drill tactics, but also to give them at least the rudiments of military science in general and to train each man individually to become a drill master. Curriculum credit will be given to such members of the class as are able to develop sufficiently the qualities necessary to make efficient soldiers and military instructors. All of the men are entering enthusiastically into the work of the course.

CUMBERLAND COLLEGE DEFEATED

Last Saturday night the girls' basket-ball quintet invaded the campus of Cumberland College at Williamsburg, Ky., and towed their team along to a 42 to 29 victory. It was the first foreign gamef or the girls and they are keeping up their record of a clean slate of victories. The team won with superior passing and team work and although Cumberland held the girls to a score the closest thisy ear the final result was never in very much doubt. Dixie Webb got back into the game from which she was absent the last game and she ran the team as a whole on better form. Her shooting helped in large measure to bring home the bacon. So also did the work of Bee Marshall, who can always be counted on to do her full share and then some. They did all the scoring on M. C.'s part and shot goals with their accustomed regularity. R. Archer did the heavy part for Cumberland and only the good work of the Maryville guards kept the score from being reversed, perhaps.

BASKETBALL GAMES ARRANGED WITH U. T.

Manager Witherspoon has just filled out the contracts for two games with U. T. The first is this coming Saturday night in Knoxville at the Y. M. C. A. and the second here at Bartlett Hall the following Wednesday. Last week both U. T. and Maryville beat Tusculum and although M. C. beat them more, a close, hot game will take place at each place. Last year the first game resulted in a win for M. C., but the second a win for U. T. The biggest game of the season ought to bring out the biggest bunch of rooters. Let's go, Maryville!

SOUTHERN I. P. A. ORATORICAL

Miss Simpson to Represent Tennessee. Five Other State Participants in Contest.

The Southern I. P. A. Oratorical Contest will be held here on Friday evening, February 1st., at Voorhees Chapel. Six orators will be present, and the winner will be sent to the Grand National next year. Representatives of the National Association are to be sent here in a few days to help complete the arrangements.

This is the first time in the history of the college for such a contest to be held here, and it may well be considered a signal honor. A still greater honor is the fact that the state of Tennessee is to be represented by a Maryville College student, Miss George Simpson. Last year Miss Simpson won first the local, then tied Mr. William Lowe of the University of Tennessee in the state contest, and later won a decisive victory over him. Miss Simpson is working hard and it is hoped that with the support of the entire sutdent body, she may be able to win another victory and represent the Southern States in the National contest.

With the National Prohibition spirit in the air and the prospect of sending the winner to the National contest next year this will be a historical event in the public speaking of this institution. For two years in succession a Maryville student has had the honor of representing Tennessee in the Southern Interstate, Pat Quinn having won the State contest in 1916. With a home audience behind her Miss Simpson should stand a good chance to come out in first place. The whole student body and faculty should get up a little of the old time pep and rally to her support in this coming oratorical combat.

The names of the orators and the states they represent are as follows:

Georgia, J. E. Avery, Emory University, Atlanta; Kentucky, Joseph Meyers, Jr., Transylvania U., Lexington; S. Carolina, C. F. Pittman, Furman Uiversity, Greenville; Virginia, L. C. Hubbard; Richmond College, Richmond; Tennessee, Miss George Simpson, Maryville College, Maryville; Texas, Lemuel Hall, Baylor University, Waco.

PRE-MEDS TO HEAR DR. ELLIS

The first of the series of lectures arranged by the Pre-Medical Association will be delivered Friday evening at seven o'clock by Dr. E. L. Ellis in Madame Dennee's lecture room. The subjsct of this lecture will be "A few helpful hints to prospective medical students". Upon the attendance to this lecture depends the success of the series. Not only pre-medical students but also others interested are cordially invited and urged to be present.

Mr. Kenneth Thomas who is soon to leave for Norfolk, Virginia to join the navy has been visiting Miss Mabel Harting this week.

MISSIONARY WORK GREATLY NEEDED IN PERSIA

Miss Cora Bartlett Speaks at Prayer Meeting of The Evils of Mohammedanism.

Before a large audience, Miss Cora Bartlett a graduate of Maryville College and since 1882 a missionary to Persia, gave an inspiring and instructive talk on the need of missionary work in Persia.

Miss Bartlett took for her text Romans 8:37, "Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through Him that loved us". She drew attention to the fact that there were three statements Paul emphasized in writing to Timothy namely, "Fight a good fight of faith"; "Be a good soldier of the Lord Jesus Christ"; and "I have fought a good fight". All present were urged to enlist in the fight for righteousness under the leadership of the Captain of Salvation and, especially, to answer the call for help from Persia.

The real fight in Persia is against the Mohammedan religion, according to the speaker, who declared that Mohammedanism is the masterpiece of Satan himself. The fact was made emphatic that there could be no compromise with this religion, which has dethroned Jesus Christ, has provided no remedy for sin, and which has set up as the object of its worship, a man who was passionate, immoral and a polygamist—a religion that has degraded womanhood, taken every noble trait from manhood, and asphyxiated the Persian people in general. Polygamy, child-marriage, divorce and ignorance represent the social condition of the nation.

Miss Bartlett stated that the gospel is being disseminated by doctors and schools. The Mohammedans welcome physicians and American schools provided Christ is not mentioned, but they are told that the two are inseparable. Although converts are often persecuted, great advance has been made since the speaker began her labors.

Toward the close of the address, a plea was made to remember the Armenian massacres, the horroors of which the newspapers could not possibly have exaggerated, as the real conditions were about ten times as bad. Miss Bartlett then gave a brief history of the Armenian people and closed by stating that Armenian people after the war, and that every Christian should put on the armor of Jesus Christ and do all that he or she can to help win Armenia for Christ.

CARD OF THANKS

Although it is impossible to expres the thanks we feel, yet we would remember all those who so kindly remembered us during our great bereavement in the illness and death of our dear Hal. Each member of Hal's family is deeply grateful to Dr. Stevenson, Roy Anderson, the Senior Quartette and Class, and the other friends who came, in sympathy to us at Knoxville, and also to the Senior Class, the Freshman Class, the Alpha Sigma Society, the members of Hal's table, and the dear friends who remembered us with such beautiful floral offerings. Equally sincere is our thanks to those who came in thought and prayer.

Glen A. Lloyd.

THETA MID-WINTER NEXT TUESDAY NIGHT

On Tuesday night, January 29th., at 7:30 o'clock Theta girls, always original, will present to the public a play, excelling any they have ever given before in strength, impressiveness and originality. The public is invited to attend this annual Mid-winter of the Theta Literary Society.

BAINONIANS GIVE HINDU EVENING

Burning Incense and Oriental Draperies Give Weird Effect.

The Bainonian Literary Society reached the usual high standard which she has always upheld Monday evening, when she entertained an interested audience with an evening in India. The purpose was to show the customs and life of the Hindu people, of which so little is generally known and this she succeeded in doing admirably.

The program began with a selection by the orchestra. Then the curtain rose showing an interior scene in India. The strange oriental draperies and furnishings, the potteries and the burning incense gave to the scene a weird and Hindu-like appearance.

Miss Genevieve Gibson appeared, wearing an attractive Hindu costume, and sang a Hindu chant.

Next Miss Marion Henry gave an oration on "The Life and Work of Tagore", the Hindu poet, and the author of the play which followed. In this Miss Henry was indeed a fair representative of the oratorical talents of the society.

A musical reading entitled, "On the Road to Mandalay" was well rendered by Miss Marie Townsend.

After selections by the orchestra, the second part of the program, a play entitled, "Chitra", was given. This classic play set in India, was the story of a king's daughter, Miss Helen Lewis took the part of Chitra, and Miss Pardue the part of Arjuno, a Hindu prince and Chitra's lover. Miss Jessie Creswell was the Goddess of Love and Miss Emma Miles was the Goddess of Youth. The parts were played unusually well and the oriental costumes made the whole play very effective. The setting was a woodland scene, and the strange trees and flowers were oriental and beautiful.

After the play, a Hindu chorus, made up of Bainonian girls, sang a weird, Indian song.

The program closed with a selection by the orchestra.

The atmosphere of the whole evening was weird, oriental, and a most excellent interpretation of the royal Hindu in his home.

SERIES OF LECTURES BY COLLEGE PASTOR

The second of the series of lectures, prepared by the College Pastor to be given before the Ministerial Association, was delivered in Theta Hall Sunday evening before a large gathering of both sexes. Fortunately for the girls it was impossible for the regular meeting of the Ministerial Association to be held in the Y. M. C. A. auditorium last week on account of the heat being turned off Bartlett Hall. Consequently the College Pastor decided to let the girls hear the remaining five lectures of the series as well as the boys. Hence these lectures will be given from now on in Theta Hall.

These lectures in their nature are introductory and supplemental to the February Meetings, and have to do with "the duty and privilege of personal religious work".

At the meeting Sunday evening, such topics as the following were discussed: What is personal work? The need of personal work. What are the essential qualifications for doing personal work?

All those present received some very helpful suggestions. There are to be four more of these meetings. Every one is invited.

A. D. Bryson and "Doc" Brown went to Memphis yesterday to be examined for entrance into the officers' training school, Aviation Section of the Signal Corps.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES

Recently there has been a very noticeable abatement of interest in the work of the boy's literary societies. This has been due in a measure to the lack of the customary stimuli produced by the annual mid-winter entertainments which were called off this year and to the loss of some of the strongest and most enthusiastic members who have entered military service. This lack of interest is absolutely uncalled for as there are enough men on the "Hill" to run a half-dozen literary societies in a much better fashion than those in existence are now being run.

What we need is a little more friendly rivalry between the two societies. Let each society endeavor to put more men on the debating teams than the other society. And above all things let each of us see if we can't make our society just a little better than the other fellow's.

The way to do this is for each member to get every non-member interested in his society and for everybody to roll up his sleeves and busy.

THETA RECEPTION

A unique and highly entertaining reception was held in Theta hall Saturday evening. Every new girl had a date and was initiated into the mysteries of moonshine. Every body had a ride on the train and a share of the peanuts, cracker-jack, and chewing gum. It is impossible to name all the prominent persons in attendance, but all the ladies were beautiful and the men handsome. Conspicious among those present were Count Valle Chauteau, Dawson and his charming bride, Mr. Montgomery, the Collins boys, and Miss Brothers and her fiance Mr. Staater. Mr. Staater, accompanied by little Mabel Rice, voiced the sentiments of Captain Card and Lieutenant Park by singing, "Keep the Home Fires Burning".

The new girls and the Thetas agree in saying that they had a very enjoyable evening.

Miss Eleanor Moseley, the efficient society reporter of the Echo staff, fell last week and dislocated her arm.

SERVICE THROUGH EVERYDAY DUTIES

Another Vesper Service Held in Pearsons' Dining-hall.

With a large number of students present, the Vesper Service was again held in the diningroom immediately after dinner. From an improvised "platform", Dr. Stevenson delivered a very practical and most helpful sermon from the text found in John 17:15, "I pray not that thou shouldest take them out of the world, but that thou shouldest keep them from evil." A few of the high-lights well worth remembering were, "Our great duty is not how to excuse ourselves, but how to most successfully perform our duty"; "Laziness is no more good piety than anything else"; "The everyday duties are the ballast to give stimulation to our spiritual ship"; "Our monotonous duties will be transfigured and transformed by a wholehearted love for Jesus Christ", and "All great men regarded little things as great and noble".

Dr. Stevenson, in substance, said that Christianity is not an evasion of burdens or a translation out of service, but a helpful training in the world. Christ claims to take the world as it is and benefit it and make it better". God has given us the hope of Christianity not only to cheer our own hearts but that we may illumine other souls. "As the locomotive needs friction in order to accomplish any work, so one needs the friction from the ordinary duties of life to grow and be of the greatest service.

Finally, "If we get discouraged we should remember that for thirty years Christ lived a peasant's life and He was God. So let us stay in the world and pray to be made better and to be kept from its evil".

ATHENIAN

Last Saturday evening the two sections of the Athenian Society resumed separate meetings, each section in its own hall.

The college section rendered a short but interesting program. The first number was a comprehensive news review by C. W. Dillworth. Then came a debate on a question as to whether a lasting peace could be established after the present war, D. Beard defended the affirmative and F. A. Podesta the negative. The latter won. The last number was an "Athenian", replete with new jokes by T. Drake.

Two more live, interesting programs have been prepared, to be given before the February meeting recess. This week's program includes music, a debate by four fellows, a readng of an oration and a humorous reading.

Everybody welcome.

JUNIOR ATHENIANS

The program for the Junior Athenians was again carried out in the usual ardent and enthusiastic way. The question for debate was, "Resolved, That Aeroplanes are more important in war than submarines". The way the question was tackled by the partakers made it evident that they made practical research and were fully convinced of their respectve attitudes. The debaters were: Affirmative, Gibson and Minarik; Negative, McCall and Murray.

The question also called to the floor many members old and now who expressed some original thoughts on the subject.

An evident fact is that the Juniors will turn out quite a few men who will surely give a good account of themselves in the coming inter-prep debates.

Robinson, the president welcomed the new members.

All men interested in the coming inter-prep debates should connect themselves with the society work. get the practice.

The following men have received appointment to the third officers' reserve training school: Prof. W. L. Johnson, who was here last year, at Camp Sherman, Ohio. Ralph Lloyd, '15 at Camp Lewis, Washington. Theodore Miner, at Camp Upton, New York.

JOINT MEETING OF ALPHA SIGMA

Prof. Shelton Will Speak on "Chemistry and the War",

The Junior and Senior sections met in a joint meeting. The debates, advances and other weekly phases of society were dispensed with and an hour of parliamentary drill was substituted. A long discussion as to whether "Shorty" Weisbecker should be allowed to remain in the hall was carried on. The results were very satisfactory, owing to the fact that he was expelled.

After the business part of the program was over, a card of thanks was read, from Mr. Glen Lloyd for flowers and other remembrances.

A special program has been arrayed for next Saturday night between both sections. This is done to arouse more interest in society work.

Professor Shelton has very kindly accepted an invitation to address the society on the subject, "Chemistry and the War". This is the first war in which chemistry has been used to any extent, and following the lead of the Germans every nation has made great use of this science. France realized her mistake in sending chemists to the front too late to save the lives of some, but on realizing her mistake she recalled all who were left. In no previous war did we ever hear of liquid fire, poisonous gas and substitute food. Professor will give a twenty minute talk on this most interesting subject, one in which every fellow should be interested as sooner or later he shall have to face these same conditions. So everybody come out and hear a real treat.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Esther Covert led the regular Sunday evening meeting of the Y. W. C. A. The subject "Hope" was very appropriate at this time when the war has cast a shadow of mistrust and fear over many of us.

In speaking of "Hope" in connection with the war, Miss Covert said: "Sorrow has come to almost all of us, yet there is a bright side to the war, and "Hope" is almost as general as sorrow".

After pointing out the many bright sides there is to the war problem, she closed her talk with the quotation:

"The settng of Hope is like the setting of the sun, the brightness of life has gone out".

The music was unusually good. Vocal solos by Misses Doris Wilson and Meriam Bartlett, Piano solo by Miss Lena Pardue.

DOUBLE HEADER WITH POLYTECHNIC SCHOOL

Friday afternoon the second string boys and girls went to Polytechnic High School to play a double header in basketball. The first game was between the boys and resulted in a 12-8 score for Poly after a hard-fought scrap. The girls though evened it up by trouncing their opponents to the tune of 26-9.

DEFEAT KNOXVILLE HIGH

Monday evening the second team girls won from Knoxville High School on the latter's ground, 20 to 14. Dawson and Davis did the heavy scoring and outclassed their opponents in every department. Basketball is in full swing now and everyone hopes that the fine records so far made by both the girls' teams may continue.

SOPHOMORE CLASS

At a meeting of the Sophomore Class on Wednesday of last week Mr. Vincent Hamilton was elected president to take the place of Mr. Georges, who has left school to enter the service. We extend to Mr. Hamilton our congratulations and hearty support.

FIVE M. C. MEN IN OFFICER'S RESERVE

In a recent issue of "Trench and Camp", a newspaper published by the Y. M. C. A. for the "Sammes" in Camp Jackson, the names of the following men, alumni and former students of Maryville College, were listed as having received appointment to the officers' reserve training school of the Eighty-first Division at Camp Jackson, which opened Jan. 5:

Corporal Joseph C. Walker, '16; Sergt. William Earl Martin, '17; Sergt., Henry P. Mackie; Sergt. Edgar H. Sawyer; Private Fred R. Stair.

At this school, a selected grohp of men from the ranks of the various units of the cantonment and a number of students from Clemson and Citadel will be trained in the art of modern war and those who qualify will be commissioned as second lieutenants as vacancies occur among the ranks of the commissioned men.

Y. M. C. A. OFFICERS

A business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held last Thursday evening for the purpose of electing a vice-president to succeed E. K. James who joined the Aviation Corps, and a treasurer to succeed J. Morgan Cox who entered the Navy. Both of these men were faithful to the duties of their offices, and in their leaving the Y. M. C. A. lost two of its most energetic and efficient workers. The nomination of Deck Williams for vice-president and D. H. Briggs for treasurer was submitted by the Cabinet. Both nominees were elected by acclamation and the meeting was adjourned.

OTHER COLLEGES

The University of Chattanooga has under construction a new Science Building and Chapel which, it is hoped will be completed by next September. These buildings will complete the sides of one of the most beautiful quadrangles in the South.

The students of Carson and Newman College, with aid from some members of the faculty, have purchased a Liberty Loan Bond which will be set aside as endowment for the college.

The Southern Intercollegiate Athletic Association warmed up its twenty-fourth annual meeting in Atlanta on December the eighth. Mr. B. M. Walker was re-elected as the President of the Association.

That the Mississippi A. and M. boys are no slackers was evidenced by the fact that almost $2,000 was subscribed to the Y. M. C. A. War Work Fund by the students of that college.

The All-Southern football team as picked by Mississippi A. and M. College for 1917 was as follows:

Player	Team	Position
Guyon	Tech	L. E.
Carpenter	Tech	L. T.
Fincher	Tech	L. G.

CODY—PLEASANTS

Sunday, January 13th., witnessed the culmination of a happy romance between two well-known Maryville students when Miss Mamie Pleasants was married to Mr. Frank Cody at Greeneville, S. C. The chaplain of Mr. Cody's regiment performing the ceremony. They will be at home to their friends in Greeneville, S. C. Both the bride and groom have many warm friends here who extend to them hearty congratulations and best wishes for their future complete happiness.

JOKE

"But couldn't you learn to love me Helen?" he pleaded.

"I don't think I could Andrew", she replied. He stood erect, then quickly reached for his hat. "It is as I feared, you are too old to learn".

PERSONALS

Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson are moving into the "House in the Woods".

Lieut. Wiley Boring visited his sister, Miss Ethel Boring Wednesday.

Miss Coulter has been sick for a few days, but we are glad to know, she is now well and busy again.

Miss Anne Armstrong has very reluctantly succumbed to an attack of German measles.

Miss Ethel Jackson who has been ill for the past week with tonsilitis is now much better.

Mr. Clyde Mills of Knoxville has been visiting Miss Amelia Rendou this week. Mr. Mills leaves next week to join the army.

Miss Esther Jarrold had a fall on the ice that resulted in a dislocation of her wrist and a slight fracture above the wrist.

Miss Maude Hite had a sudden attack of acute indigestion Friday night. But we are glad to report that she is now a cheerful convalescent.

The basketball girls chaperoned by Miss Lois Wilson are spending the week-end in Williamsburg, Ky. They played a game there Saturday night.

Friends are glad to see George Harris and Harold Bills out of the hospital, after having routed the Hun which made his attack in the form of German measles.

We are glad to welcome back Miss Loma Rodgers and also to widen the good old Maryville friendship circle to admit another new student, Miss Lola Rodgers.

Miss Genevieve Gibson has undertaken a class in Medical Science. Three of her most promising pupils are Misses Winifred Decker, Minnie Hunter and Emma Miles. The first lesson was very much enjoyed.

Miss Ruby Paul had a telegram from Washington Thursday offering her a position as clerk in the office of the chief of the Signal Corps at a salary of eleven hundred dollars a year. She will probably leave this week for her new work.

Miss Winifred Decker was surprised with a birthday feast Friday night. Delicious refreshments of cake and hot chocolate and cookies were served. The guests were Misses Mary Heard, Maud Hite, Mary and Emma Miles, Jessie Creswell, Corine Humphreys, Winston Newton and the charming hostess, Miss Minnie Hunter.

Ralph ('Jew') Young, who served very efficiently on the editorial staff of the Echo last year, is now working for the "New York American", one of the largest newspapers of Brooklyn, N. Y. On account of the illness of his mother, "Jew" feels that his immediate field of duty lies at home. Nevertheless he entertains high ambitions for his future career in the service of the Master, and intends to finish his education as soon as possible. His many friends here regret that he was unable to return to school and sympathize with him in the illness of his mother.

Bugler Luther E. Johnson of Battery "E" 343d F. A. N. A. Camp Travis, Texas was promoted from private to Corporal on January 2, 2, 1918. Corporal Johnson has been keeping himself in the background for some time, but is rapidly coming to the front, being one of the few chosen for the Battery Commander's Detail. Corporal Johnson also successfully passed the examination, given recently, covering the first three month's work as outlined in the Non-Commissioned Officers and Privates Manual.

ALUMNI NOTES

1901.

A clipping from a Philippine newspaper sent by Rev. Dr. C. N. Magill, '99, brings news of the promotion of Luther B. Bewley, '01, to the position of Assistant Director of the Bureau of Education of the Philippine Islands. He becomes acting chief of that office in the absence of the Director in the United States Mr. Bewley went to the islands not long after his graduation to take a position in the schools. He has been connected with the public school system of the Philippines ever since, and has risen from one position to another. At the time of his appointment to his present position he was Second Assistant Director of the same bureau, and prior to that was Superintendent of Schools for the city of Manila. Mr. Bewley's many friends, who have been watching his career with pride and pleasure congratulate him upon this well earned promotion.

1913.

The many friends of Prof. Volta F. Goddard of Crosby, N. D., will be grieved to learn of the death of his wife at the hospital in Crosby on the twelfth of January. Prof. and Mrs. Goddard were married at Chassell, Mich., while Prof. Goddard was Superintendent of Schools at that place. Besides her husband a little child about a month old is left by the death of Mrs. Goddard. Alumni friends extend their heartfelt sympathy in this sore bereavement.

1915.

W. H. Pleasants is teaching manual training in the Farm School near Asheville. He made a brief visit with his sister in Maryville during the holidays.

1916.

A letter from Harwell Park to Prof. Gillingham states that he is located at Fort Trumbull, New London, Conn. He was rated first class seaman the first of the month, and has been promoted to a position in the commissary department where he has charge of the buying of food and clothing for five hundred men. It is likely that he will be retained in this position instead of being sent on to France.

Lieut. M. B. Crum who spent most of the summer at the University of Chicago, and was later in the Reserve Officers' Training Camp at Fort Oglethorpe is now stationed at Newport News, Virginia.

BOYS FROM MARYVILLE

Boys from College Hill,
We bid you a fond adieu
You've followed the flag of your country
The banner of the Red, White and Blue.

You are the pride of our College
Noble, staunch, and true
Remember, boys, though you've left us
We shall never cease thinking of you.

As you go on your pathways of duty
For the cause that is just and true
With hearts full of love and devotion,
For the banner of the Red, White and Blue.

You are our country's defenders
And no braver can ever be.
Be true as you fight for the colors
That float over the land of the free.

—Harry Pearson.

CONSERVATION

"You used to tell me every day that I was sweet enough to eat", complains the beauteous creature, "but now you only tell me that once a week".

"My dear", explains the gallant but patriotic youth, "I am only following Mr. Hoover's instructions as to conservation of food". —Life.

"Why does Prof. Gillingham call his car 'The True Love'?

"Because it never runs smooth".

PALACE PROGRAM

By the order of the U. S. Fuel Administration the Palace Theatre will be closed each and every Monday for ten consecutive weeks, starting Monday, January 21st. So when you find us closed Mondays, don't get sore at us for not giving you some where to go, but remember that we are conserving just one-third of a ton of coal that day which is that much toward helping our grand old Uncle win this war. On other days we will continue to run as usual.

Wednesday, January 23

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, JANUARY 29, 1918. | NUMBER SEVENTEEN

HIGHLANDERS LOSE TO U. T. QUINTET

In Hard-Fought, Tough-Luck Game M. C. Falls in Defeat.

In a hard-fought but tough-luck game, Maryville went down in defeat before the onslaughts of the University of Tennessee at the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. on last Saturday night. The final score, 28 to 19 does not begin to show the closeness of the play at all times, but from the very start it was evident that M. C. would have to be about fifteen points better to win. This was not due to the superior play of U. T., although in all due credit to them it must be admitted that they played a fine game, good enuf to win most any game.

Usually when U. T. and Maryville get together the result is a battle royal in which no sissy stuff is pulled. The teams play basketball and play it with a vengenance, but this game was conspicious for its docility. This statement seems remarkable when one stops to consider that there were twenty-one personal fouls called in the game, the biggest part of which were made by M. C.; that twenty-three technical fouls were made, M. C. being guilty of twenty of these; that Calloway, the U. T. center was taken out of the game on four personal fouls; that three others were marked with three apiece; and that during the entire game over one foul a minute was called. This made the play uninteresting to watch and all the game proved to be a succession of free throws for U. T. and a few lapses of time in between to see whether Maryville could get a hold of the ball or not. It was a disappointment to the fans to see such a slow game as did take place.

Maryville played a good game, not dirty as that big number of personals would indicate, but they put up a scrappy game at all times. The first half ended with U. T. leading by the score of 15 to 9. At the beginning of the second half M. C. started in with a rush that in the middle of that period had brought the two teams up to a tie. The cheering of the crowd was able to put new psirit into the Tennessee players and aided by this they increased the lead to two points then to three and when the final whistle blew to nine points. In the second period the Highlanders shot more field goals than the home team, but U. T. was able to simply win through the foul-line method alone. Wagner was the high scorer of the game, making eleven of our points. He was all over the floor and his passing, dribbling and shooting surpassed any other player's on the floor. Eagleton in his first game at center held down the renowned Calloway to a low score, and although Calloway was much taller than M. C.'s center the difference in the jump, was not very great. Eagleton caged three field goals in only as many shots at the basket. His percentage was perfect. In the defensive line Witherspoon and Drake did excellent work, but whenever they tried to get the ball from a forward, a foul was called and so what chance was there?

U. T. played a good game and they did not rough it any more than the visitors. They had a good play from center, depending on Calloway to get the jump which he usually did. The forwards came up to the center and invariably got the pill and worked it down till a Maryville player hit one of them and then, Presto! a foul! They tried many long shots, but not a one of them counted, as every goal gotten by them was from right under the basket. Wexler played a fine de-

LYCEUM NUMBER A REAL TREAT

Classical Music Made Popular By Schumann Quintet.

"I hope we have them come again", "The best yet", "Real Artists", and similar comments, heard after the concert, were an indication of the appreciation of the third number in the Lyceum Course. Without doubt, the Schumann Quintet was a real treat and a rare opportunity for music lovers. This number was not only the best this season but one of the best given in the last few years.

The quintette consisted of Mr. Carl Lambert, the organizer and first violinist; his wife, Mrs. Lambert who played the organ; Mr. Harry Kaplun, performer on the 'cello; his wife, Mrs. Grace Kaplun, concert pianist; and Miss Helene Portune, dramatic soprano and concert violiniste. This is the original company, Mrs. Lambert having substituted for Mr. Carl Portune who was unable to be present on account of illness. Each member proved to be an artist with his or her particular instrument. The program was made interesting and instructive by the unique manner in which the various numbers were introduced.

In his general introduction, Mr. Lambert quoted Mark Twain in saying that "wisdom will now begin to flow". He also said that music was made to be enjoyed and that human progress is measured by the masterpieces used by the world's best composers.

The first number was an overture from the "Poet and Peasant" by Suppe. This was said to have the same place in music as "Robinson Crusoe" has in literature. For the encore "Pizzicati" from the ballet "Sylvia" was given.

"Fifth Symphony" by Beethoven was the second number. Mr. Lambert remarked that this is one of the greatest pieces of instrumental music and occupies the same position in music as "Hamlet" in literature. A brief account of the life of Beethoven was given in which he was quoted as saying on one occasion that "Words are bounds in chains but sounds are still free". The encore given was the "Minuett in the Key of G", by the same composer. Symphonies have themes like a lecture and the one to this is, that fate knocks at the door, sometimes solftly but yet persistently.

The third number was the aria, "A fors e lui" from "Traviata" by Verdi. Miss Portune sang this in Italian, first stating that in Italian music it is not necessary to know the words as the sense can be understood by the sounds. She sang "When the Boys Come Home" as an encore.

Next the "Dance of the Hours" by Ponchelli was rendered. This is a "moving-picture" in music. It represents the contest between the powers of night and the powers of light. "Love's Old Sweet Song" was given as an encore.

The fifth number was "Selections from Faust" by Gounod. The audience was asked to imagine a scene in Germany where they are singing, dancing and drinking "lemonade".

Next Mr. Kaplun gave a 'cello solo, "Nocturne" by Chopin. He played "Old Black Joe" for an encore. Following this the "Moment Musicale" by Shubert, and "Venetian Love Song" by Nevin were rendered. The last number was an overture to "The Merry Wives from Windsor", by Nicoli.

Mr. Cooper has taken a temporary position with the Polar Wave Company to furnish ice for the convalescents on third floor Pearsons. No doubt his valiant service will be fittingly rewarded.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE BY DR. GEORGE H. MACK

Growth of Presbyterianism Traced From Time When First Introduced In America.

Last Wednesday evening the students were treated to a stereopticon address by Dr. George H. Mack, Synodical Superintnedent, who was attending the Mid-winter Conferences held in Union Presbytery during the past week. In spite of the difficulty experienced in the operation of the stereopticon due to the inefficiency of the carbons, the lecture was well worth attending. This service took the place of the regular Thursday night prayer meeting.

In his lecture, Dr. Mack traced the growth of Presbyterianism from the pioneer days, when it was first introduced into America, to the present time. He likewise traced its course from Pennsylvania down through the states lying further south until it reached Tennessee and became rooted in the minds and hearts of the early settlers. Difficulties encountered by our forefathers in the performance of their religious duties were explained and illustrated. The former captains of Christ's army, who fought and died in the battle for righteousness, were also shown on the screen. Pictures of Presbyterian churches and educatioanl institutions connected with the denomination were thrown on the sheet.

The two-fold impression made was laid upon a solid foundation, which was constructed by devoted men who persevered and sacrificed in their labors; and secondly, that it has been gradually growing, due to the devotion of the people and the loyalty of its leaders.

PRESIDENT WILSON RETURNS

President Wilson returned last Thursday from a sixteen-day visit to the Northwest. The weather conditions he there encountered were the worst, the weather bureau said, that had prevailed within forty years. The trains were everywhere delayed, at first by the fact that fuel trains had the right-of-way and then by the furious snowstorms. One trip that should have taken only eighteen hours required forty-eight hours; and only once was a train on scheduled time. Visits were made in Illinois, Iowa and Nebraska, and the proposed itinerary was carried out before the exposure caused the cold that accompanied its victim home as an unhappy souvenir of an otherwise satisfactory trip.

All the interviews that were had were very pleasant ones, and the interest in Maryville and its war-time trials and the Centenial Forward Fund of $325,000 was most gratifying. Wherever Maryville is known, it is respected and believed in.

The two conventions of college presiednts that President Wilson attended were held comfortably in La Salle Hotel, at Chicago, during the great blizzard. Wartime problems were there discussed, and many helpful addresses were delivered.

It is President Wilson's plan to leave for a campaign for the College soon after the February meetings close.

MRS. W. A. CATLETT DIES

On Monday morning at 9:30 o'clock, Mrs. W. A. Catlett, who is the mother of Miss Jonnie Catlett, died at her home a few miles east of Maryville. The funeral services were conducted at the Baptist Church, Tuesday afternoon at one o'clock. The many friends of the bereaved family extend to them their heartfelt sympathies.

A smile beats pass keys for unlocking fast closed doors.

INTERSTATE I. P. A. ORATORICAL FRIDAY

Six Winners of State College Contests to Compete for National Honors.

For the purpose of sending the best student speaker among the colleges of the southern states, to speak at what is hoped to be a National Prohibition celebration contest, representing the colleges of America later this year, there will be held at Voorhees Chapel, on Friday evening, February 1st., a Southern Interstate College Contest.

This contest will be composed exclusively of winners of state college public speaking contests, held among the southern states during the past year. All have won highest honors and prizes in their respective states. Each oration in the local college try-out, in the state contest, and in the interstate February 1st, deals in some way with the present National Prohibition Movement.

Perhaps never before in the history of the colleges of America has a college contest fitted so thoroughly into a great national movement. Usually student orations and contest are supposed to be "academic", they seem to be trite, or are conducted merely to determine who is victor. In this contest the spirit is entirely different; there is the desire for victory, of course, but far beyond that is the fact that the students who speak are taking part in one of the greatest national movements which has eved swept over America. And they are taking part at a time—at a critical time in the progress of the movement—just when it is approaching victory.

For already three states have ratified the National Prohibition Amendment; these are all southern states; college state winners from two of these states will be on hand to speak in this contest of February 1st.

The states represented in the contest are Virginia, Tennessee, South Carolina, Kentucky, Georgia and Texas.

Tennessee is represented by Maryville College, Miss George E. Simpson, the only young lady orator in the entire southern section; she won her right to compete with the excellent men speakers from the other states by winning the Tennessee State Contest at Knoxville, last May. She is probably one of the strongest speakers among the college girls of the southern states. The home branch of the I. P. A. at Maryville is expecting much of her in this important contest.

The winner of this contest will not only have the honor of honors, that of representing the Southern States in the Grand National contest which will be held at Washington next year, but will also receive a cash prize of $75. The winner of second place will receive a cash prize of $25. The judging of the contest will be on both manuscript and delivery.

As yet it is not known definitely who will be the judges sent here to pass upon the delivery, although the names of some very prominent men, among them Dr. Ira Landrith, have been submitted. Mr. W. T. McIntyre, who has been one of the National I. P. A. secretaries for four years, will represent the national association and will preside at the time of the contest.

Not only every Maryville College student and instructor, but also every person in this vicinity who is interested in the prohibition movement should be present at the contest next Friday evening. It is useless to urge that the students support Miss Simpson. They will be there en masse with the determination of doing their utmost to help her win first place. Let every one boost the contest!

FEBRUARY MEETINGS TO BEGIN TUESDAY

Rev. Frank H. Marston Will Challenge Student Body to Join Army of Great Captain.

It has been the time-honored custom to have the leaders of the February Meetings, such as Drs. Bachman, Elmore, Bartlett and Broady, conduct the services once every four years. This year the vacancy caused by the death of Dr. Nathan Bachman a few years ago is to be filled by a former student of the College who was himself converted under the preaching of Dr. Bachman, Rev. Frank H. Marston, District Secretary of the American Bible Society for the States of Ohio, Kentucky, Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi.

Mr. Marston received his preparatory training partly in Grassy Cove Academy in Cumberland County, Tennessee. He entered the preparatory department of Maryville College in 1888, and continued his studies in the institution till he graduated with the degree of B. A. in 1894. His widowed mother had removed her family to Maryville in order to secure for them the advantages of the College. Besides Mr. Frank Marston, his brother Charles later on for several years a professor in the College and now a pastor in Huntsville, Ohio, and his sister Martha, now Mrs. Davis, graduated from the institution. Two others of the family, Miss Emily, who has recently died in India, after long and valuable service as a missionary physician in that country, and Arthur, later on a missionary in Mexico, also took college work here, but did not graduate.

Mr. Marston was one of the leading students throughout his college days. He was one of the prime movers in the organization of the first Athletic Association of the College, in 1890, and was the first treasurer of the Association. He was one of the ablest debaters and orators in College, and won medals by his proficiency in the art of speaking. He has always manifested a very accurate and thorough scholarship, and has ever reflected honor on his alma mater.

His theological course of study he took at Auburn Theological Seminary. After successful experience in teaching in academic grades, he began his career as a pastor. He had churches in Alabama, and then, until within a few weeks, on Mt. Auburn in Cincinnati, Ohio. A very faithful pastor and an earnest and eloquent preacher, it is not to be wondered at that he should have been eminently successful in all three churches that he has served. Recently an honor and opportunity entirely unexpected and unsought by him, came to him when he was unanimously chosen to fill the vacancy in the list of the District Secretaries of the American Bible Society caused by the death of Rev. G. S. J. Browne, D. D. of Cincinnati.

He is in every way, by training, by experience, by sympathy, by ability and by Christian character to join the goodly fellowship of the sons of Maryville who count it great joy to challenge the young men and young women of Maryville College in the February meetings to join the army of the great Captain. He was a very successful worker in the February Meetings and the Y. M. C. A. in his college days, and now he comes, rendered more efficient by the experiences of these intervening years, to work for the College, the young people, and the Kingdom that he loves with all his heart.

In view of the fact that Monday is a fuelless day, the meetings will this year begin on Tuesday, February 5th., instead of on Sabbath, February 3rd., as heretofore announced. They will close on Saturday morning of the following week.

This is going to be a big week so far as entertainments, lectures, contests, and basketball games are concerned, but we will Hooverize enough to make up for them while the February meetings are going on.

SUNDAY SERVICES AT COURT HOUSE

On Sunday morning, January 27, the New Providence Presbyterian Sunday School and Church services were held at the Court House. Prof. Gillingham preached a very interesting sermon giving an exhortation along patriotic lines. For the past two Sundays the regular services of the Presbyterian Church have not been held on account of the furnace of the church being out of order and the college chapel not being heated. Fortunately the Court House was secured Sunday. It is probable that the furnace can be repaired during the week and that the regular services may be held at the church next Sunday.

FINAL PRELIMINARY TO CHOOSE DEBATERS

Two Teams to Go Against Tusculum and One Against Emory and Henry.

Monday evening, Feb. 4th., is the date decided upon by the Forensic League for final preliminaries. Although the contestants will have less than two weeks preparation, this date was chosen in order to give the winners as much time as possible to prepare for the intercollegiate contests.

There are three teams to be chosen, two to go against Tusculum, and one against Emory and Henry. Including alternates there will be eleven men selected for these teams. About fifteen men composed of the winners in preliminaries held in November and those who have formerly represented the college in debate are competing for places on the teams.

Judging from the enthusiasm manifested in the meetings of the Forensic League, and the eagerness of the men to get to work on the debates, there will be hot competition in the contests, and the successful candidates will have had valuable experience in the preliminaries. The names of the winners will be announced perhaps in the next issue of the Echo.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

The Junior Athenian program of last Saturday was carried out with a snap and vigor that has been especially noticeable during the last two terms. The chief number on the program was a debate, "Resolved, That Labor Unions are a Menace to Industrial Peace". In this debate Ralph Ogen and E. P. Veal of the affirmative and Charles Ellis of the negative made their debut before the society as debaters. Wm. Momary of the negative, being the only one who had appeared before the society previously. Although the vote of the judges, on the question as debated, was three to none in favor of the negative, all the speakers showed a marked capacity for grasping a subject and presenting it in a clear and logical manner.

Following a vote on personal opinion of the question, which was practically unanimous in favor of the negative; a sohrt open discussion was indulged in. This discussion was very interesting and gave a number of new members and visitors a chance to voice their opinions on the subject.

INTERESTING ADDRESSES BY CHAPEL SPEAKERS

"America's Opportunity and Responsibility" and "Pagan Religion vs. Christianity".

On Wednesday morning, Rev. Geo. Winn and Rev. Mr. Adams were again at chapel. Mr. Winn led the devotional exercises followed by a short talk by Rev. Mr. Adams. Saturday morning, Dr. J. B. Hale addressed the students. He is a veteran missionary to Japan, who has spent forty years on the Christian firing-line.

Rev. Mr. Adams stated that a great responsibility rests upon the students in remaking the world after the war, which is the greatest conflict in every respect that the world has witnessed. The world must look to America for leadership after the strife is over; and our institutions, including the church, will have to be constructive. More cooperation will be needed as the boys coming back will be accustomed to movements of the whole company and not by single squad as we are having at present in our churches. A pure social democracy will probably come out of the war due to the close association of the different classes of men engaged in it. In conclusion the following lines were read:

"This is the word that year by year,
While in her place the school is set,
Everyone of her sons must hear,
And none that hears it dare forget.
This they all with a joyful mind
Bear through life like a torch or flame,
And falling, fling to the host behind—
"Play up! play up! and play the game".

Dr. Hale spoke about Confucianism and Buddhism versus Christianity. All are created by God but yet He is so close and so fills us with His presence that we are unconscious of it. God knows our thoughts while they are in the germ state, before they spring up This is the message the missionaries are taking to Japan. Nearly all the leaders, the speaker said were followers of Confucianism, which teaches the duties growing out of the five human relationships. It says that the will of heaven is human nature expressed through the conscience. The five principles taught that should govern human relationship are righteousness, benevolence, politeness, wisdom and truth. The golden rule as stated by this religion is "do not to another what you would not have them do to you". The difference between Christianity and Confucianism lies in the fact that in the former, we know the will of God, and that He is helping us to live according to His teachings, while the latter religion teaches certain duties but does not make the individual responsible to God to do them.

The other great religion that has a grip on the Japanese is Buddhism. Its ten commandments are a part of the teaching of this religion. These are all good, and they sound like Christian teaching, but Buddhism denies that either God or spirits exist. A three-fold Buddha is taught; namely, the Buddha that is the great law without beginning and without end, the Buddha that passed through all forms of existence; and Buddha that comprises all the teachings taught by all other Buddhas. If a person would do what is taught he is supposed to reach Buddha himself, but this is impossible as no provision is made to help in living according to the standard taught. Therefore, what the Buddhists need is the gospel of Jesus Christ, which not only teaches a system of morals far superior to theirs, but provides a Savior to guide through life and lead to eternity.

Miss Pickle and Miss Marjorie Lloyd are in the hospital this week.

Miss Eleanor Moseley is suffering from a severe cold and is not yet able to leave her room.

VESPER SERVICE BY COLLEGE PASTOR

Dr. Stevenson used for his text Mark 10, 47, "And when he heard that it was Jesus of Nazareth, he began to cry out, and say, Jesus, thou son of David, have mercy on me". He began by describing the large crowd that had gathered about the gate of Jericho on their way to observe the annual feast. It was not a promising place for a miracle of healing, but any time is a suitable time to come to Christ. Bartimaeus had probably heard of Christ and longed for the Prophet to come to Jericho. When his wish was realized, he cried out to Jesus for mercy and was healed. Jesus is ever in our midst and the longings of the heart for Him should find utterance. The blind man did not wait until he argued about Christianity, asking for evidence of the Prophet's power, but sought Jesus before He passed. Many today, however, are spending their time and missing their chance to be saved. These should have a sense of their need and have their eyes opened. All that is required is to come. If ever there was a time when Christ should center his thoughts upon himself it was then. Has He less desire, disposition, or willingness now to listen? Jesus is always the same and salvation depends upon the choice of the individual.

Christ came into the world to do the impossible—make liars truthful, the drunk sober, and all men better. If He was not able to undo the curse and sorrow of the world, He would have come in vain. Life is too important to trifle with and if there is something good in the gospel and influence of Jesus Christ, all should make room for it and accept it now. No one knows how long or how short his stay will be; and Jesus is passing by.

LAW CLUB REORGANIZES

At a meeting of the Law Club last Tuesday evening in the Alpha Sigma hall several new members were taken in and the following officers were elected for the year 1918: Jason B. Deyton, president; Robert Adams, vice-president; and Tien Ze Chang, secretary-treasurer. Under this efficeint corps of newly elected officers and with such an interest as was manifested at the meeting the prospects of the club for the coming year appear very bright.

The Law Club is one of the youngest organizations of the college, slightly older than the Equal Suffrage Club. However, it ranks among the most energetic and progressive organizations on the "Hill". Nearly every year it conducts a mock trial in the chapel, which all students are permitted to attend. Aside from this the club endeavors to meet and have a program once a month. Special emphasis is placed on court room procedure, and questions that pertain to law are discussed from various viewpoints.

Arrangements are being made to have a mock trial in the chapel soon after the February Meetings. The case, Adams vs Williams, which was heard recently in the Alpha Sigma hall will be tried again. The charge is public slander. It is alleged that Williams maliciously and surreptitiously accused Adams of "perfidity", for which malign offence the aforesaid Adams demands of the said Williams damages to the amount of two hundred dollars. Adams claims that his reputation on the "hill" has been injured and that since then he has been unable to "moonshine". The case will be full of humor and it is hoped that a large crowd may be able to hear it.

The Law Club expects to have more such meetings before the year is ended. Attempts are being made to have a joint meeting with the Equal Suffrage Club in order to discuss Red Cross work. This is to be a live organization henceforth. All prospective lawyers are urged to become members of it and get in the fun.

Miss Ethel Burchfield, basketball star, and manager of the girls' teams fell in Pearsons Hall Friday and sprained her ankle. Miss Burchfield will not be able to play in any more games this season.

ATHENIAN

The College Section of the Athenian rendered a lively program Saturday evening, consisting of music and the usual literary work. Ralph Smith rendered trombone music in his usual excellent manner, ably accompanied by Hurst Paul. James Martin gave a very good reading. Floyd Watt and Herbert Kiger engaged in a hard fought debate on the question, Resolved, that intoxicating liquor is more destructive to man than is war. Harold Smith concluded the program with two humorous readings.

Something very special is planned for this week, and a joint meeting will be held. Prof. Ellis, who was an Athenian somewhere between twenty and thirty years ago, will be with us and will give us a picture of what the Athenian society was in his student days. This is the second number in our series of historic programs in this our semi-centennial year. The first was a talk on "The Athenian Forty Years Ago", by Dr. Wilson, and it proved one of the most interesting and inspiring we have ever heard in our hall.

Besides Prof. Ellis' address this Saturday evening, Eckles West will favor us with one of his irresistably humorous readings, and one or two other short numbers will be given. Let every fellow come out, including the new students.

Y. W. C. A.

Miss Cora Bartlett addressed the meeting of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon in Bainonian Hall.

In her address, on "The Chances of the American Girl as compared with the Chances of the Persian Gnrl", she showed how surely the American girl owes her great blessings to Christ.

Misses Mary Miles and Hattie Hayes furnished the special music. Miss Miles sang, and Miss Hayes played a piano solo.

The meeting next Sunday will be led by Miss Emma Miles. The subject will be "Life on a firm foundation".

fensive game and undoubtedly kept down Maryville's score by a great deal.

Towards the last a good many substitutions were made by both teams so at the end only a few of those that started were playing. Only a fair sized crowd was at the gym, and even these got tired of keeping track of the fouls made. The large floor was a hindrance to Maryville as was the out-of-bounds rule also. This made the game very slow, although at times it bordered on the fast game. Ten men were taken over on the trip, making the journey in cars Saturday night after supper and returning after the game.

Maryville	Line-up	U. T.
Wagner	l. f.	Lovell
Weisbecker Pugh	r. f.	Bell Reeder
Eagleton Adams Latimer	c.	Calloway Troutman
Witherspoon	l. g.	Majors Bradford
Drake Briggs	r. g.	Wexler

Scoring: Maryville; goals, Wagner 4; Weisbecker, Eagleton 3; fouls: Wagner 3. Scoring: U. T., goals, Lovell 2; Bell 2; Calloway 3; Majors 2; Wexler. Fouls, Calloway 2; Wexler 5; Troutman 2.

After the defeat handed the M. C. quintet on Saturday night everybody is eagerly waiting for the game here at Bartlett Hall tomorrow night. Then there is a good chance to retreive that defeat and turn the tables on U. T. The biggest crowd of the season should be out in force and root and yell for U. T.'s goat. The sting of last year's defeat is still fresh on our memories, and so the duty of every student is to come out double and help to register the biggest victory of the season.

PROF. SHELTON ADDRESSES ALPHA SIGMA

Last Saturday evening both sections of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society met in joint session. A short program was rendered before the address. McGrath read a good paper on current events. He chose the most interesting and the very latest topics for his sbjects. A little humor is always enjoyed by a lively society. Jokes and experiences of individuals were cited by Mr. Stanton. A hearty laugh prepared all for what was to follow.

Prof. Shelton gave one of the most interesting talks that has been given in our hall for many years. His subject was "Nitrogen". Professor can not only interest those who are students of chemistry, but he can go outside the walls of a laboratory and present his subject in such a thorough and interesting way as to cause those who detest the name of chemistry to sit up and take notice. He was very forceful, throughout his entire talk.

Professor Shelton said, that nitrogen was playing one of the principal parts in the present war. Before the war broke out Germany imported most of her nitrogen, but now she is extracting it from the air. The United States has been forced, because of the great demand for nitrogen, to try every possible way for the production.

A large crowd heard the address. It was very helpful to all those present. And those who were not present, after hearing of this talk said they would not let an other opportunity pass. So we hope that Professor Shelton will come often.

BAINONIAN

The program began with a paper on "War Dogs" by Helen Brown. In this Miss Brown told of the work that is being done by the United States to train war dogs, and what has already been accomplished by the French dogs.

Then Miss Mary Mason, impersonating a soldier, and Miss Hattie Hayes sang "A Soldier and a Red Cross Maid". This was heartily encored, which proved the appreciation of the audience.

Miss Grace Bailey then gave a review of "Over the Top", a book written by Mr. Arthur Guy Empey, an American, who joined the English forces soon after the sinking of the Lusitania. In his book he told of the many thrilling experiences and hair-breadth escapes of the soldiers. Miss Bailey made this review interesting and helpful.

Miss Mary Jane Hartman followed with a beautifully rendered piano solo.

The last number of the program proved to be a short play, written by Miss Nellie Lippert. The scene was laid in one of the war hospitals in France. There were three characters: Anne, the older nurse, Jean, the junior nurse and a soldier. Miss Mary Key Dolvin played the part Anne, Miss Elizabeth Dearing, the part of Jean, and Miss Nellie Lippert impersonated the soldier. Shouts of applause filled the room after each scene.

The program for next Saturday evening has been arranged to celebrate the anniversary of Bobbie Burns' birth. All new girls are cordially invited to be present.

FIFTH TENNESSEE TO HAVE INSPECTION

On next Saturday evening at the Court House there will be a federal inspection of the local company of the Fifth Tennessee Regiment of the National Guard by Colonel Smith. The company has a membership of approximately one hundred and sixty-seven men, part of whom are Maryville College students. Among the men who were mustered in last Friday evening were Glen Lloyd and Meade Johnson who with the other M. C. men, all of whom have had military experience, will be very helpful in training the company. At present Prof. Gillingham is acting as instructor and the college boys are serving as sergeants and corporals. The company has been drilling regularly and expects to make a good showing Saturday evening. Other college boys who have an inclination to do so are urged to join the company.

DR. ELLIS ADDRESSES PRE-MEDICAL ASSOCIATION

Last Friday evening, Dr. Edwin L. Ellis addressed the Pre-Medical Association on, "A few helpful hints to prospective medical students." There were present about twenty-five young men who felt afterwards that they had been greatly benefitted by the timely advice given them.

Dr. Ellis emphasized the necessity of having an extensive general education before beginning the study of medicine. He showed the value of the knowledge of Latin and Greek in deriving various medical terms, and made it clear that so many courses of science—chemistry and biology—are required for entrance into the medical schools. He said also that a good doctor must be a strong man both mentally and physically. The irregular habits of a busy doctor are very wearing on a man's body, and the temptations he is subjected to are not always easy to resist. Lastly Dr. Ellis told how fascinating is the work of a doctor, but he urged that no one should enter the profession unless he is thoroughly in love with it, for a doctor's time is not his own, and the only pleasures he gets out of life are those which he gets out of his profession.

The Pre-Medical Association is very grateful to Dr. Ellis for his excellent talk.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. met Sunday afternoon for the first time this term. Because of the fuel shortage, the Y. M. C. A. officials had seen best to postpone the first meeting until this date. Vice-president Deck Williams spoke on "The Secret of The Tree", or "Lessons We May Learn From The Tree".

The speaker set forth four points. First, the tree is firmly rooted. "As the tree reaches out, sending out its roots deep into the ground, so must the Cristian be firmly rooted to withstand the storms of temptations that assail". Secondly, the tree branches out into all directions. Every one should strive to branch out into all phases of life; obtain a broader view of society, education, and religion. Third, the tree is useful, yielding building material, chemicals, and food. "To remain strong, clean and honest; to be of service; to give and make sacrifices, even as the tree does, is the duty of each one." Fourth, the tree points upward, so should the life of man point upward and be a silent witness, leading others to God. "There are plenty of dead trees in society, lives that count for little or nothing in this world. Live trees, trees that are firmly rooted in Christian faith, trees that branch out to others, trees that are useful, pointing men upward to higher things, are the trees that society needs today".

The Y. M. C. A. meetings are always interesting, instructive, and inspiring. Come next Sunday! A cordial invitation is extended to all those who have not joined, to enter the Association and help make 1918 the biggest and best year for the Maryville College Y. M. C. A.

PERSONALS

Hal McNutt, star quarterback of last year's football team, and a former member of the class of '19, was a visitor on the hill last Thursday. Mr. McNutt is in the Ambulance Corps at Camp Sevier, Greeneville, S. C. Having only a few hours to spend here he was able to see only a few of his many friends.

Miss Anna Pleasants of the class of '17 has been on the hill since Thursday. The school at Cades Cove where she was teaching has been dismissed because of an epidemic of measles. Miss Pleasants expects to take a position elsewhere in a short time.

Misses Loma and Lola Rogers returned to their home at Jellico Thursday. They will not continue their work here.

Miss Clara Wattenbarger has been confined to her room for the past week with a severe case of tonsilitis.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE — MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1918. — NUMBER EIGHTEEN

M. C. RETRIEVES VOLS DEFEAT

Highlanders Win Hottest, Fastest Game of Season. Final Score 20-19.

In one of the hottest, fastest, and most exciting games that has been seen on the Maryville floor in recent years, the varsity basket ball team triumphed over their ancient rivals, U. T., by the score of 20-19. The score will give some idea of the closeness of the contest. The game came within an ace of being the other way, and it was the great shooting of Wagner, who scored ten of Maryville's twenty points that really won the contest.

On Saturday night, Jan. 26, U. T. had won from M. C. at Knoxville 28-19, but every one was looking forward anxiously to the game here on last Wednesday night as the time when that defeat would be wiped out. Long before the doors were opened there was a line of waiting fans far out into the road in front of Bartlett, and soon after the doors were opened the gym was full. A scrap between these two schools always brings out the biggest crowd of the season and this game was no exception.

First blood was drawn by U. T. when Calloway looped one in after some two minutes of play. Two more followed in quick succession and things began to look mighty bad for Maryville. Finally Witherspoon came down the floor for the first score for M. C., but the load could never be overcome, the score going to 6-2, then 8-2, then 10-4, and the first half ended with the visitors in the lead 12-6. Hopes of the crowd that had at first been low had risen inch by inch until at the end of the first period they had reached the stage where they held out some hope for the victory of the home team.

The newly elected captain, Eagleton, who had laid out in the first half as a piece of strategy went in the game in the place of Peters at center. The team took on new life as they realized that there was a fighting chance to win. In this half Maryville ran rings around their opponents and the M. C. forwards threw more baskets than U. T. by far. In this period the Vols were able to garner only two field goals while M. C. was throwing six. U. T. was expecting a nice easy game in which there would be no roughing, or in other words a game similar to the one that they won so easily at Knoxville because of so many fouls; but when Maryville got in there with the do or die spirit and showed U. T. that they were going to scrap for it, the Vols lost their nerve and at the last of the game it was going all M. C.'s way. During the first half U. T. was getting three shots at the basket to one of Maryville's but during the last half it was reversed. With such loyal rooting as was given to the team from the side lines the team played as never before and the result was a one-point victory.

Referee Chambers did good work as an official, about as much better than the one at Knoxville as daylight is plainer than dark. The size of the floor and the great crowd stretching up to the very sidelines gave the players but very little room at the boundaries. Eagleton shot two goals but only one of them was counted.

Wagner played the whole floor the whole time. He caged four field goals besides getting two from the foul line. Weisbecker was all over the floor and did some pretty work. Calloway had the jump on both Peters and Eagleton, but at that the team getting the tip-off was about evenly divided. At guards Witherspoon played his usual game, while the dwarfed Drake held his own

REV. MARSTON HERE READY FOR WORK

Unable to be Present at Opening Service, But Will Preach Tonight.

Rev. Frank Marston, the leader of the February Meetings for the year 1918, arrived in Maryville from his home in Cincinnati this afternoon. Having barely missed the morning train Mr. Marston was unable to be present at the opening service of the series of evangelestic meetings. On that account, a timely introductory service was conducted by President Wilson and Dr. Stevenson. Mr. Marston will conduct the second service in the chapel this evening at 6:30 p. m.

Last week Rev. Mr. Marston spent in an important conference of the Secretaries of the American Bible Society in the offices of the parent American Bible Society in Bibb House, New York City. One of the principal objects of the conference was to perfect the measures that are being taken to supply the Army and Navy with copies of the Scriptures. Mr. Marston returned to Cincinnati on Saturday, and left there for Maryville on Monday morning.

Mr. Marston finds that many changes have taken place on the old hill since his graduation twenty-four years ago, but he also finds here the same old spirit of cordiality and earnestness that he himself shared so happily in "auld lang syne". Students and teachers appreciate the college loyalty of Mr. Marston in heeding this call of the old college for two week's arduous service in its behalf.

Several classmates of Mr. Marston reside in this vicinity and so there will be pleasant reunions besides the hard work.

INTER-COLLEGIATE DEBATERS CHOSEN

Monday night in the Chapel the final preliminaries for choosing the intercollegiate debating teams was held with ten men trying out

Professors Bassett, Knapp and Hoyt acted as judges. The men were paired off and only two questions were debated, "The government ownership of public utilities and federal chartering". The result of the contest is as follows, the highest man ranking first: Adams, Holmes, Bartlett, Martin, Cooper, Stanton, Hamilton, Briggs, Weisbecker, and Deyton. Two debates have been arranged, a dual with Tusculum and a single with Emory and Henry. These will take eight men. It is very doubtful whether all these men will be here when the final debates come off. Deyton has been drafted and so has Briggs. Weisbecker, has just had a telegram asking if he is available immediately in the athletic department in the war, and Cooper and Adams have sent away their applications to the Aviation Department. Nevertheless, it is felt that Maryville will be very well represented in debates this year, and that her fine record of victories will remain unbroken.

BALDWIN GIRLS ENTERTAIN SENIORS

Saturday night the Baldwin girls entertained the girls of the Senior class. During the evening Misses Nuchols and Wicks gave readings, and Misses Burchfield and Roe played ukelele and guitar accompaniment to popular songs. Miss Morton read a history of the Senior girls which was brimful of wit and all together original in its treatment. Ice cream and cake were served. The guests of honor received as favors silhouette pictures of the sweet girl graduate.

The evening was delightfully spent and the time passed all to quickly.

FOURTH LYCEUM NUMBER FEB. 19

Dr. Ott Will Deliver His Famous "Sour Grapes" Lecture in Voorhees Chapel.

On February 19th., the first Tuesday after the February Meetings close, the fourth number of the Lyceum Course will be presented in Voorhees Chapel. Dr. Edward Amherst Ott will deliver his famous psychological and biological lecture on "Sour Grapes or Heredity and Marriage". Dr. Ott comes to Maryville highly recommended by many who have heard him. Those who do not know of Dr. Ott may learn about him by looking him up in "Who's Who in America".

EDWARD AMHERST OTT.

The popular lectures which Edward Amherst Ott is giving on the Lyceum platform are bearing fruit in the way of advanced legislation for the betterment of the American people. His lecture on "Sour Grapes," which treats of marriage and divorce, has been given nearly 2,000 times. In one of the states where it was given the legislator who introduced a reform marriage bill said he got his inspiration to do so from hearing Mr. Ott's lecture. But whether he delivers this lecture or one of his other subjects he is always alike—forceful, entertaining and inspiring. He has appeared before more than 3,000 audiences in America, and more than 2,500 copies of his books have been sold. American audiences can scarcely get enough of this man and his purposeful oratory.

Every lecture should answer one of the fundamental inquiries of the mind. If a lecture is also humorous and highly entertaining, so much the better. Although known as the purposeful orator and author, Mr. Ott combines much of humor and entertainment in each of his lectures.

For two years Mr. Ott was president of the International Lyceum association, and he has done much for the Lyceum and Chautauqua movement in general throughout the country.

RECITAL BY MUSIC AND EXPRESSION DEPARTMENTS

On Thursday afternoon, the monthly recital by members of the Music and Expression Departments was given. Quite a number of the students availed themselves of this opportunity to enjoy a delightful hour of music and reading. The program was well balanced and each participant rendered her part well. Piano solos were given by Misses Emily Wright, Marguerite Sullinger, Mabel Rice, Edith Caldwell, and Mary Jane Hartman. Misses Mary Heard and Mary Miles gave vocal solos. "The Call of Spring" was read by Miss Gail Wilson, and Miss Josephine Wicks read "The Journey", from 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm'.

THETAS PRESENT ORIGINAL DRAMA

"The Romance of Youth" Surprises and Thrills Audience. Both Serious and Humerous.

On Tuesday evening, January 29, the Theta Epsilon Literary Society gave their annual midwinter entertainment at Voorhees Chapel before one of the largest audiences of the season. An original drama, "The Romance of Youth" was presented in a very delightful manner, and because of its elcellence and unique character pleasantly surprised and thrilled the audience whichl istened with rapt attention.

A most uncommon and surprising feature of the entertainment is that it was completely original. How the girls did it is a wonder! It seems that the students of Maryville have just awakened to find genuis lying in their midst. The authorship of drama was attributed to Joel Tule, a fictitious name comprised of the primal letters taken from the first names of the four Midwinter Committee-women: Miss Jo Knapp, chairman of the committee and inventor of the plot; and Misses Elinor Moseley, Cola Turner and Mary Kate Lewis.

The play centers about Frank Ernest Youth a lad who was discovered as a football star in a small town high school. Towards the end of his high school course he meets Dr. Duty of Mine Center College who persuades him to continue his work at this college. His chum Wanto Takitezy accompanies him.

On arriving at Mine Center Youth at once becomes infatuated with Miss Pleasure. At Extravagance's Ice Cream Parlors, Miss Pleasure introduces him to all her crowd in whose company several days pass very happily.

Suddenly a riot breaks out in the city. Miss Alta Ideal, whom Duty had chanced to meet and came to admire, became imperiled in the fury and press of the throng. Youth saves her life and enters into more friendly relations which bear an innendo that something more than friendship is binding between them.

A little while later General Freeman Wahr invites Youth's aid in a campaign Over-the-Sea, to rescue Alta's relations, the Deals, and the Christyans. Youth while thinking over the matter is induced by Pleasure, who dances phantom-like about him, to give up the project. But later listening to the advice of Dr. Duty he sees his mistake. Spurning Pleasure he announces to General Wahr that he will accompany him.

On his return from a successful campaign, Youth calls on Alta I. Deal and proposes marriage. He is accepted and they part "in the usual way". Their wedding is attended by a host of friends. In the following denouement of the play the romance is made complete when the minister Dr. Samuel Maryville announces that Duty has been made superintendent of the World's Work.

Other prominent characters were Golden Enjoyment, Jolly Good Fellow, Fair Play and her fiance Rolly King Sport the coach who kept the house roaring with laughter. His wit would rival that of Hamlet and his incessant merriment the hilarity of Falstaff.

So cleverly was the humorous interspersed with thes erious that the moral purpose of the play gripped the crowd without in the slightest way detracting from their enjoyment.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE CLUB

There was a call meeting of the Suffrage Club Monday afternoon for the purpose of discussing important business matters. The regular meeting will be held Monday afternoon, February 11; Mrs. Hedge will address the club. All members are urged to be present.

KENTUCKY MAN WINS HONORS

Joseph C. Meyers Takes First Miss Simpson Ably Represents Maryville.

With a large audience present, the contestants of the Southern Interstate Oratorical Contest of the I. P. A. met in the college chapel to compete for honors. As was explained in these columns last week, the winner will be eligible to represent the Southern States at the Grand National Contest to be held next year.

The meeting was opened by an invocation by Dr. Hoyt, followed by an address of welcome by Dr. Stevenson. Mr. W. T. McIntyre, who presided having been transferred from his labors in Ohio in order to arrange for this contest, responded to the welcome. The contestants then in their respective order delivered their orations. The order of speaking follows that of the preceding annual contest of the section, with the exception that the state there speaking first drops to last place. New states are added to the latter end of the list. This gave Tennessee third place, inasmuch as the representatives from Georgia and South Carolina, for some unknown reason, did not appear.

The first speaker was Joseph C. Meyers from Transylvania University, Lexington, Kentucky. His subject was "A Menace to Liberty". He said that every man has the innate right to achieve the best in life. Upon the recognition or rejection of the principles of liberty hangs the fate of world democracy. Ideals are tested more than ever now. Organized liquor traffic is the greatest menace to liberty and democracy. The liquor that flows from the 200,000 saloons in our country is not only breaking down the physical vigor of men but is affecting the human spirit. The evidence against the saloon is unimpeachable. It must go now and forever.

The next orator was L. C. Hubbard, from Richmond College, Richmond, Virginia. He spoke on "Effective Prohibition". He said that now is the psychological moment in the prohibition movement. The making of a better world commits us to the making of a better America. The fact was emphasized that is was not enough to take liquor out of a man's environment, but that some substitute must be found to meet his desire for intoxication. This tendency is one of the fundamental impulses of man's nature and may be supplied by religion, poetry, prayer, or other form of ecstasy. He closed by saying that national prohibition is imperative. If the rum demon is driven out, the spirit of patriotism will come in.

The third to speak was Miss George Simpson, representing Maryville College. Her subject was, 'The Home Economics of Prohibition". She said that the economic effect of alcohol is sufficient to drive it from the country. It eats away the moral and spiritual life and its inroads in the home are worse than those of infantile paralysis. Wealth of a steady drinker is altogether unstable. But helplessness is even a greater result. Every child has the right to be well born and parents should provide the proper influence and environment for their children. The Webb-Kenyon Law was one of the great events in history. Brighter days are yet to come when liquor is banished from our midst.

The last orator was Lemuel Hall, from Baylor University, Waco, Tex. His subject was, "The Victory Inevitable". He said that justice was the principle for which Americans fought and liberty the principle for which they died To us belongs the transmission of the government in

The next issue of the Highland Echo will not be published until Tuesday, Feb. 19th., on account of all student activities having been deferred until after the February Meetings close.

COURTESY TO VISITORS

In another column of this issue there is an account of the reception held last Friday evening. A genuine "good time" was enjoyed by all. The students and faculty entered heartily into the spirit of the occasion, and the visiting orators were highly pleased with the courteous treatment which they received.

This was the first reception of the kind that has been held here for a number of years. Forensic and athletic contestants have been coming here year after year and have been shown no more courtesy by the student body than if they were foreigners and could not speak English. At times they have been insulted by a few of the insignificant personages of the "Hill", and have left here giving a black eye to the institution wherever they go.

Last Friday night the spirit of the student body was proved sufficiently. They showed that they could take a defeat in a sportsmanlike manner and that, upon top of it, they could be courteous to the victors. In order to stand high in the estimation of other institutions it is absolutely necessary to be respectful to their representatives, whether they or we be victorious.

The trouble and work necessary to do this is insignificant to the good that can be accomplished. The success of the reception last Friday evening leads us to believe that one could and should be held after every oratorical and forensic and, whenever possible, athletic contest. It is a mark of distinction to any institution to show kindness to visitors. The best colleges and universities do this. Let us endeavor henceforth to do our part, and if possible arrange for a reception as part of the program for every intercollegiate contest to be held here in the future.

PROF. SCHAEFFER SPEAKS AT Y. M. C. A. SERVICE

Sunday afternoon Prof. Schaeffer delivered an address, for the members of the Y. M. C. A. on "The Passion Play at Aberammergau". It is possible to receive benefit from this play or be prejudiced against it. Some people look upon the play as sacreligious, and others object to it on the grounds that it is now commercialized. The play is objectionable, but at the same time when seen in the right spirit, one can come away with higher motives and a clearer view of our Savior's sufferings for us.

The town of Aberammergau is situated in Bavaria, about 45 miles from Munich. The natives are a sturdy, healthy people, of Swedish-Bavarian stock. In 1633 this village was visited by a plague, and after many had perished, the priest called the people together. They promised that if God would spare them and save the afflicted they would rehearse Christ's life and sufferings in the form of a play, until a cross placed by them on a mountain near by should bed estroyed by the elements of nature. Since 1840 this play has been given at regular ten year intervals; before that at irregular periods.

About a thousand participate in the plays. These actors are chosen by a local committee. After several months rehearsing, the first appearance is made about May the first. The first and last productions are viewed only by the local people.

The other appearances are for visitors, who pay a nominal price to see "The Passion Play". The play is usually given about thirty times, depending upon the number of tourists. In 1910, when Prof. Schaeffer visited Aberammergau, the play was given sixty times.

In a few weeks Prof. Schaeffer will give a second talk on this subject, dealing more in detail with the play itself.

PROF. BASSETT LEADS PRAYER MEETING

Takes For Topic: "I Saw The [illegible] How, to Look [illegible]

The Thursday evening prayer service was led by Prof. Bassett, who used for his subject a part of the first verse of the sixth chapter of Isaiah, "I saw the Lord". In substance, he said that this was a turning point in the life of Isaiah. It was a difficult experience from what the prophet had ever received before. It was also a memorable and a critical experience. Man is incurably religious and when a religion goes superstitution comes in. He has not been satisfied with any but a personal God and one with whom he can commune. The Gospels give four different pictures of Christ, the Son of God, each taken from a different angle, but many have not seen God because they read with a veil of sin and of the cares of life.

There are five different ways in which one should see Jesus Christ. First, one should look upon Him as man in the superlative degree. He is the only sinless, spotless, and perfect man. He was the one great model. Next, we should see Him as God. Some say that He did not claim He was God but the whole book of "John" was written to prove it. In the third place, we must see Jesus as the Saviour, and then as the risen Christ. If the gospel ended with His death, it would be no gospel at all. The empty tomb is our hope of salvation. The resurrection is the central point of the gospel. He is now at the right hand of God and we must see Him as our intercessor. And lastly, we must see Him as our constant companion, who is at all times at our side. Having seen Him, we should obey His summons and follow in the way that He leads us.

HOME EMERGENCY DEMONSTRATION

Saturday morning Miss Julia Reagan, Emergency Home Demonstrator of the Knoxville section of the state, assisted by Miss Olivia Brown County Demonstrator, gave a demonstrated lecture on "Wheat Substitutes" in the Domestic Science laboratory. Miss Reagan emphasized the necessity of saving both wheat and sugar. Some of this saving might be done, she said, by using only one teaspoon of sugar in a cup of coffee and tirring it so that it will dissolve, instead of using more sugar and leaving a part of it in the cup to be thrown away. Sugar is also wasted by piling too much on cereals and friuts. Fruits eaten without sugar are much more easily digested and are more nutritious because the acids and mineral salts of fruits are acted upon more easily by the digestive fluids when there is no complex chemical change caused by the action of the sugar.

Mr. Hoover has asked that each person use only thirty pounds of sugar a year. This means two and one-half table spoons per day. Mr. Hoover, backed by government experiment, says that thirty pounds of sugar per captita per year is sufficient to keep the body healthy. But it leaves none for waste or confections. "It isn't the money or sugar waste that should appeal to us, but the fact that sugar supplies a high amount of heat and energy needed by the French and Belgians and that will be most emphatically needed by our soldiers and sailors".

Miss Reagan made an earnest plea for the conservation of wheat as well as sugar. She illustrated the conservation of sugar, eggs, milk and butter by making a cake out of molasses, raisins and nuts, which was sampled by many of her audience and found delicious.

Miss Reagan's next demonstration will be on "Meat Substitutions". The date will be announced later.

Miss Leita Finch who has been ill in the hospital for a few days was removed to the General Hospital at Knoxville, Sunday. Her condition is reported not to be serious. Friends here are anxious for her speedy recovery.

with any of them. In fact the whole team looked small at the side of their opponents, but when the game was over U. T. was probably wishing that their opponents were even smaller than they were. Calloway at center for U. T. did most of their scoring and Wexler, the captain, at guard did stellar work.

Mention should be made at this time of the way in which Maryville was treated in the write-ups in both the Journal and Tribune and the Sentinel in regard to this game. They both claimed that U. T. had tied Maryville 20-20, but they did no such thing. The reasons for claiming that tie are so varied, so nuemerous, and so fantastical that space need not be given here to enumerate them. Suffice it to say that the referee, the sole arbiter on the score of any basketball game said we won and if he was the referee then we did win.

Scoring—Maryville: Field Goals; Wagner, 4; Weisbecker, 3; Witherspoon; Eagleton. Fouls: Wagner 2.

U. T.: Field Coals; Calloway, 3; Lovell, 2; Bell, 2; Fouls: Wexler, 4; Bell.

Referee, Chambers; Scorers, Clemens and Ayres; Time-keepers, Harper and Buchanon.

An enthusiastic "pep" meeting was held in the chapel last Thursday evening to get ready for the oratorical contest on the following evening. Harris, Weisbecker and McIntyre made speeches and led yells. In a stirring address Simmons announced that he was glad to be back on the "Hill".

ATHENIAN HISTORY ADDRESS HEARD

Second of Series Delivered Before Joint Meeting by Prof. Ellis.

The second in a series of "Athenian history" addresses, this one by Prof. H. L. Ellis, was delivered before a joint meeting Saturday evening.

Prof. Ellis, taking the old-time speaker's position began, "Fellow Athenians", which he said seemed perfectly natural, for he had used it hundreds of times between 1889 and '96, in this hall. He described the hall as he first saw it, and the many changes from the primitive to the modern that were events of his college days. Then he gave intensely interesting accounts of the old time programs, mostly debates. Two captains would 'choose up" and all the members would be on the debate; thus their rating would be evident. The professor's successful debating career, as well as his active interest in woman's suffrage, began in "an evening of intense suffering, "when, at the foot of the line he heroically managed his trembling knees and voice in the interest of the suffragette. But later he worked himself to the head of the debating line.

The speaker told of special programs, of old-time "literary" midwinters and of joint meeitngs when the Bainonians were actually permitted to come freely into the hall. One special meeting he mentioned was a realistic political convention; it broke up with a row.

He recalled the Athenian challenge to the Columbian society of Carson-Newman, which was the initial step in the intercollegiate debate movement. He paid appreciative tribute to Kentakahashi, the McGinleys, Joseph McIlvaine and other great Athenians, and great Alphas as well. He emphasized the good characteristics of old time literary society work, and what he himself owed to the society. The address was most inspiring, and was highly appreciated.

Other numbers on the program were some most excellent readings by Eckles West and a debate. Some welcome visitors from the Alpha Sigma were heard from. One of them, D. H. Briggs, brought an invitation to a joint meeting in Alpha hall. It was accepted with enthusiasm.

Y. W. C. A.

"Life as a sure foundation", was the subject for Y. W. C. A. last Sunday evening. The leader, Miss Emma Miles first spoke of the necessity of some sort of foundation, then showed that the material for the sure foundation is Religious Principles. The leader had divided the subject and different members had prepared these sub-topics.

Miss Martha Robinson spoke on "the necessity of starting right".

"No matter how far along you are with your building", she said "If the foundation isn't good you will have to tear it down and make it good,—start right".

The necessity for beginning promptly was discussed by Miss Cory.

Miss Witherspoon answered the question "Where can one get material for a Sure Foundation?"

Short talks recommending some of the brick that insure good foundation were given:

"Sincerity" by Miss Mary Kate Lewis; "Love of one's fellow-men", Miss Carmen Park; "Cheerfulness", Miss Genevieve Gibson; "Service", Miss Grace Bailey; "True Friendship", Miss Elinor Moseley; "Bible Study and Prayer", Miss Caldwell.

The special music consisted of vocal solos by Misses Winnie Newton and Elizabeth Jones, and a piano solo by Miss Winnie Decker.

The meeting next Sunday will be a joint meeting with the Y. M. C. A.

Henry Sentelle, the big husky "cow tromper" on last year's football team, on leave of absence from Camp Sevier, Greeneville, S. C., spent a few days on the "Hill" last week visiting friends.

VESPER SERVICE HELD IN CHAPEL

The Vesper Service was conducted the usual hour in the chapel as formerly. The College Pastor used for his text a portion of Mark 4:36 "And there were also with him other little ships". He drew attention to the fact that frequently the parenthetical remarks in the Bible such as this one, contain very important lessons. In this case, three valuable lessons were drawn from the passage.

The first one was that no one receives blessings or adversities without others, who are associated with him, becoming affected. No man can live to himself. When Christ spoke and stilled the storm, he brought safety and equal blessings to many others besides the ones with him. These had suffered the same dangers as the disciples and with thankful hearts sailed home in peace The same principle is operating in life today. The blessings, rescues, and help given to one are shared by many others.

In the second place, one is not entirely alone in his experiences with temptation The sense of lonesomeness often leads us to yield, but we should remember that others are fighting the same battles which should give us a new courage.

Lastly, blessings often come unnoticed from unseen sources. We frequently fail to be grateful for such blessings, but behind many of them is a praying father or mother. The greatest influences are those that come indirectly, those that we underestimate in value and importance.

All three lessons point to one conclusion; namely, that each person must accept the partnership of Jesus Christ who will silently but assuredly guide and direct his or her life, comforting or helping according to that one's needs. The influence of the choice in Christ will be a silent one but a powerful one for good, leading other little ships into the harbor of righteousness and salvation.

FORENSIC LEAGUE, JR.

The Junior Forensic League met last Saturday evening, reorganized and elected the following officers: Wm. Dillinger, Pres.; H. M. McGrath, ice-Pres.,; and C. A. Moore, Treasurer and Editor. Both societies, Athenian and Alpha Sigma, are well represented with men, old and new, for the try-out, which is to be held within a week or two. From the twenty-three men who have entered for the try-out it is evident that a team can be chosen which will hold up the honor of old M. C. by knocking the Lincoln Memorial Preparatory Department out of the ring.

The Lincoln Memorial University is near Cumberland Gap and, so far is the only one with which arrangements have been made for a debating contest.

its best form to future generations. The liquor traffic has been tried and found wanting. It stands condemned and doomed in the old world but here it is thriving and fattening by the license system. The triple alliance of world-wide evil is poverty, alcohol, and shame. God has drawn a line for us to cross and strike down the license guard, and then victory will surely follow.

Mr. Meyers was awarded first place and Mr. Hall the second place.

The judges on delivery were Dr. Wilburn Colvin of Fayetteville, Ga., Judge F. B. Hutton of Abingdon, Virginia, and Dean J. D. Hoskins, of the University of Tennessee. Those on composition were Mr. Alonza Wilson, Chicago, Mr. R. P. Hutton of Milwaukee, Wisconsin, State Superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, and Prof. E. R. Moses, president of Westminister College, New Wilmington, Pennsylvania.

After the contest, an informal reception was given in the basement of the chapel.

Mary Buco's father visited her Sunday and Monday.

SERVICE FLAG RAISED AT M. E. CHURCH, SOUTH

Sunday Gen. Charles T. Cates, Jr. made a stirring patriotic address at the Southern Methodist Church, in which he gave a very accurate and intelligent account of the war up-to-date. He told how America was drawn into the war and what she is doing now to help win a great victory for democracy.

At the conclusion of the address a large service flag, with seventeen stars on it, was raised, and the names on the honor roll of the church were read off. Among them were the names of Edwin "Schnitter" Ellis, "Fritz" Whalin, and other former students of the college.

CHAPEL NOTES

Wednesday morning, January 30, Mr. W. T. McIntyre, Field Secretary of the I. P. A. made a few remarks about the liquor traffic and emphasized the importance of the contest to be held on Friday.

As an introduction, he gave three quotations bearing on the subject; namely, "Alcohol has as much place in the body as sand in an engine", from Edison; "England has three great enemies, Austria, Germany, and drink", from Lloyd George; and "Booze has its place, but that place is in hell", from Billy Sunday. He urged that the people in America should no longer tolerate legalized alcohol. If the naitonal government could take time to give the question consideration, students should give it their attention. The decision of Congress put the great responsibility up to the people.

Friday, at chapel service, a couple of the contestants for the oratorical honors to be won in the evening, were present on the platform. Prof. Gillingham in a very able and interesting way, welcomed the visitors to Maryville College. After mentioning an appreciation of their presence and making a few witty remarks, introducing them to the mysterious substance found in large quantity on the hill called "moonshine", he turned over to them the "keys" of the college and invited them to make good their opportunity.

DR. COLVIN MAKES CHAPEL ADDRESS

Dr. Colvin, one of the judges of the oratorical contest, spoke at chapel Saturday morning. In a few words, but with forceful emphasis, he brought to the students a most timely and helpful message.

He said that it should be the object of students to prepare to make good citizens of our country and also acceptable citizens of another world. A good citizen was defined as one who is useful in doing something worthwhile with a good motive behind his life. Great burdens will fall upon Christian civilization after the war and we must be prepared to carry our share. The speaker also stated that two out of five in the officers' training camps do not finish, and these are mostly college men. He gave five reasons for their failure; namely, slouchiness in appearance, carelessness in thought, touchiness-easily feeling hurt, lack of grit—looking at rough places and quitting, and lastly, lack of articuatioln.

THETA EPSILON

The members of Theta enjoyed an evening of splendid music and readings on last Saturday evenign. The audience was delighted by two solos rendered by Prof. Davis on the cello, accompanied by Miss Edythe Brothers. "Cavatina" by Raff was encored and Prof. Davis responded with Le Cinquantaine.

Miss Elizabeth Jones, accompanied by Miss Elsie Dawson sang "I Gathered a Rose", and Miss Margaret Bassett followed with "Until". Both were well rendered.

Miss Eunice Bullock gave some interesting Current Events and Miss Mabel Harting gave a unique reading in Italian dialect and responded to an encore with another equally as good.

A business meeting followed and reports were given of the Midwinter. A splendid record has been made and Thetas will keep it up.

ALPHA SIGMA

At the meeting of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society last Saturday evening a very interesting and instructive parliamentary drill was held instead of the usual program. Bob Adams who has had a course in parliamentary law conducted the meeting.

The society voted to invite the Athenians to come over Saturday night February 3, for a joint meeting. The invitation has been accepted, and committees have been appointed to arrange the program.

Next Saturday evening at six o'clock a prayer meeting will be held in Alpha Sigma Hall. A leader will be chosen and a program arranged. All members are urged to be present.

BAINONIAN

On Saturday evening the Bainonians enjoyed one of the most unique programs of the term. The program was arranged to commenorate "Bobbie" Burns' birthday. The topics and participants were wisely chosen, and the meeting proved vastly interesting and entertaining. Under the direction of the efficient program secretary, the meetings are very profitable, and every member is urged to attend them. Following is the program rendered Saturday evening:

Scotch Folk Songs, - - - Quartet
Country Life as Burns Portrays It,
- - - - - Marian Krespach
Impersonation of Harry Lauder,
- - - - - - Jane Morton
Eulogy on Burns, Willodene McIver
Highland Fling - - Grace Blanc
How to make Scotch Econes, -
- - - - - - Lena Floyd
Scotch Rounds - - - - - Society

On account of the February meetings there will be no meetings for the next two weeks. Thus the next meeting will probably be on Saturday, Feb. 23, to which all members and new girls are cordially invited.

PRAYER MEETINGS

Since last Friday prayer meetings are being held each evening immediately after supper on every floor of Carnegie Hall. These prayer services are held every year in connection with the February Meetings. They have always proved helpful to those who attend and take part. Usually one of the boys volunteers to conduct the service in his own room and invites the other fellows around to take part. Scripture lessons are read, prayers offered, and hymns sung. All boys are urged to be present at one of these prayer meetings every evening.

PERSONALS

The directors of Maryville College assembled in semi-annual session this morning. Reports were heard and business attended to.

Eloise Lavastida who has been sick is able to resume her work.

Jason B. Deyton left this morning for home to appear before the "board". It is hoped that he will be permitted to return so that he may participate in the inter-collegiate

Watkins has many friends here who wish him the best of luck. He sends to them his kindest regards.

A Story With a Moral—
It Happened in Arkansas

The story comes from one of the local papers in Arkansas about a man that was afraid of a thunder storm and crawled into a hollow log. The thunder roared, the rain poured down in torrents and the log swelled up until the poor fellow was wedged in so tight that he could not move. All his past sins began to pass before him when he suddenly remembered that he had not paid his subscription. He said this made him feel so small that he crawled out of the log through a knot hole.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 19, 1918. | NUMBER NINETEEN

HIGHLANDERS WIN BY OVERWHELMING SCORE

46-23 Result of Walk-Away Game With Tennessee Normal. Capt. Eagleton Stars.

In a whirlwind game the Highlanders started off the big trip of the season with a walk-away over the East Tennessee Normal at Johnson City last night. The team left Maryville at noon Monday and reached their destination about supper time. Playing a brand of ball that propably hadn't been seen on the Normal court for some time, the quintet from this school triumphed over their opponents to the overwhelming score of 46-23. Every man played a fine offensive and defensive game. Eagleton, the newly elected captain made a remarkable beginning at that post for he hinself caged no less than fourteen field goals. Witherspoon and Wagner played their usual consistent games. The team was seriously handicapped by the floor. The court was full of posts and it was like playing around trees and resembled to some extent hide and seek. This fact kept down the visitors from taking a scalp by a much larger score. Eb King, an old Maryville student and baseball star of local fame, was the shining light for Johnson City. He did practically all their scoring and without him the score would have been much larger for Maryville. In fact so one-sided was the game that three of the four substitutes were used and Briggs, Peters and Pugh got in the game.

The team is off for a week's trip and from this most auspicious beginning it looks as though they were going to bring home the bacon in all the remaining games. They are to play yet, Emory and Henry, Milligan, and Tusculum, winding up the trip with the last named on Thursday night of this week. Nine men were taken on the trip, Eagleton, Wagner, Witherspoon, Weisbecker, Drake, Briggs, Brown, Pugh and Peters. With such a fine start every one is hoping that the team may continue their good work and also the students are wishing that there were more home games so that those here might see the team in action.

ANNUAL INTER-CLASS BASKETBALL SERIES

The first game of the annual series of interclass games ended with a victory of the Sophomores over the Freshmen 23-13. As a game it was an exhibition the like of which has not been seen here for a long time. For some reason or other the teams did not have any pep and the playing was very loose at all times. Callahan played the best game for the victors while Cotton did the best for the losers. The crowds that witnessed the interclass games last year were missing and the cheering of the fans was conspicuous for its absence. Perhaps the fact that it was played on the Monday during the meetings had something to do with keeping down the crowd, but it is hoped that more will be out to see the remaining games of the schedule. Both teams need a lot of practice in shooting, especially fouls, as the percentage of those thrown was almost nothing.

On Monday, February 18, the second of the interclass series of basketball games were played when the Sophomores triumphed over the Freshmen in both sections of a double header. The boys won 18-8. The game was very rough and much more exciting than the previous one. The girls played their first game, and the result was that the Freshmen took a 12-5 drubbing. More enthusiasm was evident than the week before and it is to be hoped that this is kept up.

TENNESSEE PHILOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION TO MEET

At Murfreesboro February 22 And 23. Prof. Bassett President of Association.

The Twelfth annual meeting of the Tennessee Philological Association will be held in Murfreesboro on Friday and Saturday of this week, February 22 and 23. The association will be the guest of Tennessee College and of the Middle Tennessee State Normal.

Last year the Association met at Maryville and many of the students attended its sessions. Its membership is composed of teachers of Greek, Latin, English, French and German in the Univesities, Colleges, High Schools and Academies of the State.

Prof. Bassett is the President of the Association and will deliver the annual President's Address on Friday evening. His subject will be "The Bay of Naples". At the close of this address a reception will be given to the delegates by the President and Faculty of Tennessee College.

The program is a very full one, including twenty papers and addresses, many of which will be thrown open for discussion.

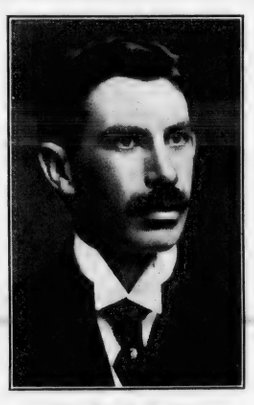
In addition to Maryville College, the institutions represented on the program are Vanderbilt University, University of Tennessee, University of the South (Sewanee), University of Chattanooga, Cumberland University, George Peabody College for Teachers, Carson and Newman College, Tennessee College, Middle Tennessee State Normal, East Tennessee State Normal, Ward-Belmont, and the Nashville City Schools. Dean Mathes of the East Tennessee Normal, for many years a member of the Maryville faculty will read a paper on "Linguistic War Babies".

The sessions on Friday will be held in Tennessee College and on Saturday in the Middle Tennessee State Normal School.

Prof. Bassett will leave for Murfreesboro, Thursday. It is possible that some other members of our language faculty may be in attendance.

PRESIDENT WILSON PLEASANTLY SURPRISED

This morning, Tuesday, February 19th., at chapel, President Wilson was delightfully surprised, when to the astonishment of the entire student body, Prof. Gillingham under some false pretense went up to the platform to make the announcement that Horace Dawson, a member of the Senior Class would make a speech, contrary to the rulings and precedents of the college, but that there would be no objection to this on the part of the faculty after the import of the speech would be known.



Just as Mr. Dawson went up to the platform, Mr. Lloyd came in with a large, beautiful clock and placed it on the altar. Mr. Dawson congratulated President Wilson on reaching his sixtieth birthday, and presented to him the clock in behalf of the whole student body, as a token of their affection for him. This small gift was but a mere sign of the great love that binds the student-body to their President. Dr. Wilson is to be congratulated upon reaching the age of sixty. God has been good to Maryville to preserve so long a life that has been spent under unusually strenous and exacting tasks. So the college is happy to day, with the memory of that propitious morning three-score years ago. All who know Dr. Wilson join in the wish that his days may be long and that each added year,—as the departed ones—may endear him to students of the college for whom he has given himself.

FEBRUARY MEETINGS RICH IN BLESSINGS

A Series of Clear, Convincing Sermons. 51 Conversions and 309 Reconsecrations.

The February Meetings of 1918 have come and gone but the atmosphere that they created still lingers over College Hill. Much good has been accomplished and many blessings have been bestowed upon those who availed themselves of the opportunity to receive them. Christ has been made precious to a large number and many more have a clearer vision than before of a true Christian life lived in harmony with God's plan and purpose. About fifty-one accepted Christ as their personal Savior and three hundred, and nine signed cards of reconsecration.

These results are very encouraging as there remains but a very few on the rolls who have not yet made the decision for Christ.

REV. FRANK MARSTON

The meetings received the interest of the students from the very start, the first evening service having a larger attendance than that of any former series. The song services, which preceded the preaching, were inspiring and did much toward dispelling worldly thoughts and preparing the minds and hearts of those present to drink in the messages brought to them. The most important part of the meetings, however, were the clear, convincing sermons of Rev. Marston. Never before did the students of Maryville College or the people of the town have the opportunity to hear a series of discourses on the foundamentals of the Bible as were those preached by Rev. Marston. Very favorable comments were heard from the members of the faculty and others placing him on a par with the great religious speakers of the world.

Rev. Marston began his sermons by putting first things first and preaching on the theme, "In the beginning God". From this subject, he progressed step by step until he had covered the whole range of gospel fundamentals. Each discourse was delivered with his whole being, physical, spiritual and metnal, back of it. From beginning to end, Jesus Christ was put in the foreground as Friend, as Saviour and as the Son of God. The speaker answered in a most convincing way, any objection or difficulty that may have been present in any who hesitated to accept Christ. No prop was left standing when Mr. Marston completed his series of messages.

The texts of the entire series of sermons were as follows:

February 5—Evening, Gen 1:1. "In the Beginning God".

February 6—Morning, Gen 2:7 and Rom. 14:12, "In the Image of God". Evening— Rom. 5:12, "Death by Sin".

THE CENTENNIAL FORWARD FUND BEING RAISED

First and Second $100,000 Being "Cashed In". Plans for Celebration of Centennial.

On Tuesday morning, February 5, the Directors of Maryville College assembled in semi-annual session. Among those present were: Rev. E. A. Elmore, D. D., president of the board, Chattanooga; Rev. Calvin A. Duncan, Harriman; Rev. T. J. Miles, Knoxville; Rev. J. C. Ritter, Knoxville; Rev. R. I. Gamon, Knoxville; Hon. W. A. Lyle, Dandridge, Rev. W. R. Dawson, D. D., South Knoxville. A report was read by President Wilson.

Some of the acts of the Directors were as follows. Others may be mentioned in another issue.

"Resolved,

"1. That the earnest thanks of the Directors of Maryville College be given the General Education Board for their generous granting in effect of the request made for cooperation in the "cashing in", if possible, of the first and second $100,000 of the Centennial Forward Fund of $325,000. The pledge that the Board has now made to pay to the College, provided the other agreed-upon conditions are fulfilled, the interest upon $25,000 when the College has collected in cash the sum of $75,000, and the interest on $50,000, when the College has collected in cash the sum of $150,000, would give the institution added income made imperatively necessary by the war. The Directors believe that before the expiration of the time limit specified they will be able to certify to the Board that at least $75,000 of the Centennial Forward Fund has been paid in.

"2. That in case it be seen that it will be impossible to secure the entire Centennial Fund of $325,000 before July 1918, the time limit fixed by the grant made by the General Education Board, President Wilson be hereby empowered and directed to lay before that Board in due time a request for such extension of the time limit as may seem reasonable to the Board.

"3. That, in view of the serious financial difficulties that confront us, the campaign for the Centennial Forward Fund, itself a permanent patriotic fund, be pressed with all due energy, care being exercised, however, not to divert funds that are intended for and demanded by the urgent and immediate uses of war relief.

"4. That a committee be appointed by the Board to consist of members of the Directors and of the Faculty to take the matter of the mode of celebration of our Centennial under advisement, and to report with recommendations to the commencement meeting of the Directors".

QUARTET CONCERT BENEFIT SAMMIES

On next Monday evening, Feb. 25th., at 7:30 o'clock in Voorhees Chapel, a concert will be given the Maryville College mixed quartet, the personnel of which consists of Misses Margaret Bassett and Josephine Knapp, and Messrs. Horace Dawson and Roy Anderson. Miss Staater is director of the quartet and will be pianist for the evening.

A program of high class music will be rendered in a very entertaining manner. The proceeds of the concert will go for a war chest which is to be given the enlisted men from Maryville College. A large crowd is urged to be present to help a patriotic cause and to enjoy a delightful entertainment.

"Daddy-Long-Legs", the play given before Christmas in the college chapel, will be presented by the Dramitization Class of the Expression Department in the Palace Theatre one evening next week for the benefit of the Red Cross.

THE Wm. H. BATES ORATORICAL PRIZE

Contests to be Entered by Seniors. $750 Already Contributed to Fund.

Rev. William H. Bates, D. D., recently of Washington City, D. C., now of Greeley, Colorado, has for many years been a friend of Maryville College. He has made valuable contributions to the library, especially in the line of books on music, and to the museum. Recently he gave the College a carload of household furniture and books from his library. Another gift that he recently made will doubtless have a far-reaching influence upon the students of the institution.

Dr. Bates, on July 28, 1917, made a contribution of $670, which amount has since been increased to $750, to establish a fund to be kept in perpetuity by the Directors, and to be known as the William H. Bates Oratorical Prize Foundation, the income alone to be used as a prize or prizes to be won in an oratorical contest, to be entered into by students of the Senior Class.

Dr. Bates is a graduate of Hamilton College, and himself contested for what is called the Clark Prize in that institution. The Clark Prize is one the winning of which has for many years been looked upon as perhaps the greatest honor to be attained by a student of the institution. The contest is the principal event of the year, and men prepare during the entire college course to enter the contest for the prize.

The regulations at Hamilton—and the rules at Hamilton will probably be adopted in the main at Maryville—are that all the members of the Senior Class that enter the competition prepare orations on certain subjects that they choose from a list porvided by the faculty. A committee read the orations and select the best six. Then six Seniors whose orations have been selected as the best deliver those orations in a public contest. Judges decide who is the winner, and to him is given the cash prize.

It has not yet been decided whether a contest will be held this year, but hereafter, at any rate, the Bates Prize Oratorical Contest will be one of the interesting features of our college life. It may be that the prize may be divided into first and second prizes.

Dr. Bates is adding to the fund and hopes to make it a fund of a thousand dollars. In that case, the annual income will be $60 to be used as the prize. This year, of course, the income will be considerably less.

The Clark Fund at Hamilton has had a great deal to do with giving that institution the very high reputation that it has enjoyed for skill in oratory. It is the hope of Maryville men and of Dr. Hoyt and Prof. Knapp, Hamilton's representatives in the faculty, that the Bates Prize may exert the same great influence at Maryville that the Clark Prize has exerted at Hamilton.

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. was opened Sunday evening with prayer by Dr. Stevenson.

After the reading of the scripture by Miss Sue Nuchols, and a piano solo by Miss Celia Rough, Miss Josephine Wicks, the leader, read a beatuiful story—"The Weavers".

Other special music, a vocal solo by Miss Mary Heard, and a piano solo by Miss Lena Pardue followed.

There was a good attendance, but not as good as it should have been. All members are urged to be present and contribute something to each meeting.

Last night, the U. T. Basketball team was defeated at Tusculum College, score 36-26.

EDITORIAL

In the next issue of the Echo we hope to publish a complete list, so far as possible of the names of all former students and professors of Maryville College who have entered military service. It will be appreciated if the names and addresses of any such men, as yet not likely to be on the list, be handed in or sent in to the Registrar's office.

Tonight there is to be a lyceum number. We hope that the attention will be far better than at the last number. It seems that there are a few kids here who have never been away from home before and a few hard headed individuals who need a few lessons in etiquette. It is up to the others who are a little better informed to make their custom of incessant chatter so unpopular that henceforth there will be no disturbance of any kind at any chapel function.

THE FEBRUARY MEETINGS

How far reaching will be the influence of the February Meetings held here during the past two weeks can hardly be estimated by human calculation. That a great deal of good has already been done cannot be doubted. The lives of many students were lightened and made brighter by a clearer conception of the Divine Father and of the wonderful love and sacrifice of His Son, our Redeemer and Savior, Jesus Christ. The seed of Christian faith sown here by the leader of the meetings will be multiplied again and again, and finally scattered to the ends of the earth. Again we say, the blessings of this series of services can not be numbered.

On behalf of the student body, we hereby thank Mr. Marston for the beneficial and inspiring messages which he brought to us, and for the wonderful amount of good that he accomplished in our midst.

MORE ATHLETIC CONTESTS

All over the campus inquiries are being made why we have no more athletic contests. During the football season there were at home only three games: a practice game with Polk County High, and a game with Center and Tusculum colleges each. Thus far in the basketball season there have been two girls' games, and three boys' games of which one was with U. T. and should have paid for itself.

It is altogether unlikely that much attention will be paid to baseball this year, and so it seems that we should have more basketball games. Manager Witherspoon states that games with first-class teams can be secured but that it is difficult to secure the permission of the higher authorities to have such contests. The cause for such a difficulty can scarcely be apprehended.

For the first time in years the Athletic Association has been out of debt, not because of anything done by the students or faculty, but because of the generosity of friends of the college acting through the agency of the College Pastor. Also this year approximately $1,800 have been paid in by the students for athletic and forensic activities—ninety percent, or $1,620, of that amount being for athletics exclusively. It seems that that should be sufficient to enable us to have more athletic contests.

If the reason be patriotic we fail to see the patriotism. The money has already been spent so far as the students are concerned, and the college would surely not ask us, in this year of war and the attendant hardships, to contribute to an athletic fund for the use of future student bodies.

One reason, though insignificant, might be that some of the students have manifested an unsportsmanlike spirit at some of the recent games, particularly at the U. T. game when the U. T. rooters were hissed. The majority of the student body, particularly the upper classmen, do not stand for such unbecoming conduct. It is to be hoped that such will never occur again.

Another possible reason may be that the athletic managers have failed to secure games on proper dates. The Monday holiday makes it inconvenient for them in this respect.

What we wish to do is to call attention to the fact that we have paid for more than we are getting. This matter should be investigated and something done. What we want is more games at home.

TIGER QUINTET WINS TWO HARD GAMES

Two hard basketball games were participated in by the Tiger quintet last week. In both contests the Tigers were returned the winners by a large score.

On Monday afternoon the East End High School five was met and defeated on their own court by a score of 17-1. The second game was played Tuesday afternoon on the Polytechnic court, at which time the Poly second string team went down to defeat before the consistant team work and good shooting of the Tiger aggregation. Score 34-18.

The Tiger team is made up of the following boys: Sprinkle, (capt.), center; Booze and Lyshen, forwards; Erwin and McCall, guards.

MR. MARSTON CONDUCTS Y. M. AND Y. W. SERVICE

Speaks on Sacred Trusts and Responsibilities Committed To Each One.

Sunday afternoon, February 10, Rev. Mr. Marston spoke to the members of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A., on the text: 1 Kings 20:40, "While I was busy here and there He was gone". "God has committed to every one some very sacred trusts and responsibilities. First, the trust of time. While one is busy himself over affairs of little importance, he will awake to the fact that his time has passed and he has accomplished nothing. Many students spend their sacred trust of time over trifles, and lose the true value of their college courses.

Second, the opportunities God gives for usefulness. The people today are living in a time of desperate need. Soon the college students will be out in the thick of the fight. In order to be useful in the future, one has to be careful in the use of his opportunities now.

Third, God has placed each one in this world with certain relations to his fellowmen; these relations carry certain responsibilities. Some day the friend slips off and it is too late to do the deed of kindness. One's responsibilities have not been fulfilled, one has not been intentionally unkind, just heedless—"busy here and there". The hearts broken by harsh words spoken can never be healed. Thots unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead, but God himself can't kill them: when they're said.

There's many a fellow who hungers for something besides earthly knowledge. There is a natural tendency to put off the talk with the friend about his soul. One waits for a more opportune time, until the chance is gone and it is too late. It is easy to let a human soul slip through your finger, don't be "busy here and there" when you have an opportunity to help some one. There comes to every human heart a most earnest and insistent plea from Christ, himself,—"Give me thy heart". Some day will be heard only one sound of his footfalls going away, never to return, and it is too late. May all claim Christ for their own, and Christ claim all.

U. T.—M. C. GAME
CALLED A TIE

The sporting editor of the Echo has just received a letter from Mr. Ayres, the Sentinel writer, enclosing a statement from Mr. Chambers, the referee of the last U. T.-Maryville game. To quote from him: "I claim that the basketball game between Maryville and Tennessee was a tie. I also state that Wagner committed a foul and that the foul goal was thrown by Bell which goal tied the score. I also insist that I attempted to have the Maryville timekeeper and Dr. Buchanon compare watches, but the Maryville timekeeper refused to do so. I also claim that I tried to induce the players to return and play off the tie and I also attempted to get the people off the floor".

It is exteremely regrettable that the game ended in such a disorderly manner. It will be remembered however, that the students were somewhat excited in the happy and sincere belief that the Highlanders had won a victory over an ancient rival of the college. After the game the referee failed to make it clear that the game was a tie. For that reason the game was written up in the Echo as a M. C. victory 20-19. Since the game was really a tie, 20 to 20, it is regretted very much that such an error was made.

There will be a "Service Flag" raised at the M. E. Church next Sunday morning, 10:30. Come.

JOINT MEETING OF LITERARY SOCIETIES

Athenians and Alpha Sigmas To Meet in Alpha Sigma Hall Saturday Evening.

On next Saturday evening, Feb. 23rd., at 6:30 o'clock, a joint meeting of the Athenian and Alpha Sigma Literary Societies will be held in the Alpha Sigma Hall.

The following program has been arranged:

Pioano Solo - - - - Edgemon
Reading - - - - - Dawson
Debate: "Resolved, that all cities above 75,000 and not over 50,000 population should have a City Manager form of government".
Affirmative, Lloyd and Damiano;
Negative, Moulton and McCurry.
"Athenian". - - - - Witherspoon
Reading - - - - Eckles West
"Alpha Sigma Advance"- - Cotton
Solo - - - - - - Roy Anderson

All of the men on the program are working hard. Each fellow feels that a heavy burden of responsibility rests on his shoulders to give his society a fair representation and to help his society make a better showing than that made by the other society.

This will be the first joint meeting of the two boys' literary societies for years. Both sections of each society will be present. All of the boys are looking forward to the meeting with high expectations for an evening of pleasure and profit. Every boy on the "hill" is urged to be present.

TENNESSEE CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR CONVENTION

The District Convention of the Christian Endeavor was held on February 16th and 17th at the New Providence Presbyterian church. Seventy-five delegates from nine counties were present. Mr. Evans, Field Secretary, was the life of the Convention, putting new ideas before all the delegates. At the Saturday night meeting which was well attended, Dr. Stevenson delivered a splendid and inspiring address. Sunday afternoon Miss Cora Bartlett gave one of her interesting talks on Persia to the Juniors and Intermediates.

The final meeting Sunday night was a fitting climax. Mr. John Gore president of the Tennessee Christian Endeavor Union lead the union meeting of all the societies in town. The theme of this meeting was "Loyalty". Dr. Wilson delivered an inspiring address, filled with a gospel message. Mr. Evans closed with a decision service and many Endeavors reconsecrated their Christian lives for Endeavor work.

The convention was a success in all particulars. It was resolved by the delegates that the faculty of the college and the students be especially thanked for their cooperation and help in the convention.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

Last Thursday afternoon, Rev. Mr. Marston made a very interesting address before the members of the Ministerial Association. He spoke of the great privilege of being a minister of the Gospel, and of the great opportunities to uplift humanity, and the aims and purposes of a minister in doing his work. The talk was indeed beneficial.

Last Saturday, just after dinner the members of the association paid a surprise visit to President Wilson's home. The president of the Ministerial Association, C. V. Miller, presented him with a reading lamp as a birthday gift, Sunday, February 17th., having been the President's sixtieth birthday. Dr. Wilson was very much astonished and had some difficulty for a few minutes, to reply. He spoke of the work of the Association in very complimentary terms, and heartily thanked the association for this token of their affection.

LOST—On the campus or on Stanley Street, between Mr. Caldwell's residence and Dr. Wilson's residence, a butterfly clasp pin, set with pearls. Reward will be paid for its return to Professor Gillingham.

A HOLIDAY AND A "SNAP" SOCIAL

In accordance with a time honored custom of the College Saturday, February 16th., the closing day of the February Meetings, was a holiday. After the final morning service of the series it was announced that no classes would meet and that the rules of the institution in regard to "moonshine" would be suspended for the day. Despite the inclemency of the weather the young ladies and gentlemen managed to pass the time away very pleasantly, and a much needed relaxation from the strenuous labors of the past two weeks was obtained.

To further continue the pleasure of the week end there was a "snap" social on Monday evening in Bartlett Hall. From twenty-five to fifty couples were on the floor all of the time engaging in that fascinating game "snap", which is peculiarly a Maryville College sport. The spectotars were numerous. Now and then they would get in the game for a while and go out and "moonshine" for a while, and so on. It was a scene of much activity and was thoroughly enjoyed by a large number of students.

VESPER SERVICE

Owing to the low temperature of the auditorium, last Sunday afternoon, Dr. Stevenson spoke briefly but with emphasis on the text found in Luke 7:23, "They are like unto children sitting in the marketplace, and calling one to another, and saying, we have piped unto you, and ye have not danced; we have mourned to you, and ye have not wept".

The speaker said that human nature has been the same in all ages and thus Christ, the great Teacher, took one of the common occurrances to use in illustrating a great truth. The text teaches that there are many who are unwilling to be pleased and who refuse to receive the gospel. In the beginning of the Old Testament is an awful tragedy, which brings a sober, solemn, and serious message. But combine this with the message of the New Testament and notice how marvelously they blend together. The law and the gospel are the two hinges on which opens the door of the interpretation of Christ's teaching.

The church of God should not be discouraged because it cannot please all. The institution of Christ's church does not claim to be perfect, but has a great many of very good people in it. Christ's followers should give their endeavors to please God rather than men. There are three facts that cannot be denied.

First, the church is imperfect. It contains both serious and light-hearted people, both good and imperfect members, and the whole cannot be greater than its parts.

Secondly, with all its imperfections, the church of Jesus Christ is the most perfect organization ever effected in the world. The most of the good people are in the church and the most of the bad are outside of it.

Finally, behind the Bible, the Christian church, and Christian's themselves, stands a perfect Christ.

FRATER—FANCHER

Mr. and Mrs. Frank T. Fancher announce the marriage of their daughter Notie
to
Lieutenant Homer B. Frater on Saturday, February the ninth
Nineteen hundred and eighteen
Chattanooga, Tennessee

The wedding took place at eight o'clock Saturday evening at the home of the bride's uncle, Dr. H. L. Fancher on McCallie Ave. The house was beautifully decorated with pink carnations, narcisses and banks of ferns and palms. The impressive ring ceremony was used, Chaplain Burkhart of the Sixth Infantry was best man. The bride was given away by her uncle. She was gowned in a charming gray charmeuse with a bride's bouquet of American Beauty roses. A reception was given immediately following the ceremony, after which Lieut. and Mrs. Frater left for Nashville, Sparta and other points in Middle Tennessee.

The bride is the daughter of Judge F. T. Fancher of Sparta and is a member of the Sophomore Class of this college where she will continue her course. Lieut. Frater of Columbus, Ohio is stationed with the Sixth Infantry at Camp Forrest. He was a member of the present Junior class till the spring of 1917 when he enlisted. Both are well-known and popular young people on the Hill and congratulations and best wishes of their many friends are extended to them.

OFFICERS COMMISSIONED IN FIFTH TENNESSEE

The officers of the Fifth Tennessee regiment of the National Guard have recently been commissioned by Gov. Rye. The colonel is D. C. Chapman of Knoxville.

Prof. Clinton H. Gillingham, a professor in Maryville College and commandant of the four companies of student cadets on the "hill", was commissioned major. Prof. Gillingham has had considerable military training and is well fitted for his new position which will permit him to remain at his work in the college.

The regiment is almost wholly an East Tennessee organization. It is made up of twelve companies besides the machine gun company the headquarters company, and the supply company. The Maryville company, which will be known hence forth as "Company G", has the following officers: captain, Edgar Teffeteller; first lieutenant, James L. Maxey; second lieutenant, Jancer L. Tweed. The two latter named officers have entered the officers" training course taught by Prof. Gillingham in Maryville College.

A number of students on the "hill" have joined the Maryville company; and some of them have been temporarily appointed as "noncom" officers.

SECOND DISCOURSE ON PASSION PLAY

Sunday afternoon, Febuary 17, Professor Schaeffer gave his second address, for the members of the Y. M. C. A., on "The Passion Play". This time Professor Schaeffer described the action of the play. This drama, which contians seventeen acts, requires eight hours to be presented. Nearly every act of the history of Christ's life is preceded by an Old Testament type of similar nature; showing the close analogy between the two. The play is divided into three parts: Part 1, from Christ's entry into Jerusalem to the arrest on the Mount of Olives. Part 2, from the arrest to the Resurrection. Part 3, The Ascension. These lectures have been greatly appreciated by the Y. M. C. A. members, and all who have heard the story of this wonderful play have obtained a more vivid realization of the significance of Christ's sacrifice for mankind.

SUFFRAGISTS ADOPT FRENCH ORPHAN

The Equal Suffrage Club met last Monday afternoon, February 11. Miss Marion Henry rendered a piano solo. Then Mrs. Hedge made a very interesting address on "The Needy French Orphans". She said that there are 500,000 fatherless French children between the ages of one to eight years. The cost of adopting a baby for one year is $36.50. Mrs. Hedge suggested that the Equal Suffrage Club of Maryville College adopt a baby for one year. The suggestion was acted upon and the club decided to adopt a girl baby eighteen months old. The Equal Suffrage girls will soon receive a picture of their new charge.

After a vocal solo by Miss Margaret Bassett the meeting was adjourned.

A WINTER VERSION

Mary had a little cold;
It started in her head;
And everywhere that Mary went
That cold was sure to spread.

It followed her to school one day;
'Twas not against the rule.
It made the children cough and sneeze
To have that cold at school.

The tecaher tried to drive it out,
She tried hard, but—Kachoo!
It didn't do a bit of good,
The teacher caught it too!

—Ex.

Pete Hood: "Yes, I am superintendent, general supervisor, president and chief stockholder of the K. and A."

Miss Buxton: "Oh! That's the little short railroad from Knoxville to Maryville, is it?"

Mr. Hood: "Yes, but it is as wide as any of them".

1899.

A copy of the Philippine Presbyterian for October, 1917, recently received is full of interesting information in regard to Rev. Dr. C. N. Magill, '99. Four years ago the Magill home was destroyed by fire. At this time not only were the household goods lost but also the manuscript of the translation of the Old Testament into Tagaloy, the dialect used in Manila, on which Dr. Magill was then working. Since then, however, the work has been resumed and an article in the magazine signed by Dr. Magill tells of the final publication of the entire Bible under his direction. The paper also contains cuts of the manse erected since the fire, and of the chapel dedicated last year. Dr. Magill's work is at Lucena, a city of 12,000 inhabitants, eighty-three miles from Manila.

1909.

Homer Hammontree is engaged in Y. M. C. A. War Work. He is assisting Mel Trotter in meetings at the various cantonments, and is meeting with great success.

1916.

A letter from H. W. Threlkeld to Dr. Barnes states that he enlisted a few months ago in the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps and is now stationed at Fort Logan, Colo. This is ten miles from Denver at an altitude of 5394 feet and the temperature has been twenty degrees below zero.

1917.

Miss Alice Wright is teaching English in the High School at De Soto, Missouri.

H. L. Caton is Principal of the Grammar School at Newport, Tennessee, this year. He has eight teachers under his supervision.

Miss Marguerite Sutton has a position in the Central High School at Chattanooga, where she is teaching Spanish and History.

PERSONALS

Last week "Tommy" Loft spent several days in a revival at Unitia church where he is now pastor. A very helpful series of services were conducted by an evangelist from Moody Bible Institute. There were twenty-five conversions and fourteen additions to the church.

Harry H. Ferntheil, on leave of absence from Camp Johnson, Jacksonville, Fla., where he has been for several months in the Provisional Office Workers Company, Aviation Corps, on his way home in Cincinnati spent February 11 and 12 on the "hill" with friends. On his return to Jacksonville he spent last week end here. He has hopes of a promotion soon after returning to camp.

F. G. Cooper and Robert Adams were keenly disappointed last week when they received notification that their order to appear before the examining board of the Signal Corps had been revoked. They will be notified again to appear before the board when examinations are resumed.

Cecil Cross, a former student, who has been working in the First National Bank of Anniston, Ala, for several months, is visiting friends on the "hill". He expects to be called into military service, perhaps into the auditing department, within a short time.

Be it known to all concerned that I, Leslie Jones, a student of Maryville College, will cease from this time henceforth to lend any of the worldly goods left me by too numerous borrowers. I take this step without any feeling of enmity to those who now possess my skillet, sofa pillow, big spoon, lamp, hammer, six books, scissors, one box tacks, necktie, quart of alcohol, table knife, etc., etc., etc., but out of sheer necessity in order to preserve those few tihngs yet left in my possession.

February 19, 1918.

Signed,

Leslie Jones.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISE HELD IN CHAPEL

Service Flag Presented College By Glen Lloyd in Behalf of Student Body.

Very appropriate and impressive exercises were held in the chapel last Friday morning in honor of alumni, former students, and members of the faculty, who are now serving their country in the great war. After the college battalions had marched down the aisles, everyone stood at attention while the orchestra played the "Star Spangled Banner". Above the platform, a large American flag was hung on the wall to the left and on the other side a Service Flag of the same dimensions, 8 feet by 16 feet. with the audience seated, the orchestra next played a medley of patriotic airs. Dr. Stevenson then led the devotional exercises, reading from the sixteenth chapter of Isaiah. Following this, Mr. Glen Lloyd, a member of the Senior class, presented the service flag to Maryville College in behalf of the student body.

Mr. Lloyd began by stating that fifteen hundred nations had risen and fallen, but not one where the light of character had been shining. He called the five points of each star of the two hundred and fifty-eight that looked down from the Service Flag, a "pentagon of sacrifice", that the soldier boys had made. The first point represents cuontry. It is the place of every American to uphold his country regardless of his personal opinions. In this war, America has no possibility of material gain. The four other points represent home, church, friends, and Maryville College. This flag had been made on the Hill, but there is another Service Flag that the boys who have left are making. It is a reflection of the one on the wall. The points of the stars in that one represent, respectively, courage, cheer, love, faith and altruism, each one being a reflection of the corresponding point of the stars on the Service Flag upon the wall. The speaker concluded by paying a very pretty tribute to each of the flags.

Dr. Wilson accepting the flag in behalf of the college thanked the students and the girls of the Home Economics Department who had labored hard in making it and the other flag, "Old Glory". He said that, in the final analysis, there was only one hand that had prepared the flags. This was the hand of loving pride. He then gave thirteen reasons for this type of pride, each one represented by a stripe in Old Glory.

The college is proud of her boys because they were college men; because of the families back of them; because they are friends, are Americans, and are patriots; because they are willing patriots; because they are cosmopolitans, belonging to the world; because of their character and of their resolution to stay until the end; because they are heroes and are the real crusaders of the age; and lastly because they are walking in the footsteps of Christ, the great Captain of their salvation. He said that we would never call them back, but rather send more to back them up.

After this, all joined beautifully in a song prepared especially as a prayer for Maryville's boys. It was sung to the tune of "America". Mr. Horace Dawson read the "Story of Old Glory" and Miss Genevieve Gibson read "Tipperary Days". A series of bugle calls were given and the exercises were concluded by Mr. Roy Anderson's solo, "Keep the Home Fires Burning".

He who Mrs. to take a kiss,
Has Mr. thing he should not Miss.

OLD GLORY AND THE SERVICE FLAG AS THEY HANG IN THE CHAPEL

The above photograph shows the front of Voorhees Chapel as it now appears with the Service Flag hanging on the right and "Old Glory" on the left. On the Service Flag there is room for five hundred stars, the number on it now being two hundred and seventy-one, and more are being added as the names of enlisted M. C. men are turned in to the College Office. Both flags were made by the girls in the Home Economics Department, and in their work they wove the tender affection and sacred love of every loyal Maryville College student for these heroes who are helping to make the world safe for democracy.

MIXED QUARTETTE GIVES DELIGHTFUL PUBLIC CONCERT

The Maryville College Mixed Quartette gave its initial public performance Monday evening before a large and enthusiastically appreciative audience of students and friends.

For the first time in the lives of many, we heard three verses of the "Star Spangled Banner" sung correctly and unhesitatingly without the aid of notes or book, and after that feat we felt confident that the Quartette would be equal to anything. And they were.

Their programme was a pleasingly varied and extremely well balanced one, ranging from stirring, thrilling martial music like "The Soldiers' Chorus", and "The Song of the Vikings", to the classic calmness and serenity of Pinsutis "In this hour of Softened Splendor"; from the dainty "Maiden of the Fleur De Lys" with its close harmonies and delicate shadings, to the sweet old plantation melodies with their unfailing charm; from the always popular and delightful "Come Where the Lilies Bloom", with its rich and resonant chords, to the bucolic scenes of the "County Fair", with its quaint costumes and extravagant display of valuable vegetables. In this latter selection Mr. Anderson, with a wisp of straw colored spinach attached to his chin, and a derby hat of the vintage of 1873 on his head, presented a vivid picture of the pumpkin raising, sauer kraut loving "Rube".

Each member of the quartette appeared in solo selections which were chosen with excellent judgment and showed the range and richness of tone as well as the careful training and artistic ability of each singer to the best advantage.

The entire programme demonstrated the fact that Maryville College has in these singers a quartette of which it may well be proud, and it is proud, and it is easy to predict that with such talent, so well trained and capably directed, with its bookings and business affairs under the care of so practical, painstaking and efficient a manager as Major Johnson, our Quartette's tour to other cities and college towns will partake of the nature of a continual triumphal progress.

Extra copies of this issue for 2 1-2 cents each.

GIRLS UNACCUSTOMED TO "ROUGHING IT"

In an extremely exciting and closely contested basketball game, played according to boys' rules, the girls' varsity team went down in defeat, Saturday, Feb. 23, before the onsloughts of the University of Chattanooga quintet at Chattanooga. In the first half in which the boys' rules were not strictly adhered to, the Maryville aggregation gave good account of themselves, scoring nine of the eleven points. In the latter half the visiting girls were unable to "rough it" with their opponents in so creditable manner. The contest ended 14 to 11 in favor of Chattanooga.

Consistent team work featured the playing of the M. C. Quintet. The following girls made the trip: Misses Sue Nuchols, Beatrice Marshall, Edith Davis, Dixie Webb, Celeste Moseley, Grace Ludman and Carmine Park. Miss Mary Alexander went along as chaperon.

PRAYER FOR MARYVILLE'S SOLDIER AND SAILOR BOYS

Tune: America

The following song, the last three verses of which were composed by President Samuel T. Wilson, was sung at the chapel service last Friday morning when the service flag was presented:

1 Our fathers' God, to Thee,
Author of liberty,
To Thee we sing:
Long may our land be bright
With freedom's holy light;
Protect us by Thy might,
Great God, our King.

2 Our boys have heard Thy call,
And pledged to Thee their all
Lest freedom die.
Oh, gird them for the fight;
By them the wrong requite,
By them to right give might,
O Lord Most High.

3 With loving hearts we pray:
Shield them by night, by day;
Their lives defend.
From hurtling death's dread blast,
From fields of carnage vast,
Bring them safe home at last,
When war shall end.

4 But, if Thy holy call
Doom them in arms to fall
Where freedom's won
We yield them unto Thee,
Rejoiced that they, as He,
Dared die to make men free;
Thy will be done.

DR. E. A. OTT LECTURES ON "THE SPENDERS"

Dr. Edward Amherst Ott, a noted lecturer, presented the fourth number of the Lyceum course last Tuesday evening. He was scheduled to give his famous lecture on "Sour Grapes or Heredity and Marraige", but desiring to comply with a request of the Speakers' Bureaus at Washington to speak on a subject that would be in harmony with the country's needs at this time, he gave another of his well-known lectures, "The Spenders". This is claimed by some to be the best of the series that he delivers. It deals with the "ballot of the dollar" and is a war on poverty.

He stated that it was virtually impossible to escape the sight of advertisements, all of which are pleading for your money. What is needed is an equity of acquisition. The problem is how to measure values as there is no yardstick to do it with. Each workman should be paid what is right, not too much nor too little. But who can fix the standards? Another thought presented, was that, almost invariably, when a man has his salary doubled he or his wife, or both become afflicted with the American disease called "strut". This is a dislike for former things and a hankering for a change in order to be like "other people". A man cannot be judged so well by how he obtains his money, but he can by how he spends it in the open market. That is the record of his character. The lecturer emphasized the fact that very few men fail whose homes are well organized. He gave the three symptoms of "strut" as, first, a looking into vacancy; next, thinking in vacancy; and lastly, planning to imitate. The high cost of living is here because everything that was cheap in America had to go as it could not be commercialized. Americans need refinement without the tinsel and the advertisement. They must eliminate waste. The good things are cheap—education, good food, good clothing, health. Sickness is expensive and abnormal. He concluded by saying that when we spend money, we ought to be sure that we are getting something real.

HIGHLANDERS WIN FOUR STRAIGHT

Four Fast Teams Defeated In As Many Nights. Consistent Teamwork Featured.

Taking four straight victories in as many consecutive nights, with scores varying from one point difference to doubling the score, is a record that Maryville may well be proud of. The first game, played on Feb. 19, was a victory over East Tennessee Normal, score 46-23, as reported last week.

At Milligan College the game was the most exciting ever seen there. It was the second home game that Milligan has ever lost in its history. The home team was leading for a big part of the time. Taylor, the diminutive forward who played such a fine game here ealier in the season, proved to be the shining light for Milligan. In fouls he is almost without a peer in this section. He dropped in 17 out of 21 tries from the foul lines, besides caging two of his team's three field goals. Wagner also shot 12 out of 19. Eagleton did most of the field shooting, donating four from that route. Weisbecker and Wagner each got one goal. The final score was 24 to 23.

On the following evening Emory and Henry bowed down in defeat to the fast quintet who by this time were 'rearing to go'. M. C. was on the little end between halves, the score being 16-14. In the last however it was reversed making it 10 to 6. Jackson and Stanley were the shining lights of the Emory and Henry quintet. Witherspoon held down his man to only one basket, while Drake repeated his performance of the night before of holding his man scoreless. Each of the forwards and the captain got three field goals apiece, while Wagner held up his end in foul shooting besides. This game was marked by the excellent refereeing. It ended with the visitors two points ahead, 24-22.

By the time the team had reached Tusculum everyone was tired and used up. Plainly they were pessimistic about winning. Wagner started the game with three stitches in his face, and in doing so he displayed a lot of nerve. The whole team was all in, but with the fighting spirit of Maryville they came

REORGANIZATION OF STUDENT BATALLION

All of the male students taking military training were divided recently into two companies, and officers for each company were appointed. Prof. Gillingham is commandant of the battalion and Meade Johnson is major. The following officers have been commissioned in company A: Roy R. Anderson, captain adjutant; Hillary Park, first lieutenant; Alton D. Bryson, second lieutenant. Robert W. Adams was warranted first sergeant, company A. In company B the commissioned officers are: Alfred R. Campbell, captain; Lincoln Musick, first lieutenant; Glen A. Lloyd, second lieutenant. C. D. Sprinkle was warranted first sergeant in company B.

The signal corps is composed of one sergeant, C. Y. Latimer, and three privates. At present only wigwag is being studied. Night signaling and semiphore will be taken up soon.

The girls' companies are taking signal work exclusively. It will not be long before they may be seen wigwagging out on the campus.

The whole battalion is in unusually good shape and is making rapid development. Special training is being given to the men who expect to be called into service that will be helpful to them in securing rapid promotion.

EDITORIAL

During the past week many fitting tributes have been paid to the men who have gone forth to fight the battles of Democracy. At the cost of inestimable sacrifices they have heeded the call of their country in her hour of need. Maryville is justly proud of her representatives in the training camps, on the sea, and at the front. They have given their all, so far as the giving is concerned, freely and generously for the safety of those who remain behind as well as for the protection of the helpless of Europe. What we can do to honor them is far too little. That their sacrifices might be compensated we should give expression to our patriotism in terms more realistic—in the way of food conservation and in the way of constructive labor—that we too, as they, might have a small part in winning the great victory that must soon come.

PATRIOTIC PRAYER MEETING SERVICE

"George Washington—American Patriot", Subject of Address by College Pastor.

"George Washington,— American, Patriot" was the subject of the address delivered by Dr. Stevenson at Prayer Meeting last Thursday evening. He first stated three facts that were not true of the Father of his country. First, he was not of illustrious birth, being a man of the people. Secondly, he had no especially brilliant intellect—was not a genius. Thirdly, his education was not especially great. At seventeen he made his own living as a land surveyor.

Washington emphasized three precepts worthy of their adoption by every red-blooded American. In the first place, each young man or woman should give to the country an honorable and honest manhood and womanhood. All should be worthy of the gifts that God has bestowed on the land. Next, each person should strive to be an intense, real, and loyal American. The free church, free ballot, and free press are distinctly American ideas. The doors of the nation are open to the people of every nation, but those who enter should either renounce their allegiance to the foreign governments and be in sympathy with American ideals and standards, or should go back. Lastly, American morals and material leadership should be maintained among the nations. There is a special need now for true men and women, which must be satisfied. So all are asked to do their part—fight against graft, against political bribery and evil in high as well as low places. Let all repsond to the spirit of unselfishness and loyalty as taught by George Washington.

SOPHS WIN AGAIN

Monday afternoon, February 25th the third inter-class basketball game between the Freshmar and Sophomore boys resulted in a hard earned victory for the Sophs. The first half ended with the Sohphomores slightly in the lead. At the end of the second half the score stood at a tie 11-11. It was decided that five minutes be given to play off the tie, with the result of the Sophs making six points. The final score was 17 to 11 in favor of the Sophomores.

JOINT MEETING OF ALPHAS AND ATHENIANS

The joint meeting of the Alpha Sigma and Athenian Literary Societies held in the Alpha Sigma hall was well attended and the program which was rendered by representatives of both societies was highly appreciated. Not a single man on the program was absent. Each one was present and well prepared. Music was furnished by Charles Edgemon and Ralph Smith. Dawson read "Out to Old Aunt Mary's", by Riley, in his characteristically pleasing and entertaining manner. A humorous reading in the Negro dialect was given by Eckles West in a manner that delighted the audience and called for an encore, to which he responded with "Little Brown Baby". The jokes in the "Athenian" and the "Alpha Sigma Advance", by Witherspoon and Cotton respectively, would rival any ever published in Life, Judge or Puck. The debate on the question, "Resolved, that all cities above 75,000 and not over 50,000 population should have a city manager form of government" was so closely contested by Lloyd and Damiano on the affirmative and Moulton and McCurry on the negative that the decision of the judges was not unanimous, it having been rendered two to one in favor of the affirmative. The program as a whole attested to the high grade of literary work being done by both societies.

NOTICE

A number of extra copies of this issue of the Echo have been printed in order that a copy might be placed in the hands of every man whose name appears on the honor roll. The addresses of a number of these men are unknown, so it is desired that each one who reads this notice send in to the college office any addresses that he or she might know, and also the names and addresses and branch of service of any enlisted M. C. men whose names do not appear on the honor roll.

HIGHLANDERS WIN FOUR STRAIGHT

across and brought home the bacon. Tusculum started off with a rush and could not be headed til the middle of the second half. The score at the end of the first was 20-12. All of the visitors' points were scored at the very last of the half and this was indicative of the playing in the last half, for as goal after goal was shot. The team struck their stride and for the last few minutes Tusculum wasn't in it. Eagleton, who had laid around the first of the game without doing any particular damage, woke up and threw in seven field goals during the last half and all those with three personal fouls to his credit and for that reason he had to play carefully. The best Tusculum could do that half was one goal from the floor. As in the previous games a great number of fouls were called, and Johhny Dugger put in 13 out of 17 tries. Every team played on the trip made more through the foul line than from the field. Alf Doak was taken out with four personal fouls. Nine personal fouls were called on Maryville and twelve on Tusculum. No other of M. C.'s men got a goal in the last half, but in the first Wagner got one and Weisbecker and Eagleton two each. The game was a fast one throughout and was witnessed by a large crowd.

The team arrived home Friday night after one of the most successful trips ever taken by a team from this school. No other record like it can be brought to light. When one stops to consider that the courts were all different, that the officials were constantly changed, that four games were played in as many nights. That all of them were hard games, that the team lost a great deal of sleep by constant traveling and change of abode, that meals were irregular, and that the team was bunged up considerably by the end of the trip, Maryville may well be proud of them, for now she has every right to claim the championship of East Tennessee.

HONOR ROLL OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

List Now Contains The Names of 271 Men Known to Have Entered Military Service.

Since the entry of the United States into the great world war an effort has been made by the Maryville College officials to keep a complete roll of honor of all alumni, undergraduates, and teachers who have entered military service. In the October 16th issue of The Highland Echo appeared the first publication of the honor roll. On it were one hundred and six names. Since then that number has been increased to two hundred and seventy-one, and other names are being continually added to it. Only the names of the men already in the service appear on the roll. There are several enlisted men who have not yet been called into active service whose names do not appear on it. Their names will be added as they are assigned to duty. The honor roll as it now stands is as follows:

RECEPTION GIVEN BY MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

A reception was held, Wednesday February 20th., by the Association for those who during the February Meetings decided to lead the Christian life. A program, consisting of selections by the quartet, and readings by Dawson and Logan, was well rendered .Dr. Wilson then gave an address and reviewed the work of the February Meetings for the past forty years. His talk was rich in personal recollections of those, who like the guests, had taken a stand for Christ. In all cases he traced their success back to the deciding factor in their lives; the day when they laid the foundation of their success in Christian character. The President made a very touching reference to a company of soldier boys in France who were singing, "The night is dark and I am far from home",—the song ceased and all passed quietly to their huts. "Boys", said Dr. Wilsbn, "your life is not yet dark, nor are you far from home; all is joy and glory with a home in Christ and He in you".

Dr. Stevenson then made a few remarks and arrangements were made whereby he would meet the boys once a week in a friendly chat over the perplexing problems that may arise, in their endeavor to lead the Christian life.

Dr. T. H. Turner of Auburn, Ky., visited his daughters, Cola and Helena, last week-end.

"KITCHEN KABINET" HAS PATRIOTIC CELEBRATION

Last Saturday evening the "Kitchen Kabinet" celebrated Washington's birthday by having a free for all feed in Baldwin Hall in the room of Mary Francis Black and Marian Krespach. The room was a bower of symbols which would make any patriotic heart leap with pride, for in every nook and corner stood flags and ornaments representing different stages in Washington's life from the "Cherry tree" age to full manhood.

After much social chatter and games, the "Kabinet" seated itself around a table laden with sweets of many varieties sent from Missouri and New Jersey. The guests were soon on the outside of everything save the place cards and favors, and a well stocked "Kabinet" adjourned at the suggestion of the light's flash.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held its regular meeting Sunday afternoon, February 24. Professor Shelton gave a very interesting and practical talk on "Our Job". The Y. M. C. A. meetings are booming. Next Sunday afternoon a testimony service will be held. This will be most helpful and inspiring. Everybody come.

Glen Lloyd's mother and aunt, Mrs. H. B. Lloyd of Utah, and Mrs. W. A. Greer of Knoxville, paid him a delightful visit last Friday.

Highland Echo sent anywhere in the world for 30 cents the remainder of the year.

NEGRO PROBLEM TO BE STUDIED

Mr. J. B. Brown of Chattanooga, State Rural School Agent for Tennessee with headquarters at Nashville, and representative of Dr. W. D. Weatherford, who is Student Secretary of the International Y. M. C. A., visited Maryville College last Thursday, February 21, and endeavored to interest a number of students and faculty in the Negro problem which now confronts the South more menacingly than ever before. He gave three good reasons—social, moral, and economic—why there should be a better understanding between the white and colored races. A genuine interest is being taken in this matter by the best element of both races, and it is thought that it would be no impossible task to greatly remedy the conditions that now exist.

What Mr. Brown is endeavoring to do is to get the students in all the colleges and universities of Tennessee to study the Negro problem. The text book which he recommends is, "Negro Life in The South" by Dr. Weatherford. The supplemental books to be studied in connection with this are "Lawlessness or Civilization, Which?" and "The Human Way". The whole course consists of seven lessons and would be given weekly under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A. for the boys and the Y. W. C. A. for the girls.

The plan for this course as presented by Mr. Brown, met with the hearty approval of President Wilson and the Y. M. C. A. cabinet. It will be brought up before the students in the near future, and it is hoped that many of them will make arrangements to study this great problem concerning the Negroes, which sooner or later will have to be solved.

BAINONIAN

Bainonian resumed its meetings on Saturday evening with newly-awakened iterest. Although the society has not met for two weeks, on account of the February meetings, enthusiasm has not lessened. Following is the program rendered Saturday evening:

Piano Duet - - Marion Henry and Elizabeth Jackson
Reading - - - Imogene Copeland
Vocal Solo - - Winston Newton
Debate, Resolved, That Bainonian should be divided into a junior and senior section; Affirmative, Lavinia Schaeffer, Evelyn Asbury; Negative, Mary Bigelow, Addie Fine.
Piano Solo - - - Laura Putman

Next week there will be a "fox-up function", and all the girls are urged to attend.

"NON-COMS" WARRANTED IN FIFTH TENNESSEE

At the regular drill of Company G, the Maryville company of the Fifth Tennessee Regiment, last Friday evening, a number of men were warranted non-commissioned officers. Among them were the following M. C. boys: Meade Johnson, first sergeant; Glen A. Lloyd and Howard McGrath, duty sergeants; George Howell and William Momary, corporals.

This about completes the organization of Company G. Full equipment is expected soon, and a period of strenuous drill will begin.

"Doc" Feeman, star athlete of last year's fame, who is now in the Naval Reserve, was made Chief Yeoman on the first of February. He expects to be on the deep blue next month.

The play "Daddy-Long-Legs" will be presented by the Department of Expression in the Palace Theatre Friday evening, February 29th at 8 o'clock. The proceeds will go to the Red Cross.

Six hundred and eighty-one congratulations are hereby extended to Prof. and Mrs. Fred L. Proffitt in behalf of the student body and faculty of Maryville upon the advent of another splendid little baby girl in the family.

Robert Adams has gone to Knoxville to have a minor operation.

FROM OUR BOYS IN CAMP AND FIELD

"We are all going to do our bit and hope for the best. There is one thing certain, when Uncle Sam gets a million or so soldiers on the field in France, something is going to happen; and I miss my guess if there wont be a bunch of Dutchmen skooting to their holes back across the Rhine".—Corporal James M. West, Signal Corps in France.

"I find that the college man, although without technical training that others may have, can always find a place in an organization of this kind. Education goes a long way in the army, for when a man says and can show that he is a college man, he is given a rating that others do not get. As for the service, I like it fine, for this army that is being raised is wonderful, and its wonder increases with one's acquaintanc with it. My confidence in the Aviation section (for I am more familiar with it than any other branch) is unshaken, and I believe it is going to play a great part in winning this war. So with this confidence I enjoy every day of the service."—James H. Turner, Kelly Field No. 1, South San Antonio, Texas.

"January 31, 1918. I've been in France one week. Am having a great time. Don't know how long it will last! I'm on the U. S. N. Aviation force, and hope to be flying soon. Will pay M. C. a visit on my return. Give my best regards to friends and comrades".—(Chief) W. H. Pritchett.

"Tis a merry three that greet you from Atlanta, Ga. Our next move will be towards Berlin".—A. A. Sheddan, Y. M. C. A., Camp Gordon, Ga., Lloyd E. Dyer, 1st. Lieut., M. R. C., 327 Infirmary, Camp Gordon, Ga., W. T. Robinson, 1st. Lieut., M. R. C., Base Hospital 13, Ft. McPherson, Ga.

"While I often, very often, long to be back in Maryville and engaged in the work in which my heart is, yet, right now, Duty calls louder than Desire; and so I'm glad I'm here. When the war is over I shall still have time to get back in a more enjoyable task than this one of preparing for war".—William L. Johnson, 3rd. O. T. C., Camp Sherman, Ohio.

"We've had a week of hard drill and study. It is great! The man who comes through with his colors flying will deserve his commission. Am in the artillery section—a most interesting branch of the service". —Sergeant Theodore Miner, 3rd. O. T. C., Camp Upton, N. Y.

NO INTER-COLLEGIATE FOOTBALL NEXT YEAR

Directors Decide to Eliminate Football But Not Basketball and Baseball.

The Directors of the College at their Feruary Meetings, in their discussion of means to effect wartime economics, took up the matter of intercollegiate athletics for the coming year. After considering the matter from different standpoints, but especially from that of a desire to help the nation economize, it was unanimously decided that intercollegiate football shall be dropped for the coming year, and that outdoor and intramural athletics and military drill shall take its place.

The fact that other leading institutions in our section have eliminated the game for the duration of the war on account of its being the most expensive form of athletics in the cost of coach, equipment and travel, seemed to the Directors to call upon Maryville to show an equal readiness to subordinate pleasure to patriotism. The fact that the United States government asks that unnecessary travel be avoided during war time, and the fact that the cost of travel on account of delays and taxes are higher than heretofore, make it seem unwise to the Directors to have the large teams used in football go on trips that even in times of peace are very expensive.

The action taken by the Directors closes as follows: "In view of the fact that only a maimed schedule was possible this year, and that possibly next year no adequate schedule can be made; that by next fall most of our older men will have answered the call to military service; that the government asks that all unnecessary travel be avoided during war time; and that this change will contribute substantially to economy and conservation, both national and collegiate, it would seem that temporary elimination of intercollegiate football is advisable. The athletic fee for the fall term will, of course, be cancelled. Basketball and baseball are not so expensive forms of athletics, and will be continued, unless unforeseen conditions should forbid; and the corresponding athletic fee will be continued for the winter and spring terms".

The Directors also ordered "the closing of the swimming pool during the winter term; and at other times, if there is a fuel famine".

MEETING OF PHILOLOGICAL ASSOCIATION AT MURFREESBORO

The Tennessee Philological Association met in Murfreesboro on Feb. 22 and 23. The sessions were well attended and the program was an excellent one. Prof. Bassett was President of the Association and delivered the Presidential address Friday evening. His subject was "The Bay of Naples". Interesting papers dealing with philology were presented at the other sessions. The Association was entertained by Tennessee College and the Middle Tennessee State Normal. The sessions on Friday were held at Tennessee College where a luncheon was served at noon and a reception given by the President and Faculty after Prof. Bassett's address in the evening. On Saturday the Association was entertained by the Normal School and luncheon was served by the Domestic Science Department.

The newly elected officers are: President, Prof. Eugene Tavenner of the Middle Tennessee Normal; Vice-president, Prof. C. E. Conaut of the University of Chattanooga; Secretary, Prof. Joseph Robinson. of Carson and Newman College. The Association will meet next year at Chattanooga.

CO-EDS BREAK EVEN ON TWO-GAME TRIP

Lose to East Tenn. Normal 29 to 18, But Defeat Sullins College 16-6. Chattanooga Next.

Early last Thursday morning the girls varsity basketball team started on a two-game trip through upper East Tennessee. The first stop was at Johnson City where a contest was scheduled with the East Tennessee Normal girls. The game here was a fast and hard fought one from the very start to the last whistle. Here the M. C. team found what they deemed impossile—a center taller than Dixie Webb. At the end of the first half the score stood 10-9 in favor of Maryville. But in the second half, though the visitors played a great game, they could not keep the pace of the Normal girls, who soon got the lead and kept it until the end of the game. The final score was 29-18 in the Normal's favor.

Line-up

Maryville		Normal
B. Marshall,	forward	Williams
E. Davis	forward	Stevenson
D. Webb	center	Kilpatrick
C. Moseley	guard	Cook
S. Nuchols	guard	Sizer

Scoring: Maryville; Marshall 4 field and 10 foul goals; Davis 4 field goals; Normal: Williams 17 and Stevenson 12 points.

The following day the Sullens College girls were played at Bristol. Sullens had a strong team, but it was mystefied by the brilliant work of the M. C. girls that they could not hold their own in any part of the game. Each of the Maryville forwards made half of the number of scores. The game was featured by the teamwork of the visiting team and the close guarding of Moseley and Nuchols. The opposing forwards were able to get only one field goal during the entire game. The final score was 16-6 in favor of Maryville.

The line-up for Maryville was the same as in the previous game. Scoring: Maryville; Marshall 2 field and 4 foul goals and Davis 4 field. Sullens: Story one field and Aston 4 foul goals.

The other girls not mentioned in the line-up who made the trip were Coach Lois Wilson, Manager Burchfield and Elsie Dawson.

The next game the team will play will be on the Maryville court this week with the University of Chattanooga.

SCRUBBS WALLOP JOHNSON BIBLE 33-25

A quickly gotten up game between the Maryville scrubbs and Johnson Bible College was played at Bartlett Hall last Friday evening. Although no announcement of the game was made until after supper when word was sent to the dormitories, a large crowd was out to root for the home team.

The game was fast, close and interesting throughout. The scrubbs were somewhat handicapped by lack of practice. Briggs had been sick and had to be taken out in the first half. The J. B. boys exhibited good team-work and played hard ball all of the time. The first half ended 22 to 14 in favor of the visitors. The scrubbs came back strong in the second half. Wagner and Weisbecker who were substituted for Brown and Pugh, played rings all around the visitors. Latimer and Callahan played a good defensive game, holding Johnson Bible to one field goal in the last half. The final score was 33 to 25 in favor of Maryville.

Mr. Ray Staater visited his sister on the "hill" this week-end.

"CHRIST'S INTERCESSORY PRAYER" DISCUSSED AT PRAYER MEETING

Subject Taken By Y. W. C. A. Misses Robinson, Johnson, Ritchie, and Gibson Speak.

The Prayer Meeting last Thursday was led by the Y. W. C. A., taking for the subject "Christ's Intercessory Prayer" as found in the seventeenth chapter of John. The theme was divided into four parts; namely, Christ's prayer for the preservation of the Apostles, for their sanctification, for their unity, and for their glorification. Each sub-division was discussed separately.

Miss Martha Robinson spoke on the first. She said that Christ wished His disciples to go with Him, but the world had need of their services. Just as Christ was a man among men, so one cannot be helpful to others unless he is with them. The world is a gymnasium that God has given us that we may grow by exercise. The work of God's kingdom is left for us instead of angels in order that we may receive strength, power and faith.

Miss Lysia Johnson took the second division for her thought. She said that a person's morals may be good but unless Christ is in that one, he cannot be sanctified. Holiness is emphasized in the Bible just as the old ritual emphasized the purification of the vessels that were used. Sanctification is a growth and begins with a new birth in the individual. Lives of Christians are too often mocked by inconsistencies.

The third speaker was Miss Eva Ritchie, who said that Christ prayed for a consciousness of sonship on the part of His followers. The inclusiveness of Christ's prayer was emphasized. It should be a joy to every Christian to know that he is remembered with prayer by Christ. Although denominational differences are a stumbling block to some, yet the the various sects, as a whole, are united in general principles. This is necessary as internal unity will bring external results.

The last speaker was Miss Genevieve Gibson. She said that the glory of God given to Christ is passed on to Christ's followers. It is a glory of character, which is the ultimate goal of every true Christian. Christ is an omnipotent helper, aiding His children in the conflict against their old natures. The Christian's life is the world's Bible, which is used to propogate His kingdom.

TOWN AUDIENCE DELIGHTED BY "DADDY LONG LEGS"

On last Friday evening, March 1st, "Daddy Long Legs", a four-act play by Jean Webster, was presented in the Palace Theatre by students of the Department of Expression for the benefit of the Red Cross. The theatre was crowded, and approximately fifty dollars were cleared. If such a thing were possible the play went more smoothly than before when it was given in Voorhees Chapel last term. The audience was kept in an uproar of laughter almost the entire evening, delighted by the comic scenes of the John Greer Home and the romantic scenes of the girls' college and Lockwillow Farm, and pleased by the happy ending of the double romance.

The cast of characters was the same as before with the exception of two substitutions—Miss Jessie Creswell for Miss Della Carpenter, and Miss Marie Townsend for Miss Beatrice Wilson. Mr. Dawson and Miss Wicks were easily the stars of the play.

Before the play began the Maryville College Mixed Quartette sang "Come Where The Lilies Bloom" and "Caroline". Excellent music was furnished between acts by Misses Hartman and Armentrout.

DR. USSHER'S WAR LECTURE HEARD

Medical Missionary Discusses Conditions In Turkey. Makes Appeal for Volunteers.

Last Tuesday morning at chapel, the students were afforded a rare treat by the address of Dr. Clarence D. Ussher who spent twenty years in Turkey as a medical missionary. He started his labors at Harpot, but afterwards built a hospital in Van. He was the only physician in a city of forty thousand and the hospital was the only one in a district as large as New England, New York state and Pennsylvania combined. Six thousand refugees were sheltered on the American premises and Dr. Ussher was given the rank of general by the Russian Czar for his bravery at the siege of Van.

In his address, Dr. Ussher first related a few of the customs of the Mohammedans. The women smoke from forty to one hundred cigarettes a day. A person is guilty of a charge until he is proven innocent, but when the Sultan dies all men go free. There are now twice as many Mohammedans in Turkey as there are Protestants.

Next, a plea was made for those present to consider the call of missionary service. He said that only one-fifth of the human race is evangelized. It is true that ministers and Christian laymen are needed at home, but on the other hand, there are eighty times the number of ministers in the United States as there are missionaries in the world.

He further spoke of the cruel treatment given the Christian Armenian girls, who were taken to harems and subjected to abuse and torture.

The bravery and sacrifice of the Armenians were mentioned and one case was given of a little Armenian girl who went out while under fire and saved a wounded brother.

The doctor showed how the Kaiser had planned for his world-domination before the war broke out. He said that on the Mount of Olives, a tower had been erected which was destined to be the headquarters of the Kaiser in ruling the world. For one hundred and twenty years, the German government had reported a much smaller population in Germany in order to deceive the world; and in order to win the confidence of the Mohammedans, gave them the impression that Germany would accept that religion.

In stating some of the conditions existing in Turkey, Dr. Ussher said that more than half of the Turkish army have died of disease. There are four hundred thousand Christian orphans in Turkey and three million people dying of starvation. The doctor believes that Turkey has had enough of Germany, and that the armies would be glad to surrender to the British.

In the afternoon, Dr. Ussher addressed the Volunteer Band, speaking along the line of missionary activities and emphasizing the urgent need of volunteers. About eighteen students responded to the invitation to consider this work as their life calling. Perhaps no man has ever created so much enthusiasm for missionary service as did Dr. Ussher during his brief visit to Maryville College.

WINTER TERM EXAMS

According to a recent decision of the faculty the winter term final examinations will be held on March 16, 19, 20, Saturday, Tuesday and Wednesday, instead of March 15, 18, 19; this change of dates having been necessitated by the change of holiday from Saturday to Monday. Registration for the spring term will take place on Thursday, March 21, and school work will continue without interruption.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT FOR WINNING TEAM

About 40 Would-be Baseball Players Out For Practice. 22 Games Scheduled.

For the past few days the baseball field has been covered with ball players and would-be ball players. More than forty men have been out every afternoon. Very few of the men have played any college baseball at all, but there are several high school players who show promise. Mullendore from Murphy College broke his arm again last Friday. He was a certainity for the varsity.

Manager Scruggs has found it difficult to arrange games as so many of the colleges were uncertain as to continuing baseball this spring. But now since the baseball fever has its hold on all baseball lovers all the uncertainties and shadows have changed into certainties and sunshine through the agency of the warm spring weather.

Manager Scruggs is doing his best to schedule twenty-two games this season. To date he has proposed:

At Home

March 20, 21 Carson and Newman
April 5, 6 Tusculum
April 12, 13 Lincoln Memorial University
April 26, 27 Milligan
May 3, 4 University of Kentucky
May 13, University of Tennessee.

Away

April 1. 2, Carson and Newman
April 15, 16, Tusculum
April, 17, 18 Milligan
April 19, 20 Emory and Henry
May 7, 8 Lincoln Memorial Uni.
May 18, University of Tennessee.

Most of the above dates have been definitely settled upon, although there may be some changes.

"We expect to have a fast, hard working team this spring", says Manager Scruggs, "and will be satisfied with not less than fifteen victories in the twenty-two battles forecasted".

Coach Brown also feels this way about it. The names of the team will be announced later.

SPIRITUAL FOOD; SUBJECT DISCUSSED BY COLLEGE PASTOR

As an experiment, the Vesper Service last Sunday was held in the evening at quarter past seven instead of the regular time.

Dr. Stevenson centered his thoughts on the text found in John 10:10; "The thief cometh not, but for to steal, and to kill, nd to destroy. I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly". First, he spoke of the importance of everyone entering into this abounding and abundant spiritual life; and secondly, on how it is possible to obtain it.

No one can have the abundant life who does not provide his soul with plenty of moral food. Every life needs bumps and disappointments because they are blessings in disguise. Some would never exercise any faith unless forced to do so.

There are three factors necessary in otaining a full life. Abundant, appropriate spiritual food is the first requirement.

The study and reading of the Word of God will do more than anything else to promote real life. In the next place, proper surroundings are necessary. As pure air is vital to the body, so is a clean spiritual atmosphere necessary to the soul.

The last factor is found in active exercise. There is little excuse for an idle Christian. The only cure for indolence is work, for selfishness is unselfish labor, and for doubts and unbelief is service for Christ. There is a work for each to do.

Miss Jean Carson, class of '17, is visiting on the "hill" this week.

THE CAMPUS

With a campus naturally more beautiful than any other to be found in this section of the country it seems that the students should be inspired to do nothing that would detract from its beauty. During the winter months when the ground was covered with ice and snow, paths were cut across the corners of the walks all over the campus. Since then the sutdents have continued, doubtless thoughtlessly, to use these paths. The result now is that no grass is growing on them, and the looks of the campus are considerably disfigured. Places particularly noticeable are in front of Carnegie Hall and between there and the library. It is almost imperative that the college officials have wire stretched along such places as a reminder to the students. A resort to such a means should not be necessary. Every student should consider himself directly responsible for the appearance of the campus. Let each of us not only refrain from using these short cut paths, but let us remind the other fellow also. We all believe that "A thing of beauty is a joy forever", so let us help to make the campus more beautiful.

ALPHAS AND ATHENIANS HOLD MOCK TRIAL

Saturday evening, March 2d, the Athenian and Alpha Sigma Literary Societies met again in joint session, the officers and members having agreed shortly beforehand to have a mock trial. With the exception of two numbers the Alpha Sigma program was postponed. Bryson gave an interesting and instructive talk on aviation. This branch of service is especially interesting to the college man, he said, because of its individuality. Mr. Bryson has been studying preparatory to his course at Georgia Tech where he expects to be called within a few weeks. He showed an extensive knowledge of his subject and presented it in a clear manner. The other number was a very interesting paper on current events by Beck.

The mock trial followed. "Red" Young was charged with petty larcency. The prosecuting attorneys, Dawson and Holmes, endeavored to prove that the defendant had stolen some onions from Webb and Gibson grocery store. The defendant's lawyers, Lloyd and Stanton tried to show that Holmes instead of Young stole the onions. After much ludicrous testimony by witnesses on both sides, the prosecuting attorneys accused the defendant of having in his possession the onions in question. A search was ordered by Judge Cooper and the onions were found on Lloyd, one of the defendant's lawyers.

After the attorneys had made heart-rending pleas, appealing to the emotional nature of the jurors, the judge charged the jury to consider carefully the facts of the case. After a short recess the jury rendered its verdict not guilty, and the meeting was adjourned.

Genevieve Gibson was surprised with a birthday party Thursday night. Informed that Miss Mollie "would like" to see her in the parlor she descended with a huge slice of propitiatory offering only to discover a "banquet" spread for a delightful stag party of twelve. Useful "war" gifts were an interesting feature of the evening.

SOPHOMORES WIN INTERCLASS SERIES

The final and most exciting interclass basketball contest of the series between the Sophomore and Freshmen boys was played at Bartlett Hall Monday afternoon, March 4th. In this game members of the varsity squad were eligible, as was not the case in the three former games all of which were won by the Sophs. Every man was full of "pep" and was on his toes from the start-off till the last blow of the referee's whistle. Both classes exhibited excellent teamwork, but the Sophs had a much better balanced quintet, playing a good defensive as well as offensive game all of the time. Eagleton's field goal shooting was the feature of the game. Weisbecker and Peters were the shining lights of the Freshmen. The excellent organized rooting of the two classes on the side lines served to make the game more interesting and to spirit up all of the contesting men. At the end of the first half the score stood 11-7 in favor of the Sophs. The final score was 30-15, also in favor of the Sophomores.

Line-up

Sophs		Fish
Brown, 15	forward	Wagner 7
Callahan 2	forward	Cotton

Eagleton 8	center	Peters 4
Drake 1	guard	Weisbecker 4
Johnson 4	guard	Sizer

ORATORICAL CONTESTS

Some time during the latter part of the Spring Term there will be a prohibition oratorical contest and very likely a peace contest also. For the former there will be two prizes, a first of $15 and a second of $10, and for the latter there will be one $25 prize. As yet only a few have signified their intentions of entering these contests. In order that both of them might be successful it is desirable that there be more participants.

A number of students seem to have the idea that the subject matter for both the prohibition and peace orations has been exhausted. On the contrary there is to be found more material for them now than ever before, and both subjects are more vital now on account of recent developments in national affairs than in any previous years.

With the excellent records of Maryville orators behind him it seems that no aspirant for oratorical honors should hesitate for a moment to avail himself of this opportunity to make both himself and his alma mater famous. Any prospective participant may learn more about the contests by interviewing Prof. Davis under whose supervision these contests will be held.

FORENSIC LEAGUE JUNIOR

To the disappointment of the members of the Junior Forensic League word was received last Tuesday, Feb. 26, that the scheduled debate between the Preparatory Departments of the Lincoln Memorial University and Maryville College had been canceled by L. M. U. on the ground of lack of time for preparation. The aspirants for forensic honors of the M. C. Preparatory Department have had the same trouble, but they had gone ahead and made preparations for the preliminary which was to have been held on the evening when the disappointing news was received. Their prospects for a strong team were very bright, and it was with deep regret that this news was received.

Efforts have been put forth to find a forensic combat elsewhere, but in vain. It seems that the members of the Forensic League Junior will have to be contented with the potential victories of the past and with hopes for better arrangements in future years.

"PROOF OF DISCIPLESHIP" SUBJECT OF Y. W. C. A.

"Proof of Discipleship" was the subject for the very helpful and interesting meeting of the Y. W. C. A. held Sunday afternoon, March 3rd in Bainonian Hall.

"Love" said Miss Bailey the leader, "is the principal thing in Christ's life, and it is a test by which we may judge whether or not we are Christians, for if a person has the qualities of Christ he must be a follower of Him".

Miss Carmen Park gave the second test which is "Gentleness". She spoke of the gentleness of Christ with children, with women, with men and with the multitudes.

The third test is that of "Humility" which was discussed by Katherine Guess. The sympathy of Christ was brought out by Miss Maud Pardue, Courage, both physical and moral, by Miss Helen Newell.

Miss Helen Brown concluded the series of tests with "Christ's zeal in work". Then the leader put the question "Do we possess these characteristics?"

The special music, a solo by Miss Doris Wilson was very good indeed.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Davis are now at home to their many friends in Chase, Alabama. Mrs. Davis was formerly Miss Vola Runyan , for several years a charming and popular student at Maryville.

Lucile and Edith Marchant's father visited them last week.

THETA EPSILON HAS "PEP" PROGRAM

The "pep" program proved to be one of the most entertaining yet given in Theta. The Royal Hawaiian Orchestra, consisting of Elsie Rhea, Virginia Burchfield, and Esther and Emily Montgomery played and were enthusiastically applauded. Madame Schumann Heink alias Miriam Jane Bartlett favored us with some grand opera. Jennetta Jamison, representing the Boston School of Expression, read "Barbara Fritchie". Miriam Crum and Mabel Rice gave two beautiful duets. And the backward Jubilee Chorus concluded with some jubilant music. This is some chorus, and consists of the following vocalists: Emily Montgomery, Mabel Hartung, Ida Gilbert, Era Card, Jennetta Jamison, Minnie Hunter, Sarah Clayton, Maude Hite, Jonnie Trotter and Esther Montgomery.

Officers will be elected next Saturday and every member of Theta should be present to cast her vote.

HOW TO SECURE BIBLIOGRAPHIC AID

The following circular letter form the Library of Congress will be of interest to the entire sutdent body, and of especial interest to the members of the Forensic League and the classes in Public Speaking and Sociology.

"To The Students of Maryville College:

"A statement has been made that the Library of Congress is ready to aid students and scholars by sending to them bibliographic lists. This is true; but such aid, to be really effective, must come through a knowledge of the specific wants and needs of the applicant and the existing conditions under which he is working, i. e. what library facilities are within his reach.

"In the matter of sending references for individual student work or for the preparation of intercollegiate debates, the Library of Congress can co-operate intelligently with the college library. WILL YOU, THEREFORE, MAKE YOUR REQUEST THROUGH THE LIBRARY OF THE INSTITUTION IN WHICH YOU ARE STUDYING? Upon such request being submitted we shall see that the printed lists of the Library of Congress, as far as they are fitted to the expressed need and are available for distribution, are sent to the library of your university * * * *"

Herbert Putnam,
Librarian of Congress.

"Note:—The publications of the Library of Congress are generally available for free distribution to libraries; individuals can obtain copies by sending to the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C., who will supply prices upon application."

BAINONIAN

Last Saturday evening the program consisted of readings and musical selections. Near the end of the program popular songs were sung by the society, the music for which was furnished by Misses Rhea and Burchfield. This was followed with selections by a violin trio.

Next week we will have "An Evening with the Allies". The program will consist of papers on France, England, and Italy, and the national airs of these countries will be sung. This will be the last literary meeting of the term, and all members are urged to attend. The next meeting will be given up to the election of officers for the ensuing term.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

The first meeting for several weeks of the Junior Section of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society was held last Saturday evening. Before the program was competely carried out an invitation from the Senior Sections of the Alpha Sigma and Athenian Societies to hear a Mock Trial in the Alpha Sigma Hall was received and accepted. The remaining numbers were postponed until another meeting.

However, of the part rendered, a reading "Everybody's Lonesome" by Mr. Templin was thoroughly enjoyed, and the question, "Resolved, that the United States should have a war council" was debated in a very creditable manner by Parks and Ford on the affirmative and by Haney and Pearson on the negative.

A good program has been arranged for next Saturday evening. All of the Junior Alphas and any interested friends are urged to be present.

Y. M. C. A.

The Y. M. C. A. held an open meeting last Sunday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to secure testimonies concerning the benefits derived from the recent February Meetings. Nearly every one present responded, giving his individual spiritual blessing. Don't let the attendance fall down now, fellows, as the fine weather sets in. Support the College Y. M. C. A. Make the best in the South.

The meeting next Sunday will be conducted by Bob Taylor. Every body out.

FRESHMEN GIRLS DEFEAT JUNIORS

The Freshmen girls defeated the Juniors in one of the hottest basket ball contests of the inter-class series last Saturday afternoon at the gym. The Freshmen took the upper classmen by storm in the first half which ended 14 to 2 in their favor. For the former Blanche Bailey threw four field goals and two fouls and Ida Gilbert caged two field goals. For the latter Emma Miles put in one field goal. In the latter half the Juniors came back with renewed vigor and reversed completely the odds of the previous half. Grace Bailey who had been kept out of the first part on account of previous sickness went into the game and caged four field goals, the only scores made in the last half. The girls of both teams showed no marvelous ability in shooting baskets, but played remarkably well on the floor.

PROSPECTIVE TEACHERS URGED TO REGISTER

The Teachers and Professional Service Division of the United States Employment Service has sent the following article to the Echo for publication:

"Dr. P. B. Prentis, Acting Director of Employment for Illinois, under whose jurisdiction the Teachers and Professional Division of the U. S. Employment Service is operated, reports that during the past year it has been found impossible to find enough teachers to supply the need, and many attractive positions throughout the United States have been unfilled for this reason. It has frequently happened, however, that immediately after a position had been reported filled through other sources, a suitable candidate would effect registration. Of course it was then too late to nominate the teacher for that particular position. Dr. Prentis earnestly hopes that such occasions may be quite infrequent during the 1918-19 appointment season. This can only be accomplished by every available teacher being registered in the Division before the opening of the appointment season. We therefore, suggest that if you expect to be available for a new position for the next year, that you write to Dr. Prentis immediately for a registration blank. Then, when the appointment season opens in April or May, your record will be complete and the division may be able to nominate you for the first suitable position reported. Registration in the Teachers and Professional Service Division will also benefit you in other ways for, should you learn of a position for which you would like to apply through any other course, the Division will, if asked, send copies of your confidential record to the school officer to whom application is made.

"Any communications intended for this division should be addressed: Teachers and Professional Service Division, U. S. Employment Service, 845 South Wabash Avenue, Chicago, Illinois".

MARYVILLE IN 1845

Recently a reader of our Maryville papers and a friend of Maryville College, found in a copy of the "Knoxville Argus" the following:

"Beth Haema Hall, Maryville College, Maryville, Tenn., Jan 24, 1845. Society called to order, J. C. Shumate, Chairman, W. D. McGinley, Sec. * * * * * * * * * Our brother, David D. Reed, died this day * * * We ask that the resolutions be printed in the Knoxville Register, Knoxville Standard, in the Helicon and Georgia Courier (Athens, Tennessee papers, please copy)". I thought this might be of interest.

A Reader.

Monday afternoon, after the basketball game about twenty members of the North Carolina Club had a delightful informal party on the campus. Moonshining was the favorite sport. Incidently marshmallows were toasted and delicious refreshments were served.

Joe Wicks and Emma Miles breakfasted at the House in the Woods Monday morning.

Roy Jenkins, who would have been a Freshman this year had he returned to school, has had a very eventful and romantic career since leaving the sacred walls of Maryville College last spring. On Oct 20th., 1917, he was married to Miss Francis Nash of Scranton, Pa. For several weeks recently he and his wife have been in Knoxville. He was in Maryville Saturday and Sunday, February 23rd. and 24th, just before leaving for Hoquiam, Washington, where he is now working on a government job, getting out lumber for aeroplane construction.

ALUMNI NOTES

1881.

Gen. Chas. T. Cates, Jr., formerly Attorney General of the State, has announced his candidacy for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator. He has issued a long and carefully prepared statement of his views and policies. He endorses the administration of President Wilson and states that if the President desires the retention of Senator Shields he will withdraw in his favor. The general primary election will be held in August, so General Cates and his opponents are beginning their campaign early. Gen. Cates has long been one of the most prominent men in Tennessee politics and has many friends who will cordially support his candidacy.

1904.

F. E. Laughead, Esq., of Knoxville, is a candidate for the Republican nomination for Judge of the Juvenile Court of Knox County. The primary will be held in a few weeks. Mr. Laughead has been practicing law in Knoxville most of the time since leaving Maryville. His alumni friends wish him success in h' race.

1911.

The many friends of Miss Frances J. Gibson will be grieved to learn of her death at Dayton, Ohio, on the twenty-fourth of last month. Miss Gibson had been in poor health for some time, but her death was nevertheless very unexpected. She passed away suddenly on a Sabbath morning before medical aid could be summoned. Her father, Rev. J. K. Gibson, is chaplain at the National Military Home at Dayton, where Miss Gibson was living at the time of her death. She is survived by her father and mother and by her brother, Henry K. Gibson, who also was at one time a student at Maryville.

A. H. Fillers is at the head of the Science Department in the Miami High School in the southern part of Florida.

Harwell Webb Proffitt is the name of a new arrival at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Proffitt in Cleveland, Tenn. Alumni friends extend congratulations.

A SAILOR'S PHILOSOPHY

(By Frank Huber)

What's the use o' pinin'
When yer feelin' blue
What's the use o' sighin'
When yer love is true.

What's the use o' sulkin'
When yer all tucked good and tight
An' some one tips yer hammock,
An' spoils revenge, by flight.

What's the use o' cussin'
When the bugler is thro'
What's the use o' sleepin'
Get up! There's work to do!

What's the use o' shavin'
There aint no gals about
What's the use o' washin'
When a dozen's at the spout.

What's the use o' hurryin'
You've got the whole long day.
What's the use o' worryin'
Uncle Sammy's got to pay.

It will be remembered by many of the students that Mr. Huber was here in school in the year 1915-16. He is now in the U. S. Hospital at Portsmouth, Va., and expects before very long to be on a hospital ship in active service.

THE SERVICE FLAG STAR

By Bertha M. Russell

The youth dons his khaki; and enters the fight;
Forsakes the ambitions he had held with delight.
His personal gain is now lost from his view,
And his all he is giving in service new.
If the campfires bring dreams, they are dreams of how he May give the most honor to the home he can see.

Far back in the homeland all do what they can
To honor the youth, now, a brave, noble man.
While he labors with pain, in the trenches, afar,
Swift fingers at home add a Service Flag Star.

WORD FROM OUR BOYS IN MILITARY SERVICE

"This is a good wish for you and the old institution throughout the New Year. I certainly appreciate your personal interest and prayers. I am hoping to be in the "Advance Guard" of the United States Hosts that march to Berlin Town".—M. B. Crum.

"The work is starting off with a rush because practically every man can drill very well. Most of the candidates are sergeants. We have forty or fifty men from the Carolina colleges also. Altogether there are about four hundred men in the school. Other M. C. men in the school are Martin, Mackay, and Sawyer".—Joseph Charles Walker, 3rd. O. T. C., Camp Jackson, S. C.

"Am glad to know that Maryville College is so well represented in this struggle for civilization; it's a pity that we do not have more college men as officers in our training camps. We have lots of college men as officers, and they are easily detected, too, from those that are not college bred."—W. T. Goodall, Camp Gordan, Ga.

"Am in the Air Service learning to fly".—Charles Edward Ensign, Line of Communication, Air Service, A. E. F. France, via New York.

"I was rated first-class seaman the first of the month, and have very good chances of being rated yeoman in two months if I make good.

"The Y. M. C. A. certainly did treat us nice during Christmas, in fact they always have here. Don't know what I would do if it were not for the Y. M. C. A. here. They certainly are doing a great work."—Harwell Park, Fort Trumbull, New London, Conn., Jan. 6, 1918.

JOKES

At Milligan College when Weisecker and Wagner went out on the basketball court the band played "Dixie", but when Peters and Eagleton went out on the floor they played "When Reuben Comes to Town".

He: "What is worse than asking a girl for a kiss?"
She: "Asking for a kiss and then not taking it."

In what respects is Germany like Holland?
It is a low lying country and dammed on all sides.

O, wad some power the giftie gie us,
To see Miss Mollie before she sees us!

"And now, children, we come to Germany, that is governed by a kaiser', said the teacher. "William, you may tell us what a kaiser is."
Willie: "Well-er, a kaiser is a stream of hot water springin' up in the air and disturbin' the earth".

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, MARCH 12, 1918. | NUMBER TWENTY-TWO

SECOND STRING MEN DEFEAT MONTEREY

Visitors Overpowered by Fast Playing Collegians. Final Score 47-11.

The basketball game last Friday evening, March 8, between a mixed team of scrubb and varsity men and Monterey High School, although somewhat one-sided, was interesting from start to finish. A large enthusiastic crowd was out at the gym to root for the home team.

From the first whistle the Highlanders played rings all around the visitors. Drake was the only varsity man who played in the first half. His fast playing at guard completely bewildered the high school contestants. Brown made eight points for the home team in the first half. The Monterey boys played hard all of the time, but did their best work in the early part of the game before they became winded. Four of their men got one field goal each during the first half. The score, when the whistle was blown for halves, was 22-8 in favor of Maryville.

Although the contest was one-sided enough as it was, Wagner and Weisbecker, varsity men, were sent in during the second half. They did good work but didn't get much "pep" into their playing. Though the visitors were completely overpowered they fought hard till the very last. Parrett at center did their best playing. Every one of the M. C. men scored. Peters was easily the star of the game, scoring 18 points. The final score was 47-11 in favor of the collegians.

MUSIC AND EXPRESSION DEPARTMENTS GIVE MONTHLY RECITAL

The popularity of the reitals given by the Music and Expression Departments is increasing as evidenced by the attendance last Friday afternoon. The program was especially interesting due to its variety and to the introduction of a couple of features presented for the first time this school year.

The following numbers were rendered:

Piano Solo—"Impromptu" by Reinhold, Miss Edith Caldwell

Reading—Chapter from "When Patty Went to College", by Jean Webster, Miss Agnes Dolvin

Vocal Solo—"Sweet Good Night", Miss Winston Newton

Waltz for two pianos, by Durand, Misses Jane Waller and Elizabeth Bassell.

Vocal Solo—"Ich Liebe Dich" by Greig, Miss Mary Miles

Reading—"Battleship Dixie" by Stanton, Mr. Eckles West

Waltz for two pianos, by Moszkowski, Misses Marion Henry, Marguerite Sullinger, Edith Caldwell and Adah Howard.

Reading—"The Americanizing of Andra Francois", Miss Mabel Hartung.

Vocal Solos—"The Lady of Shalott" by Legler, "Come Out Mr. Sunshine" by Bliss, Miss Genevieve Gibson.

THETA EPSILON GIRLS HEAR PROF. SCHAEFFER

The Theta girls enjoyed a rare treat Saturday evening, when Professor Schaeffer visited the society and spoke on the Passion Play, which he witnessed in 1910. He described the town of Oberammergau, the people, the theatre, the chief actors in the play, and many other things of interest. In another lecture he will describe the play itself. The close attention and ready applause which Professor Schaeffer received Saturday night insure him of a warm welcome next time.

At the close of the program a business meeting was held, and the following officers were elected and sworn in:

President, Mary Kate Lewis; Vice President, Ida Gilbert; Secretary, Emily Montgomery; Editor, Carmen Park; Sergeant-at-Arms, Sarah Stinnet;; Critic, Josephine Wicks.

FIRST EXHIBITION OF NATIONAL SPORT

Highlanders Defeat Aluminum Company Nine In Fast Practice Game.

No attempt will be made to describe at length any of the five innings which were necessary to bring about the conclusion of the game Saturday when Maryville defeated an all-star aggregation from Aluminum Company of America.

The game was free from many hits, but these few were all wool and a yard long. Cooper and Lowry connected for three bags and Tillery poled a nice one and stopped on the midway station.

The pitching was good despite the lack of practice. Maryville will have a very dependable pitching staff this Spring with Scruggs and La Rue on the mound. La Rue has been under the weather but will be in shape before long.

Wagner and Lowry show promise of making good men. This is their first year at Maryville.

Bryson is fast developing into a dependable catcher. This is his first try-out at back stopping. Dawson Rubble and Cooper will carry the Maryville colors, while Lloyd, Drake and King are making noble efforts to complete the personnel of the team.

M. C. MAN IN CHARGE OF "Y" IN FRANCE

Carl H. Elmore Writes Letter Describing Work of Army Y. M. C. A. at Front.

Recently Dr. and Mrs. E. A. Elmore of Chattanooga received a letter, written on Dec. 1st., 1917 from "Somewhere in France", from their son, Rev. Carl H. Elmore who graduated from Maryville College in 1898 and who now is doing Army Y. M. C. A. work in France, in which he describes in a very interesting manner the work which he is doing. What Mr. Elmore says will be of interest not only to those who know him but also to other readers of the Echo as well. With the permission of Dr. Elmore the following extracts from the letter are published.

"The town where I am located is a very old one and has a population of some three thousand. It is very quaint and picturesque with its medieval streets and old-fashioned houses, but it also has no sewers except the middle of the street. I wonder how you would feel to see the family wash being dipped into the stream which drains the town and above which frequent latrines are suspended. But we live and thrive and have a great many comforts as comforts go in the war zone.

"I am in charge of the Y. M. C. A. plant here, and have about seven hundred boys to look after. We have a fine building, formerly rejoicing in the high-sounding name of Cafe de la Comedie. We have an assembly room which will seat three hundred; a recreation room where some two hundred can loaf and play games; a canteen where we sell all sorts of things to eat; and a writing room which will accommodate about fifty at one time. It is in many ways the most complete equipment in the war zone, and I am trying to make it a model plant. I hold two religious services on Sunday, a Bible class on Wednesday night, and lecture on all sorts of things on two other nights, besides presiding over an amateur vaudeville show and boxing matches. So you can see that I have enough to occupy my time. The biggest part of the work, however, is handing out many hundred sheets of writing paper, and answering ten thousand questions about everything under the sun. Many of my boys are from the South, so that they warm up immediately when they find that I am from Tennessee. Every day I hear them say many times, "What on earth would we do if it were not for the Y?" And I wonder myself, for it gets dark at half past four, and they have no light in their billets, in the barns and outhouses where they sleep, nor are there any lights in the streets, for there is always the danger of an air raid. Their appreciation for slight services we are able to render them is almost pathetic. They stand around like half-grown puppies waiting for a word and a pat on the head. We have three fine American women in the house, and the boys simply line up to look at them it seems so much like home".

The value of the services rendered the boys in khaki by the army Y. M. C. A. secretaries can hardly be exaggerated. Maryville College is proud of having a number of sons engaged in this noble work. Mr. Elmore was among the first to offer his services, and also among the first to enter foreign fields. It is both a pleasure and a privilege to hear from him first-hand concerning the work in which he is engaged. Students and friends wish for him the greatest of success.

Martha Lyon of Knoxville was the week end guest of Aileen Griffin.

SENIORS ENJOY THEATRE PARTY

The Senior Class will present "Twelfth Night" this year. This is the first time that a Shakespearean drama has been chosen for presentation on the "hill" since 1911 when "Midsummer Night" was given.

The oratorical contest that was planned will not be held. The faculty allowed the class to choose either the contest or the play. The class voted to present the play, because of the shortness of time to prepare for the oratorical and because it was believed that a play would be more popular.

A contract has been made with a company to furnish rings and pins. Individuals may order either at any time.

On Friday evening the Seniors went in a body to the Palace Theatre to see "The Manxman" by Hall Caine.

RECITAL GIVEN MONDAY EVENING

Students of Department of Music Render High Class Program.

On Monday evening, March 11th., at 7:30 o'clock, the first evening recital of the year was given by the Department of Music in Voorhees Chapel for the benefit of the Y. W. C. A. Pupils of Miss Hale and Miss Staater furnished the program rendering in a finished and artistic manner difficult instrumental and vocal compositions. Rarely have music lovers here listened to a more enjoyable program given by college talent. If the recital of Monday evening is a specimen of those recitals to be given in the near future they will be pleasantly anticipated by many as the important events of the spring term.

Three instrumental specialties of the evening were a quarto and two duos. The quarto, "Polish Dance" Scharwenka, was delightfully interpreted by Misses Adah Howard, Marguerite Sullinger, Marion Henry and Edith Caldwell. Miss Mary Hartman and Miss Marguerite Sullinger played "Barcarolle" by Schytle in a highly artistic manner. Schutt's two-piano composition "Impromptu Rococo Op. 58 No. 2" was brilliantly executed by Miss Winifred Decker and Miss Genevieve Gibson.

As an opening number, Scott's "Wind's in the South" was sung by by Miss Genevieve Gibson with much beauty and understanding.

Next Miss Edith Caldwell offered "Impromptu" by Leschetisky. This number was given in Miss Caldwell's usual expert interpretative manner.

Miss Mary Heard followed and gave as her number "Heart's Ease" by Willeby. This song was charmingly sung in Miss Heard's distinctive manner.

Miss Mary Hartman showed much interpretative ability in her presentation of "La Fileuse Op. 157", Raff. "In der Freude" by Taubert was pleasantly given by Miss Mary Miles. One of the most enjoyable numbers was Fritz Kreuister's "Cradle Song, 1915" rendered by Miss Elizabeth Jones.

"Song of Tristram" Barowski was sung by Miss Josephine Knapp with great feeling and artistic finish.

Miss Mary Armentrout presented Chaminade's "Etude de Concert" with great facility.

As the last vocal selection Miss Margaret Bassett sang a number of two parts: "The Lark" by Rubinstein and "Cradle Song" by Brahms. These lyrics were executed in Miss Bassett's usual delightful and artistic style.

Throughout the recital each artiste was listened to with appreciation and ripples of applause followed the presentation of each number.

HIGHLANDERS WIN FROM JOHNSON BIBLE

M. C. Girls Outclass Opponents. Marshall and Davis Play Star Game. Score 31 to 5.

Last Saturday, March 9, the girls' varsity basketball team, accompanied by Manager Ethel Burchfield and Coach Lois Wilson, went in cars to Johnson Bible College, Kimberlin Heights, where it met and defeated the Johnson Bible College girls, 31 to 5.

The J. B. girls exhibited excellent team work, but their forwards simply could not get away from the fast playing Maryville guards. During the entire game the home team made only two field goals, one in each half. Out of five trials they were able to make only one foul goal. For Johnson Bible Mary Johnson, who has exhibited her excellent playing on the Maryville floor, was a shining light, making five points, the total number, for her team.

For Maryville, Bee Marshall played her usual star game, making 22 of the 31 points. Out of seven trials E. Davis threw five foul goals. In the first half Alma Whittle played a good game at center, this being her first experience on the varsity team. On the whole each member of the team held down her position with much credit to herself and to the college.

The line-up:

Maryville		Johnson Bible
Marshall	forward	M. Johnson
Davis	forward	Frazier
Whittle	center	Drinnen
Moseley	guard	E. Johnson
Nuchols	guard	Farmer
Samsel	sub

Referees: Wilson and Hopper.

Manager Burchfield has contracts providing for games with the East Tennessee Normal and with the University of Chattanooga on the Maryville floor. One of these games will probably be this week. If these teams fail to play Maryville on the home ground they will forfeit the games, and the Maryville girls will have a right to claim the championship of the state.

PRAYER DISCUSSED AT THURSDAY MEETING BY PROF. SCHAEFFER

Professor Schaeffer in his address on the subject of "A Bible Study on Prayer", said that there are four thoughts or phases of this topic. These are the idea of God in prayer, the divine call to pray, the nature of prayer, and the benefits of prayer.

Under the first division, he said that God is an infinite person; that He is a God of unity; that He is omnipotent; and that He is gracious and merciful and will answer prayer in accordance with the natural course of the universe.

Prayer originated with God not man. There is some power without that leads to prayer. Prayer is a communication of a finite person with an infinite God. It is the conscious interaction between God and man. God calls to prayer by principles planted in the human heart; by providential sickness, afflictions, and adversities; through His Son, Jesus Christ; and by providing the Mercy Seat.

Again, prayer is the soul's sincere desire expressed or unexpressed. The subject matter of prayer consists in praise or thanksgiving, confession and petition. These must be made in faith and in the name of Jesus Christ.

Many benefits are derived from prayer. It gives a special religious tone to religious worship. It will bring special help in time of need. As a means of grace, it will help the Christian life. Finally, persevering in prayer, day by day and year by year, brings a revival of religion.

Oh my! Those exams!

:--:--:--:

With such a bunch of newly elected officers the literary societies ought to be able to tear up Dixie next term.

:--:--:--:

The basketball season is nearly over, but baseball is coming on with a boom, and prospects for a winning team look mighty fine.

:--:--:--:

In a day or so we are going to get to tell what we have learned this term, and some of us will find that we haven't learned any too much.

The Vesper robed choir gave us some good music Sunday evening. The students appreciate it when every member of the choir is on the job. There is still room for others. Come across with your part.

THE CENTENNIAL

At the recent meeting of the Directors it was decided, as was reported at that time in the Echo, that a committee be appointed by the board to take the matter of the mode of the celebration of the Centennial under advisement, and to report with recommendations to the commencement meeting of the directors. Rev. E. A. Elmore, D. D., president of the board has appointed the following committee: Pres. S. T. Wilson, chairman; Rev. C. A. Duncan, D. D., Hon. W. A. McTeer, Rev. R. I. Gamon, D. D., Dean J. C. Barnes, and Treasurer F. L. Proffitt.

This committee has already met and taken under consideration a plan for a pageant to be held a night and a day, and possibly another day if arrangements can be made. Of course this will be at commencement in 1919. The pageant is to be presented by students of the Departments of Expression, Music and Art. It will consist of scenes representing different periods in the past hundred years, and perhaps a period a little further back, at the time of the Log Cabin School out of which Maryville College has grown.

The history of the college is rich in material for such a pageant. The only difficulty that confronts the committee is the assembling of this material in a presentable form. Also, the committe feels that the celebration of the Centennial should be made a student affair as much as possible. For these two reasons we have been authorized to treat this matter editorially and to extend an invitation to alumni, faculty, students, and friends to offer suggestions for presenting this pageant. Poems, songs, dramas, and the like, representing different periods in the history of the college, are the kinds of material desired. The committee will be glad to talk over their plans with any one who may be interested, and will be glad to receive suggestions at any time. Material, such as above suggested, may be turned in to any member of the committee.

All over the country former students are taking a great interest in the celebration of the Centennial. Many of them are making their plans to be here at that time. It should be the sincere desire of every student that this celebration be made a success. Whether it will be a success rests largely upon the members of the student body. They are the ones who will have to make the plans and then carry them out. It therefore behooves every student to put on his thinking cap and help the committee plan for a big Centennial celebration.

Aspirants for oratorical honors had better begin to get ready for the Peace and Prohibition contests to be held soon.

COLLEGE PASTOR GIVES INTERESTING VESPER SERMON

Dr. Stevenson preached at Vesper Service from the text found in 1 Tim. 4:14; "Neglect not the gift that is in thee". In his introduction, the College Pastor laid emphasis on the intimacy and fellowship between Paul and Timothy. By explanation and the use of imfipressive illustrations, the importance of using one's talents and the necessity of having a definite aim in life were presented to those present for their thoughtful consideration.

Life is endowed with special gifts and the neglect of these is a most dangerous enemy. No life is intended to drift along without the power to battle with the waves and winds which are met with sooner or later. Everyone should have a clear vision of the end and purpose of life. Confusion results in too many trying for the same place. Success would be to all if each one found his own place. Devoted service brings the greatest delight and joy. Religion is not a long-faced, solemn, killjoy affair but is that which uplifts and increases joy. No one lacks an appetitie to serve who is active in Christian service. "Whatsoever thy hand findeth to do, do it with thy might". Eccle. 9:10.

FORMER STUDENTS MARRY IN WASHINGTON

On February 7, at Washington, D. C., a very unique romance which began at Maryville College culminated in the marriage of Miss Pauline Dorris of Providence, Ky., to Mr. Robert Rogers of Washington. The bride was a very popular member of the Freshman Class of 1913-14, and is remembered pleasantly by a number of students and faculty. The bridegroom was a student in the Preparatory Department here the same year. The two were "moonshiners" while in school and evidently must have "moonshined" quite a bit since.

The bride is the only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Dorris of Providence, Ky. For the past two years she has been a teacher in the graded schools at Cold Springs, Ky., which position she resigned before leaving for Washington.

Mr. Rogers is a mechanical engineer and it is reported that he is expecting a commission which may soon send him to France.

Maryville friends extend to the happy couple their sincere congratulations.

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Society, college section, rendered a very enjoyable short program, Saturday evening, and reorganized for the spring term.

A committee was appointed to confer with the preparatory Athenians in regard to arranging a joint entertainment with the Alphas. After conference with the preps. and with a committee of the Alphas it was decided to arrange such an entertainment and preliminary arrangements were made.

The following are the list of officers for the Spring term:

President, Roy Anderson; Vice-president, H. E. Smith; Program Secretary, S. Cecil Cross; Recording Secretary, Harry Wagner; Treasurer, V. B. Hamilton; Editor, Herbert Kiger; Critics, F. R. Watt and Ralph Smith; Janitor, P. V. Buchanon.

Saturday evening was a scene of revelry when Miss Olga Griffin determined to show the "Spirit of Saturday night" to her visitor Miss Martha Lyon of Walland, Tenn. Of course there was no Hooverizing, and the girls did justice to a delightful feast.

MRS. McILVAINE CELEBRATES NINTY-FOUR BIRTHDAY

Mrs. Mary McIlvaine, well-known to most of the students on college hill celebrated her ninty-fourth birthday, March 14 at the home of her son, Mr. Joe McIlvaine.

All of the children, grandchildren, and greatgrandchildren who live in Maryville, and many old friends of the family were invited to dinner.

Mrs. McIlvaine was born in Ireland. She came to Maryville forty-seven years ago and has lived in the vicinity ever since.

Mrs. McIlvaine is noted for her ready wit; she has a joke to tell or a poem to recite on every occasion.

Mrs. McIlvaine is older than Queen Victoria would have been if she were still living.

Her friends on the hill all congratulate Mrs. McIlvaine and extend to her all good wishes.

"THE KITCHEN KABINET"

"The Kitchen Kabinet" held its unusual meeting, and the minutes of the previous meeting were done away with and forgotten.

In the parlor of Baldwin beneath a canopy of red and green, the "Kolors of the Klub", there was a celebration of the invention of the "Potato Masher", a prominent member of the Kabinet. Ninteen candles stood flickering on a delicious cake, and the unhappy "utensil" blew but one of them out.

A full Kabinet adjourned.

ALPHA SIGMAS ELECT OFFICERS

The Alpha Sigma Society met last Saturday evening and elected the following officers:

President, Dawson; Vice President, Lloyd; Recording Secretary, Johnson; Assistant Recording Secretary, McCurry; Corresponding Secretary, Taylor; Censors, Briggs, Weisbecker and Sheffey; Sergeant-at-Arms, Gibson.

Treasurer, Miller read an anonymous letter from an old Alpha Sigma member, who is now with the colors in England, and who had noticed in The Highland Echo, where the society was in need of some money to fix up the junior section hall. He said that he desired to do his bit, and so sent a money order for one pound or $4.86. As the name was not given, the members of the Alpha Sigma can only hope that he may receive their many thanks for the gift through the Echo. They are glad, that although he is serving his country in a foreign land he still holds true to the Alpha Sigma Society. Should he be as loyal to his country, as no doubt he is, he will be in the front ranks when the Kaiser is chased down.

Recently it was announced that the college library would be closed in the afternoon at four o'clock in order that heat and light might be conserved. No heat is on now and lights are not needed before supper time, so it seems that the library might be left open until five o'clock.

FRESHMAN GIRLS WIN SECOND GAME

Monday afternoon the Frosh and Soph girls played their second basket ball game. This game proved to be much more exciting than the previous one, because of faster and harder playing. Both teams showed the effects of thorough and constant practice. Each team was substantially supported by enthusiastic rooting of their classmates. The game started off with a rush, Gilbert scoring first for the Freshmen.

The swift and effective teamwork of the Freshmen resulted in the score of 10 to 2 in their favor. Gilbert scoring six and Bailey four points. A lucky shot by Wells resulted in the only score for the Sophs.

The second half opened with the same players on the floor. In the second hlaf the scoring was more evenly divided, Bailey making five points for the Freshmen and Bledsoe scoring one field goal and one foul for the Sophs.

Bailey was the shining star of the Freshmen, scoring nine out of the fifteen points. Gilbert was a close second, scoring six points. Hartung and Bullock displayed marvelous ability in guarding the Soph forwards, Hartung especially playing a hard and scrappy game. Montgomery at center played her usual consistant game.

Henry and Templin for the Sophomores played an excellent game. Templin's close guarding of Bailey probably kept the Freshmen from piling up an enormous score. The final score was 15 to 5 in favor of the Freshmen. Parks and Birchfield were the official referees.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

The meeting of the Junior Athenian on last Saturday evening was devoted almost entirely to business, an interesting and well delivered reading by Howard Hill being the only number on the program. Most of the time was spent in the election of officers for the Spring term, the following being elected:

Roscoe Gibson, President; Roy McCall, Vice-President; Wm. Dellinger, Program Sec.; Horace Moore Recording Sec.; Norman Black, C. A. Moore, Critics; Louis Harmon, Janitor.

After the election the matter of giving an entertainment in conjunction with the Alpha Sigma societies and the Senior Athenian was discussed. A committee composed of Norman Black, Wm. Dellinger and and Leslie Jones was appointed to cooperate with the committees of the other societies in this way.

Y. W. C. A.

At the Y. W. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, in a very interesting talk on "Visions and Tasks", Miss Margaret Bassett laid aside the very trite generalizations of the theme and brought out some fundamental principles which appealed to every one present.

The gist of the talk is contained in this very comprehensive statement.

"Our efforts must not end with the successful attainment of a lovely vision; if after having caught a clear vision of some good purpose, we neglect to follow the gleam and consequently lose sight of it it will be of no more profit than no vision at all".

Those who are missing the Y. W. C. A. meetings are not getting their money's worth out of "college life", Start now and be a regular attendant.

Editor of The Highland Echo:

Mr. Asbury B. Cecil asks me to give his regards to the Faculty and students of the college. I can not do it, however, without making use of the columns of the Echo.

I quote from his letter: "I am glad to know that so many of the boys have entered the service and I hope that they will be "over there" when the Kaiser is whipped. * * * * Please give my regards to the faculty and the students of the college".

Mr. Cecil is a lieutenant in the 53rd Infantry now in Camp Forrest, Ga.

Very truly yours,
M. V. Alexander.

THOUSANDS APPLY FOR CLERICAL JOBS IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C.—That American men and women are eager to accept every opportunity to help in the nation's greatest undertaking is evidenced by the responses received to the announcement of the United States Civil Service Commission of the need for general clerks. The Commission sent out a call for clerks to be employed in the departments in Washington, and January 5, February 9, and March 9 were set as examination dates. About 35,000 persons applied for admission to these examinations. A large percentage of the applications came from persons whose sole purpose in seeking Government employment was to help keep the war machine moving. This prompt and heavy response has made it unnecessary to hold further examinations for general clerks in the near future. Examinations for stenographers and typewriters and for clerks trained in certain special or technical lines are still being held.

The most pressing need of the Government service in Washington right now is for a large number of well qualified stenographers. The Civil Service Commission urges persons who are equipped to pass the stenography part of the examinations to apply at once. Examinations are held at least once a week in 450 of the principal cities. Definite information and application blanks may be obtained from representatives of the Civil Service Commission at post offices.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

At a lively meeting of the Junior Alpha Sigmas last Saturday night the following officers were elected for the spring term:

President, Huffaker; Vice-President, Fowler; Recording Secretary, Franklin; Assistant Recording Secretary, Gleason; Program Secretary Pearson; Sergeant-at-Arms, Latimer; Editor, Ford; Janitor, McGrath.

A short and interesting program was rendered. All the fellows are urged to support the society during the spring term, when there are so many activities to detract.

Near the close of the meeting Lloyd and Taylor of the Senior section came in, and Lloyd presented a proposal that the boys' literary societies, both the Athenian and Alpha Sigma, get up a joint entertainment to be given in the chapel, the proceeds of which to be divided equally among the societies. The Junior Alphas voted unanimously to cooperate with the other societies in getting up this entertainment. A committee of three was appointed to help formulate plans and perfect arrangements.

Y. M. C. A.

Bob Taylor led the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday afternoon, speaking on "Habit". His address was greatly enjoyed by those present.

The Y. M. C. A. cabinet met last Friday evening and transacted the following business: Voted to close the Y. M. C. A. reading room and place the magazines in the Lamar Library; decided to order fifty khaki testaments, to be given to Maryville soldiers; voted to hold a study course on "The Negro Problem", these classes will be held Sunday mornings, beginning next term.

Prof. E. A. Walker will conduct the service at the Y. M. C. A. next Sunday.

WILLIAM OLIVER GREER

On Tuesday morning, March 5th., at 8:45 o'clock funeral services were held in Magnolia cemetery over the body of William Oliver Greer, a former student of the College. "Will" Greer was the older son of Capt. Jo M. Greer, formerly a leading merchant of Maryville. From 1882 to 1888 Will was a student on the hill. His brother Hugh was also a student. Mr. Greer died in Denson, Texas. President Wilson and Rev. John S. Eakin, '87, conducted the service, and the College Mixed Quartette sang appropriate hymns.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE CLUB

The Equal Suffrage Club met Monday afternoon, March 4th, after a short business meeting a very instructive information meeting followed. Several of the girls told of what the women of America can do and are doing to help win this war. There were also very instructive talks on the heroism of the French and English women in these days of hardships.

We are sorry to learn that Miss Edith Brothers is ill with tonsilitis and pharyngitis this week.

EXCHANGES

A silk service flag with one hundred stars has been presented to Transylvania College. The beautiful gift was made by the girls of the institution.

Frank H. Moffitt was recently elected baseall coach at U. T.. With fifty-two men trying for a birth on the team Coach Moffitt expects to put out a fast working machine this year.

Since the weather has moderated favorably work has been resumed on the new Administration Building at Carson-Newman College, and it is hoped that the building will be completed within a few months.

Last Friday evening seven men contested for I. P. A. oratorical honors at the University of Tennessee. The winner of first place was Ramsey Clayton who will represent the U. of T. in the state contest to be held some time this spring. The subject of Mr. Clayton's oration was "The Traitor Within Our Lines".

The question for the intercollegiate debate which will be held between the colleges of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Debating Association on Thursday evening, March 21. is: "Resolved that the United States should abandon the Monroe Doctrine".

The schedule for the debate is as follows, Centre vs. Georgetown, at Danville; University of Kentucky vs. Transylvania, at the University of Kentucky, Lexington; Georgetown vs. University of Kentucky, at Georgetown; and Transylvania vs. Centre, at Transylvania, Lexington.

The Crawfordsville (Indiana) Journal of March 2 contains the "Prayer for Maryville's Soldier and Sailor Boys", sent to the editor by Miss Lois Butler.

Girl (inquiring at the library for a new novel) "Have you "The Soul of A Bishop?"

Richards (somewhat flurried)—"Why, I don't know. I have never given the matter any thought".

Cooper—"I'm thinking of joining the aviation corps".

"Manager"—"Is that so? You know you remind me of those flying machines any way."

Cooper—"Why, how do you mean?"

"Manager"—"You seem to be no good on earth".

LOST—Taken from tree at corner of walk from the chapel and the one leading to corduroy, a Chemistry text book, Chem. Lab. Manual, and a small note book. The Laboratory Manuel is especially needed at present. Information concerning the lost books will be greatly appreciated. Geo. B. Callahan, Carnegie 406.

PERSONALS

Mr. Clarence B. Jackson spent the week end in Maryville visiting his sister, Ethel.

Mr. Condray Gleason an "old" friend of Miss Helen Horton's was in Maryville for the week end. He was on the "hill" several times!

Some of the students in trying to decide upon Prof. Gillingham's real title have decided that he must be called Mr. Prof. Major Gillingham (Da! Da!)

"Mike" Parks has been ill at the hospital for several days. Friends will be glad to learn that he is greatly improved and expects to be out soon.

Claude S. LaRue, star twirler on the 1914-15 and 1915-16 baseball teams, is visiting friends on the "hill". Mr. LaRue will probably enter school for the spring term.

Sport Editor Robert W. Adams, is rapidly recovering from an extended illness in the Lincoln Memorial Hospital at Knoxville. He is expected to return to school soon.

Carl Lloyd, a former student and a brother of Glen A. Lloyd set sail from New York for France recently. Lloyd is in the Ordnance Department. In the same company with him is James P. Sizer, a brother of Edwin M. Sizer who is here in school.

Next Sunday morning, March 17, at the regular church hour, at the New Providence Presyterian church there will be the presentation and dedication of a large service flag. A special program consisting of patriotic addresses and appropriate music will be rendered.

The Maryville Mixed Quartette will give a concert at Farragut, Tenn., on Wednesday, March 13. This will be the only entertainment on this trip. Next week the quartette will make an extensive tour through East Tennessee and probably into Gorgia. Th proceeds will be contributed to the Maryville boys' war chest fund. At the initial concert, given before the student body, the proceeds amounted to about $40.

MISS BAILEY SURPRISED

Saturday night Blanche Bailey was surprised with a most delightful birthday party. A number of her friends gathered in room No. 46 Pearsons Hall, and interesting games were enjoyed till late in the evening, when delicious refreshments consisting of sandwiches, pickles, stuffed eggs, candy, apples, hot chocolate and crackers were served. Needless to say everyone had a most "spluzzy" time.

A WORLD-WIDE MOVEMENT

One who has recently become numbered among the friends of Maryville College, once made a proposal to the richest man in America. He suggested his investment of a large sum of money in China; building churches, hospitals and schools; sending missionaries, doctors and teachers; and effecting changes on such a large scale that he himself in his own time might see a China transformed from heathenism to Christiantity. The proposal was not accepted.

It is a remarkable fact that of the world's fifteen hundred millions of people more than two-thirds of that number have never even heard the name of Christ spoken.

Maryville has contributed her fair share to the number who have carried the gospel across the seas, and she will send many more to foreign shores.

The Student Volunteers extend a hearty welcome to all who are interested in this work. They meet each Thursday evening in Bainonian immediately after supper.

Let us be Frienus, and treat each other like Friends. —Lincoln

Palace Program

We are pleased to announce that we have one of the best programs this week that it has ever been our fortune to present. We would like to have you see them all, but if that is impossible, look over the list printed heref or your convenience and try to pick out the best one. You'll have a hard time, for they are all "best" this week.

Wednesday, March 13

We all know the fable of the wolf in sheep's clothing, but we do not always have it happen in real life. Elsie Ferguson has to contend with wolves in human form. They do not even wear Bill Hart's clothes, but dress in the sytle of Fifth Avenue in the "Song of Songs". A beautiful star in a beautiful picture.

SOPHOMORES LEAD PRAYER MEETING

"The War and the Colleges" Discussed by Misses Lewis and McCampbell and Mr. Horace Brown.

Thursday evening, March 14, the prayer service was in charge of the Sophomore Class. The subject discussed was "The War and the Colleges". Miss Helen Lewis spoke on "The Effect of the War on the Colleges", Miss Vera McCampbell on "What the Colleges have contributed", and Mr. Horace Brown on "The War and Our Own College".

The first speaker said that the war has had its effect upon every institution, organization, and industry, not excepting the great 'Education plant". The loss that the colleges have endured is material and therefore temporary, whereas the gain is spiritual and eternal. They are not complaining, but are continuing to send their best men. This has had the effect of arousing in the hearts and minds of those left behind, a finer sense of duty and a greater enthusiasm for their work. According to one authority, the college atmosphere has taken on a new seriousness and a real devotion to work. Students are catching a vision and are making the most of their opportunities. Just as the great natural resources could not be comprehended until tested by this war, so the latent power of man is only recognized when it is developed by such a crisis as the present one.

The second speaker showed how the colleges have set a standard for the world by their prudence. They have raised the world to a higher plane, teaching the nations the folly of hasty thought and action. The colleges have caught the spirit of service and are in action. The need of the hour is finding an immediate but cool and thoughtful response in the colleges. Figures are not necessary to demonstrate the attitude of college men. The power of leadership, the strength of character, and the well-trained minds, found in college students, combined with military knowledge and experience are solving the problem of finding suitable officers. The girls are helping, also, by plying their needles in winter, and by gardening and canning in summer. The colleges are likewise aiding by their financial contributions.

Colleges and war, said the last speaker, are exactly the opposite of each other; the one is constructive while the other is destructive. Three questions should be answered in regard to Maryville's participation in the war: Why has Maryville College entered the war; what she contributed; and in what way has she been effectd? Christ's teachings seem to instruct His followers not to enter such a conflict, but it is the underlying principle of His instructions that should be considered and not the mere statements taken by themselves. Should not force be used to protect the society that embodies moral ideas? Again, should force be used to extend moral ideas? This latter is unchristian, but the first is Christian. If the boys who go out from Maryville College remain loyal Christians, the college is justified in entering the war. This college has contributed manpower, provisions, money and prayers. She has been affected in a number of ways by the present war. The fuel bill will be five thousand dollars more than formerly; teachers have been taken; and the class-ranks have been depleted.

Major Clinton H. Gillingham spent Monday and Tuesday of this week in Nashville attending the conference of the staff and field officers of the Fourth and Fifth Tennessee Regiments of the National Guard.

COLLEGIANS DEFEAT KNOXVILLE ALL-STARS

Baseball Game A Pitcher's Battle Between Smith and Popejoy. Cooper and Wickham Star Hitters. Score 5-0.

On Friday, March 15, the Maryville College nine added another victory to start out the season of 1918. The victims were the Knoxville All-Stars and the tune was 5-0. The Knoxville aggregation was made up of semi-professional and old college stars. The game developed into a pitcher's battle between Smith and Popejoy. Smith proved to be the better striking out twelve men and allowing only one hit. Cooper and Wickham led the batting Neither side scored until the fourth and then M. C. broke the ice, Ruble drew a walk and scored on Cooper's hit. Each team made three errors but Knoxville's errors proved the more costly. Despite the cold weather a fair crowd was out and a reasonable amount of "pep" was shown. Smith and Cooper were the stars for Maryville, while Wickham showed up well for the visitors. If the team improves in hitting and can still play the fine defensive game they played Friday, there should be no need for worry about the baseball outcome in East Tennessee.

MISS MARY ALEXANDER ADDRESSES Y. W. C. A.

The meeting this week was an especially good one. Miss Mary Alexander, the speaker, gave a rousing, interesting talk on "A Woman's Place"—not on the political, but on the moral and ethical side of the question. The Scripture lesson was from Matt. 6, the Beatitudes. In her talk, the leader said that a woman's place is anywhere and everywhere that she can do good. The three characteristics of women,—sympathy, love and purity, are generally accepted, but the important quality, strength, is less often attributed to this sex. The main part of Miss Alexander's speech, then, was an urgent appeal to develop strength in every possible way, and to eliminate the proverbial weakness of woman's nature. The talk was greatly appreciated by all those present, and the Y. W. C. A. thanks Miss Alexander for the inspiration and help of her excellent address.

Miss Callie Speck very beautifully sang "It Was For Me".

EARLY MORNING EATER SERVICE

Next Sunday in the hour from 6:15 to 7:15 a. m. unusually attractive Easter service will be given by the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. If the morning is clear, the meeting will be held on Baldwin lawn. Some features of the program are: music by the Orchestra and double mixed quartet, and a soloist, a reading by Miss Creswell, and a ten minutes talk by Dr. Stevenson. The power of such a meeting will remain long with every one who comes. The bell will awaken all in plenty of time. Let every one come out. In the early morning with every fresh and vigorous mind charged with the thought of Christ's triumph over death let each one show his gratitude and sing praises to Him who on this day, many years ago, revealed the gladest news that ever came to man.

TUSCULUM DEBATE FRIDAY EVENING

Two Strong Teams to Uphold Maryville Colors at Home And Away.

The question of war or peace has long been a question worthy of serious thought. Whether war ought to be prohibited, or can be prohibited by a league of nations, and if so, whether this is the best method of insuring peace is one of the greatest problems the world has to solve. Undoubtedly the world is warweary; the sincerest wish in every heart is that war shall end and that peace be restored to the fighting nations of the earth.

Very fortunately the question "Resolved, That there should be a league of nations to enforce peace", has been chosen for debate betwen Maryville and Tusculum. Next Friday evening Tusculum representatives will be here to meet Maryville's team; and at the same time Maryville will send represcnatives to Tusculum.

The home team composed of Robert Adams, David H. Briggs and Vincent Hamilton will uphold the affirmative. The team going to Tusculum and upholding the negative is composed of Robert Bartlett, Gaston Cooper and James Martin. All of these men are able debaters and can be relied upon to make a strong offensive and offer masterly defense.

Mr. Adams has been prominent in winning two unanimous decisions on the home floor, one from Tusculum and one from the University of Tennessee. Last year he made the final rebutal speech and will do the same this year. Mr. Briggs also played an important part in winning over Tusculum; Mr. Martin and Mr. Bartlett have reputable honors in inter-class and preparatory debaee; while Mr. Cooper and Mr. Hamilton have shown their caliber in the preliminaries.

Everybody in the college should be present for this debate. The debate itself will be a rare treat. Then too, every one should be present to watch Maryville continue in her habit of winning over her old rivals.

COLLEGE BULLETIN SENT TO PRINTERS

Copy for the 1918 Maryville College Bulletin has been sent to the printers. Prof. Gillingham expects to have the Bulletin completed and ready for distribution about the first of May.

Cecil Cross and Claude LaRue were recently warranted sergeants in Company G. the local company, of the Fifth Tennessee.

HIGHLANDERS CLOSE SPLENDID BASKETBALL SEASON WITH LONG STRING OF VICTORIES

Varsity Winds Up Season With Six Victories, One Tie and One Defeat, Scoring 213 Points to Opponents' 175. Girls Come Forth Victorious in Seven Out of Nine Games. Captains Eagleton and Marshall Lead in Scoring.

The basketball season just closed has been remarkably successful. Starting on November 27 and continuing to March 9, both the boys' and girls' teams have held up records to be proud of. Out of 19 games M. C. has come forth voctorious in 16 of them. All of these defeats were on foreign courts.

The varsity closed the season with six victories, one tie, and one defeat. They started the season with Milligan on the home court, before Christmas.. After the holidays Tusculum and U. T. were the only games in Bartlett Hall. The last one was the fastest, most exciting game seen here in a long time. Before a crowded gym the Highlanders played a great game against their larger and more renowned opponents.

The team took an extended trip of four games in February and returned home victorious in every contest, a record no Maryville team has made for years for a like number of games. The team was traveling all the time, was gradually battered up and had to play on consecutive nights, yet they showed the never-give-up spirit, and the result is a string of scalps. Maryville scored 213 points to her opponents 175. Of Maryville's points 176 were made by 86 field goals and 41 by fouls. Captain Eagleton led with the scoring, making away over half of the goals. Followig is the list:

	Goal	Foul
Capt. Eagleton	47
Wagner	15	38
Wiesbecker	15
Witherspoon	4	2
Peters	44
Clemens	1	1

The team was handicapped by the loss of a last year's letter man when Clemens left school. But the team gradually fell into a winning combination and the season proves it. Witherspoon and Wagner played every half, 16; Eagleton and Drake, 14; Weisbecker, 13; and Peters, 6. Clemens, Briggs and Pugh got in two halves apiece and Davidson, Adams, and Latimer in only one. Witherspoon at running guard held his men to 17 baskets during the season, while Drake at standing guard let his men get 10, but he held his men scoreless in three whole games. Peters and Eagleton were more fortunate with their opponents the former's men caging four and the latter's 8. In personal fouls the season was remarkable for its clean playing. The first U. T. game and the second Tusculum game were responsible for most of these. Following is the list of personals against each man: Wiesbecker 6, Wagner and Eagleton 4, Drake and Witherspoon 3, Briggs 2 and Pugh 1. These personals help account for the fact that of the opponents' 175 points. Sixty-five were made by fouls and only 55 goals were shot for 110 points. This is usually reversed. With no men lost by graduation it looks as though this year's record is likely to be duplicated next year. The whole team will be a whirlwind then.

The scrubbs have played only two games, one with Johnson Bible College, and the other with Monterery High School. The former resulted in a victory of 33-25 for M. C., and the latter was more decisive, 47-11.

The girls have upheld the distinction Maryville has earned of always putting out championship teams, for once or twice M. C. has held the Southern championship. Three games were played at home and six away. Only two were lost, one to the University of Chattanooga a very strong team and the other on a court with six posts inside the playing bounds. The girls scored 271 points to their opponents 117. Of this 271 points, 254 are accounted for by 127 baskets and the remaining by fouls. M. C. has a star in the person of Bee Marshall. During seven games she shot 63 field goals. For the other forward position Dixie Webb and Edith Davis shared the work with Elsie Dawson and Ann Armstrong not far behind. Following is the individual scores:

	Goals	Fouls
Marshall	63	13
Davis	18	12
Webb	15
Dawson	13	2
Armstrong	8
Moseley		1
Burchfield		1

In halves played Marshall, Davis and Moseley lead with 14 each, followed by Nuchols with 13 and Webb 9. Samsel participated in 7, Dawson, Burchfield and Paul in 6, Park in 4, Armstrong 3, and Witherspoon, Ridgeway, Whittle and Ludman one. one.

The guards held their opponents to 49 field goals while only 19 fouls were thrown by opposing teams. The girls' team no less than the boys' should be given credit for the fine record M. C. has this year. With no players gone next year the team should be just as successful as this year.

The basketball season is closed and now baseball season is on. So forget the former and from now on root for the major American sport.

GROUP PHOTOGRAPH OF STUDENTS AND FACULTY

On Wednesday morning, March 13th, immediately after chapel a photograph of the entire student body and faculty was taken in the little plot between the fountain and library. The students and faculty were divided into two groups and negatives were made of each group. The two negatives will be joined in such a manner that the photograph will appear as if only one exposure had been made.

In the center of the photograph, when it is finished, will be the Seniors; to their right will be the Juniors, Sophs, Fourth Preps and First Preps; to the left of the Seniors will be the Faculty, Freshmen, Irregulars and Specials, Third Preps, and Second Preps. The size of the photographs will be forty by ten inches.

In 1914 a panoramic photograph was taken of the students and faculty. This picture was found valuable both as a souvenir and as an advertisement to the colleges, and cuts of it were used in a number of publications. It was particularly desirable to have a group picture taken this year since nearly the entire personnel of the college has changed since 1914, and since it is probable that a majority of the boys will be called into the service.

DAYLIGHT-SAVING LAW

The Daylight-Saving law recently enacted by Congress which goes into effect on Sunday, March 31, will be conformed to by the college. The law provides that at 2 a. m. of the last Sunday of March of each year the standard time in each of the five zones in the United States shall be advanced one hour, and at 2 a. m. of the last Sunday in October the Standard time in each zone shall be set back one hour.

On next Sunday morning the college time will be advanced one hour, in accordance with the law, and henceforth the daily program will begin and close one hour earlier than at present but will continue on the present schedule in conformity with the new standard of time.

:—:—:—:

Let's get up a little "pep" and have that Adelphic Union banquet.

ANOTHER RECEPTION

An informal reception similar to the one given in honor of the I. P. A. orators will be held in the basement of the chapel next Friday evening immediately after the debate. The purpose of the reception is to enable every one to show genuine Maryville courtesy to the visiting debaters and judges. A general invitation will be extended by the chairman to those present at the debate to attend the reception and to help make it a success.

This mark of courtesy to the Tusculum debaters is no more than due them. Several times previously Tusculum and other schools have shown this same politeness to Maryville debaters.

Years ago it was the custom here to have elaborate banquets after such occasions, but this fell into disuse because of expense and particularly because of unpleasant occurances.

It seems now that we are on the way to establishing another highly commendable custom, that of having receptions after forensic and oratorical contests. It remains with the students themselves to determine whether this will be possible. Let every one of us be out Friday evening, first of all to help our boys win the debate and secondly to make the reception an enjoyable occasion.

OPEN MEETING OF Y. M. C. A. A SUCCESS

The open meeting of the Y. M. C. A. with Mr. C. V. Miller as leader was as profitable as it was attractive. The subject was "The Christian Walks". Two minute talks were made by Taylor, Weisbecker, Kiger, Wagner, Williams, Measamer, and Marion. Several extemporaneous talks were given, and a beautiful cornet solo was rendered.

By the efforts of the program secretary the Sunday afternoon meetings have been growing more interesting and beneficial, and since the Vesper services have been deferred to an evening hour there is promise of a large spring attendance.

Prof. Walker gave one of the best talks of the year at the Y. M. C. A. on Sunday, March 17th. All who were present appreciated his well-planned and hlepful discourse.

NOTICE

The Highland Echo was not published last week on account of the winter term examinations.

VESPER SERMON ON "THE PEARLS AND PERILS OF YOUTH"

The College Pastor took for his subject last Sunday evening, "The Pearls and Perils of Youth". He said that gold is more valuable than iron because it occurs less frequently and is harder to get. Seasons come and go, the sun rises and sets, tides come and go, but youth comes only once. Therefore the period of youth should be prized.

Happiness and health are twin ornaments that adorn youth. The exuberant joy of morning is given at the beginning of life. Every person starts out with a certain fixed quantity, which may be increased or squandered. A sin against the body, is a sin against the soul and a sin against God. Hope and energy are also adornments of youth. Young people look on the bright side of life but are often deceived and disappointed. A burden rests upon the young people in all spheres of life. Many great men as Alexander, Napoleon, Burns, Byron, Raphael, Shelby, Keats, Luther, Wesley and many more achieved success and accomplished the greater part of their life's work before the prime of life had passed.

Youth like a fair unguarded city surrounded by enemies, has also perils. The thought that youth is long is one of the greatest of these because it leads to a waste of time. Health, wealth, friends and even reputation, may be regained, but not so of time. Someone has said that the man is still unborn who duly weighs the worth of each hour.

ADELPHIC UNION OFFICERS ELECTED

The Adelphic Union, which comprises the four literary societies, met last Friday evening in Bainonian Hall, and elected for the ensuing year the following officers: Carmen Park, '19, President; Glen A. Lloyd, '18, Vice President; Winnifred Decker, '21, Secretary-Treasurer.

The members of the Adelphic Union voted unanimously to to have the annual banquet this year unless there should be special objection to it on account of war conditions on the part of the faculty.

Last year the Adelphic Union Banquet was not held on account of the early closing of school. The officers for the past year were: F. G. Cooper, '18; President; Elizabeth Henry, '18, Vice President; and John K. Witherspoon, '19, Secretary and Treasurer.

STUDENTS HELP

"Any old clothes, shoes, hose, hats, etc." was the cry of those who canvassed the dormitories last Friday evening soliciting in behalf of the Red Cross as announced at the churches the previous Sunday, a campaign was made during the week throughout Maryville to collect old clothes for the sufferers in Belgium and back of the lines in France. After diligent search and considerable rummaging, the students contributed enough to fill several large bags, which were transported to headquarters by means of the mail-cart and two of Maryville's reliables.

THETA EPSILON

Theta Epsilon literary society met in Theta Hall on Saturday evening. A most entertaining program was enjoyed by all. After a piano solo by Maude Hite a reading by Corine Humphres and a vocal solo by Cola Turner, a Five Minute Farse was presented "Death of Kaiser Bill". Mabel Hartung featured as "Kaiser Bill". The last thing on the program was "Illustrated Songs":

"I don't want to get well". Elizabeth Jones and Olga Griffin.

"America Here's my Boy", Helen Newell and Katherine Guess.

"Huckleberry" Fin, Valle Higgenbothem. "A Garland of old Fashioned Roses", Helen Horton and Mabel Hartung. "From the Land of the Sky—Blue Waters", Minnie Hunter.

These popular songs were pleasing to all and the presentation of each number was followed by ripples of applause.

WAR-TIME TALKS HEARD AT CHAPEL

Mr. William E. Parham, ex-state senator of Tennessee and a fellow-student at Maryville College with Dr. Wilson, spoke to the students a few minutes last Friday morning. He said that it was by team work that students are prepared for life's work. Patrotism is not only a battle for the country, but a battle for all that makes life what it should be. Do students want to serve Jesus as they desire to go to war? God wants each one to labor for humanity. The precepts of the school shuld be observed.

Saturday morning, Judge Harmon, also a candidate for State Congressman from the first district of Tennessee, addressed the students on the subject of "Thrift Stamps". Last week was set apart by the governor as "Thrift Stamp Week". Judge Harmon traveled over the state campaigning for this cause. He said that East Tennessee did not appreciate the fact that our freedom is at stake in this war. The government needs every cent to win. If German Kultur wins, Christianity will also be in danger. The purpose of the colleges is to develop the mind to think quickly, but Germany has educated the mind at the exclusion of the heart. All are expected to do what they can in order that they can continue to breathe the free air of America, and not live under the autocracy of Germany.

ALPHA SIGMA

The Alpha Sigmas held a very pleasant and profitable meeting last Saturday evening. The newly elected officers were sworn in by President Deck Williams who immediately surrendered his position of dignity to his successor, Horace Dawson. In a brief address, Dawson thanked the society for the honor bestowed upon him and made several suggestions for the spring term work.

The program consisted of three impromptu and two prepared numbers. "Conditions in Russia", by Williams; "Fundamentals of Expression", by Husky; and "The Drive on the Western Front", by Miller were discussed impromptu in a very interesting and intelligent manner. Next Joel Georges made a well prepared address on "Inorganic Evolution" for which he cannot be commended too highly. The program was concluded by the reading of the currents events, both local and national, by McClenaghan.

See the bulletin board for next meeting's program and try to be on the job next Saturday evening.

PROF. McCLENAHAN VISITS THE "HILL"

On Wednesday morning, March 13th., Prof. Francis M. McClenahan was in Maryville and made a brief visit on the "hill", having time to speak to only a few of his many student and faculty friends. Since resigning from the chair of Chemistry and Geology in this institution about two years ago, Prof. McClenahan and his family have been living at Ben Avon, Pa., where he has been attending Mellin Institute at Pittsburg, doing research work, and also acting as a "Fellow". It is supposed that he has returned to his work at Mellin Institute. The students regret very much that "Prof. Mac" was unable to remain longer in Maryville.

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Society, college section, met as usual last Saturday evening and rendered an interesting short program. Several visitors were present and were heard from with impromptu talks. In the business session James Martin was elected program secretary to fill a vacancy occurring since the term election.

The final number of the semi-centennial series of Athenian history, addresses will be given by Prof. Bassett some time in the near future. Let every member come out for this week's meeting at 6:30 o'clock, Saturday evening. The full corps of new officers will be on the job.

JUNIOR GIRLS WIN TWO HARD GAMES

On Wednesday, March 13, one of the most interesting inter-class games of the season took place between the Junior and Freshmen girls, although somewhat one-sided there was no lack of enthusiasm and "pep" on the part of the audience and players. A large majority of the members of the two classes were out to "root" for their respective teams. The "Freshies" fought a good fight but were completely "outclassed" by the Juniors. During the first half the game was very close but the second half was an "easy go" for the Juniors, who played all around the Freshmen from the beginning of the second half until the final whistle blew. The score was 14 to 8 in favor of the Juniors.

On Saturday afternoon, March 16, the Junior girls went against the Sophomores and completely overpowered them. Both teams fought hard but the Juniors simply proved too much for the Sophomores. The final score was 20 to 4.

This game proved the Juniors to be the champions of the season.

BEAUTIFUL FLAGS PRESENTED CHURCH

Very impressive patriotic services have been held at the New Providence Presbyterian Church on two Sundays in succession. On Sunday morning, March 17th, a large service flag with sixty-five stars was presented to the church. The speech of presentation was made by Hon. T. N. Brown, and was accepted and dedicated by Prof. Gillingham who for some time has been acting as pastor. Nearly every one of the men for whom the stars were placed on the flag have at some time been students of the college.

On the following Sunday, March 24th, Maj. W. A. McTeer on behalf of the veterans of the Civil War presented "Old Glory" to the church, making a very interesting and stirring address. Prof. Henry made the address of acceptance. The service was made more impressive when the old veterans carried the flag down from the pulpit and placed it over a number of children standing at the front of the church. The program was concluded by the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner".

BAINONIAN

The following officers have been elected for the Spring term:

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

Last Saturday evening the Junior Alpha Sigma rendered a very interesting program. Fowler delivered a splendid speech on Current Events. The debate was, "Resolved, That, in North America, the indian has been treated worse than the negro". Each speaker had good arguments, which were convincing. The decision was in favor of the affirmative.

Following the debate, officers for the Spring term were sworn in.

Every member is urged to come out and help to make the society one of the most attractive features on the "hill".

EQUAL SUFFRAGE

There was a called meeting of the Equal Suffrage Club on Monday afternoon. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss matters regarding the French Orphan that the club has recently adopted.

Misses Genevieve Gibson and Margaret Bassett made a short visit to Mildred Crowe in Middlesboro, Ky., last week.

CLASS ORGANIZED TO STUDY NEGROES

Under Prof. Davis as teacher a class was formed last Sunday to study Dr. Weatherford's book: "Negro Life in the South". A large number crowded the Y. M. reading room. The class was organized with Mr. Wagner as president. As an introduction to the course Prof. Davis gave an interesting account of his experiences with the negro and showed the attractiveness and obligation for patriotic Americans to study the race problem. Books are furnished the members. A book containing Dunbar's poems will be supplied. Next Sunday the class will meet in the Y. M. C. A. hall at 7:30 o'clock and the meeting will open with singing the old negro melody "Swing Low, Sweet Chariot". This course offers a great opportunity to all young men.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN MISS GRACE BAILEY

On Wednesday evening, March 20, the junior girls gave a very pleasant little farewell party for Miss Grace Bailey, president of the class, who will be out of school during the spring term. Clad in neat uniforms of red, they went to Miss Bailey's room at Pearsons. With her they marched to the gym where a "snap" social was being held. After enjoying the snap for awhile the bevy of pretty co-eds returned to Pearsons, where the later evening hours were spent in other pleasant diversions, and refreshments were served.

MISS PARDUE JUNIOR PRESIDENT

Because the president of the Junior Class, Grace Bailey has left school for the spring term inasmuch as the number of her credits permitted, the class met and elected Miss Maude Pardue to the vacant office. The class is sorry to see its most efficient president leave, yet it is glad to know she will be back next year. The class is fortunate in having elected Miss Pardue for her ability is too well known to need any further comment.

DAWSON TO CAPTAIN BASEBALL TEAM

Ae a recent meeting of the Athletic Board of Control, Horace Dawson was elected captain of the varsity baseball team. With his experience in this major sport both here and elsewhere he should make a fine leader for the team. The team is fast rounding into shape with constant practice and a winning combiation can be expected.

The Board also granted M.'s to five members of the basketball squad. These were Captain Eagleton, Manager Witherspoon, Wagner, Drake and Weisbecker.

"SNAP" SOCIAL

The closing of the winter term was celebrated in a fitting manner last Wednesday evening when a "snap" social was given in Bartlett. Hall. A large crowd was out to indulge in this favorite pastime and, as one would judge from the din of conversation and the activity of enthusiastic "snappers", every body had a big time. According to very authentic reports Deck Williams and Harry Wagner were the only absentees during various periods of the evening from this hilarious function.

Maryville Student (explaining to his brother) "When a boy goes with a girl at school they call it 'moonshining'."

Brother: "Huh! If a fellow would kiss one would they call it bootlegging?"

Prof. Knapp: "Mr. Smith does the moon affect the tide?"

Ralph: "No, sir, the moon affects the 'untied' ".

LOST—Somewhere in Maryville yesterday, a small pin set with an opal. Also, somewhere on the campus several weeks ago, a Wirt fountain pen. Worth of either article will be paid for its return. Eva Ritchie. Pearsons Hall.

WANTED—A standing date for baseball games and other "moonshining" affairs.—"Mike" Parks.

PERSONALS

Dr. Will T. Bartlett was a visitor on the "hill" this morning.

Rebecca Calderwood was called home Friday on account of the death of her aunt.

Misses Lena and Maude Pardue, Ruth Newton, Aileen Schneider and Elizabeth Jones spent Monday in Knoxville.

The girls are glad to welcome two new students in Pearsons Hall,—Misses Erma Logan and Eliza Bernard.

Miss Mary Frances Black visited Cerena Polk at her home in the country Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. V. Smith of Maywood, Ill., are the pleasant guests of their son, Harold.

Misses Oramanta and Mildred Striplin recently received a card from their brother, Adlia Striplin, stating that he had arrived safely in France.

Joe B. Long, a former student visited friends on the "hill" last Saturday. He is now on his way to enlist in the Aviation Corps as a mechanic.

Chapman Gibson, a former student who for sometime was employed at the First National Bank, recently enlisted as an Army Y. M. C. A. Secretary, and is now located at Fort Oglethorp.

Adolphus C. McConnell, who enlisted in the Signal Corps several months ago, was notified to report at the aviation ground school at the Ohio State University on Saturday, March 16th.

H. J. Jordan after completing his course of training at Camp Joseph E. Johnston, Jacksonville, Fla., was transferred to Motorcycle Company No. 304, and the company left camp on March 4th., fully equipped for overseas service to an Atlantic port of embarcation. The company was organized for the purpose of overseas dispatch riding from overseas headquarters to the line. There is a good chance for the men to show themselves true Americans because of the dangers incurred.

ALUMNI NOTES

1903.

An interesting little publication known as the "White Elephant" is published at Bangkok, Siam. Rev. R. O. Franklin, '03, is the Business Manager. The last issue received that for November-December, 1917, contains an article by Rev. R. C. Jones, of Pitsamloki, regarding a trip by motor boat on one of the rivers of Siam. The fish were so plentiful and so wild that they jumped into the boat, one hitting a boatman in the eye and then escaping on the opopsite side of the boat. Another fish two feet and a half long jumped through the glass door of a cupboard on the boat and was caught and eaten.

1908.

Rev. Theron Alexander and wife, of Maywood, Illinois are visiting with relatives in Maryville this week.

Rev. W. H. Tilford is pastor of the Presbyterian church at Batavia, Ohio. He has also been acting as substitute teacher in the local High School. He writes that he expects to be at Maryville for the Centennial next year.

1914.

E. M. Reeves is busy at Marshfield, Oregon, helping Uncle Sam build ships.

1915.

Lieut. Tom Goddard has landed safe in France, at last reports.

Mr. Harold Huddleston and Miss Anna Crane, '15, were married at Harriman on March 16. After spending a few days in Maryville with the groom's parents and relatives they went on to Bauxite, Arkansas, where Mr. Huddleston has a position with the Aluminum Company of America. Both Mr. and Mrs. Huddleston are well known to Maryville Alumni. The bride is a graduate and the groom is a former student and a former resident of Maryville. The Echo extends hearty congratulations.

1916.

Harry Vinyard is now in Co. F, 115th Ammunition Train at Camp Kearney, Colorado.

TUSCULUM AND MARYVILLE REPRESENTATIVES SHARE FORENSIC HONORS IN CLOSE CONTESTS

Affirmative Teams of Both Institutions on Their Respective Home Floors Win Two to One Decisions of Judges. Adams, Hamilton and Briggs On Winning Team.

On Friday evening, March 29th, Tusculum and Maryville engaged in the first forensic combat of the year. The subject for discussion was "Resolved: That there should be a League of Nations to Enforce Peace". The affirmative of Maryville and the negative of Tusculum debated at Maryville while, at the same time, the affirmative of Tusculum and the negative of Maryville debated at Tusculum.

At Maryville the decision of the judges was rendered two to one in favor of the affirmative team of Maryville, and at Tusculum the decision was rendered two to one in favor of the affirmative team of Tusculum.

Maryville was represented at home by Vincent B. Hamilton, D. H. Briggs, and Robert W. Adams, and at Tusculum by F. Gaston Cooper, James Martin and R. M. Bartlett.

The visiting team was composed of Winston Cook, Walter Gray, and Edward Brading, while Tusculum's home team consisted of David Buchanan, Herman Smith and Robert Rankin.

Prof. Rankin accompanied the negative team to Maryville.

AT MARYVILLE

Principal C. W. Henry of the Polytechnic High School presided at Maryville. The judges were Mr. Walter D. DeVault, lawyer, Judge H. B. Lindsay, and Prof. R. S. Radford of the University of Tennessee.

Immediately after the six speakers lined up in battle array upon the platform, the audience was favored by a well rendered selection for two pianos played by Misses Jane Waller and Elizabeth Bassell.

The forensic fusilade was started by V. B. Hamilton who introduced the subject, gave the proposed plan of the affirmative, proved in a very able way that there is an imperative need for a change in the manner of settling international disputes. Mr. Hamilton's speech was very impressive and the plan, as he presented it, was very clear and comprehensible.

The first speaker on the negative, Mr. Cook, based his arguments on the one issue that the League would be unsound in practice.

D. H. Briggs, the second speaker on the affirmative, very enthusiastically and convincingly showed that the League would be sound in principle. This was Brigg's second intercollegiate debate, and he put up a fight creditable to any experienced warrior.

Mr. Gray, on the opposite side, then endeavored to show that the proposal of the affirmative was ill-advised.

Following this, Adams, the last speaker representing Maryville, began a continuous cannonade against the opposition by offering conclusive evidence that the League to Enforce Peace would be practicable.

Finally, the last speaker on the negative, Mr. Brading contended that the basis for a durable peace lay in the will of the international mind and offered plans for arbitration of international disputes as a substitute for the League to Enforce Peace.

Immediately following the constructive arguments, the forensic warriors began to hurl rapid-fire rebuttals at their opponents. The home team showed their thorough preparation and mastery of the subject by the excellent way in which they answered objections, explained obscurities, and emphasized the proof of their own arguments. The visiting team had good strong arguments and presented them in an excellent maner, but it was unable to break through the well fortified lines of the affirmative. Every man on both teams exhibited excellent form in rebuttal as well as in constructive argument, but Adams stood out foremost among his fellows particularly in the former. The climax came when Adams, like a Mt. Vesuvius, poured forth a shower of burning rebuttals that completely obliterated the remaining points of the negative.

During the interval between the debate and the decision of the judges, the audience was entertained by pleasing solos by Misses Winston Newton, and Emma Miles. After a few misleading remarks Prof. Henry relieved the suspense of the debaters and the audience by announcing that the decision stood two to one in favor of the affirmative.

Afterwards, a very delightful informal reception was given in the basement of the chapel in honor of the visiting debaters and judges.

AT TUSCULUM

Simultaneously with the contest at home, another was raging at Tusculum. The judges there were: Prof. D. S. Burleson of the East Tennessee Normal; Mr. H. E. Jones of Bristol, and Prof. Allison of Bristol who happened to be visiting at Tusculum and who was asked to substitute for Mr. Guy Chase of Johnson City who failed to appear at the proper time.

The Maryville representatives upheld their contentions in a way consistent with the reputation of Maryville debaters, but they were unable to convince more than one of the judges that a League of Nations should be formed.

The affirmative based their arguments on three issues: 1st, that there is a need for a League; 2nd, that the League would be feasible; and 3rd., that the formation of a League is desirable.

On the negative Cooper endeavored to prove that the League would be insufficient as an organization; Bartlett, that it would be unjust as a court; and Martin, that it would be impotent as a force. Although they failed to bring home the bacon, these men are to be commended for the hard work they did in preparation for the debate, for the hard fight they put up, and for the excellent manner in which they upheld the Maryville colors.

ASSOCIATION OF EAST TENNESSEE COLLEGES TO MEET APRIL 5th.

The fourth meeting of the Association of East Tennessee Colleges will be held at Milligan College, Johnson City, Tenn., on the evening of April 5th., 1918. The topic for round table discussion is: "Educational Problems and Reforms Demanded by the World War".

The officers of the association are Dean J. C. Barnes, of Maryville College, President; President, C. O. Gray of Tusculum, Vice President; and Dean B. A. Wise of Lincoln Memorial University, Secretary-Treasurer.

The Association is made up of the following colleges and universities: the University of Chattanooga, the Athens School, the University of Tennessee, Lincoln Memorial University, Carson and Newman College, Johson Bible College, Milligan College, King College, Tusculum College, Hiawassee College and Maryville College.

All of the above institutions are expected to be represented at the meeting.

TWO U. T.—MARYVILLE GAMES NEXT WEEK

The coming week will see the Highlanders playing four baseball games. On the 8th and 9th, U. T. will be the opponent. Monday the team goes to Knoxville where the game will be played on Wait field. A great crowd should accompany the team as this is a holiday. Special railroad rates will be given. Tuesday these ancient and bitter rivals will meet on the local diamond, and those that saw the great game last year are not likely to miss another rare treat.

The team is in great shape and at least should break even. On Friday and Saturday L. M. U. will be at Maryville. Manager Scruggs has signed four games with U. T., the last two being played on May 3rd. and 4th.

WEBER MALE QUARTET FINAL LYCEUM NUMBER

To Be Presented Friday Evening April 5th. at 8 p. m. in Voorhees Chapel.

The fifth and final number of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course will be presented on Friday evening, April 5th., at 8 p. m., by the Weber Male Quartet. This attraction comes highly recommended and promises to be the most entertaining of the entire lyecum course. One of the teachers of the Department of Music of the College, who has heard the Weber Male Quartet, pronounces it to be one of the best that she has ever had the privilege of hearing.

Single admission will be fifty cents. Season tickets admit.

THE WEBER MALE QUARTET.

The Weber Male Quartet is in every sense a high class organization, composed of four of the well-known concert and church soloists of New York city. An association of several years in successful concert and phonograph work has resulted in the beautiful blending, the clearness of enunciation and the artistic distinction which are the essentials of a really satisfactory quartet. The Weber Male Quartet is progressive in adding to its repertoire and by its versatility and genial bearing has been unfailingly successful wherever it has appeared.

Few quartets have appeared before such widely varying audiences. The critical assemblage of the metropolis, so often including people of social prominence or of artistic celebrity; the great gathering from the "East side" settlements, whose eagerness and appreciation for the best are nothing short of a revelation; the church society, with its definite requirements for a distinctly refined entertainment; the club, where geniality and gentlemanly good fellowship are essentials; the Lyceum, which has the cultured support of the very best people; the Chautauqua, with its wide appeal to all classes—all these, whether in city or village, have received the Weber Male Quartet with that hearty responsiveness which is the artist's richest reward.

THE WEBER MALE QUARTET.

This quartet appeared before the Pennsylvania State Educational Association in December, 1914, and aroused great enthusiasm. The repertoire of the Weber Male Quartet is as varied as its audiences.

MUSIC-EXPRESSION GRADUATE RECITAL

Misses Hartman and Pardue of the Departments of Music and Expression Perform.

The first of the series of evening recitals given by the graduates in Music and Expression occurred on Monday night when Miss Mary Jane Hartman of the Piano Department, and Miss Maude Pardue of the Expression Department gave a program of surpassing interest.

The opening number—Hommage a Haendel, for two pianos, the first piano being played by Miss Hartman and the second by Miss Mary Armentrout. Their ensemble work was perfect and showed much skill technically.

The first solo of the evening, the Etude by Roff, with its running accompaniment and singing tone work for the right hand was well done.

In the Liszt Liebstraume, which is full of opportunity for fine interpretation, Miss Hartman displayed a rare skill in uniting with her technic a fine understanding and conception of the composer.

The Bishop's Candlesticks which is an incident founded on the famous story Les Miserables, by Hugo, was most cerditably done by Miss Pardue.

This long and interesting narrative was given without a single slip of memory, Miss Pardue assuming the parts of the various characters with the most perfect skill.

Her impersonation of the Bishop was particularly well done.

Throughout the story Miss Pardue held her audience with no break in the attention as they followed her through the interesting recital of this well-known story.

The applause following her number showed how deeply the audience appreciated her work.

Miss Hartman's next number was by the Russian Composer Pachulski, and was full of the melody of evening suggested by the name, Harmonies of Evening.

The musical climax of the evening was reached in the very difficult La Campanella, by Paganini, transcribed by Liszt.

It is surprising and most gratifying that a pupil in the Music Department is able to handle a composition like this noted piece by Paganini with a charm, an ease and a fine skill such as was marked by Miss Hartman in the playing of this number.

Besides her mastery of the technical difficulties, Miss Hartman added a delightful conception and fine appreciation of the composition and Maryville may well be proud of its departments of Music and Expression which were so ably represented by these two pupils on Monday night.

The splendid order is another evidence of the fact that the audience is growing into a finer appreciation of the better and higher things in Art.

MISS DAVIS ELECTED BASKETBALL CAPTAIN

At a recent meeting of the girls' basketball team Edith Davis, forward on this year's team was elected captain for the coming year. Her fine playing all season has attributed very largely to the team's success and no doubt under her efficient leadership the team next year will do as well as the one this season. At a meeting of the Athletic Board of Control this noon M.'s were awarded to the following players, Captain Marshall, Manager Burchfield, Nuckols, Moseley, Davis and Webb.

Miriam Bartlett visited with her grandmother at Bristol recently.

HIAWASSEE COLLEGE GIVEN GOOD DRUBBING

Highlanders Defeat Visitors by Score 17-2 in Slow One-sided Game. M. C. Gets 14 Hits.

Last Friday afternoon Maryville gave Hiawassee College a good drubbing on the diamond by the awful score of 17-2. The game was so one-sided as to lose all interest, so that during the last few innings Maryville changed men frequently.

The visitors started off in fast shape when Farmer got to first on an error and Cugger and Henley both singled.

Smith however got control of himself and struck out the next two men. For M. C. the first three men went down in order. Smith followed by showing his goods in striking out every man in the next inning and the Highlanders to show their appreciation garnered four runs: Ruble singled, Dawson was hit by a pitched ball, Drake walked and Lloyd cleared the bases with a double. Then Smith singled and brought in Lloyd. In the third singles by Bryson, Ruble and Drake and a double by Smith proved too much for the visitors and they made three errors that helped in doubling the score. LaRue and Scruggs both held Hiawassee safe, and they usually went down in 1, 2, 3 order. Four errors by Maryville gave their opponents the chance they seized and they saved themselves from a shutout by getting two runs.

Wagner brought the crowd to its feet by a long double in the 4th but in trying to stretch it into a triple he was put out.

In the eighth Maryville batted more than around. McCall flied out to Harding. Lowry was hit by a pitched ball, Wagner tripled, scoring Lowry, Bryson got to first on an error and Scruggs did the same. Ruble lined on a fielder's choice as did Dawson. Drake's double and two wild pitches did the rest and when McCall grounded out the home team had gathered 7 runs.

TIME FOR ELECTION OF NEXT YEAR'S STAFF

According to an action taken by the faculty last spring the Editor-in-Chief and the Business Manager of the Highland Echo for next year should have been elected during the first week of the spring term. As yet there remains plenty of time for this if it is attended to at once.

In accordance with the method of student representation decided upon last year, the Presidents of the four college classes and the Presidents of the Third and Fourth preparatory classes should assemble at the call of the President of the Senior Class and elect two representatives, one from the Senior and Junior classes each. These two representatives are to meet with the two representatives appointed by the faculty and are to judge the merits of the material entered in the competition and select the manager and editor on the basis of the results of the competition.

We suggest that the student representatives be appointed as soon as convenient this week, and that they with the faculty representatives set some date from two to three weeks hence, say April 15th, as the final date on which material may be entered in the competition. We suggest also that aspirants for the positions of Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager begin preparations for the competition immediately.

Those who wish to try-out for the position of Business Manager should prepare their references and gather proof of previous business experiences, and those who aspire to the editorship should prepare a writeup of some kind and an editorial. Further details may be learned from the committee.

The Editor-in-Chief receives a college credit in English for the year's work, and the Business Manager receives ten per cent of the gross proceeds, which amounts to about eighty dollars.

With the large number of men fully capable of filling the two positions a lively contest should ensue. Every loyal Maryville student should take a keen interest in this competition and should endeavor to secure the election of the men best fitted for the positions.

RECORD BOOK

A year has passed since our country declared war on Germany. Practically all of our institutions of learning, as well as our industrial commercial, agricultural and financial institutions, have, from time to time, been called on to give of their means to the support of this great conflict. Perhaps never before in the history of our educational institutions, and especially in our own college, has there been such a conservative note in all matters pertaining to college activities. The college and university annuals in many of our institutions have been dispensed with for this year. Maryville, too, has found it impossible to put out such a publication this year. Our position is just the same as that of a number of other colleges and we would not be justified in demanding the publication of our own Chilowean, as it would not be in harmony with our war-saving spirit. However, the Senior Class, with the consent of the faculty, has decided on a plan whereby we may edit a small handbook, or something of its kind, so as to represent the Senior Class and some ten or twelve different organizations on the "hill". According to estimates given by Manager Scruggs, this edition can be sold at the small price of 40 cents. We believe that this publication (which in no sense will be considered as a Chilhowean), will be in keeping with our war-saving spirit, and, at the same time, be a fair representation of the student body for 1917-1918. Further details will be given from time to time in this paper.

ALPHA SIGMAS HAVE SPLENDID PROGRAM

Coach Brown to Deliver an Address at Next Meeting. Other Special Numbers.

Last Saturday evening one of the best programs of the year was rendered at Alpha Sigma society. Every participant was present and fully prepared. The first number was a piano solo by Edgemon. Weisbecker gave a very interesting reading, entitled, "The Flag". The next number was a hot debate on the question: "Resolved, That the study of the German Language should be abolished in all educational institutions in the United States". The affirmative was upheld by Williams and the negative by Sheffey. After the decision of the judges, which was rendered unanimously in favor of the negative, open discussion was participated in by a large number of those present. The final number was a very interesting paper on current events by Frank Scruggs.

The outstanding features of the program for next Saturday evening will be an address by Coach Brown, who has kindly consented to speak on a subject of his own choosing, and an address on "City Planning" by Miller who won first prize for a paper on the same subject in a competitive contest last term in one of Dr. Hoyt's English classes. A live question for debate and a reading are scheduled. Every Alpha Sigma should be present.

ENROLLMENT FOR YEAR

The college register shows that the total enrollment for the present school year is 746, only 55 less than last year when the total enrollment was 801. The number of college students this year is 298, an increase of 6 above last year's enrollment.

The enrollment for the fall term was 619, for the winter term 617, and for the spring term 526. These figures show that there has been a large decrease in the number of students this term. This is due to the fact that several boys have gone home just recently to farm, and that others have left school almost continuously throughout the year to enter service.

ATHENIAN

With the new official staff, including Roy Anderson, president, in their places Saturday evening, the College Section of the Athenian carried out its first full program of the spring term.

Cecil Cross gave a mandolin solo. The fact that he was encored attests to the appreciation of this number. The debate was on a question as to whether intercollegiate contests should be discontinued till the close of the war. On the affirmative were L. L. Marion, and Roy Young; while H. Wagner and M. Walker upheld the negative. Following the debate, short talks were given by James Martin and B. V. Hamilton, two of the fellows who had debated Tusculum, Friday evening.

There was a better attendance than usual, and the program all through was very interesting.

"Sandy" Marshall, a former student who is now in the Army, recently arrived safely in France.

LIEUT. CLAUDE LOWE IN FATAL ACCIDENT

The sad news of the death of First Lieutenant Claude O. Lowe, the first of Maryville's enlisted men to die in the service since the beginning of the war, was announced at chapel last Thursday morning, and attetion was called to the gold star that had already been placed on the service flag over the name of the deceased.

Lieut. Lowe died on Tuesday, March 26th, at Arcadia, Fla., as the result of injuries received in the aviation section of the signal corps. He was born in Blount County, Tenn., on October 6th, 1893, and was the son of T. H. Lowe, Woodlawn Avenue, South Knoxville.

Since his enlistment in the aviation section of the signal corps in April, 1917, Lieut. Lowe had made remarkable progress. Only recently he passed a favorable examination for a captaincy and would have received his promotion within a few days had he not met with the fatal accident. At the time of his death he was instructor on the aviation field at Arcadia, Fla.

The dead aviator was a student in Maryville College in the years 1905-6 and 1906-7, and also in the fall term of the year 1907-8. He was a bright student and held excellent records and had a large number of friends. He later attended Carson-Newman College at Jefferson City. He also was a graduate of Bliss Electrical School at Washington, D. C., and the Edison Finishing School at Chicago.

The students and faculty extend to the two sisters-in-law of the deceased, Misses Jonnie and Kittie McMurray who are students here, and to the members of the Lowe family their deep sympathy.

DEAN BARNES SPEAKS ON "THE ROOT OF ALL GOOD"

The prayer meeting last Thursday evening was led by Dean Barnes, who took for his subject "The Root of All Good".

The right use of money is the root of all good, the speaker said. This is the basic factor in the development of character. Money is the measure of value. Value is the result of expenditure of human energy—a transforming and potential energy. Love of service is the fundamental principle of Christianity. All service implies sacrifice and everyone is but a steward.

Economy is one of the highest virtues, but saving money is more important. Thrift is the denying of present pleasures for those of the future. We live in a prosperous nation but have spent lavishingly. Eleven million people out of the total population of twenty million are renters. Between ten and fifteen million are in absolute poverty. There is a way to spend money that builds up and another way that destroys.

Every person, especially every young person, should keep a ledger, showing their daily income and expenditure. Wisdom should be used in the conservation of all resources. The ultimate aim of the right spending of money is the development of Christian ideals. Finally, make money but do good with it.

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMAS

The Junior Alpha Sigmas met last Saturday evening and held a very profitable and interesting meeting. The program consisted of Russia's Situation in the War, by Rufus Ford; Current Events, by Ira Huffaker; and a Twenty Minute Parliamentary Drill. The parlimentary drill was as profitable as attractive. Several important questions were discussed by different members of the society.

Cecil McLaughlin's name was presented to the Society.

The president appointed a committee to see all the members, who do not attend Society regularly and to encourage them to come more frequently.

A special program is being prepared for the next meeting.

THETA EPSILON FIVE DEFEATS BAINONIAN

By far the most exciting intramural girls' basketball game of the season was witnessed last Thursday afternoon when the Thetas, in acceptance of a challenge from the Bainonians met and defeated them in the college gymnasium. This is the first atheltic contest known to have ever occurred between the girls' literary societies. A large enthusiastic crowd, consisting of members of both the boys' and girls' literary societies, was out to root for both teams.

The game, although somewhat one sided, was all excitement from the first sound of the whistle till the last. The varsity girls playing were Marshall, Davis and Whittle with the Bainonians; Nuckols and Moseley with the Thetas, the latter playing only in the last half. The fast playing of Nuckols at guard completely overpowered the varsity star, Marshall, and made it impossible for her to cage a single goal during the entire game. At forward, Dawson was the shining constellation of the game; during the first half she scored twelve points for the Thetas. Not far behind Dawson in shooting goals, was Stinnett who played a hard consistent game. The Bainonian five exhibited excellent teamwork, but their guards were unable to tame the ferocious Theta forwards. The final score was 20 to 3 in favor of the Thetas.

Line-up

Theta		Bainonian
Dawson	forward	Marshall
Stinnett	forward	Davis
Floyd	center	Whittle
Nuckols	guard	Miles
Ridgeway	guard	Samsel

Substitutions: Moseley for Floydd.
Field goals scored by: Dawson 6; Stinnett 4; Davis 1.
Foul goals by: Davis 1.
Referee: Lois Wilson.

IMPRESSIVE SUNRISE EASTER SERVICE

The most impressive service of the year was the joint sunrise meeting of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. held Easter morning on Baldwin lawn. About two hunrded of the students gathered there at 6:30 in the early gray dawn just before sunrise. They came with their pillows and sat in a huge semi-circle. The service was opened by the music of the orchestra, followed by the hymn, "Holy, Holy, Holy". After the Lord's Prayer, Mr. Dawson, the Presiednt of the Y. M. C. A. read the Scripture lesson from Matt. 28—the story of the Resurrection. The Brown-Gamble quartet gave a beautiful Easter selection which was especially appreciated by everyone. Dr. Stevenson then gave a ten minute talk on "Eternity". Mary Heard very beautifully sang "Soft the Bells are Ringing". Then Jessie Creswell gave a reading—"The Man Who Opened Tony's Eyes'. The program was closed with a selection by the College mixed-double quartet, after which Dr. Stevenson pronounced the Benediction.

CHAPEL SPEAKERS HEARD LAST WEEK

Rev. William Bartlett, a graduate of Maryville College who needs no introduction, and Mr. E. E. Patton formerly principal of the Central Hill School of Knoxville were present at chapel service last Tuesday morning. Rev. Bartlett led the devotional exercises and Mr. Patton addressed the students on the subject of Thrift Stamps.

The war, Mr. Patton said, is a struggle of autocracy or one-man power on the one hand against democracy or civil liberty on the other hand. Germany has had an ambition to rule the world for forty years back. Christianity has the ambition to rule in the hearts of men everywhere, but Germany has not done one deed or act of charity or mercy. She is a spiritual bankrupt.

From this point, Mr. Patton emphasized the enormous cost of the war to United States in a very forceful way and spoke about the necessity of every one helping to meet this expenditure by buying either U. S. War Saving Stamps or U. S. Thrift Stamps.

A campaign will soon be inaugurated to dispose of these stamps. Mr. H. C. Jett, who has an office in the Bank of Blount County building, is chairman of the War-Saving Stamp Committee in Maryville and will gladly give any information desired in reference to these stamps.

Miss Pauline McGinley was the guest of Misses Cola and Helena Turner and Anne Armstrong for the week end.

VESPER SERVICE

The text of Dr. Stevenson's sermon at Vesper Service is found in Job 14:14, "If a man die, shall he live again?" As one looks into the casket, he says, "She must live again". It is incredible for man to think otherwise. The idea of a future life has been strengthened as time goes on. God has provided air for the lungs, light for the eyes, food for the body, knowledge for the mind, and beauty for the aesthetic nature of man, and why would He not satisfy the yearning of the soul? Man will conitnue to live not only on account of his great desire to live but because of his greatness. Should the canvas live longer than the man who painted it? Shall man's power disappear forever? Would a wise and just God give to man such a marvelous being mentally, physically and intellectually equipped, for only a few years? No, God has equipped and provisioned man for a long voyage. Because of the power of the resurrection of Jesus Christ, man shall live again. The light of life shall never be extinguished. The sun of the spiritual life shall never set.

SUFFRAGE CLUB

The Equal Suffrage Club held its regular monthly meeting, Monday afternoon in Bainonian Hall. After a short business meeting a very interesting program was given. Papers received from Committees on Public Information, Division of Woman's War Work, were read and discussed. These papers give an account of the great problems that are vital to the nation. The Suffrage girls are finding them to be very helpful and enlightening.

GIRLS ENTERTAINED

The girls of the Vesper Choir breakfasted at the "House in the Woods" on Easter morning after the sunrise service of the Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A. The breakfast consisted of cream of wheat served with peaches, bacon and eggs, toast, jam and coffee.

The girls spent a very pleasant hour and left with the confirmed idea that the "House in the Woods" is one of warmest hospitality.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

The meeting of the Junior Athenian Saturday evening was short, there being but two numbers on the program. A reading by Wm. Dellinger was followed by a debate: Resolved that the present news censorship of the U. S. is justifiable; Frank Mincrick and John McConkey supporting the affirmative and Floyd Corry and Chester Moore the negative. Both the reading and the debate were interesting and well delivered, all the speakers showing a good grasp of their subject. After the report of the critic, business was taken up and the society adjourned.

TIGER BASEBALL NINE DEFEATS SOPHOMORES

On April Fools' day the Sophomores tried to tow the Tigers into camp on the baseball diamond but failed in their attempt. The game was played before a good-sized crowd of moon-shiners and others and went the full nine innings. The game was won by the Tigers 7-5. McCall and King did most of the scoring. King and Deaton started in as the opposing pitchers, but were changed by the Tigers and the Sophs respectively, and the game ended with Red Campbell and Pugh as the moundsmen. Pugh did very effective work. The game was not featured by any startling plays, but on the whole proved interesting.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mrs. Charles Newberry, '13, formerly Miss Mae Swanner, of Meadow, Tenn., was on the "Hill" one day last week.

1916.

Mrs. D. W. Proffitt, (formerly Miss Gray Webb), of Cleveland, Tennessee, and her little son are spending some time with Mrs. Proffitt's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Webb of Maryville. Mr. Proffitt also was here over Sunday.

Mrs. Stanley Armstrong, formerly Miss Aletha May, will spend some time with her parents in Maryville. Mr. Armstrong will take up work with the Army Y. M. C. A.

1917.

Miss Margaret Sugg is teaching in her home town, Christiana, Tennessee this year and is also studying music in Nashville.

Miss Apharine Striplin is teaching in the public schools of New Market, Alabama.

THETA EPSILON

Theta Epsilon Literary Society met in Theta Hall at 6:45 Saturday evening. After a short business session the meeting was given over to Miss Margaret Collins, who had charge of the program for the evening. She presented a most instructive and entertaining program in the form of "The Tattler" revised. The Lost, Found, and Want Ads were very amusing. The Personals and Society Notes were most humorous. The editorial was given by Miss Ritchie. In her editorial she said that now is the time for each and everyone to prove himself a true soldier. She states that there are four classes of soldiers. The soldiers who fight on the battlefield, and the soldiers who follow the plow; the soldiers who minister to the wounded, Angels of Mercy, and the soldiers who guard the Home, Angels of the Kitchen. These four have to be united in order to win this war. She spoke particularly to the soldiers of the Kitchen and urged that they prove themselves true soldiers by conserving to the best of their ability.

Miss Zumstein read some very witty and original poety.

Miss Anderson rendered a piano solo. The entire program was very original.

Members of the society were very glad to have Miss Pauline McGinley, an old Theta, at the meeting.

BAINONIAN

Bainonian Literary Society's Easter program was opened Saturday night, with a delightful piano duet by Misses Marion Henry and Elizabeth Jackson. The next number was a very appropriate reading—an Easter story, by Miss Lona Floyd, after which Miss Martha Robinson told several beautiful legends of the origin of some of our cherished Easter customs.

After a reading by Miss Helen Tedford, Miss Amelia Rendon closed the program with a vliolin solo.

Bainonian girls:

Let's put Bainonian on the boom, by our presence and work!

PERSONALS

Miss Margaret Graham visited her home in New Market, Tennessee during the Easter season.

Ida Gilbert and Era Card have returned to the "hill" after spending a pleasant spring vacation at their home in Chattanooga.

Edith and Lucille Marchant entertained their mother and little sister during the Easter holidays.

Howard D. McGrath has returned from a pleasant visit with home folks at New York City.

William Momary left this morning for his home in New Jersey. He expects to enlist soon in the Assyrian branch of the Artillery.

Misses Helen Horton and Ethel Jackson spent Easter at their home in Harriman, Tenn.

Mr. W. D. Newton visited his daughters, Winston and Ruth for the week end.

Miss Eliza Bernard returned to her home Monday. She will enter school again next spring.

Miss Ethel Burchfield is in the hospital with a bad case of ivy poisoning.

PRE-MEDICAL CLUB

Some time in the near future Dr. Edwin Ellis will deliver a lecture on "The Prevention of Disease" before the Pre-Medical Club. Further announcement will be made later.

Amusement Notes

Palace Program

All of the great magazines are telling you to look for this trade mark. WE SHOW IT EVERY WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY.

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 3

Pauline Frederick in "Madame Jealousy". A tense, powerful drama by George V. Hobart, the famous author of "Experience". The most gripping play in which Miss Frederick has ever appeared. A convincing allegorical story. It is a Paramount Picture. Look for the trade mark. Also Pathe News Weekly. We have these reels twice a week, giving all the world and war news. Did you know that a Maryville boy was recognized in one of them last week? Watch them closely, they show the soldiers at home and abroad. You may recognize a friend.

THURSDAY, APRIL 4

Ruth Stonehouse in a high class Triangle production entitled "DOING HER BIT". Chuck full of comedy, drama and heart interest. Also one of those funny Triangle comedies.

FRIDAY, APRIL 5

Whoop! Look out—here comes the irrepressible Doug in a rip snortin' part that just suits him, as usual. Doug Fairbanks appears today in "REACHING FOR THE MOON", and say just between us, he almost reaches it too. In it Doug has serious moments, great comedy reliefs, does several surprising athletic feats and engages in a scrap which is bound to create a sensation. Oh, Boy it's a bear, and we'll be seein' you! Also Pathe Weekly World and War News.

SATURDAY, APRIL 6

Fannie Ward in a delightful Western drama entitled "ON THE LEVER". A Paramount picture showing the ever youthful Fannie Ward at her best in a story of the Mexican border. Also funny two reel Keystone Komedy.

MONDAY, APRIL 8

Life or Honor? "THE STAINLESS BARRIER", a Triangle photo drama shows woman's honor to be more sacred than the life of a degenerate brother. Don't miss this one. Featuring Irene Hunt and Jack Livingston. Also funny Triangle Comedy.

TUESDAY, APRIL 9

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, APRIL 9, 1918. | NUMBER TWENTY-FIVE

SECOND GRADUATE RECITAL GIVEN

Misses Wilson and Armentrout Presented by Expression and Music Departments.

Monday evening, April 8th, the second of the series of graduate recitals of the music and expression departments was given in Voorhees Chapel.

Miss Mary Emma Armentrout, pupil of Miss Laura Hale, of the Department of Music, and Miss Doris Wilson, pupil of Mrs. West, of the Department of Expression rendered in a delightful manner a well selected and well prepared program.

Throughout the program Miss Armentrout displayed splendid technical ability. In the selection 'Autumn' by Chaminade she exhibited especial excellence in musical interpretation; and in her final number, the difficult "Octave Intermezzo" by Leschetizki exceptional skill in execution.

Miss Doris Wilson presented the play "The Twelve Pound Look" by Barrie. The selection is in itself powerful, presenting as it does a problem of universal interest and Miss Wilson, with her dramatic and artistic ability made the most of the play and left a definite and lasting impression upon her audience.

Congratulations should be offered both to the graduates and to their instructors on the presentation of a program of such character.

PROF. WALKER LEADS PRAYER MEETING

The Prayer Meeting of last week was led by Prof. Walker, who spoke on "Selection". He took his text from Matt. 6:24, "No man can serve two masters, for either he will hate the one, and love the other, or else he will hold to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and Mammon".

The speaker said that life is a process of selection and elimination. In order to succeed several factors must be considered and respected. A strong body is the first essential. No one can be efficient to the extent of his ability unless he feels well. One great cause of ill-health is irregular eating. Illiminate anything from the diet that does not agree. Exercise in proper quantity and in proper quality will be conducive to good health. The second requisite for success is the selection of helpful companions. Another injuction is to make friends with the best books. Someone has said that a person reads either to find himself or to forget himself. Bad literature often results in bad effects. Different people have different methods to retain the substance of what they read. One man of prominence first gets the thought and composition and afterwards sums up. Another man makes no notes but rereads until he absorbs the ideas and make them his own. Some readers prefer to make copious notes in their book. The essential consideration in reading, however, is the character of the literature.

The professor gave statistics, which he collected from students at Maryville College, showing that the time spent in reading was very limited in proportion to what it should and could be.

He closed his address by emphasizing the need of spiritual growth if success would be realized.

BORN

Cards have been received on the "hill" announcing the birth to Mr. and Mrs. W B. Holmes, Jr., on April 3d, 1918, of a daughter, Ruth Wilson. Both Mr. and Mrs. Holmes are former students and have many friends here who extend congratulations.

COLLEGE PARTICIPATES IN LIBERTY LOAN PARADE

Students and Faculty March in Big Patriotic Demonstration. Address Made by Dr. Gillon.

On Saturday morning, April 6th, the Liberty Loan Parade from the West Side Schoolhouse down Main Street to the Presbyterian church was perhaps the biggest demonstration of a patriotic nature ever given in Blount County.

In order that the students and faculty might participate in the parade the college schedule was changed so that chapel services were held from 9:45 to 10:00 a. m., after the first and second hour classes, and the third and fourth hour classes were dismissed. Immediately after chapel nearly the entire faculty and student body marched from the college to the West Side school house where the main parade was to begin.

The parade started at about 10:30. It was headed by Maryville brass band, and was participated in by the students of all the schools of the town, the business men, women, and children, and was witnessed by hundreds of people who crowded Main Street.

Immediately after the parade, Dr. J. W. Gillon, State Missionary of the Baptist Church, made a very inspiring patriotic address. He urged that every body should invest in Liberty Loan Bonds in order to help put down the devil on earth—the Kaiser. Dr. Gillon aroused much interest, and was heard by a large appreciative audience.

COL. T. N. BROWN ADDRESSES Y. M. C. A.

On Sunday afternoon, April 7th, the members of the Y. M. C. A. were addressed by Col. T. N. Brown on the subject "Going to The Top". By way of illustration, Mr. Brown told in a very picturesque manner of his going once to the top of Smokey Mountain to see the sun rise. There, he said, he saw the most beautiful sight that he had ever beheld but that he could never have seen that beautiful sunrise had he not gone to the top of the mountain.

So it is in life, said the speaker. If one does not go to the top of the mountain he cannot get the best out of life. It should be the aim of every young man to make the world better by his living in it. He can do this not only by striving to reach the top but also by helping others to reach the top of the mountain where the sun shines brightest. Mr. Brown said that the old aphorism is certainly true that "There is always room at the top".

ATHENIAN

The Athenian Society, College Section, carried out a complete program Saturday evening, and besides heard a short address by Rev. Theron Alexander of Maywood, Illinois.

Ralph Smith, gave a trombone solo in his characteristically pleasing way. M. B. Ricks and D. Beard debated the question, Resolved, that a national system of education should be adopted. Then James Martin read, with a very impressive interpretation Burnett's poem, "The Battle of Leige".

Rev. Alexander, who had not been in the Athenian hall since his graduation in 1908, told something of conditions at that time, of the quality of the membership, of the Athenian spirit, and then he referred to the improvements made since then.

The program for April 13 includes a vocal solo by Anderson, a debate on the budget system of appropriations, and papers on past, present and future events.

LYCEUM COURSE COMES TO SUCCESSFUL CLOSE

Weber Male Quartet Renders Splendid Program and Makes Big Hit With Audience.

The last and, perhaps the best, number of the Lyceum course was given last Friday evening when the Weber Male Quartet made their appearance. The expectation of the audience was more than realized as was evidenced by the hearty applause that followed the presentation of each number.

The first three numbers were quartet selections and consisted of the "Spring Song" by Jericke, "Banjo Song" by Loomis, and "The Elfman" by Gibson. The "Banjo Song" was a novelty that received high commendation from the audience.

Following these selections, Mr. Malcolm Barnes, the first bass, sang two numbers, which were most acceptable. These were "The Call of the Trumpet" by Sanderson, and "Red, Red Rose" by Hastings.

Next the quartet sang "Night Witchery" by Storch, and "The Hand Organ Man" which was originally written for a sextette.

Mr. Robert Armour, the first tenor then sang "A Spirit Flower" by Tipton and "Down in the Forest" as an encore. In these, Mr. Armour displayed wonderful voice control, and a combination of strength and clearness that is seldom heard.

Mr. Marlowe Jones accompanied himself in singing various selections after the above number. Among these were "The Skipper of St. Ives" and "When We Hadn't Said Our Prayers". These were of a humorous character and received hearty applause.

Perhaps one of the best numbers of the quartet was Van de Water's beautiful "Sunset", which was rendered in an exceptionally fine way. This was followed by "Sweet Genevieve".

Mr. Frederic Thomas, the second bass, next sang "A Man's Song" by Geoffrey O'Hara, and "Three for Jack" an old English song.

Other numbers by the quartet were the "Shores of Sighing" by Chaffin, "The Musical Trust" by Henry Hadley, and "On the Sea", by Buck.

The quartet was very accommodating and sang numerous encores in response to the applause. The program was closed by "Keep the Home Fires Burning", the chorus of which was sung by the audience joining in.

VESPER SERVICE

The theme of Dr. Stevenson's sermon at Vesper Service was, that everyone should have a desire to perpetuate the best that is in him and to live in such a way that the world would be a little better for his being in it. Elijah was given as a good illustration of a man who lived to give his best to his generation. There is a natural timidity on the part of some to exercise their talents. They need a stimulation of a sense of responsibility. Much good would be accomplished if every one exercised his God-given powers. Many respond to the interest shown by another. It is, indeed, a great privilege to assist another to assert himself. Teachers very often build wiser than they know, especially those instructors who seek to uplift.

By an interrogation, the speaker urged all to live to exert an influence in the world. Good men and good women give off an invigorating moral ozone. Mankind follows in the footsteps of each other. To live a genuine life, one should do his best with the hope of putting some good into the community. Let each live that he may join the invisible choir and that the good radiated by him may continue in the channel of other lives.

HEAVY BASEBALL SCHEDULE TO BE PLAYED NEXT WEEK

Games With U. T. Postponed Indefinitely. L. M. U. Here Friday and Saturday.

Because of the inclement weather of yesterday and today, the two baseball games with the University of Tennessee that were to have been played in Knoxville and Maryville on these two days have been indefinitely postponed. It was only after an incessant rain made the diamonds saturated that the games were put off. They will probably be played as far as is known now on April 23 and 24. However the Highlanders will have enough to keep them busy during this time. Friday and Saturday of this week the team from L. M. U. will appear here in two games, and beginning next Monday the team leaves for a week's trip in which they meet Tusculum, Milligan, and Emory and Henry with two games apiece. A schedule that calls for ten games out of eleven consecutive playing days will tax the capacity of M. C. to the limit but they should come out of the ordeal with the victories outweighing the defeats by a good majority.

SENIORS ENTERTAINED AT THE GLASCOCK HOME

Tuesday night the Seniors had a class party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. L. Glascock on West Main Street.

During the evening a shadow portrait was made of each person present and later all participated in the guessing contest "Who's Who and Why".

The artistic ability of several heretofore unknown genuises was discovered when an opportunity was given each person present to try his skill in producing an animal picture according to kindergarten methods—with a needle, and red, white and blue string upon a square of green card board. Mr. Glascock won first honors on his remarkable portraiture of an alligator and Miss McCampbell proved herself a second Rosa Bonheur by her marvelous picture of the modern animal, the Ford.

Late in the evening refreshments, consisting of a salad course and ice cream, were served, and the jolly party dispersed.

CHAPEL VISITORS

Last Wednesday morning, three visitors were present at the morning chapel service. These were Mr. C. A. Williams, State Student Secretary of the Y. M. C. A.; Dr. West, Field Representative of the War Loan Organization, and Dr. Wells, County Chairman of the Liberty Loan Committee.

Mr. Williams led in the devotional exercises, and Dr. West and Dr. Wells spoke in the interest of the cause they represent.

Dr. West spoke about the necessity of doing all that is possible to win the war, saying that "doing our bit" was not sufficient. He further emphasized the fact that valuable experience will come as a result of the war. He also prophesied national prohibition and national woman's suffrage at the close of this war.

Dr. Wells explained the organization connected with the disposal of the next Liberty Bond issue. He announced that a "Liberty Train" would be in Maryville on April 11, and urged everyone to visit it. He also explained the arrangements for the parade, which was held on Saturday.

Prof. H. L. Ellis went to Rogersville last Friday to act as a judge of the athletic and literary contests at the Hawkins County High School meet.

EMORY AND HENRY --MARYVILLE DEBATE

Glen A. Lloyd and Oscar Stanton to Uphold the Affirmative For Maryville on Home-Floor

The last of the intercollegiate debates will take place Friday night, April 12, in Voorhees Chapel between Emory and Henry and Maryville. The subject for debate is, "Resolved: That the Federal Government should own and control public utilities of national importance". The speakers for Maryville who uphold t' affirmative are Oscar Stanton and Glen Lloyd.

Emory and Henry College is noted for its orators and debaters. Last year in the debates with Maryville and and the University of Tennessee, both decisions were given to Emory and Henry.

The debate Friday night is expected to be hotly contested. Mr. Lloyd's calm and clear method of debating, coupled with Mr. Stanton's philosophic and deliberative style will certainly count well for a decision. While this is their first appearance in intercollegiate debate they are well known in the Law Club and Literary Societies. In their society debates and mock trials they have always shown thorough preparation in details as well as mastery of the principle points.

Immediately after the debate, a reception, to which every one is invited, will be held in the basement of the chapel.

Let everybody be out to hear the debate and help win back the laurels that Emory and Henry won last year.

EAST TENNESSEE COLLEGES ASSOCIATION

The Association of East Tennessee Colleges met at Milligan College on the evening of April 5. Representatives were present from nearly every college and university in the association.

A splendid dinner was served, after which Dean J. C. Barnes, president of the association, announced the topic for round table discussion: "Educational Problems and Reforms Demanded by the World War". Several very interesting and helpful speeches were made by various delegates.

Dean Barnes spoke of the need for adjustment of the financial situation in the colleges. It has become a difficult matter to hold teachers, especially the scientific men, when even foremen in factories receive more money than professors in a college.

The new officers of the association were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. George Hubbell of Lincoln Memorial University; vice-president, W. L. Gentry of Carson-Newman College; and secretary-treasurer, Dean B. A. Wise of Lincoln Memorial University.

MUSICAL SERVICE AT PRAYER MEETING

The regular Thursday evening Prayer Meeting service this week will be a musical service under the direction of Miss Staater. An oratorio, "The Holy City", by Gaul, will be given by Misses Knapp, Bassett, Heard and Jones, and Messrs. Dawson and Anderson of the Department of Music, assisted by Misses Maude Pardue and Jo Wicks of the Department of Expression.

This Prayer Meeting service promises to be one of the best of the year. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

THE ADELPHIC UNION

As is known by nearly everyone on the "hill", the Adelphic union is an organization of the four literary societies. Although its existence has not been made manifest for some little time the Adelphic Union still exists perhaps in a somewhat dormant state.

Up until last year it was customary to have a formal banquet, known as the Adelphic Union Banquet, during the last week of the school year. Last year on account of the early closing of school there was no banquet. Because there was no banquet then the Adelphic Union has been considered by some as a dead organization, and therefore no plans were made for a banquet this year.

Recently a meeting of the Adelphic Union was held, a new corps of officers elected, and the vote of the organization cast in favor of having a banquet this year, unless serious objection is made by the faculty.

Although as yet no action has been taken concerning the matter, opposition has begun to loom up, and it seems that it would not be at all feasible on account of existing conditions to have the banquet.

In order that the Adelphic Union might not cease to exist by sheer inactivity, we wish to offer a suggestion which in a way might take the place of the customary banquet and which in many respects would accomplish the purpose of the organization far better than the banquet has ever done.

We would suggest that a joint program, consisting perhaps of a debate, an oration, music, a reading, and a paper of local jokes, be prepared by the four literary societies and presented under the auspices of the Adelphic Union in the college chapel. Afterwards, an informal reception, at which light refreshments might be served, could be held in the basement of the chapel or in some more appropriate place. The slight expense could be met by charging a small admission fee of about ten cents or by assessing each of the four literary societies.

By having this joint program the literary societies would be drawn together more closely in friendship and mutual helpfulness and a quickened interest would be taken in the work of the different societies by their respective members.

This is merely a suggestion offered in the belief that it is worthy of consideration. If any student or member of the faculty wishes to comment on this suggestion publicly, space will be given him in the Echo columns in which to do so.

We wish to urge that there is little time for delay and that this matter should be taken up at once.

:--:--:--:

A large number of men should get in the ring and put up a "scrappy" fight for the positions of Editor--in-Chief and Business Manager of The Highland Echo for next year. Detailed announcement will probably be made at chapel some time this week or in the next issue of this paper. Meanwhile all aspirants for the two positions had better get busy.

--:--:--:--

Let's help the editor and manager put out that "record book".

M. C. MEN GRADUATE FROM OFFICERS' SCHOOL

Ben McCall, "Buncum" Kelly, and Raymond Smith, all three of whom are former students of the college, were graduated last week from the third officers' training school at Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Ga., and were given certificates to that effect. They will probably be commissioned as second lieutenants very soon. After spending a few days with home folks they will report at camp, from where they expect to leave immediately for France.

THETA EPSILON

The meeting of Theta Epsilon Literary Society Saturday evening, was short but very profitable. After a business meeting the program opened with a piano duet by the Misses Montgomery. A vocal solo by Miriam J. Bartlett followed.

Jennetta Jamison and Sue Nuckols gave most enjoyable readings.

Mabel Rice rendered a piano solo.

Thetas Awake! Arise! and just have the best attendance ever on next Saturday evening.

Y. W. C. A.

Those that were not at the Y. W. C. A. meeting last Sunday, missed a good service and a lot of inspiration. Miss Mamie Witherspoon led with the subject "Faithfulness in the Little Things Conditions Success in the Larger". Her scripture lesson was the parable of the Talents. She said that every normal person wants to accomplish something. But only by faithfulness in the small duties of now, can we at last be faithful and efficient in our life-work of later. Christ can choose only those who have proven faithful in the smaller tihngs of life to do His larger works.

The open part of the service was especially good. Many took part, giving live thoughts and helpful suggestions. Miss Carrie Sheddan sang "The Beautiful Land on High".

BAINONIAN

Bainonian Literary Society met in Bainonian Hall, Saturday evening at 6:45. After a short business session the meeting was given to the Seniors, who were in charge of the program for the evening. The program was very interesting and exceedingly well prepared and well rendered. Miss Mary Miles opened the program with a delightful piano solo. Then Miss Zeora Brocklehurst presented a paper on "Woman's Work in the War". Afterward, Miss Weems, of Polytechnic, very beautifully sang "O Little Pink Rose". In her usual charming manner Miss Genevieve Gibson read two poems. The second one on, "The Waterhouse" was very interesting and both of the poems were most creditably read. The applause following her numbers showed how deeply the audience enjoyed them. Miss Mattie Fisher then read a paper on, "The First Year of the War", in which the war-work of the past year was vividly reviewed. After the reports of the various officers the society adjourned by repeating the Mizpah benediction.

SPRING'S LESSON

Horace Odes I, 4.

Keen winter has changed to pleasing Spring,
While charming Favonius stirs the air,
And derricks will now the dry ships bring
Forth from the harbor's sheltering care.

No longer do flocks rejoice in stalls
Nor plowman into the fire to glance,
While graces and nymphs, with light footfalls,
And Venus, now revel in moonlight dance.

'Tis fitting to wreathe the shining hair
With myrtle or rose from lands now freed,
'Tis fitting, in shady forests fair,
To Faunus a lamb or a goat to lead.

And now with impartial foot does death
Still knock at the hut and citadel,
No longer are we, by life's short breath,
Allowed the hope always here to dwell.

In death's dreary night and shadowy line,
And comfortless home of Pluto's band,
Then you may not have the rule of wine,
As soon as you reach that woeful land.

Nor will you admire sweet Lyddas much,
Whose wonderful graces youths now tell
His beauty and mighty charm is such
That he shall be loved by maidens well.

—Mary Jane Hartman.

TULLOCH—WOOLLEY

Maryville friends have recently received announcements reading as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Woolley announce the marriage of their daughter Henrietta
to
Mr. Cecil C. Tulloch
Friday, March the fifteenth,
nineteen hundred and eighteen,
Flatbush, New York

Mr. Tulloch is the son of Mr. Sam Tulloch of Maryville. He was a student in Maryville College for a number of years. He is now in the electrical department of the navy, having been in that service about one year.

AS WE SPEAK

"I left my money at home", said the lady on the train to the conductor.

"You will have to trust me, I am one of the directors' wives".

"I am sorry madam", replied the conductor. "I can't do that, even if you were the director's only wife."

JUNIOR ALPHA SIGMA

On last Saturday evening the Junior Section of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society held an entertaining and enthusiastic meeting. All participants were present. Mr. Lippert, a member of the senior section rendered a cornet solo, which was appreciated very much. The Junior Alpha Sigmas hope to have Mr. Lippert with them again.

All the numbers were well delivered and showed some real preparation. In the business session the Janitor and Editor were installed, as they were absent when the rest of the official staff was sworn in. A Sergeant-at-Arms was elected to fill the vacancy which had occurred since the election.

Mr. Kiger, a member of the Athenian society, came in just before adjournment and made a short encouraging address.

The next program will consist of a mock trial. Every member is urged to be present, and those who wish to come have a cordial invitation.

NAMES ADDED TO HONOR ROLL

Since the publication of the Maryville College Honor Roll in the Feb. 26th issue of The Highland Echo, the names of twenty-eight more enlisted men have been turned into the college office. The Honor Roll now has on it the names of 299 alumni, undergraduates and teachers who have entered military service since the beginning of the war.

The names of the twenty-eight men are as follows:

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION

Prof. Gillingham gave the third talk of a series on the four-fold aspect of the ministry at the Ministerial Association last Tuesday evening. He spoke on the "Minister as a Teacher", and gave some very practical suggestions.

Next Monday evening the annual banquet of the Association will be held at the "House in the Woods". Every member is urged to notify the committee of arrangements of their ability to be present.

BLUE RIDGE CONFERENCE

Last week Mr. C. A. Williams, State Student Secretary of the Y. M. C. A. visited on the "hill" and spoke before the members of the Y. M. C. A. concerning the Blue Ridge Conference. Dr. W. D. Weatherford and Dr. John R. Mott will be at the conference this year. He urged that it would be of immence value to any young man to attend the conference, hear the great speakers who will be there, and associate with the represetnatives from Christian institutions all over the country. Mr. Williams said the members of the cabinet for next year, at least, should attend the Blue Ridge Conference.

Total estimated expense of the United States government in the first year of war, without loans to the allies, is $12,067,278,679.07.

PERSONALS

Mrs. Pardue of Sweetwater was the guest of her daughters last week.

Robert Bartlett has returned to his home in Michigan. He will probably be back in school next year.

Misses Aileen Russell and Alma Whittle spent the week-end in Knoxville.

Miss Clara Armentrout spent the week-end with her sister and attended her graduate recital.

"Sheeny" Briggs has gone home to help in the planting on his father's farm for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Barnes are visiting Mr. Barnes' parents, Dean and Mrs. J. C. Barnes.

The queer noise one hears frequently on the "hill" should not be alarming as it is simply the banging of hair.

Miss Jeannetta Jamison of Piqua, Ohio, who is a student here, was delighted by the visit of her mother and little sister last week.

Last week-end Miss Jessie Creswell attended the Y. W. C. A. convention at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn.

"Jew" Young, a student here last year, recently enlisted in the Depot Brigade, and is now stationed at Camp Upton, Long Island.

Alfred H. Webster was recently transferred to a special photo detachment in the aviation section. His company is now at Garden City, New York, awaiting orders to sail on short notice.

Friends of Stewart Maxwell, who was a student here in the years 1914-15, and 1916-17, will be pleased to learn that he has been awarded a scholarship in Yale and will enter there in September.

Last Saturday afternoon Mrs. Stevenson entertained at the "House in the Woods", Mrs. Jamison, Misses Eleanor and Jeanetta Jamison, Grace Ludman, Emily and Esther Montgomery and Miriam Bartlett.

"Schnitter" Ellis, a former student who enlisted in the navy last April, is visiting his parents in Maryville. Since his enlistment he has seen considerable service on the sea and has made rapid advancement. He is now on the "Santiago" and is rated as Third Class Quartermaster in the Signal Corps. He will leave after the expiration of a twelve day furlough.

ARMY BEANS

Tune: My Little Girl

Dear Army Beans, you know I love you,
For I eat you every day.
Dear Army Beans, I'm thinking of you
When I'm hiking miles away.
Mosquitoes bite down in the wildwood,
When I'm thinking most of you,
Dear Army Beans, I smell you cooking
And I'm coming back to you.

ROBUR ET AES TRIPLEX

Horace Odes I, 3, w 9-40.

His heart was all of oak and triple bronze,
Whose frail bark first did sail the savage sea.
Opposing winds might blow in headlong blasts,
And waves rise high in wrath;
What dread had he?

What form of Death's approach could make him fear,
Who gazed on swimming monsters of the deep,
With eyes unblenching; who beheld the rocks,—
The Thunder-heights, —and watched the waters leap?

Man rushes on to do what gods forbid.
In vain wise Jove has cut the lands apart.
With the estranging sea. Across the waves
In all impiety rafts ever dart.

By evil fraud fire was obtained for us,
Stol'n from above and given to our race.
And now new fevers brood upon the earth,
And Death, so slow before, quickens its pace.

Thru empty air, on wings not meant for man,
The ancient Daedalus essayed to fly;
And Hercules broke thru to Acheron,
Where only ghosts may go, and men who die.

For mortals nothing is too hard to try;
Our folly seeks for heaven itself.
We're dolts,
And by our many crimes do not permit
Great love to lay aside his thunderbolts.

Eva Ritchie.

A VAIN APPEAL

Judge Hilary K. Adair said in a temperance lecture in Duluth:

"I once tried to reform a drunkard by appealing to higher nature.

" 'The next time you're tempted to get drunk'. I said, 'think of your wife'.

"But he shook his head sadly.

" 'Judge', he declared, 'when the thirst seizes me I'm absolutely devoid of fear'."

Let us be like the bird for a moment perched
On a frail branch while he sings;
Though he feels it bend he continues his song,
For he knows that he has wings. —Victor Hugo.

HIGHLANDERS BREAK EVEN WITH L. M. U. TUSCULUM WALLOPED IN FIRST GAME

First Game A Shut-out In Favor of L. M. U., Score 4-0. Maryville Comes Back Strong Next Day, Winning 7-1. Tusculum Defeated by Overwhelming Score, 16-3.

On a wet field, Lincoln Memorial University shut out Maryville on the latter's grounds last Friday afternoon. The game developed into a pitcher's battle with Byrd of L. M. U. having much the best of it. He held M. C. down to one hit, a short hit by Lowry. In five innings M. C. went down in the 1, 2, 3 order. Only three times did the Highlanders reach second base and never threatened to score. Bailey did the big work for L. M. U., bringing in three runs and getting the only double of the game. Errors were numerous, M. C. being the chief offender. Errors by Bryson and Ruble proved costly. Two lightning double plays helped to redeem the game for the home team. A large crowd was present and witnessed the game.

The Second Game

After being shut out on the previous day, Maryville came back strong on Saturday and won over L. M. U. 7-1. The game was featured by the heavy hitting of the home team, every man except one getting a hit. In the pitcher's box LaRue was very effective, especially in the pinches. He allowed only two hits while he himself got three hits out of four times at the plate, besides accepting several chances in the field. Ruble made some dazzling stops at first and the whole team played good ball.

Wagner hit the first ball pitched in the first inning for a single but was left stranded by the next three men. In the second Cooper made a pretty single and Scruggs laid down a slow bunt along the first base line. Dawson flied out to Carroll. Drake made a "Texas Leaguer" to right field scoring Cooper. LaRue produced his first single with another successful bunt along the first base line. This brought home Scruggs and moved Drake to third. Wagner got to first on an error, filling the bases. Lowry got a long single that brought home Drake and LaRue. Bryson walked to first, again filling the bares, and Ruble sacrificed to bring in Wagner. Bryson interfered with Cooper's grounder between second and third for the last out.

No more scoring was done till the sixth when another batting rally in which hits were made by Wagner, and Lowry, scoring Drake and LaRue.

L. M. U. got a lone run in the sixth when Bailey lived on an error, was advanced by a base on balls, a foul and an error by Bryson. Two errors, and a balk by La Rue placed a man on third in the eighth, but with two down there was no chance to score. An average crowd was out and "pep" in the grand stand was conspicuous for its absence.

Tusculum Game

The first game of a long road trip resulted in an overwhelming victory for Maryville in a game with Tusculum on the latter's grounds. It was a batting feast as the twelve hits of Maryville indicates. The final score of 16-3 cannot fail to show the superiority of M. C. Tusculum made several errors, each one proving costly, and these coupled with a dozen hits was too much. Campbell knocked a home run over first base for the home team. LaRue for M. C. was the shining light. He got 4 singles to his credit, then by beating his record of three hits in Saturday's game. Smith pitched good ball throughout the game, although all of Tusculum's runs were earned.

The batteries were:

Smith and Bryson for Maryville.

Campbell and Miller for Tusculum.

Either LaRue or Scruggs will pitch today.

This is the first of six games all to be played this week on foreign diamonds. Today another game is scheduled at Tusculum and then the team travels to Milligan for two games on Wednesday and Thursday, and ends up the week at Emory and Henry on the last two days. This will be a hard trip on the players. They will not return till next week. A successful trip should result from the fine showing of this first game.

ANNOUNCEMENT CONCERNING ECHO STAFF COMPETITION

The committee of student and faculty representatives for the selection of the Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of The Highland Echo makes the following announcement:

The competition for the positions of Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of The Highland Echo for next year will be held on Tuesday evening, April 30th, immediately after supper in Dean Barnes' lecture room.

Candidates for either position may submit credentials of any kind concerning their ability or experience.

In addition, the would-be-editor will be expected to bring with him one editorial and one news write-up on subjects of his own selection.

It is hoped that much interest will be taken in this matter, and that a large number of students will enter the competition.

ORATORIO PRESENTED AT PRAYER MEETING

"The Holy City" Given Under Direction of Miss Staater. Record-breaking Attendance.

Before a record-breaking attendance, an oratorio, "The Holy City", by Gaul was given at Prayer Meeting last Thursday evening under the direction of Miss Staater. The service proved to be one of the best musical programs given this school year. It was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, all of whom were delightfully surprised at the treat that had been prepared for them. The oratorio was exceptionally well executed from the beginning to the end. Each participant, including the readers, deserves to be congratulated.

The oratorio was presented by Miss Margaret Bassett, soprano, Misses Mary Heard and Elizabeth Jones, mezzo sopranos, Miss Josephine Knapp, contralto, Mr. Roy Anderson, tenor, and Mr. Horace Dawson, bass. Miss Staater, the director, was assisted by readings by Misses Maude Pardue and Josephine Wicks.

The meeting was opened by Miss Pardue reciting the Scripture lesson as found in the twenty-first chapter of Revelation.

The greater part of the oratorio was given by the college quartet. Variation, which produced a very pleasing effect, was introduced by interpersing throughout the composition, solos by each of the members of the quartet, a trio consisting of the soprano, mezzo-soprano, and contralto voices, and a duet by the soprano and contralto voices. Another feature was a quartet consisting of the treble and contralto voices, assisted by the bass.

Miss Wicks gave a reading at the end of the first half of the oratorio. She read "The Mansion" by Van Dyke; the character of which harmonized well with the subject of the oratorio.

The Junior Class has voted to invest $100 in Liberty Bonds. The bond will be purchased from the Boy Scouts of the town who are participating in the national Boy Scouts competition to sell the greatest number of Liberty Loan Bonds.

MARYVILLE DEBATERS TRIUMPH OVER EMORY AND HENRY IN BATTLE ROYAL

Affirmative Upheld by Maryville's Team Consisting of Glen Lloyd and Oscar Stanton. Negative Supported by Blevins and Rudy For Emory and Henry.

The second and last intercollegiate debate was given last Friday evening at Voorhees chapel. The contest was between Maryville and Emory and Henry. The subject for discussion was: "Resolved, That the United States Government should own and control public utilities of national importance". The affirmative was upheld by Maryville's team consisting of Mr. Glen Lloyd and Mr. Oscar Stanton. The negative was taken by the visiting team consisting of Mr. L. C. Blevins and Mr. A. V. Rudy.

After the din of battle had died away and the nerves of the contestants were soothed by a delightful piano solo by Miss Marion Henry, the presiding officer, Col. T. N. Brown announced the decision of the judges as being unanimous for the affirmative. The judges were Messrs. L. H. Spilman and N. D. Barrows of Knoxville, and Prof. Adams Phillips of the Farragut School at Concord.

Before the debate began a pleasing musical selection for two pianos was played by Misses Mary Jane Hartman and Mary Emma Armentrout.

Mr. Lloyd opened the debate by explaining the question for discussion and defining public utilities. These he said are such industries as exist for public purposes, excluding industries whose products can be removed such as coal mines. Railroads, postal service, telegraph and telephones are considered as public utilities. The speaker said that the debate was important on account of its special appropriateness at the present time, and because of a growing conviciton of the American people that private ownership with its many evils is not the best system of operating public utilities. Mr. Lloyd upheld the affirmative by proving that it is correct in principle, and secondly, that the present evils of private ownership demand a change.

Mr. Belvins began the discussion for the negative. He defined public utilities as being private property devoted to public service, including coal mines, etc. The speaker contended that the affirmative of the question is wrong in principle. He substantiated his argument by showing that private corporations obtain the best possible skilled men; that the less amount of functions the government had the better it could execute them; and that government ownership would produce an unhealthful result on political and social conditions. Finally, he claimed that government ownership of public utilities is financially impossible.

The second speaker on the affrmative was Mr. Stanton, who displayed enthusiasm and skill in this his initial contest. He contended that the government should own the public utilities because it is practicable, and because it has been a success where tried. He upheld his arguments by showing that the government has proven its ability to handle these utilities; and that public ownership is a success in New Zealand, Switzerland, Canada, England and in Alaska. Mr. Stanton presented a plan for purchasing these utilities, which consisted of issuing two and a half percent bonds in exchange for shares held by present stock-holders, and by issuing greenback money covering the physical valuation of the utilities.

The last debater was Mr. Rudy who argued for the negative by claiming that the affirmative was wrong from the practical standpoint. He contended that the suggested plan gave no assurance of success; that personal initiative is necessary to progress; and that it would place too much power in the government, defeating the hope of an ideal democracy.

Y. W. C. A. RECEPTION THOROUGHLY ENJOYED

On last Saturday evening, Baldwin parlor was the scene of revelry and feasting. A reception was held in honor of the visiting Y. W. C. A. field secretary, Miss Iva Scherebeck. About seventy-five girls came with pillows, enthusiasm, and appetities. They played games such as "Scissors", and "Kitchen Contributions", which brought forth much laughter. Miss Mabel Hartung pleased us greatly with a reading in Italian dialect. After some music from the Victrola, Miss Sue Nuchols gave two readings which caused a lot of fun and brought long-continued applause from every one. One was a selection from "Mary Carey", and the encore was "Bill Said It" which was a long "fish story" of strange and wonderful adventures told by a little boy. Then, the sweet music of guitars, and banjos, every one got in line and with their "meal-tickets" secured refreshments of ice cream, crackers, and salted peanuts at a table in the doorway. All had a good time, and went home feeling satisfied and happy.

ANNUAL BANQUET OF MINISTERIAL ASSOC.

The Annual Banquet of the Ministerial Association was held last night at The House in The Woods. This was the first social "stunt" to be pulled off at the new home, and if any that follows outshines it in even the smallest particular it will certainly be a memorable occasion.

The culinary arrangements were of course, in the hands of Mrs. Stevenson, and the fare was served by a small corps of "hall nymphs" in the most exquisite style. Professor Gillingham presided as toastmaster and the following toasts were given and responded to with appropriate remarks: "The Fire Escape Club", "The Ladies", and "Our Host and Hostess". The response to the second toast was made in a very beautiful way by Miss Josephine Wicks.

The decorations were superb. The snow white linen and the dazzling display of silver alone formed a pretty picture; but when the rooms received a tasteful scattering of dogwood and were lighted by candles and half concealed electric bulbs the scene was charming.

Several readings were given, and the twenty couples brought a happy evening to a close to the strains of the "College Song".

TRIFT STAMP COMMITTEES

At a meeting of the Thrift Stamp Committees Wednesday Meade Johnson was elected president, and Sue Nuchols was elected Secretary.

Deck Williams, Phil Sheffy, Alfred Campbell, and Harold Smith are the class chairmen. The duties of a committeeman is to see that his room-mate, himself and his neighbors buy Thrift Satmps every week. Thrift Stamps may be bought at the College Postoffice.

Book Agent: "This book will do half your lessons".

Freshman: "Then give me two of them."

MOUNTAIN TRIP

At a recent meeting of the class presidents it was decided that instead of the customary spring term class parties there would be a mountain trip on the 29th of this month. The students will go in a body either on a train or by means of some other form of conveyance to some nearby point of interest, very probably Lookrock. To those who have gone on a mountain trip before nothing remains to be said; to others it might be said that this trip offers an opoprtunity of a life time. The scenery of the Chilhowees surpasses that of any other mountain or valley in this section of the country; and this alone, not to speak of the "moonshining", should be inducement enough to lead every student who can to take this trip. Some time this week the different classes will be called to meet in order that it might be ascertained how many will desire to take advantage of this opportunity. This is an opportunity, and it is expected that a large number will jump at the chance to accept it.

FIELD SECRETARY ADDRESSES Y. W. C. A.

The members of the Y. W. C. A. were given a special treat this week in the visit of Miss Iva Scherrebeck, the Y. W. C. A. Student Field Secretary. She led the meeting on Sunday with a "live-wire" talk on "The program of the Y. W. C. A. in these stirring war times". Among other things, Miss Scherrebeck said that there are the two great waves of unrest and materialism sweping over the student life of the country. Christianity alone will save the world and win the war, since all other methods have failed. The principles of Jesus Christ must be applied to nations and to individuals. The college girls have a great responsibility in improving conditions at home here in America, and thus saving the "Wreckage"—or those who otherwise must perish from unlawful and deplorable conditions.

Miss Scherrebeck's whole message was one of interest and helpful inspiration.

Miss Mary Heard sang "Jesus, Lover of My Soul", and Miss Genevieve Gibson gave a piano solo.

TIGER NINE DEFEATS WALLAND AGGREGATION

Yesterday afternoon the Tigers won a close game with the Walland team by a 2-1 score. It was a tight game throughout and each score came in a different inning. Pugh for the Tigers did excellent work on the mound. He struck out men regularly while the opposing pitcher was sadly different in this respect. In base running the Tigers fell down somewhat, but managed to put over enough to win. A fair crowd of moonshiners and others were present to witness the game.

You know that little box the girls put up for the purpose of collecting money for the little orphans of France and Belgium.

Yes, What about it?

Why, Prof. Bassett and Dean Barnes mailed their letters in it.

Y. M. C. A. SERVICE LED BY GLEN LLOYD

"The Value of True Conceptions" Theme of Interesting Discourse.

The leader of the Y. M. C. A. service Sunday afternoon, April 14th, was Glen A. Lloyd, who made a very interesting talk on "The Value of True Conceptions". The speaker told of a youth who once went to the top of the tower of Cologne and saw the true beauty of the surrounding country. For the first time he formed his true conception of the country he knew so well. This suggested to him that perhaps his conceptions of life were as imperfect as his conceptions of the country had been, and he determined to view life from a higher plane of thought; he entered the ministry and is today one of America's greatest Y. M. C. A. secretaries.

This leads to the question: What are our conceptions of Christianity, and what is the true conception? Some see in it a perfect harmony, concord and charm, and to them Christianity is a song. Another sees in it smoothness, rhythm, and inspiration and to him Christianity is a poem. There are others who are attracted by the symmetry the blending and the completeness of Christianity, and to him it is a picture. Another thinks of the Christian Religion as something far off, illusory, even though perfect and desirable, and to him it is a dream. Another balances his religion with evolution, with Pantheism, Materialism, and Agnosticism in trying to account for the origion of the world and to him it is a philosophy. Still there is another who thinks of Christianity as something to be believed, to be loved, and to be lived, and to him it is a religion.

Can it be that the war has driven the world to such a spiritual height that it must choose again from these conceptions? If so it is the duty of the Y. M. C. A., the greatest non-denominational organization in existence to see that the world accepts Christianity as a religion.

LOVELINESS OF CHARACTER EMPHASIZED

The text of Dr. Stevenson's sermon at Vesper Service was found in Genesis 6:22, "Thus did Noah; according to all that God commanded him, so did he".

The College Pastor began by drawing attention to the fact that some days begin gloriously but have a dismal ending. So it was with the dawn of humanity. The chief cause that led to the deterioration of the human race was the intimacy between the children of God and the children of Canaan—the religious with the ungodly. The experiment of Christians marrying non-Christians is very dangerous. Some do not realize the importance of this until after the step is taken. The sons of Seth gave greater weight to physical worth than the moral worth. Most of people underestimate the loveliness of character.

Dr. Stevenson continued his valuable advice to the young prospectives before him by advising the boys to take particular notice of the young lady's mother because the mother is generally what the daughter will be in later life.

The Ark of the Gospel is still enticed by those of the world who believe that there are other arks built along more scientific lines. Some think there are other ways to escape than through Christ. Man-made boats may be alright when the occupants are near the shore, but when a person is taking the long journey he needs the boat that God provides. Just as a rapid storm approaches so will be the Judgment Day. Although the movement of the hour hand cannot be seen, yet it reaches the figure. The Judgment Day is coming gradually but it cannot be seen. Finally, two questions should be answered by the individual. Have I a place of refuge? When the roll is called up yonder will I be there?

THE ARMY OF DEMOCRACY IN THE MAKING

Excerpts From Letter Written for Publication in The Echo And Passed by Army News Censor From Arthur F. Southwick, Former Associate Professor of Public Speaking and History In Maryville College.

In general features, construction, layout, program of training, forms of amusement for the leisure hours of the soldiers, quarters, and mess, and the like, I presume all of the great army camps are about alike and nothing new can be said. However, each has its own special features of interest to the outsider.

Camp Sherman lies three miles out from the historic city of Chillicothe, Ohio's first capital city. Directly east of us is a long range of hills which in outline remind me very much of the Chilhowees.

The 83rd Division Headquarters is of similar historic interest. It is an old brick structure, used in the War of 1812 as a prison for British soldiers and in the Civil and Spanish-American Wars as a mobilization point.

With its 500 buildings of all kinds, barracks, stores, and amusement houses, etc. the Camp has a maximum capacity of about 40,000 soldiers.

The Camp comprises four groups of organizations; the 83rd Division, approximately 16,000 at present, the 158th Depot Brigade 2,000, attached organizations as the Camp Quartermaster Detachment with a personnel of 1,000, Base Hospital of 500, 2,700 colored troops in three organizations. The new system of enlisting recruits provides for a period of preliminary training in the Training Battalions (Depot Brigade) from which they will be transferred to other organizations as they are needed. These figures are enough to indicate the problems of organization and construction of one of these military camps.

The personnel reports of the Camp would offer many problems of interest to students of Sociology. Because of the varied section from which it draws its supply it contains men of all nationalities, occupations and conditions of life. The banker and the business man, the lawyer and the teacher, the miner and the railroader, the farmer and the stockman, the tailor and the cobbler, the fruit-vender and the organ-grinder, the vaudeville actor and the steeple-jack, hardly an occupation of man which is not represented.

As the recruit is enlisted a qualification record is made out which is so tabbed at the Personnel Office as to tell at a glance what the nature of his occupation is, whether he is skilled or semi-skilled in it, and what the other occupations at which he has worked are. For war purposs these various occupations fall into four groups; 1st, the highly specialized as chemists, wireless operators, camouflage artists, physicians, surgeons, and dentist; 2nd. men well qualified in the practical war auxillary occupations as engineers, mechanics, truck drivers, textile experts, tailors, blacksmiths, stenographers, accountants, etc.; 3d. professional men as lawyers and teachers, bankers, business managers, salesmen, farmers, machinists, and students; 4th, those with no occupation.

To place every man in such position to bring about maximum efficiency of the whole is the theory, but obviously the ideal is impossible of complete realization. The demand for men of the first group is so great that their stay in the ranks is only for such period as is necessary to complete the transfer, in some cases two weeks, in others two months. That men of this class should enlist instead of waiting for their call is not only to their own interests, but their patriotic duty as well, since their transfer is almost inevitable and their enlistment a saving of time both to themselves and to the Service. In the second group the law of supply and demand is operative with certain arbitrary limitations, as the possible disapproval of transfer by the man's Company Commander and the tendency of avoiding transfer if the resulting disarrangement involved in the transfer outweighs the good to the Service. In the last two groups the law of competition rather than of supply and demand rules, of course with some arbitrary limitations. It falls upon every man to prove as best he can his ability over that of the fellow next to him.

The Army is doing more than we realize in Americanizing the foreigner. Enemy aleins, so far about 2,000, are interned or discharged. Classes in English Instruction are conducted through the efforts of the Y. M. C. A. which are doing a great deal toward making the foreigner feel more at home among his English-speaking fellows, but the constant association with Americans is doing more to Americanize him than any schools of formal instruction can ever hope to do.

The principle of selective service will be justified many times before the war is over. For America to have attempted to play her full part by means of the old volunteer system would have been the greatest tragedy of her history. An army requires men of all occupations and of all types. The Army of Democracy has them and with proper coordination of all the different elements of human nature and ability thus represented the success of this Army is insured.

FOOD CONSERVATION
TALK BY MISS BROWN

Wednesday afternoon in Baldwin Parlor, under the direction of the Y. W. C. A., Miss Olivia Brown gave the first of a series of talks on food conservation.

Briefly, but clearly, Miss Brown enumerated some of the many problems before the United States Government, and the obvious work of the men and boys.

Among the most important problems was mentioned that of food conservation—the task of the women and children. Now is the time to plan the raising and conserving of all food-stuffs. The best work demands cooperation and steady toil, and women's meetings and clubs should be encouraged since it is through organizations of this kind that different ideas are exchanged. Here is where the plans may be laid for the children's share in the work, and the suggestion was the raising of poultry, planting gardens or canning fruits.

Miss Brown stated that people should be prevailed upon to make use of the home products, for instance, honey, although it is quite expensive would save so much sugar for the allies.

Next week, Miss Ryland will demonstrate some of the ways in which food may be conserved.

ATHENIAN

In spite of many outside attractions the college section of the Athenian had a very good meeting Saturday evening. A debate on the budget system of appropriations, by C. E. Domiano on the affirmative and Harold Smith on the negative was very interesting and instructive. The vote of the judges was two to one in favor of the negative although a majority of the audience believed with the affirmative that the budget system should be adopted.

Floyd Watt contributed to the program some interesting "past events" in the outside world and on the "hill". Following this, Herbert Kiger discussed "future events", giving an encouraging account of the Athenian society in the future.

This week's program includes an "Athenian", a humorous debate, and another debate on a question as to whether free trade would assure world peace.

For next week an interesting war program is being prepared, with some topics on which all should be informed. Keep an eye on the indicator—the bulletin board.

THE WORLD PASSING THRU A POISON BELT

Mr. H. L. Spilman, an attorney and a member of the board of education of Knoxville, conducted the devotional exercises and made a short address at chapel Saturday morning, April 13th. By way of illustration he told the story of "The Poison Belt" by Conan Doyle. He said that the world today is passing through a poison belt in which there is a suspension of moral life. What is needed is plenty of moral ozone to restore things to their natural order. Mr. Spilman said that the time has come to educate the hand, the head and the heart.

ALPHA SIGMA

The senior section of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society met last Saturday evening and carried out a short but interesting program. A very pleasing piano solo, Thome's "Simple Aveu", was rendered by Robert Adams. Appreciation was expressed by an encore. The question, "Resolved, That the United States was justified in seizing the Dutch Ships", was debated by George Callahan on the affirmative and Lamar Wilson on the negative. Both debaters upheld their respective sides of the question with convincing arguments. The decision of the judges was in favor of the negative.

A good program has been prepared for next meeting and it is hoped that there will be a large attendance.

FRESHMAN CLASS

The Freshman Class met the past week to elect a president to fill the vacancy caused by the departure of Percy Buchanan. Harry Wagner was elected by the class to fill the office of president.

That Mr. Wagner is considered well qualified to carry out the duties of that office was shown by the large majority by which the class elected him.

1898.

The April number of "Association Men", which is in the college library, contains a very interesting article, entitled "A Minister in France", by Rev. Carl H. Elmore, of the class of 1898. It will be remembered that a letter from Mr. Elmore was published in the March 12th issue of The Echo.

1905.

Mrs. Lois Alexander Ritzman, of New Hampshire, is making an extended visit with her mother, Mrs. E. E. Alexander, '75, and other relatives in Maryville. Mr. Ritzman is in the services of the government doing extension work for the Agricultural Department of the College of New Hampshire.

1908.

Rev. Theron Alexander and wife with their two children recently visited with Mr. Alexander's mother in Maryville. Mr. Alexander had just resigned his pastorate in Maywood, Illinois, to accept a call to the church at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., and stopped for a visit in Maryville on his way to his new location. The best wishes of Maryville friends go with Mr. Alexander and his family to their new field of labor.

1915.

Mr. Lester Bond spent a few days in Maryville last week. He is at present in the Y. M. C. A. war work at the cantonment at Hattiesburg, Mississippi. Mrs. Bond (formerly Miss Kate Hill) has been making an extended visit with her parents in Maryville.

1915.

Mr. Mark H. Barnes and wife have returned to Maryville and are making their home with Dr. Barnes. Mr. Barnes has accepted a position as Manager of the Chemical Laboratory with the Aluminum Co. of America.

1917.

The many friends of Miss Alice Wright, who has been teaching English in the High School at De Soto, Missouri, the past year will be interested to hear that she has been re-elected for the ensuing school year at a twenty-five per cent increase in salary.

PERSONALS

Miss Margaret Graham is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. H. Proffitt.

Charles Edgemon spent Sunday and Monday in Knoxville visiting friends.

Mrs. Wessler of Kentucky was the guest of Miss Jackson and Miss Caldwell last week.

Emily Ewing has been called home on account of the serious illness of her mother.

Friends are glad to see F. S. McLoughlin back in his accustomed place after his recent illness.

Among those who are ill, are Misses Esther Montgomery, Iva Anderson, Stacy Brown and Minnie Griffith.

Misses Ruth and Sara Clayton are entertaining their brother, Donald Barr Clayton, who is from the camp at Spartanburg, South Carolina.

Vicnent Hamilton went home last Saturday for a few days to see his brother, Ralph Hamilton, a former student who is well known on the "hill" and who is now in the aviation corps.

Dr. Stevenson and Prof. Gillingham attended presbytery at Shannondale church, Knox County, Tenn., last Wednesday. Miss Nellie McCampbell was there also, at her home, helping to entertain the delegates.

Last Tuesday morning Pres. S. T. Wilson left for an extended trip in the north east. After spending the week-end at Stanton, Va., looking up the family records of Dr. Isaac Anderson, the first president of the college, Pres. Wilson went to New York.

At a meeting of the advisory committee of the Y. M. C. A., a self-perpetuating committee, George Calahan was elected to membership for the ensuing year to succeed Roy Anderson as one of the student representatives.

Jack Wells, a former student of the college, visited his sister on the "hill" the first of the week. He is in the hospital corps of the Navy and has been in training at Philadelphia.

Ernest K. James in the aviation section at San Antonio, Texas has received orders to report to the Military School of Aeronautics at Austin on April 20. Recently he passed his examination for the Officers' Reserve Corps and this will be the first school to which he will be sent.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

The motto, quality rather than quantity, which the Athenian, Jr., has been making special efforts this term to fulfill was noticeably adhered to in the program of Saturday evening. An instructive paper summing up topics of current interest was read by Henderson. Then followed a debate "Resolved, That Japan should be allowed to participate more extensively in the present war", by Frank Minerick on the affirmative and Wm. Dillinger on the negative. Both debaters were well prepared and they presented their argument in such a convincing manner that it was difficult for the judges to render their decision, which was finally made two to one in favor of the affirmative. Both speakers were especially strong in their rebuttals.

After the debate a motion was made and carried to have a joint meeting with the Alpha Sigma, Jr. on next Saturday evening. Committees from the two societies are preparing a program which will consist of a mock trial and probably two minor numbers. This meeting promises to be one of the most interesting of the year and should draw a large crowd.

GRADUATES PRESENT SPLENDID PROGRAM

Misses Rice, Miles and Lewis Appear in Recital. Very Appreciative Audience.

The third of the series of graduate recitals occurred Monday night when Miss Mabel Rice and Miss Mary Miles of the Piano Department and Miss Helen Lewis of the Expression Department gave their joint recital.

That both the students of the college and people of Maryville appreciate the splendid programs which these departments are presenting is attested by the large audiences which are attending, the house on Monday night being well filled with a most enthusiastic audience.

Miss Rice plays with a charm which captivates. In her Liszt Liebestraume she gave an evidence of high musicianship.

Her Valse by Chopin and the Staccato Caprice by Vogrich showed a daintiness and delicacy required in the execution of these numbers.

The Sonata by Beethoven was her crowning number and she skillfully interpreted this difficult composer.

Miss Miles was indeed a delightful surprise to her audience, being heard for the first time in Recital. The Chopin Preludes showed a sympathetic touch which brought out in a resonant singing tone the beauty of these numbers.

The more brillant Etude by Reinhold gave an opportunity to display a smooth and well balanced technic.

The two piano number in which Miss Miles was assisted on the secand piano by her sister, Miss Emma Miles, was a truly artistic interpretation of the delightful Au Matin by Chaminade, the first and second pianos blending in perfect unity.

Miss Helen Lewis gave as her share of the program a well chosen piece by Trask, "The Invisible Balance Sheet'. She held her audience to a fine appreciation of this interesting story and displayed a fine skill in all its parts.

Miss Lewis showed a very fine understanding and correct conception of the characters. Perhaps one of the greatest charms in presentation of her number was the naturalness of her interpretations; nothing was overdone, each character appearing in the most naturnl interpretation of its part.

Miss Lewis gave us a real treat in the delightful handling of her number.

We shall look forward with interest to the next of this series of recitals.

COACH BROWN RESIGNS HIS SUCCESSOR CHOSEN

"Coach" Edgar O. Brown, Director of Athletics, has tendered his resignation to the college and it has been accepted. He left this morning for a visit with his father who is a farmer near Etowah, Tenn. Under the direction of Coach Brown very creditable football, basketball and baseball teams have been put out and excellent records made despite the fact that very few varsity men of last year's teams had returned to school. The best wishes of the students go with Coach Brown.

The college has been very fortunate in securing the services of "Hookie" Everett as coach of baseball for the remainder of the year. Mr. Everett coached baseball here last year and also several years before. He has put out a number of winning teams and has the confidence and support of the entire student body and faculty. Mr. Everett will assume the duties of coach immediately.

TRIP TO MT. NEBO

It has been decided that the mountain trip on next Monday, April 29th, will be to Mt. Nebo, going on the eight o'clock train to Melrose. The round trip fare will be approximately fifty cents.

The students, if they desire, may go in class groups under the same regulations as class parties. Each class group is to provide its own picnic dinner. It is expected that a large crowd will go on the trip and preparations are being made for a big time.

FRESHMEN CONDUCT IMPRESSIVE SERVICE

Misses Lippert and Montgomery and Messrs. Smith and Weisbecker were Speakers.

The prayer meeting of last week was led by the Freshman Class. The subject was "Ambition", based on the first part of the second chapter of Second Timothy.

The first speaker, Mr. Harold Smith spoke on "Ambition to please God". He drew attention to the many blessings students receive, some of which are the result of sacrifice on the part of their parents. Students should have an ambition to please those who are the source of blessings, especially God who gave His only Son as a sacrifice in order to provide salvation to His children.

Miss Nellie Lippert spoke on "Ambition to Serve our Fellowmen". She stated that everyone is ambitious for something but those who would serve must have an ambition to exert an influence for good. This was nicely illustrated by a story of the fairy queen who gave the crown to a little fairy whose labors seemed to be insignificant, but represented high motives and a sacrifice. Those who have the qualities of leadership, have a special responsibility to serve others. To serve, one must have high ideals and stick to them.

The next speaker was Miss Emily Montgomery, who spoke on "Ambition to Make the Most and the Best of our Individual Capacities". A person realizes how unappreciative he is only when he examines himself in relation to his gifts as bestowed by God and man. In order to make the most of what God has given a person, it is necessary for him to keep his heart pure and his eyes clear. She cautioned against making the mistake of striving for something that is against God's will, and also of allowing outside influences to take away the ambition to use the forces stored up in a person.

The last speaker, Mr. Homer Weisbecker, spoke on "Ambition to Make the Most and Best of our Individual Opportunities". He said that students should not be content with their capacities but must strive to develop their lives. He mentioned four special opportunities that are offered to students at Maryville College. First, is the opportunity to study, or to grow mentally. Then there is the opportunity to grow physically by means of the gymnasium, athletics and God's great out-of-doors. Thirdly, the development of patriotism is encouraged by staying in school and preparing for future service and by the opportunity to have a share in buying Thrift Stamps, etc. Lastly, there is an opportunity for spiritual growth by prayer and personal work.

Special music was provided by Mr. Eckles West, who sang "Thy Will Be Done"; by a selection sung by the class, "Forward Be Our Watchword"; and by a piano solo by Miss Laura Putman.

CO-EDS ENTERTAINED AT HOUSE IN WOODS

Special Programs Presented by Bainonians and Thetas. Big Eats and Lots of Fun.

Last Saturday night Mrs. Stevenson entertained the Bainonian and Theta Epsilon Literary Societies.

In spite of the steady down pour of rain a long procession of girls filed out to "The House in the Woods". Once there, mud and rain were forgotten.

At the request of Mrs. Stevenson each society had prepared a special program. The Thetas presented program first. Miss Elizabeth Jones beginning the program with a vocal solo, "The Lullaby 1915". This song especially suited to Miss Jones' voice, was charmingly rendered. "The Americanizing of Andre' Francois" was well read by Miss Mabel Hartung. A parody on "Hamlet" was next presented under the direction of Miss Carmen Park. This play, full of wit and humor, was thoroughly enjoyed.

The first number which the Bainonians gave was a vocal solo by Miss Winston Newton, "A Spirit Flower". This was peculiarly adapted to the quality of Miss Newton's voice. Miss Gibson, appearing in Chinese costume, read "Togo Sees it Through". Her impersonation of the Chinaman was good indeed. The pantomine "Lochinvar", was next presented, Miss Maude Pardue reading the poem.

The wedding dance, the daring flight of the bride and Lochinvar, the hot pursuit made the poem seem very real. The audience shook with laughter as couple after couple passed on broomstick steeds.

While the girls chatted in congenial groups Mrs. Stevenson, assisted by several of the girls and by Mrs. Ellis, served cookies and lemonade. Misses Evelyn Asbury and Marion Henry played popular songs while the refreshments were being passed.

All too soon came Miss Molly's announcement that it was time to go home. Before leaving, yells were given for Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, and the joyful procession started on their way home, with spirits undampened by the rain.

ALLIED FORCES GIVE UNEXPECTED TREAT

Last Friday morning at chapel the allied forces of the orchestra and the music and expression departments gave the students an unexpected treat.

After the "Prayer for Maryville's Soldier and Sailor Boys" was sung and the devotional exercises were conducted, the following program was rendered.

First the orchestra played the "Minuet" by Padereuski. Next Eckles West gave a reading, "The Story of Old Glory", accompanied by Miss Genevieve Gibson. "Polanaise" was next played on two pianos by Misses Marguerite Sullinger, Adah Howard, Edith Caldwell and Marion Henry. Miss Gibson then sang the "Birthday", by Woodman. Following this, a reading, "Son", by Robert W. Service was given by Miss Doris Wilson. The program was concluded by the orchestra playing "Old Homestead Medley".

Appreciation was shown by enthusiastic and prolonged applause after each number. Other such programs at the chapel service will be welcomed.

Denzil Moulton and Ralph W. Ogan have recovered from their recent illness and are now back at their studies trying to make up for lost time.

CRIPPLED TEAM WINS CLOSE SNAPPY GAME

Tusculum Victim on M. C. Grounds. Score Nearly Tied In Ninth Inning 3-2.

Monday afternoon the baseball team met Tusculum on M. C.'s grounds and won an exciting game 3-2. All the scores came in a bunch by both teams. Until the fifth no runs were made, but in this Maryville made four hits into three tallies, enough to win. Bryson singled, went to second on a passed ball and scored on King's hit. La Rue then brought in King by a beautiful bunt. He was caught off third but Lowry singled, stole second and third, and scored on an error by the pitcher. In the 9th the visitors made things interesting and it looked for a time as though they might win. Cardwell got on base on an error and tallied on Benson's double. A sacrifice by Campbell placed the latter on third. Smith grounded to Lowry who threw wild somewhere between home and first and Benson came in. King made another error and things looked dark. LaRue pulled out of a tight hole by striking out the next man and forcing the last to ground out to King. LaRue pitched a fine game retiring the batters in order much of the time. He held Tusculum to 4 hits and these were scattered. In only one inning did more than four men face him. Lowry accepted many hard chances and fielded his position well except for one error. Ruble led in batting. The captain was away on a quartet engagement and Wagner was out of the game on account of injuries. The team was in rotten shape for a game, with several other men on the sick list. It should be given credit for winning a good fast game. A good crowd was present and showed more pep and enthusiasm than has been evident in the grandstands this whole season. Keep it up.

ANNUAL AD. MONEY

At the beginning of the present school year the Junior Class, expecting to publish the Chilhowean, solicited advertisements and placed them in the bulletin boards at the entrance of the chapel. The Juniors afterwards decided that it would be unpatriotic and impracticable for them to put out the annual but, notwithstanding, went ahead and collected from the advertisers and appropriated the money to their class coffer. Accordingly, the Class has been enabled to invest $100 in Liberty Bonds, as was reported in last week's Echo.

Besides soliciting the advertisements and putting them up, the Junior Class has done nothing whatsoever to entitle it to this money. Any other organization or any other persons would have equally as much right to do the same thing.

Furthermore, the business men who gave the Class these advertisements did so thinking that they were helping to put out a college publication that would itself be an advertisement to the town, to themselves and to the college. It is not fair to these loyal supporters of Maryville College activities for the Juniors to appropriate this money in any such manner.

In order that the money from these advertisements be spent, so far as is possible, in the manner in which it was originally intended we suggest that it be used in payment for the publication of the "record book", or else that it be refunded in good faith to the advertisers.

These two are the only honorable courses of procedure open to the Junior Class. However, since the advertisers have had their "ads" in the bulletin boards all year and since the record book is representative of the entire student body there seems to be no reason why this money should not be used in payment for its publication. The size of the record book is fixed and cannot be increased and the price per copy was fixed at forty cents, but if the Chilhowean advertisement money be used in this manner the price per copy to the students could be reduced. By following this course of procedure the loss of the Chilhowean to the student body could be compensated for in a measure by the Junior Class, and there would be no ground for dissatisfaction on the part of the advertisers.

Doubtless, the Juniors have not thought of using the Chilhowean money in this manner. Certainly they are not entitled to keep it for themselves. As yet their obligation to put out a publication remains unfulfilled and the advertisers are expecting the money to be used in such a manner. To us, this seems the best solution of a knotty problem.

POURQUOI ? ? ?

As we begin to hunt and peck this editorial we wonder what's the use. Question after question lines up in array before us. Will this editorial be read? Does anyone besides the faculty censor read our editorials? On, and on, and on! Even our mind seems to warp into the form of an interrogation point! We wonder why we should write editorials. All this tremendous expenditure of energy! This terrible inner searching of our mental processes! This nerve racking editorial writing! Yes, all of it for one paragraph not longer than two hundred words!

We have an inkling of an idea that our editorials are read by some few at least; and this is the reason we spend more time in preparing them than we do on other articles. All editors are alike in this respect, whether they put out a one sheet monthly or a twenty-four page daily or even a cosmopolitan magazine, they all put in the time on the editorial page. And here's the tip to ponder. You will always find the cream of the news on the editorial page. Did you ever consider how few people read the editorial pages of any paper? And also, did you ever consider who those few are? Take this for what it is worth. You will make no mistake in lining yourself up with that bunch and, in doing so, you will get the best of all the newspaper dope that's going.

BUY THRIFT STAMPS

Congress has appropriated nearly $20,000,000,000 for the year ending in June 1918. This tremendous amount is absolutely necessary for the maintenance of the Army, the Navy, the building of a great merchant marine, the construction of Aircraft, the expenses of other governmental departments, and loans to other nations fighting at our side.

The Government is now using the following means to meet this expenditure, namely:

Taxation.
Sale of Liberty Bonds.
Sale of War Saving Certificates and Stamps.
Sale of United States Certificates of Indebtedness.

The amount to be raised by Thrift Stamps amounts to about one-tenth of the money appropriated for the year.

This offer of War Saving Stamps is a democratic offer of the securities of the richest nation in the world and presents an opportunity for every man, woman and child to help according to his ability to save. There are no neutrals in America. You are either for Democracy or for the Kaiser. Every dollar spent needlessly or thoughtlessly prevents just so much labor or material or food from being used for the nation's immediate necessities. Money buys non-essentials, but non-essentials require services and material to produce them. Saving, through the purchase of Thrift Stamps, will give more than money to the nation. It will give it the ability to secure the services, the materials and the food that are thus released for the support of our armies in the field and our navies at sea. Are you doing anything to help the Kasier?

Pres. Thrift Stamp Committees.

CHAFING DISH PARTY ENJOYED BY SENIORS

The Seniors had a Chafing Dish Party last Wednesday night at the home of Dr. Wilson. Red devil, saltines, and pickles were served with coffee and cocoa. Although no dispariging words might be said about the culinary skill of any of the members of the class, nevertheless each group finished its special work on time.

During the wohle no such thing as senior dignity was evident for the entire class dropped years enough to be able to enjoy kid games.

The conclusion was not all together happy for Happy Lloyd for he could not appear in daylight until he had made a visit to the tailor.

JUNIOR SECTIONS HOLD MOCK TRIAL

The junior sections of the Alpha Sigma and Athenian literary societies met in joint session last Saturday evening and held a mock trial. The senior sections of both societies dispensed with their usual meetings and were present at the trial. The case before the court was "The State of Disorder vs. E. E. Coleman", and the charge, "wilfully misplacing on the afternoon of April 14th a cooked chicken from the home of one Sam Franklin". The court was called to order by "Judge" Huffaker. The attorneys were Norman Black and Frank Minerick for the state and Wm. Dellinger and H. Fowler for the defendant. For a time the case looked dark for the defendant but before it was concluded he was able to prove an alibi. After speeches by the four attorneys the case was turned over to the jury who rendered a verdict of not guilty. Much humor was indulged in by the participants and the audience was held in rapt attention during the greater part of the evening.

GROWTH DISCUSSED BY PROF. DAVIS AT Y. M. C. A.

A very practical and helpful talk on "Growth" was made by Prof. E. W. Davis before the members of the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday afternoon. Prof. Davis said that growth is spontaneous and mysterious, and that it is dependent upon inherent nature and environment. One can modify his growth by his choice of and reaction to environment. Some of the goals of growth are correctness and precision in the use of the mother tongue, refined and gentle manners, power and habit of reflection, and ability and efficiency to act. Prof. Davis offered several suggestions in regard to the choice of one's course of study and the formation of desirable habits. He concluded with a quotation from Lincoln: "I don't think much of a man who is not wiser today than he was yesterday".

Y. W. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. W. C. A. last Sunday was in charge of the Freshmen girls. Their subject was "Giving". The scripture was read by four girls, who each gave a passage on a phase of "Giving". Misses Emily and Esther Montgomery then sang a beautiful duet, "The Lost Chord". Miss Laura Putman spoke to the point on the "Giving of Time", and gave some splendid ideas. Miss Sue Nuckols spoke on "Joy Giving", and Miss Hazel Cleveland, on "Self Giving". Both talks were helpful. Miss Maude Hite played a piano selection and the meeting was closed with a circle of sentence prayers. Altogether it was a worth while meeting for every one present.

E. E. LOFT PREACHES AT PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

The pulpit of the Presbyterian church was filled on Sunday morning, April 21st, by "Tommy" Loft, a ministerial student of the college. The theme of the sermon was "A Tempest From Which We Seek a Refuge". Mr. Loft pointed out that some of the tempests are conscience, the capacity and power of sin, and a personal devil. One of the best places of refuge from such tempests is the family altar. The sermon was full of appropriate illustrations which made it interesting and impressive.

PRE-MEDICAL CLUB

The second of a series of lectures before the members of the Pre-Medical Club will be given on Friday evening, April 26th, by Dr. Edwin Ellis on "The Prevention of Discase". This is a very practical and timely subject and one that should be of vital interest to every fellow on the "hill". The meeting will perhaps be held in the basement of the chapel. A large crowd is urged to be present.

The signal corps has sent thousands of trained pigeons to France.

HIGHLANDERS MAKE EXCELLENT RECORD ON LONG EVENTFUL FIVE GAME TRIP

Team Defeats Tusculum in Two Games by Large Scores. Milligan Tied and Defeated, M. C. Loses to Emory and Henry in Great Pitchers' Battle. Team Bats 301 on Trip. Injuries, Accidents and Sickness Prevalent During Week.

The baseball team has returned home from one of the most successful trips taken by a team in several years. Starting out on Monday of last week and returning Saturday, the Highlanders played five straight games, of which three were won, one tied and one lost. The team as a whole played good ball, but accidents and sickness contributed largely to the tie and defeat. The team did not leave in any extra shape as several had the grippe. During the trip Wagner and Bryson were damaged, LaRue hurt his hand, Cooper had the freelandis presillis and an arm hit by a pitched ball, Lowry's ankle was again sprained and the captain, Dawson, was called away to another engagement. So busted up was the crowd that the last game of the week, a second one with Emory and Henry was cancelled.

The first game with Tusculum on Monday was a one-sided victory for M. C. It was a complete walkaway, 16-31. Ten of the visitors' runs were earned and only one of their opponents. Errors were frequent on both sides, but Tusculum's proved to be the more costly. Gilman struck out many more men than Smith, but he yieded over twice as many hits. Dawson and LaRue with three hits apiece led in batting honors, with Smith not far behind. Ruble got a double and Campbell a triple. Each team had over ten men left on bases. It was a batting contest right and proper. Stolen bases and sacrifice hits were a specialty.

First game

Maryville: 3 1 4 0 1 2 0 2 3	R	H	E
	16	13	3
Tusculum: 0 1 2 0 0 0 0 0 0	3	6	4

Batteries: M. C.—Smith and Bryson; Tusculum—Gilmer and Campbell.

Coach at last came out of his shell and moonshined from morning till eve and then some. He discovered his 'long lost cousin'. So full of gladness and joy was he that he permeated the whole team with the aforesaid quality, and the team was returned a victor on Tuesday in an exciting game, 7-2. Tusculum scored both runs by bunching hits. They got one in the first inning and maintained a lead of 1-0 up until the 7th when the score was tied. In the 8th Ruble got on base and Wagner knocked a home run, the only one of the trip. Lowry and Bryson singled and Cooper brought both in. In the last inning two more were added for good measure. Lowry was the leading star with the stick, having a double and two singles to his credit, followed by Wagner and Cooper, the wonderful baby. Scruggs pitched a good game retaining control throughout.

Tuesday's game

	7	12	1
Tusculum: 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 1	R	H	E

Batteries: M. C.—Scruggs and Bryson; Tusculum— Benson and Campbell.

Wednesday the team left Tusculum for Milligan to play two games. The first commenced very late on account of rain, and a tie 3-3 could not be played off for the darkness. Taylor and LaRue had a pitcher's battle, the latter being more effective in pinches. Maryville got enough hits to win two ball games, four doubles being among the lot, two by Ruble, and one each by Wagner and Cooper. Each team executed spectacular plays at times. Every man on base went wild and many runs were cut off at the plate by fast fielding. It seemed as though the ball always preceded the runner. In the 8th Spahr hit safely, stole second and Ford followed with another single. LaRue forced the next man to ground to him, but Bryson was knocked unconscious by Spahr tearing in home. When the team gathered around him, Ford trotted in with the tying score, a run that should never have been allowed.

Ruble and Wagner led in hitting with Drake acting as pinch hitter. Bob Taylor for Milligan was the best man, serving as a fine lead-off man, a hitter, and base stealer.

The team was treated royally here. LaRue and Wagner were put in the girls' dormitory. Cooper who had forgotten his cap was given a boudoir cap by the gents in question. He also met a "calamity', while Bryson found a girl that 'reminds me of Buzzy.'

Wednesday's game:

Maryville: 1 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0 0	R	H	E
Milligan: 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 2 0	3	5	4

Batteries: M. C.—LaRue and Bryson; Milligan—Taylor and Boren.

The next day a batting fest and running practice was held by both teams. Where the day before many runs had been cut off at the plate, this game showed the speed of the base travelers too great for the ball. Maryville won 9-7. Neither pitcher was effective, yeiding ten hits apiece. Every run however was earned. It was also an errorless contest. M. C. got 5 sacrifice hits and Milligan 3. In the 8th Wagner hit safely, LaRue brought him in, Dawson drew a base on balls, Drake sacrificed, and Bryson singled and later scored himself. This was too much for the home team together with two runs in the last inning from Lowry's hit and Scruggs' double. Lowry and LaRue were the heavy hitters while Taylor had an average of 1000 for Milligan. Smith yeilded 5 doubles and LaRue took his place in the 9th and retired the side with no damage done.

At night Cooper found a new tennis champion and immediately signed up as her 'manager'.

It is also commonly understood that he intends to blackmail Wagner for some pictures the latter has of the star and her manager.

Thursday's game:

Maryville: 0 0 1 0 0 2 0 4 2	R	H	E
	9	10	0
Milligan: 2 0 1 0 0 4 0 0 0	7	10	0

Batteries: M. C.—Smith, LaRue and Bryson; Milligan— Marshall and Boren.

At Emory and Henry the greatest pitcher's duel of the week took place between Scruggs and Hughes. With the former having much the best of it. He held E. and H. down to 2 hits, lone singles that never put the runner past first. Only 27 men faced him. But Maryville lost because of two errors. With a lead of one run Scruggs hit French with a pitched ball, Bryson let him steal second and third, and Hughes slammed out a fly to Cooper who had it in his hands and caught it, but owing to the slippery glove and ball, in starting to throw home to catch the runner, he dropped it and thereby gave Hughes a life on base. Bryson tried to catch him at second but threw the ball away while Hughes romped home with the winning run. Scruggs lost a fine game through no fault of his own. Dawson and Lowry were the high hitters.

The captain received orders to return to sing with the college quartet, and of his loss together with all the sickness and accidents demanded the cancelling of the second game. (Censored)

Friday's game:

Maryville: 0 0 0 0 0 1 0 0 0	R	H	E
E. & H. 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 2 0	2	2	0

Batteries: Maryville, Scruggs and Bryson; E. & H., Hughes and Le Sunur.

The batting averages of the trip are as follows:

	A.B.	R.	H.	Ave
Smith	10	1	4	.400
Lowry	21	3	8	.381
LaRue	19	5	7	.368

HOOVERIZED POETRY

I never sausage eyes as thine,
And if you would butcher hand in mine,
And liver round me every day,
We'd seek some ham-let far away
We'd meat life's frown with love's caress
And cleaver road to happiness.
—Ex.

I consider music as a very innocent diversion, and perfectly compatible with the profession of a clergyman. I do not mean, however, to assert that we can be justified in devoting too much of our time to music for there are certain other things to be attended to.

—Jane Austin in "Pride and Prejudice".

ART CLUB

Friday afternoon, the weather man was surprised by Miss Smith, who was not to be disappointed in having an outdoor picnic for the Art Club. A camouflage was set up in her studio in Anderson Hall, and the guests went among the trees and flowers as if they were not bounded by the four walls of the class-room. Madam Dennee assisted in the entertainment, but the whole picnic assisted with the eats.

NEW YORK CLUB

Monday afternoon the New York Club held a delightful revelry in the College woods. Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson and Dr. Hoyt with the other cihldren, made the woods ring with laughter and song. The surroundings did not seem like Little ld New York, but there was a spirit of Home Sweet Home in the hearts of all.

He that wisheth to rise with the sun must not sit up too late with the daughter. —Ex.

The most expressive and succinct phrase which has been recently heard summing up one form of feminine allurement states that a girl has "R. S. V. P. eyes". Nor is it a mere book phrase. It stands the test of actual speech. —Ex.

Shorty Newell—"No Ma'am".

Miss Molly—"Astonishing!"

PERSONALS

Miss Helen Lewis has recovered from a severe attack of the grippe.

Miss Helen Horton entertained her friend, Miss Christina Hinkly from U. T. Sunday.

Carl Damiano has received the sad news that his brother, a soldier in the Italian army, was recently taken prisoner by the Austrians.

Maj. C. H. Gillingham preached the baccalaureate sermon at the Copper Hill high school Sunday, April 21st.

Dr. Stevenson preached the commencement sermon at the Cohutta, Ga., high school last Thursday evening, April 18th.

Miss Ethel Burchfiel was pleasantly surprised yesterday by the visit of her brothers, Lon Burchfiel and Lieut. George Burchfiel.

Miss Mary S. F. Randolph and Mrs. Ralph E. Prime, Jr., former parishioners of Dr. Stevenson at Yonkers, N. Y., are visiting at "The House in the Woods".

Friends of Miss Mary Key Dolvin will be glad to know that the grippe is lightening its hold upon her and that she expects to be out by the middle of the week.

"Sheeny" Briggs has returned to school after having "pulled the bell cord over old Beck" for the past few weeks on his father's farm. He has the grippe too, but is still able to "moonshine".

Last Friday Cecil Cross received notification to report on Tuesday of this week at Camp Gordan, Atlanta, Ga., for military service. Friends regret to see Mr. Cross leave school.

The college mixed quartet gave a concert at the New Market High School last Saturday evening. They also gave a recital at Middlesboro, Ky., Monday evening, April 22. The quartet was accompanied by Miss Staater and Major Johnson.

"Jew" Young, who was drafted about two weeks ago, has been honorably discharged from the Depot Brigade at Camp Upton, Long Island, is now at New York planning to continue his course of study in preparation for the ministry.

Word has reached Maryville to the effect that the best artillery shot in the 30th Division, located at Camp Sevier, S. C., is a Maryville boy, a formed student of the college, Elmer Brewer son of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brewer.

Ralph Hamilton, who was a member of last year's sophomore class, was commissioned about two months ago as second lieutenant in the mechanics department of the aviation corps. He is now at Marion, Va., expecting to leave this week for France.

Miss Helena M. Ryland gave a wheat substitute demonstration before the Eight Week's Club on last Wednesday afternoon. Miss Ryland showed the use of barley and potatoes as good substitutes for wheat, both in bread and cake. The meetings are weekly increasing in interest and attendance. The next meeting will be on Thursday and Miss Bogart will have charge.

Guilford Bicknell, a former member of the class of '18 who is now in the Artillery at Camp Sevier, Greeneville, S. C. is visiting his home in Maryville.

St. Peter: "I hear you are at war with the Germans".
Newly Arrived Spirit: "Yes".
St. Peter—"What do they look like?" —Ex.

Miss McCampbell (Latin Class): "Mr. Loft do you find this a comfortable rest room?"
Tommy: "Yes, thank you, but you might give me a pillow for my head".

C. Edward Ensign, '16, who has been undergoing intensive training in France since last November, was recently commissioned first lieutenant in the Aviation Section of the Signal Corps.

Lieut. M. B. Crum is now located at Newport News, Va., in the Fourth U. S. Infantry. He writes that he is helping to train troops for a triumphal march through "Kaiserdom".

THE AMERICAN'S CREED

A short time ago the city of Baltimore offered a prize of $1,000 for the best American creed. The selection of the following "American's creed" was the result of a "national citizen's creed contest", approved by Pres. Wilson, and other famous men of renown. The author of the creed, who wins the $1,000 prize is William Tyler Pafe, of Friendsville Heights, Maryland.

The creed is as follows:

"I believe in the United States of America as a government of the people, by the people, for the people; whose just powers are derived from the consent of the governed; a democracy in a republic; a sovereign nation of many sovereign states; a perfect union, one and inseparable; established upon those principles of freedom, equality, justice and humanity for which American patriots sacrificed their lives and fortunes.

"I therefore believe it is my duty to my country to love it; to support its constitution; to obey its laws; to respect its flag; and to defend it against all enemies".

THE SOLDIER'S CREED

BERTHA M. RUSSELL

I go not for conquest, nor searching,
I go not for favor, nor fame,
I go to keep evil from perching
On the land she has ravished with shame.

I go not to drain men of life-blood,
I go not to gather, nor glean;
I go to save mother and wifehood,
To conquer the vile and unclean.

To do what I can to deliver
The poor, wretched lives from distress;
Not to leave them in prison forever,
But to lighten, uplift and to bless.

Though I'm loath to break home-land relations,
Duty calls me, and tells me I must;
So I go in behalf of the nations
Who in God, have a firmly fixed trust.

If I fall in the midst of the struggle,
I'll fall for the right, and for God;
And when Peace lifts the world from its trouble,
She'll shine o'er my blanket of sod.

TUSCULUM WINS FOURTH GAME OF SERIES
J. B. C. DEFEATED IN PITCHERS' BATTLE

Highlanders Make Costly Errors, Losing to Tusculum, 7 to 6. Scores Made in Three Innings. Few Hits in Johnson Bible Game, and No Scores Earned by Either Team.

On Tuesday, April 23, Maryville lost the last game of a four-game series to Tusculum on the home grounds. The final score of 7-6 hardly commences to give an inkling of the thrills during the contest. As the day before the victor M. C. was threatened by a defeat in the last inning and won only by one run.

In the ninth after two men were down, M. C. started in to hit and run, and four scores resulted. Drake as the first man up grounded out. Then Cooper hit a double and Bryson drew a base on balls. Both were advanced by Scruggs' sacrifice. This made two down and two on base. Lowry brought the crowd to its feet by a long double which cleared the bases. LaRue also hit, scoring, Lowry stole second, and came home on Wagner's double With a man on second Ruble made the last out on a long fly.

All the scores were made in three innings. Maryville broke the ice in the fifth. After Drake had busted, Cooper lived on a fielder's choice, Bryson drew a base on balls, and both came in on Scruggs' double. In the sixth Tusculum came back good and strong and brought in four runs. Cardwell singled, was advanced by a sacrifice, and came in on R. Campbell's double. Lowry here made a costly error with Smith's grounder, permitting Campbell to score and Smith to get on second. A bunt by F. Campbell scored Smith and a sacrifice brought in one more. Another hit did no damage.

Then in the first of the ninth two errors by Drake, coupled with a single and double scored three runs. In earning runs Maryville outclassed their opponents 5-3. They got more hits but failed to bunch them except in the last inning. Her errors, five of them, came at inopportune times and proved very costly. Tusculum played well, only making one error. Both pitchers were touched up for several hits, but Gilmer kept his scattered.

Wagner was the hitting star with a double and two singles to his credit. His last hit almost brought victory for the home team. Cooper also had a good day with a double and single. One-third of all the hits were for two bases, M. C. getting four of these.

Some great spectacular catches were made during the game. Lowry hit the first ball pitched for what looked like a triple, but Russell miraculously caught it. Lowry and LaRue made catches that got the crowd to applaud.

A double play was made by Maryville that was in one respect quite unique. Wagner made a put out on second when two men were run down between bases LaRue had a good fielding day, and so did Lowry, Bailey and Cardwell, all fielding hard chances. Gilman forced nineteen men to ground out, and Benson on first got nineteen put outs, a remarkable number for one player in any game.

MARYVILLE—JOHNSON BIBLE

In a pitcher's battle between LaRue and Price, the coach of Johnson Bible College, Maryville was returned a victor over J. B. C. by the close score of 3-1 on last Friday. Coming unexpectedly to play at such a late hour that the game could not be announced in chapel, but had to be given out at dinner, the preachers put up a good game all around. The field was a little wet but a large crowd witnessed a tight, fast game.

In the first inning after the first man had struck out, Suttenfield got to first on Bryson's passed ball, stole second, went to third on an error by Dawson and romped home on Price's single. Maryville, not to be outdone, scored in the next inning when hits by McCall and Bryson, coupled with an error by an outfielder let in one run. In the sixth, two errors and a hit by Dawson scored Scruggs and Ruble.

LaRue pitched a good game holding J. B. C. to four scattered hits. Price also did fine work, and he only yielded six singles. Both pitchers struck out ten men. If the game had been errorless, the teams might have been playing yet, for not an earned run was made by either team.

U. T.—M. C. GAMES ON FRI. AND SAT.

On Friday of this week U. T. will play Maryville here and Saturday in Knoxville. U. T. has just finished a successful road trip and is flushed with victory. The Highlanders are going to make them work some for this game. Last year M. C. won on the home ground in a most exciting contest of 11 innings and this year will not be far behind in the fierceness of the battle. A large crowd should also go to Knoxville the following day. Let's lick U. T.!

"DRIFTWOOD" SUBJECT OF UNIQUE PRAYER SERVICE

Problems of Violin Making Interpreted in Terms of Human Life by Miss Green.

The prayer meeting last week was led by Miss Green, who spoke on "Driftwood". In a most delightful and interesting way, Miss Green interpreted the problems of violin making in terms of human life. The life of Stradivari and his achievements were taken as an illustration for the foundation of her discussion. In harmony with the thoughts presented, two violin selections were played on a Victrola. The first was "Religious Meditation" from the opera "Thais" by Mischa Elmon, and the other selection was a Slavonic piece by Fritz Kreisle.

The speaker told how Stradivari chanced to find among the discarded oars that were sold for old wood, at Venice, one oar among this driftwood that proved to contain the right qualities for violin construction. The same discovery happens in life. Among the "driftwood" of humanity has been found many persons whose lives have proven useful to God and their fellowmen. Potential power is like muscles, which increase with use. A great deal of the perfection of a violin is dependent upon the quality of the varnish used and how it is applied. Although a person may have had the best of education, he may prove a failure because he lacks certain seemingly unimportant qualities, as for instance, the "milk of human kindness". It is no sign of weakness to be considerate of others. Stradivari believed that the quality of his violins could not be destroyed and ceased to label them, believing that they could be recognized by experts. So it is with people. Misfortune, loss of health, etc., often changes character but if the proper qualities are present in the beginning, the individual will interpret his misfortunes in such a way as to improve those qualities, and his life will become richer and fuller.

TIGER NINE DEFEATS KNOXVILLE HI SCHOOL

In one of the closest games witnessed here this season the Knoxville High School nine was defeated by the "Tigers" Wednesday by a score of 3-2.

Pugh, on the hillock, for the home team, was easily the star of the game. He struck out a total of 14 men in the nine frames. Francisco, twirling for the high school, did some very creditable work but only had three strike outs to his credit.

Two of the visitors' three hits came in the ninth frame when they started a batting rally which netted them one tally. The "Tigers" hit the horsehide frequently but were less fortunate in base running.

The Tigers are now endeavoring to arrange a short, three-game trip through East Tennessee and if the consent of the faculty can be obtained the team will probably leave Monday, May 6.

PARTIES IN GALORE GIVEN SENIOR CLASS

Tuesday night Mr. John Webb entertained the members of the Senior Class, and a few friends at his home on High Street. The guests were delightfully entertained with music from Edison records.

Late in the evening ice cream and cake were served. The favors were pink roses.

Just before the party dispersed flashlight pictures were taken of the Seniors in one group and the visitors in another.

Each Senior was sent on his way rejoicing with a big red apple and a surprise package which proved to be a generous slice of cake.

The girls arrived at Pearsons Hall promptly at 11:30 p. m. and not even the dog barked.

The guests were, the Senior Class Mrs. Stevenson who acted as hostess, Mrs. Prime, Misses Randolph, Hale, Buxton, McCampbell, Bellamy and Green; Dr. Stevenson, Mr. Hood and Mr. Gabbard.

Wednesday evening at 6:30 the third year Home Economics Class entertained the members of the Senior Class at dinner in the dining room of the Home Economics Department in Science Hall.

Covers were laid for twenty. The color scheme of green and white was carried out in the decorating and through the menu. The dinner consisted of:

Fruit Cocktail
Creamed Chicken — Corn Sticks
Peas in Timbales — Riced Potatoes
Cranberry Conserve
Chilled Tomato Salad
Lemon Ice — Rolled Wafers
Black Coffee

The dinner was excellently prepared and served and testified to the skill of the members of the third year class.

RALPH SMITH HEADS Y. M. C. A. NEXT YEAR

Ralph E. Smith, a member of the Junior Class, was elected President of the Y. M. C. A. for the ensuing year, at a business meeting held last Saturday evening. During his entire course at Maryville, Mr. Smith has taken an active interest in the work of the Y. M. C. A., and has exhibited numerous characteristics which mark him as a capable leader. Other officers elected were: Harold Smith, Vice-President; and Harry Wagner, Treasurer.

At a recent meeting of the cabinet, "Sheeney" Briggs was elected manager and Charles Edgemon assistant manager of the Y. M. C. A. Lyceum Course for next year.

The retiring cabinet is as follows: Horace Dawson, President; Deck Williams, Vice President; W. B. Holmes, Secretary; D. H. Briggs, Treasurer. Committee chairmen: Robert L. Taylor, Extension Work; Homer Weisbecker, Social; Robert Adams, Membership; C. V. Miller, Religious Education; Harold Smith, Devotional. Robert L. Taylor, Manager of Lyceum Course.

COLLEGE BULLETIN BOARD AT SEATON'S

A bulletin board, exclusively for college announcements, has been placed by Mr. Seaton, at his own expense, in his barber shop, and arrangements have been made whereby announcements of approaching athletic contests, at home and away and the results may be made there. Notices of other college activities will be gladly placed on the board also. This provides a definite and suitable place where town people may go to learn what is happening on the "hill". On behalf of the student body the Echo thanks Mr. Seaton for this favor.

150 or 200 Make Trip. Day Replete With Excitement And Humorous Incidents.

With ardor undampened by drizzling rain, from 150 to 200 students and chaperons climbed to the heights of Mt. Nebo last Monday, April 29th, and indulged in revelry and sight-seeing long to be remembered. The party went by train from Maryville to Melrose and from there "hiked" a distance of about two miles to the top of the mountain. "Rain before seven clear off before eleven" once more proved to be a reliable adage. Not until the summit of the mountain had been reached, after a disagreeable climb over a slick "squashy" trail in a steady downpour of rain, did the clouds break away; then the sun shone forth with such splendor that the determined enthusiasts had little difficulty in in making the day one of excessive hilarity.

Near Mt. Nebo hotel, which is open only in the summer, there are several little cabins to which the various groups of "frolickers" went to cook and spread their picnic dinners. Nearly every group was fortunate enough to have a cabin all to themselves, and in some of the cabins stoves were already set up ready for business. Jason Purdy was the hero of the trip, taking along with him not only his own girl but also five others who "stagged" it. This group had the whole hotel for their merry-making. The Senior Class group, consisting of Deck and Zeora, spread their eats in some sheltered haven of refuge and were seen only twice during the day—going and coming.

After luncheon several kodak pictures were taken and the whole party scattered all over the mountain. The din of conversation which reverberated from hill to hill resembled the cooing of doves. Kiger found a still (?) and got drunk on "moonshine". In order to contribute her share to the excitement of the day, "Manager" Burchfiel managed to fall in the creek, much to the sorrow and regret of "Gee" Cooper.

All too soon came the hour of departure. But at that it was not soon enough for about sixteen strolling "moonshiners" and botanically inclined girls to catch the train. Last year it was Ed Campbell who missed the train, this year it fell to the lot of "Red" Campbell to uphold the reputation of the family name. Fortunately or unfortunately, which ever way one might look at it, two chaperons, Madam Dennee and Miss Smith, were among those who got to the station just a minute too late.

The trip home for these folks was not absolutely devoid of excitement. Madam Dennee, Andy Norgan, Mary Thompson, Red Campbell, and Mabel Rice found a Detroit "flivver" and, after pushing it part of the way, succeeded in getting back to the "hill" shortly before the lights flashed. The rest of the crowd, under the chaperonage of Miss Smith, walked in. What time it was when they reached Maryville no one seems to know. Any how the Dean of Women did not see them come in; so that's enough said. The hike on the whole was much enjoyed.

Rev. Jas. S. Armentrout, a classmate of Prof. Gillingham at Princeton, addressed the students last Thursday morning at chapel service. Mr. Armentrout is connected with the Board of Publication and Sabbath School Work of the Presbyterian Church. He is a brother of Miss Mary Emma Armentrout who is a student here.

EDITORIAL

That was some mountain hike yesterday. Everybody had a big time.

:--:--:--:

The Third Liberty Loan Campaign to raise three billion dollars closes Saturday night, May 4th. When you buy a bond, you help to bomb the Kaiser. Don't fail to do your utmost.

:--:--:--:

The Highlanders are going to meet their ancient and much hated rivals, U. T., this week in the two hardest baseball games of the season. Let's work up a little "pep" to help our boys win.

:--:--:--:

The student body will doubtless approve of the plan of the Juniors to contribute the Chilhowean advertisement money to a fund for a "War Annual". This course of procedure is equally as good if not better than those suggested in last week's editorial.

JUNIOR AD MONEY FOR WAR ANNUAL.

In the last issue of the Echo, the principle editorial took to task the Junior Class for using certain funds in a certain way. Quite evidently certain facts have not impressed themselves deeply enough on certain students and certain classes.

At the beginning of the present school year, the Junior Class, expecting to publish the Chilhowean, solicited advertisements and placed them in the bulletin boards in front of the chapel. The Juniors afterwards, after consultation with, and acting upon the advice of the faculty, and the decision reached by the staff who had given the matter much careful and thoughtful consideration, decided that it would be unpatriotic and impracticable to put out the annual. The Junior Class collected the money for the advertisements already secured and the work already done, but not one cent was solicited after the decision to dispense with the year book had been made. For every dollar collected, a contract was signed before the decision. Then the class took the money so collected and bought Liberty Bonds and War Savings Stamps. Every penny has been turned over to the government. The reason the class did not put out the annual was because it decided it would be unpatriotic. All the money collected has been paid for patriotic purposes. For their hard work and time spent, the Junior Class has received absolutely nothing except the pleasure it got from doing something for the government.

Can one believe that this money was appropriated to the class coffer as said in the editorial? Is it true that the class has done nothing to entitle it to this money, when it is recognized that the Junior Class and it alone can put out an annual or use an advertising medium? Can it be that any other class or organization has a right to do this same thing as last week's editorial says?

Two alternatives are placed before the class, one as absurd as the other is ridiculous. The first is to give the money over to the so-called "record book", a Senior publication entirely. The faculty voted that no annual would be put out this year, yet adopting the suggestion made would practically amount to recognition of the record book as an annual, a fact which even the editorial took pains to guard against.

The other suggestion was to refund the money to the advertisers. As an argument it was used only as one being so absurd as to force the class to use the other.

But the editor forgets that there is a third alternative, the best one, and that upon which the class acted, namely, investing in Liberty Bonds, and using that money as a fund for the next annual. The class is not selfish, they have not spent this in parties, but have given it to make the world safe for democracy.

The business men who gave the class their advertisements feel very strongly in this matter. The whole affair has been placed before the men whose testimonials appear in this article. They read the editorial. They had the facts. As a unit they realized that they were accomplishing a two-fold result with the money, paying for something they have received, and helping kick the Kaiser. Does anyone believe any business man is so unpatriotic as to object to this course of action? And yet some people accuse the class of unpatriotic deeds. As far as possible representative advertisers have been asked to submit statements. These include Ellis-Chandler Co., the largest advertiser, Badgett's one of the main dry goods stores, and one each of the drug stores and barber shops.

Even though the Junior Class had not used the money for the immediate purpose they have, why should they use the money to pay for a record book not representative of the college, but put out by one class alone, and containing the pictures and write-ups of only a few organizations? The editorial claimed that this book was representative of the entire student body. But for this to be true all classes must be represented.

The course of action adopted meets with the approval of the advertisers as a whole, of the Faculty, of the Government, of the majority of the students, and of the class itself. It is fair and just to everyone concerned. The matter has been fairly put before the advertisers and as a unit they upheld the wisdom of such a step. The Liberty Bond and Stamps will be turned over to the college treasurer and will be kept as a fund for the "War Annual", whenever that comes out. Thus the money will serve its original purpose.

The editor is wrong in claiming only two alternatives. There are three. The Junior Class have taken the most honorable course open to them in that they have devoted the money to an unselfish, common cause, the cause of freedom, yet which ultimately will perform its original purpose.

The Junior Class:—

As in former years I placed an advertisement with the Chilhowean this year. The results have been very satisfactory indeed. I must commend the class for its patriotism in giving to the government two-thirds of its membership and purchasing a Liberty Bond with the money earned instead of issuing an annual. This action should and will meet with the approval of advertisers here.

Seaton's Barber Shop.

The Junior Class:

As advertisers in the Chilhowean we wish to state that we have received full value for money paid and commend Junior Class for buying Liberty Bonds with the funds still on hand.

Ellis-Chandler Co.

The Junior Class:—

I wish to commend you for purchasing a Liberty Bond with the advertising money for the Annual, and I am sure all the advertisers feel the same regarding it.

John Walker, Druggist.

The Junior Class:—

As one of the advertisers in the Chilhowean we wish to state that we commend the Junior Class for buying Liberty Bonds with the advertising funds. We have received full value for our space in the bulletin board, and we believe the class has adopted the best possible course under the circumstances.

SOPHS OVERWHELMINGLY DEFEATED BY FISH, 8-2

Saturday afternoon a baseball game was played between the Freshmen and the Sophomores that resulted in an overwhelming victory for the former, 8-2. For the first five innings the Sophs were ahead with two scores but after that they could not hold the ferocious attacks the Fish made on their pitchers. For the Freshmen Pugh went the whole distance and pitched fine ball holding his opponents down to a few hits and keeping good control throughout. He showed his stuff during the game and he deserved to win. He also had a good catcher to hold him, Beck. On the other hand the Sophs were forced to use three pitchers. Deaton went along in fine shape for awhile until his arm gave out and then McLoughlin went in to relieve him, but as Price could not hold him, he was taken out the inning he was put in and Red Campbell went the rest of the way. Drake, the first man up for the Sophs in the first inning hit the second ball pitched for a home run. Later in the game he had his finger broken by a foul tip and will be out of the game the rest of the season. The varsity will feel his loss. Price made some costly errors. Weisbecker and the two first basemen, Hamilton and Courtner, played good ball. There was a good deal of pep in the grandstand during the contest.

THETA EPSILON

On last Saturday evening the Theta Epsilon Literary Society held an entertaining and profitable meeting. Miss Mabel Rice rendered a piano solo, which was appreciated very much. Miss Corin Humphreys read a sketch of the life of James Whitcomb Riley, which was very good and showed real preparation.

The pantomine "That Old Sweetheart of Mine" was next presented and read by Miss Josephine Wicks.

Miss Elizabeth Jones rendered a vocal solo which was thoroughly enjoyed. The meeting closed by repeating the motto.

MUSIC AND EXPRESSION STUDENTS MAKE DEBUT

On last Friday afternoon, the Music and Expression Departments gave a recital. Each participant deserves credit for the very able presentation of her number, and special recognition, should be given to those who made their first public appearance. The program was thoroughly enjoyed by those present, and it is hoped that a greater number of the students will avail themselves of the opportunity to spend a delightful hour at these recitals in the future. A number of these recitals are scheduled for the remainder of the term. "A word to the wise is sufficient".

The following program was given:

Reading—"My Sweet Pea", by Virginia Woodward Cloud, Miss Mattie Hamilton

Piano Solo—"Etude Fantastique", by Friml, Miss Ida Gilbert

Vocal Solo—"My Dear", by Mary T. Salter, Miss Emma Miles

Piano Solo—"Momento Capriciuse", by Van Westerhont, Miss Elizabeth Bassel

Reading—"Billy Brad and His Big Lie", by Ellis Parker Butler, Miss Minnie Hunter.

Vocal Solo—"I Love You", Miss Mary Heard

Piano Solo—"Idillio" by Loch, Miss Emily Wright

Reading—"Rebecca Mary", by Anne Donnell, Miss Imogene Copeland

Piano Solo—"Prelude" by MacDowell, Miss Irene Clark

LEONARD LEADS Y. M. C. A. SERVICE

Sunday afternoon, April 28th, Mr. Chester F. Leonard, a M. C. graduate of '17, gave the Y. M. C. A. an interesting address on "The Negro Life in Chicago". The speaker associated the Chicago and Southern negro and stated that the unsatisfactory economical conditions of farm wages in the South had given the people of the North an opportunity to influence the negro to do their most difficult tasks; that a free train passage had been given by companies in order to direct the negro North.

In Chicago are 180,000 negroes. The wealthier class is located at the south end of the city where they possess their own schools and homes. At the East-side the poor class live in an unsanitary and congested place. The main bulk of negroes live along State Street. In the city the negro has not been allowed to join labor unions, has been turned loose, helpless, without employment. However, conditions are improving. They now have a labor union, the Swift Company is providing for the homes of its employees, there are thirty-two well established churches, and a league to see that the negro gets employment.

The leader stated in conclusion that everywhere the negroes need a better chance and should be helped to live on a more equal basis with other people. The South has not been giving them access to the best things of life, which is the cause of their going north.

PERSONALS

Allura Moore's father, of Chattanooga, visited her here last week.

Miss Eleanor Moseley spent the week-end visiting friends at Dandridge.

Sergt. Theodore Miner has recently been commissioned as Second Lieutenant. He was in training at Camp Upton.

"Mike" Park and Rush Hickman left school this morning. After spending two or three days at home they will enlist in the Marine Corps.

Myra Bogart gave a Food Conservation talk before the members of the Eight Weeks Club last Thursday.

"Slim" Bratton, a former student who is now traveling for an eastern jewelry house, was in Maryville during the past week.

Edmund J. Huff of Harlan, Ky., a member of the Sophomore class during the fall term, visited friends on the "hill" last week. He left Saturday for New Orleans to enter the Coast Defense Naval Reserve.

Andrew Norgen, a member of last year's Sophomore class is back visiting for a week on the "hill". He has been in Uncle Sam's army since last July and has just recently gone through the third Officers' Training Camp at Camp McClellan. He has received his certificate for a commission. We are all glad to see Andy back with us and all wish for his success as an officer.

BAINONIAN PROGRAM RENDERED BY SOPHS

The Bainonian program for Saturday evening was rendered by the Sophomores. Miss Elizabeth Jackson had been appointed chairman of the committee, and under her supervision the program had been arranged.

After a short business session Miss Mattie Hamilton opened the program with a very interesting reading, a cutting from "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm". In this she depicted her characters very successfully.

Miss Helen Gamble followed with a delightful piano solo.

Then Miss Jessie Creswell read the first act of "The Romancers", in which she showed great interpretative skill and charm.

Misses Mary Jane Hartman and Mary Emma Armentrout played a beautiful piano duet. The hearty response of the audience proved their appreciation.

Miss Jane Morton closed the program with two short readings. Miss Morton's ability to tell a story clearly and interestingly was very evident.

The next meeting is to be conducted by the Freshmen, and the program promises to be very unique.

PREVENTION OF DISEASE DISCUSSED BY DR. ELLIS

A most interesting talk on the "Prevention of Disease" was made by Dr. Edwin Ellis, a local physician, before the members of the Pre-Medical Club last Friday evening in the basement of the chapel.

Very timely and helpful advice was given in regard to the prevention of diseases of children, most of which are caused by the ignorance of the parents and can be traced back to unsanitary feeding.

Contagious disease among adults is caused by carelessness and neglect. Practically every disease could be kept from spreading if every case of sickness were isolated and careful sanitary precautions taken. By vaccination and injection of antitoxins practically every disease could be eliminated.

Dr. Ellis said that there is no such thing as "bad blood". It is really only a run-down physical condition that keeps the body from throwing off disease germs.

Throughout the entire lecture Dr. Ellis emphasized that it is every man's duty not only to practice precautions against disease, but also to teach others the same lesson.

ALUMNI NOTES

1915.

Howard Wilson, '15, completed his course at the Third Officers' Training Camp, Camp Pike, Leon Springs, Texas, and was given a certificate for a commission. He came home last Saturday expecting to have a twelve-day furlough, but was called away by telegram to Camp Sevier, Greeneville, S. C. the next morning.

1916.

W. H. Pleasants was in Maryville this week visiting. He has been called to the colors and expects soon to be with Uncle Sam's army. He is hoping to be transferred to special service as a chemist or mechanic.

Will Powell has just completed his course in the third officers' training camp and has been given a commission as second lieutenant.

1917.

Chester F. Leonard, who has spent the past year in McCormick Theological Seminary, is visiting friends on the "hill". He expects to preach in the mountains during the summer.

Earl Martin is at home in Maryville for a short while waiting for his commission and assignment. He has just completed his work in the Officer's Training Camp at Camp Jackson and has been awarded a commission.

"SOUL WINDOWS" SUBJECT OF Y. W. C. A.

The meeting on Sunday was led by Miss Miriam Jane Bartlett, who had as her subject "Soul Windows". Miss Marie Townsend read the Beatitudes as the Scripture lesson. Elizabeth Jones then sang very sweetly a solo, "I Trust In Thee". In Miss Bartlett's talk, which was interesting and very helpful, she told an old legend of a windowless castle on a rock in the Black Sea, where a watchmaker put together the finest, most intricate parts of the watches, with his only light coming from a sky-light above. We give our lives to the Workman, who uses us in making His finest instruments for doing His will. But many windows besides the sky-light are needed in our lives—soul-windows—to let in God's sunlight. An architect plans every window for the house he is to build. Why should we not have more windows for our lives—broad and high and fair windows? But we should learn to make our soul-windows radiate to others. "Let a little sunshine out". Miss Bartlett closed her inspiring talk with the verse "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father which is in Heaven".

Jessie Creswell gave an interesting report of her trip as delegate to the Y. W. C. A. convention at Cumberland University, Lebanon, Tenn.

JUNIOR ATHENIAN

The scheduled program of the Saturday evening meeting of the Athenian, Junior consisted of two numbers, a debate and a reading. The question discussed, "Resolved, That the President of the United States should be elected for a term of six years and be ineligible to re-election", was well handled by Howard Hill on the affirmative and Horace Moore on the negative.

Following the debate a specially humorous selection from Irwin S. Cobb's "Speaking of Operations" was read by Leslie Jones. Then some visiting members of the Alpha Sigma societies were called upon for talks. Howard McGrath and Phil Sheffey responded, the former bringing up a proposal of another joint meeting in the near future of the two Junior societies. The date for this meeting was not set, however, but will probably be on May 4th as the two sections of the Athenian are to meet in joint session on next Saturday evening.

The woodpecker lit on a Freshman's head,
And settled down to drill,
He bored away for half the day,
And then he broke his bill.

LOCAL PROHIBITION ORATORICAL CONTEST

Dawson Takes First Place Winning $15. Prize. Miss Wilson Wins Second Prize.

The annual Prohibition Oratorical Contest was held yesterday evening in the chapel. Two prizes amounting to twenty-five dollars are furnished each year by the Presbyterian Board of Temperance The awards are determined by merit for both composition and delivery.

The orators of the contest were Miss Gail Wilson, Mr. Homer Weisbecker and Mr. Horace Dawson. Prof. Bassett presided at the meeting. The judges on the manuscripts were Rev. J. M. Alexander, Supt. C. D. Curtis, and Prof. G. A. Knapp. The judges on delivery were Hon. Jno. C. Crawford, Prof. C. W. Henry and Dr. W. P. Stevenson. The first prize of fifteen dollars was awarded to Mr. Dawson, who is now entitled to represent the college at the state contest of the I. P. A. The second prize of ten dollars was awarded to Miss Gail Wilson. Mr. Dawson was given first place by each of the judges on delivery and each contestant received one first place on manuscript.

The subject of Miss Wilson's oration was "Co-operation and National Prohibiiton". The social evils of the liquor traffic were analyzed and emphasized, and the importance of maintaining the purity of the home was dealt with. As a remedy for the curse of alcohol, nation-wide prohibition was shown to be the only solution.

Mr. Weisbecker, the next speaker, spoke on "Stern Necessity Dictates". He showed that necessity is the mother of knowledge and that liquor had no place where efficiency is wanted. It was stated further that the people have had many chances to eradicate the evil but that party allegiance has always interfered.

The subject of the winning oration was "The Story of the Two Black Clouds". These two clouds that are hovering over the land are the cigarette evil and the liquor curse. Mr. Dawson next stated that the greatest preparation against the foe is a knowledge of the enemy's strength. In the case of the alcohol business this can be measured by the wreckage in its trail, and by the nationality and morality of its supporters. He pointed out three discoveries; namely, that the saloon has an ally in the cigarette; that the liquor traffic imperils the liberty of the nation; and finally, that 65 percent of the saloon keepers belong to the hostile nation—Germany.

MARYVILLE BOYS ENLIST IN NAVY

F. G. Cooper, Kelso C. Archer, Sidney Caughron, Luther D. Burchfield, and Edward Jellicourse, Jr., all five of whom are students here or were during the year, enlisted in the Navy at the Knoxville recruiting office last week, and were sent to Nashville for further examination. It is probable that they will be permitted to go home before being sent to a naval training school.

Mr. Cooper was a member of the Senior Class, and was to have made the valedictory address at commence ment.

Claude H. LaRue enlisted in the Navy at Knoxville Monday and was sent to Nashville where he will be examined and probably placed in reserve. He expects to return to school and finish the year before being called into service.

Hugh Waggoner, a registered pharmacist who was a student here about two years ago, has been accepted in the Hospieal Corps of the Navy, and was sent to Nashville Monday, May 6th.

FORMER M. C. STUDENT ON RAMMED STEAMER

"City of Athens" Sinks Off Delaware Coast With Ralph A. Young on Board.

The coastwise steamer "City of Athens", which was rammed by a French warship in a dense fog off Cape Romain, near the Delaware coast, last Wednesday morning, had on board Ralph A. Young, of Brooklyn, for three years a student in Maryville College. According to the latest reports he is still missing and it is feared that he went down with the steamer.

"Jew" Young, as he was affectionately known to most of the students, did not return to Maryville this year because of his uncertainty as to his position in the draft. It has already been told in these columns how he was drafted and sent to Camp Upton for training, but was later given an honorable discharge on account of physical disability.

At the time he met his death, Mr. Young was on his way to Georgia where he was to join one of his Maryville friends, Enos C. Thurmond; they had planned to work together there.

While on the hill, Ralph was a leader in every form of Christian work: he was active in Y. M. C. A., Ministerial Association, and literary society work. For two years he was Superintendent of the Battle Branch Mission, and to this work he gave the best that he had. He was a boy of fervent Christian zeal, aggressive in the work of the Master, and his great desire was that he might prepare and be an instrument in God's hand to carry the gospel of Christ to those of his own race here in America. His was a life of sacrifice and of service, and the memory of his life shall long live with those who were privileged to know him while on the hill.

The sudden end of Ralph's life is a severe blow to his many friends in and around Maryville, and the sympathy of the student body and faculty is extended to the bereaved relatives.

FRED HOPE FUND BEING RAISED

Teaching native Africans to make chairs, shoes, and clothing is rather a unique experience for any graduate of Maryville College. Such however, are some of the sidelines of the Frank James Industrial School of which Fred Hope is the superintendent. Thirty members of the tailoring class have made over 2,000 garments. The carpenters class has built four houses, a chapel and school house, a new plant for the girls' school, besides the routine work of the settlement. The furniture class has turned out 150 pieces of furniture. They have also a hat-making class, a blacksmithing class and a sawmill busy replacing lumber that the Germans confiscated in the early days of the war.

Hope says he preached nine Sundays to a total of 12,000 people. Mrs. Hope says that at the Christian Workers Conference in December 951 people had to be fed! There are no empty churches over there.

Is such a work as this worth supporting? Maryville students believe so.

After the first drive the Fred Hope Fund stands at ninety-three dollars, half of which has been cashed in. The boys in Carnegie have subscribed over fifty dollars. The faculty so far has given twenty five. The girls halls have not yet been canvassed, only ten dollars having been turned in. Is there any reason why we shouldn't send Fred Hope $150 this year? He is a Maryville boy, and we are Maryvillians. Let's do it.

BOB ADAMS EDITOR, SHEFFEY BUS. MGR. OF FOURTH VOLUME

The competition for the positions of Editor-in-Chief and Business Manager of The Highland Echo for next year was held Tuesday evening, Arpil 30th. The committee of judges were Professors Knapp and Davis, faculty representatives, and Miss Marie Townsend and Robert L. Taylor, student represenatitves.

The results of the competition, as approved by the faculty, make Robert W. Adams the new Editor and Phil Sheffey the new Manager. Both men are members of the Junior Class and expect to return to school next year.

Mr. Sheffey lives in Maryville and is acquainted with the business men of the town, and should have little difficulty in handling the business end of the Echo. Mr. Adams is a member of the present staff and is familiar with the "ins" and "outs" of editing a college paper.

Under the leadership and direction of these two capable men the fourth volume of the Echo should be a credit to the student body and the college.

PRAYER MEETING LED BY MISS McCAMPBELL

The prayer meeting was led by Miss McCampbell, who spoke on "The Set of the Soul". The speaker in a very able manner, compared life to a sail boat which is subjected to all the winds of the mighty sea before it reaches its goal. In early life, there is always someone else to help a person to overcome the winds that press hard from every quarter; but later on, the person hoists his own sail and sets out bravely on the journey. Some have gone further than others on life's journey but all are sailing on.

Miss McCampbell emphasized three conclusions from the illustration that apply equally well to human life. In the first place, winds are sure to come. One must not expect ideal conditions but must prepare for adversity and some hardships. Secondly, the winds are necessary, and lastly, these winds will not necessarily bring the ships into port. The ship needs a pilot, who should be Jesus Christ, to keep the ship of life off of the rocks of destruction and to set the sails so as to defy the winds. One of two statements is true regarding each individual—either he is tossing to and fro, or he has adjusted his life to the plan of God.

GAMES THIS WEEK

The team left this morning for Lincoln Memorial University where they will play two return games with that school. This will be a hard bunch to beat, but the Highlanders are after the championship and have it almost within grasp.

On Friday U. T. comes out here again for a third game. After the great victory of the boys in Knoxville everybody should come out for this next one. It will a thriller. Then the two teams battle again on Wait field Monday. The same week will see Kentucky State out here for two games on May 15 and 16. These next three home games should prove great drawing cards and with Maryville going at her present clip nothing will stop her. Let's stir up some pep.

INTER-PREP DEBATE

A debate has been arranged between the Maryville High School girls and the girls of the third preparatory English class of the college. Those chosen to represent M. C. are Mary Bigelow, Grance Blank and Ruth Gamble. The question for debate is, "Resolved: That a broad high school course is preferable to vocational training". The debate will be in the college chapel about the middle of May.

HIGHLANDERS WIN ELEVEN-INNING VICTORY IN SECOND GAME WITH VOLS ON WAIT FIELD

After Being Defeated the Day Before on Her Home Grounds, Maryville Defeats U. T. at Knoxville in a 9 to 8 Batting Bee. Scruggs' Pitching Practically Wins Game.

The great series of the season started last Friday when U. T. came to Maryville and beat the Highlanders in the first game 5-1. Only one earned run was made by either team, but errors by the home team gave the visitors the game.

It was a fine pitching duel between LaRue and Meek with the latter having the best of it. He held M. C. to 4 scattered hits, but one of these was a home run by Scruggs in the second inning over right field. It was the first score of the game and the crowd went wild with delight. U. T. tied it, however in the next inning through errors. In the 5th two hits and a sacrifice brought them one more score. It was the 8th however that clinched matters. Sanders got a run through Scruggs' error, a sacrifice and a hit. Calloway, the heavy hitter of the game, got a double at this point, stole third, and then in a most thrilling play stole home just before the last man was struck out. It was a beautiful run well earned. Detzer's triple allowed another score in the ninth.

U. T. played a perfect game and outclassed Maryville in playing. More men faced the pitcher, more men hit, and more stolen bases and sacrifices were to her credit.

The largest crowd of the season was out in force and the biggest bunch of rooters were present. The town band was there and Doc Mitchell led the yells. Everybody made noise. If every game were with U. T. the inertia at games so noticeable this year would be entirely eliminated.

After being defeated the day before on her home grounds Maryville went to Knoxville Saturday to haul U. T. into camp in a thrilling eleven inning contest, 9-8. It was the most exciting game seen on Wait field in many a day. With a one-run lead against them Massengale doubled in the 9th and scored on two sacrifices, one by Bradford a pinch hitter, and the other by Landess. Maryville determined not to lose so she ran across two counters in the 10th. McLoughlin lived on Calloway's error and successive doubles by Ruble and Scruggs scored both him and Ruble. By some miraculous power U. T. slipped two across in their half of the 10th. Magers singled and stole second, was advanced when Brinkley lived on Ruble's error. Brinkley then stole second and both came in on a costly error by Lowry. It was a shame to have the score tied, but M. C. came back in the 11th with the winning run.

It was a pitching battle with Scruggs having much the best of it. At several stages of the game by his excellent playing he practically won his own game.

The third inning proved to be U. T.'s undoing. Ruble got to first on Calloway's error, Scruggs laid down a perfect bunt, Lowry lived on a fielder's choice, Bryson drew a base on balls; Dawson doubled and LaRue singled. As a result M. C. put 5 runs across the pan.

In the 6 Maryville took the lead again by two consecutive doubles by Ruble and Scruggs. They repeated the same performance later. Their hits counted for the most. Dawson as clean-up man earned that place by 3 hits out of 5 times at bat.

A goodly bunch of loyal M. C. rooters went along on the trip and helped the boys win. Everything is ready now for the next game.

OUR SUCCESSORS

At a time of such unrest and uncertainty the college is indeed fortunate in securing an Editor and a Manager for the fourth volume of the Echo who are so likely to return to school next year and who are so fully capable of putting out a representative paper. We congratulate the two successful competitors and also the student body upon their selection and wish them the greatest of success for the coming year.

It might not be inopportune to mention here the fact that the present mode of selection of the Editor and Manager of the Echo is not altogether satisfactory, because so few students enter the competition. This year and last year also, only one man tried out for the position of Editor and very few each time for the position of Manager. For two positions of such responsibility there should be a larger number of candidates. We merely suggest that this matter be investigated and acted upon next year.

MORE "PEP"

For some reason or other—doubtless the war and the spring weather combined—there has been a marked decline of interest in student activities on the part of the whole student body. In fact, the situation has really become alarming.

Last Sunday night the Vesper choir was smaller than usual and there was only one boy on the job. Saturday night not one of the boys' literary societies met, and on the previous Saturday only the Junior Athenians held their usual meeting. A call for a meeting of the Adelphic Union a few weeks ago failed to bring together more than a half dozen members. A fewer number than ever before entered the oratorical contests this year; and last night there was present at the I. P. A. contest not more than a third the number there should have been. Even baseball games, less exciting than with U. T., fail to bring forth signs of life.

The school is absolutely dead so far as student activities are concerned. Everybody is willing to see someone else do things, but when it comes to doing things themselves there's nobody at home.

What's needed on the "hill" is a little more "pep". It is five more weeks until vacation time but it seems that everyone has already begun to take a rest. One should not become discouraged and inactive because so many fellows are leaving school to enter the service, or because it is getting warm weather. Most of this very noticeable inertia is due to the "movie" anyhow. Let's stir up a little pep and make these remaining five weeks the biggest and fullest of the entire year.

:--:--:--:

That was a great victory over U. T. last Saturday, even if the game was an "eleven act farce". Most everyone knows who the "farcers" were.

The sad news of the death of Ralph Young was a great blow to his many friends. Mr. Young was a man of high moral excellency and was loved and respected by all who knew him. The Echo extends condolences to the bereaved family and friends.

INTERCOLLEGIATE TENNIS TOURNAMENTS

At a meeting of the boy tennis enthusiasts several days ago, plans were discussed for an intercollegiate tennis tournament, perhaps with Tusculum, Milligan and Carson-Newman colleges. The following committee was appointed to make arrangements: Lloyd, Weisbecker, Belt, Cooper and Stiles.

With a number of old varsity tennis players and several new men who show good form in practice out for berths on the teams, prospects appear very bright for a successful season. A local tournament will be held first, and the winners in it will be entitled to participate in the intercollegiate tournament.

All men who can play tennis are urged to participate in the preparatory games as well as the tournaments in order to make the competitions for championship as exciting and interesting as possible. The players will have to furnish only their rackets and tennis balls; nets will be provided and the courts will be kept in good shape. Every tennis player should try out.

It is understood that efforts are being made to arrange for a girls' tennis tournament also.

VESPER SERVICE

The text of the Vesper sermon is found in Acts 12:7, "Behold, the angel of the Lord came upon him, and he smote Peter on the side, and raised him up, saying, Arise up quickly. And his chains fell off from his hands".

In a very impressive way, Dr. Stevenson described Peter's deliverance from prison, and also the scene in the house of Mary where many were come together to pray for Peter.

This incident in the life of the Apostle is full of suggestion for the Christian's meditation as was shown by the speaker. He said that each one is in a prison of a human nature whose tendencies are toward evil. A higher power than any worldly one is needed to break the chains of bad habits. If it took divine power to rescue Peter, how much greater need of this power to deliver those who are dead in sin? The one certain means of rescue is prayer to a prayer answering God. Friends should be remembered in prayer as well as the individual himself. Everyone is dear to God and He will answer and deliver if the person responds as he is directed. No matter how great the sin or how deep the despair, it is possible for God to transform that life. Let no one give up and become despondent until he has tried God. Nothing should be allowed to come between a person and a Christian life.

PREP GRADUATES TO HAVE COMMENCEMENT

Early last fall the faculty decided to break the old custom of handing the preparatory graduates their diplomas from the office and, instead, to give them the honor of a commencement exercise similar to the regular high school commencements. This year in place of graduating in the office, the Fourth Preps will receive their diplomas from the chapel rostrum on Friday night, May 31st.

Two orations will be given; one boy and one girl, each chosen in open contest, will represent the class. Rev. Roy E. Vale of Knoxville will deliver the commencement address, and Prof. Ellis will present the diplomas.

OPEN AIR SERVICE HELD BY Y. W. C. A.

Sunday afternoon at four o'clock the members of the Y. W. C. A. gathered in the pine grove below "The House in the Woods" for a service in the open air. The quiet and beauty of the spot created a religious atmosphere that made the service, "God's Great-Out-of-Doors" particularly impressive. The service consisted of quotations from the scripture and the poets and song responses. After a short stroll among the trees the girls sat down behind the house and were served with a light supper.

MARYVILLE TAKES FIRST AND MILLIGAN SECOND IN TWO-GAME SERIES PLAYED HERE

Football Field Scene of First Battle Which Was a Victory For M. C., 7-1. Milligan Gets 27 Hits Next Day, Running in 17 Scores to Maryville's 7.

On Tuesday, April 3, Maryville beat Milligan College 7-1. It was not decided to play the game until the last minute as it had rained for the most of the two days. As it was the game had to be played on a diamond hastily marked off on the football field. The nature of the field and weather made the play at times slow.

LaRue pitched the best ball of the season seen here when he held his opponents hitless for 7 innings, but eased up and allowed them one run and two hits in the last two innings. Six innings saw the visitors go down in 1-2-3 order. Only five saw first base. In the third LaRue was hit by a pitched ball. Wagner, Lowry and Scruggs hit in succession, Ruble sacrificed, Taylor hit Dawson and Bryson forcing in runs and McCall and LaRue hit singles. This gave M. C. 6 runs and after that the result was never in doubt. Their one run came on an error, a hit, a fielder's choice and a passed ball by Bryson.

The following day Milligan triumphed over M. C. by the large score of 17-7. It was a batting bee from the very start, 27 hits being made by the two teams. Smith started the game for Maryville, but lasted only 3 innings when he was taken out with the score tied. Pugh pitched the remainder of the game but he was hit hard, yeilding a triple, 3 doubles and 9 singles. Each team made many errors and most of them helped in the score. Ford was the batting star of the game, and in fact of the season. He knocked a home run, a triple and two singles out of 5 times at bat. Every visitor except one got a hit. Ruble and Bryson did good stick work for M. C. Milligan was able to bunch hits and this coupled with 8 errors enabled them to win.

DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM RENDERED AT CHAPEL

Last Friday morning at chapel, the students were again delightfully entertained by the orchestra and the Music and Expression Departments. After the usual devotional exercises were finished the following program was rendered:

Selections by the Orchestra,
"Apple Blossoms" by Roberts
"Sextette" from "Lucia"
Solo, "Slave Song" by Teresa Del Riego, Miss Mary Miles
Selection for two pianos—"Barcarolle" by Shutt, Miss Marguerite Sullinger, Miss Mary Hartman
Reading, "Mrs. Bailey's Trip Abroad", Miss Esther Covert
The dismissal march by the Orchestra.

PRESIDENT-ELECT SPEAKS AT Y. M. C. A.

The meeting of the Y. M. C. A. May 5, was conducted by Ralph E. Smith; subject "Success". He pressed home the fact that success depends upon a life planned through a clear and true working conscience; disregarding worldly affairs. The essentials necessary to success were vividly discussed under five different divisions which were good health, a clear mind, self confidence and determination, perseverence and gentle manners. The conclusion involved a well rounded out discourse with an appeal, urging each one to search for the things that bring about success.

Miss Molly treated the baseball boys white last Saturday night after they licked U. T. Just think of it! She let them "moonshine" in Pearsons and Baldwin parlors until the lights flashed. Some of them never had a date before!

THETA EPSILON

The Theta Epsilon program for Saturday evening was in charge of Miss Minnie Hunter.

After a short business meeting Miss Ora Lawson rendered a vocal solo followed by a chain of current events which were very interesting and instructive. "The Black-Head Chorus" rendered several numbers that delighted the audience. Miss Elizabeth Jones and Miss Cola Turner sang beautifully, "Will You Remember Me?" Clara Wattenbarger read local jokes. Miss Anne Dorsey dressed in appropriate costume walked the rope and gave a Japanese dance. "A modern scene" followed which delighted the audience because of its familiarity.

MAY DAY PROGRAM AT BAINONIAN HALL

The Freshman girls are to be highly commended for the excellent programme which they rendered at Bainonian Saturday evening. It was very appropriate and the numbers well rendered. The hall was fittingly decorated, which produced perfect harmony with the "May-day" programme. Following is the programme.

Piano Solo - - Elizabeth Hudson
May Day - - - Margaret Fisher
Story - - - - - Laura Putman
Piano Solo - - - Winifred Decker
The May Queen - Hazel Cleveland

Earl Martin, '17, left Monday morning for Camp Jackson, Columbia, S. C. He is in the Machine Gun Company. It is probable that he will soon receive his commission as second lieutenant.

W. W. Haggard, '17, who has been teaching the past year at Ishpeming, Michigan has been called into the service. He reported before the local board at Maryville Monday morning, May 6th, and left immediately for Kentucky State University, at Lexington, where he will undergo training.

ATHENIANS TO HEAR PROF. BASSETT SAT.

The Athenian Society is planning a big event for Saturday evening, May 11. Prof. H. J. Bassett will address a joint meeting of the two sections, giving the final one of a series of Athenian semi-centenial historic addresses. Various periods of literary society growth and activity on the hill have been represented in these addresses, since the days when President Wilson entered the society. Each has been intensely interesting and entertaining, as Prof. Bassett's is sure to be. And his address will not be the only feature of extraordinary interest that evening. Every fellow is cordially invited.

Dr. Stevenson delivered the commencement address before the members of the Friendsville high school last Thursday evening. On the Sunday before, he preached the baccalureate sermon.

Rev. R. W. Lewis visited his daughters, Misses Mary Kate and Helen Lewis, here last week. On Saturday morning he conducted the devotional exercises at chapel and made a very interesting address, taking a pencil for an object lesson.

GRADUATE RECITAL HELD MONDAY NIGHT

Post-graduate Recital in Voice. Only Public Speaking Exercise of Year Held.

Monday evening, May 13, 1918, the Music and Expression Departments gave the fourth of the series of graduate recitals. The participants were Miss Margaret Bassett, post-graduate pupil of Miss Staater, and Miss Gail Wilson and Mr. O. H. Logan, graduates in public speaking under Mrs. West.

The evening's program opened with the presentation of three extremely difficult vocal numbers which Miss Bassett, to the graceful accompaniment of Miss Staater, rendered in a most charming manner. Each of these selections was particularly suited to the wide range of Miss Bassett's voice.

Following this number, Miss Wilson delivered an oration on "The Awakening", the theme of which was the need of cooperation in the progress of the present war and for the advancement of humanity. The speaker emphasized the fact that efficiency in household matters was needed as much as efficiency in big business. Women as well as children are doing their part in winning the war and trying to solve the problems of waste, labor shortage, the need of food, and the need of money.

Mr. Logan next gave an oration on "Thought, the King of Powers", in which he showed by proof and illustrations that thought is the power which rules the universe. Different powers were mentioned as being active forces in the world, ranging from the power that causes the seed to germinate to the power that destroys the harmony, peace and happiness of life. Thought is not only master of man but king of all powers. It is reasonable to believe that there exists an infinite One who designed and created the universe and is the Father of the king of all powers, thought.

Miss Bassett gave the final number of the program by singing in Italian, Meyerbeer's "Ombra Leggiera", which was rendered in a masterly manner, and in a way that will leave a lasting impression on the audience.

KENTUCKY STATE CLOSES HOME SEASON

This week marks the close of the baseball season. Kentucky State plays here tomorrow and Thursday. Next Monday the last game with U. T. will in all probability be played in Knoxville. These last games count the most of any as they determine the leading team in this section. It is therefore imperative for all to be to each game. The band will be up to raise a rumpus Thursday.

ATHENIANS BURN BOND CANCELLING BIG DEBT

Bond of $172 Burned Amid Great Enthusiasm. Large Balance Still on Hand.

Saturday evening's joint meeting was an epoch event in Athenian history. Two features of the celebration of our semi-centennial were happily concluded that evening.

First, we have been having a series of addresses by former honored Athenians, picturing literary activities at different periods within the half century; and this was concluded by Prof. H. J. Bassett. He gave a very interesting and highly appreciated address.

The other feature was the clearing of a debt that had been burdening the society. A committee for the purpose had been appointed in January. It had made large plans, anticipating the difficulty of raising funds at this time. But the response of the loyal Athenians here and scattered abroad was surprising, and by the time all plans had materialized the fund was more than sufficient. In the presence of the society and Prof. Bassett, who had just audited the accounts of the committee, Herbert Kiger, the chairman, read a report, presented the cancelled note for $171.96, and, by order of the society, burned the note amid much enthusiasm and hearty rounds of applause.

The report also showed a net balance of $55.97, which the society ordered to be invested in war savings stamps until next year, when It will be applied to certain needs of the society.

L. M. U. VICTORIOUS IN TWO CLOSE GAMES

U. T. Wins Thru Misplays and Errors in a Pitchers' Battle 4-3. On Foreign Grounds Maryville Loses a Double-header. Bryson and Scruggs Hit The Pill.

The third game of the U. T. series was lost Friday 4-3. It was a game featured by misplays coupled with air tight pitching. LaRue pitched a brainy game throughout allowing only three hits while Meek for U. T. yielded four.

U. T. scored three of its four runs in the first inning on two hits, an error by Dawson, a long misjudged fly over Wagner, and a bad bounder thru Scruggs. The only other run for the visitors came in the third when Harbart got to first on a wide throw by Lowry and went to second when the ball got away from Ruble. Magers, next up, knocked a slow roller to LaRue who threw to first instead of throwing to third to catch Harbart.

Calloway connected with one of LaRue's twisters and drove the ball to right field for a sacrifice to Scruggs which allowed Harbart to score.

In the last half of the first M. C. struggled bravely to duplicate U. T.'s stunt. With one down Lowry got to first on Mager's error. Bryson followed suit with a hot grounder through third, advancing Lowry to second. Dawson came to the bat and poled a long double to left center scoring Lowry and Bryson. With two down Ruble hit a clean single between short stop and third but was ruined when Dawson ran into the ball. This made three outs. Had the ball not hit Dawson he could have scored easily and tied the count.

In the third the best M. C. could do on two singles, a base on balls and four stolen bases, was to score only one run. Wagner after making an easy hit and safely getting to second on a force play was tagged out by Calloway when he overslid the bag. Lowry got to first on the play. Lowry stole both second and third and was brought across the plate by Scruggs' single.

Seven errors were made by the Highlanders which of course does not include the more serious blunders in base running.

LaRue pitched a masterful game and too much credit can not be given him, Bryson handling his delivery faultlessly. The team received splendid support from the grandstand.

MARYVILLE—L. M. U.

The first, last and only doubleheader of M. C.'s season was played with Lincoln Memorial University on their home grounds last Wednesday. Maryville lost both games by this. L. M. U. scored 4 runs in 4-3. Smith pitched both games and worked very good. He struck out 12 men and yeilded 14 hits in the two games. He was given better support than is, usually given a pitcher, as only 4 errors in the afternoon's play were registered against the Highlanders.

The first was a seven inning affair as the two teams had agreed to this. L. M. U. scored 4 runs in the first 6 innings and this was enough to win. In the 3rd Bailey lived at first on Ruble's error, was advanced by a sacrifice and tallied on Malcom's single. Malcom was the hitting star for the home team, as his single in the 5th scored Brogden

Let's all take a swim.

Cleanliness is next to Godliness. Hurrah for the pool!

"THE DEEP BLUE SEA"

The announcement that the swimming pool will be opened this week after being closed for months is as welcome news as has come to students on the hill for many days. All regretted the fact that the pool had to be closed because of the coal shortage. That was long ago, and now with the coming of warm weather it is feasible to open the building again for use. It is with a degree of satisfaction hardly less noticeable with which everybody has greeted this glad announcement, than the feeling of disappointment when the pool was closed. Maryville has one of the finest swimming pools in the South, a fact of which to be proud. Many students are attracted by the presence of the pool. It was built largely through subscriptions of students and alumni, and that their purpose may be fulfilled, it should be kept open more than it is. For the past three years it has been available less than half the time.

This year has only three weeks left, yet that is sufficient time for everyone to enjoy to his capacity a good swim. Two years ago the classes held a swimming tournament. Why not this year? A large crowd can be accommodated and will be out to witness such an event. A date can easily be arranged. In these columns last week was an Editorial on More Pep. Why can't the classes get up a little more pep and hold an interclass swimming tournament. The time is short, yet experience teaches that often in short periods more will be accomplished than in longer. Can't we get up some pep around here and hold such an event? The Echo suggests that this be done.

LET THE LIGHT SO SHINE

Early in January the time for "lights out" on the hill was changed from 10:30 p. m. to 9:30 p. m., an hour earlier. Over two months later another half hour was added on so that now the lights go off at 10 p. m. When the first change was made it was to meet the exigencies of the coal shortage. It was just and proper to do our bit. Yet the manager of the city power plant says that the amount used at the college is so small in comparison to what the city uses that practically no influence is felt on the current when the electricity to the college is shut off or on. Because of general dissatisfaction the time limit was increased one half hour between terms.

But what is the situation now? These last three weeks will be the most busy of the year. Events, meetings, graduation recitals, commencement activities are crowding in. Time means everything. It will be necessary many times to hold the lights on to a later hour. But that is not sufficient. We all need, every one of us, all available time. It is not fair to the students to have this extra half hour taken away from them. They expected that it would be given back to them and they have a right to expect it. One half hour for the remainder of the term means six thousand more hours to the five hundred students. It means 750 8-hour working days. Think what that will mean in work accomplished! Since the daylight saving has been put into effect one hour's less lights have to be burned, and one and a half hours' less than last year. Even in giving us this half hour to which we are entitled the college is saving a great deal more than last year. All facts point to this course as the best.

As a student body we believe that we are entitled to this, especially at the last of the year.

ATHLETIC FEE FOREVER!

The financial report of the Athletic Association is published in this issue. It is one of which to be proud. Both athletics and forensics have cleared money. And this in spite of the war conditions, in spite of a heavy loss entailed by the football season when five scheduled games were canceled and longer and more expensive trips had to be arranged. In athletics Maryville has this year maintained a high record. This has been largely due to the efficient management of the finances by the managers and the treasurer. Last year an old debt, approximately a thousand dollars was erased from the books. This year the association has been able to keep out of debt and yet buy a great deal of new equipment and meet heavy expenses.

The Athletic fee has vindicated itself. It has come to stay. It has brought out larger crowds to the games and more money into the coffers. The students have been only too glad to be relieved from the necessity of paying to each individual game. It has put all students, rich and poor, moonshiners and non-victims, on the same basis. If ever a step was taken that has brought satisfactory results, if ever a great step forward in the history of Maryville College was taken, it was when an Athletic Fee was established. May it never leave!

PREPS PRESENT SHORT PLAY AT BAINONIAN

The third and fourth preps had charge of the Bainonian program for Saturday evening.

After a short business session the program opened with a violin solo by Miss Aemilia Rendon, accompanied by Miss Winifred Decker at the piano.

This was followed by a play, entitled "Mary Cary". Miss Emily Wright played the part of Mary Cary exceedingly well and Miss Alice Andes successfully impersonated Miss Bray. Between scenes Miss Elizabeth Bassel played a beautiful solo.

MINISTERIAL STUDENTS LEAD PRAYER MEETING

"Three Life Secrets" Furnishes Subject for Discussion.

The prayer meeting of last week was conducted by the Ministerial Association. The subject selected was "Three Life Secrets". Mr. Martin spoke on the "Secret of Assurance", Mr. Coleman on the "Secret of Safety", and Mr. Logan on the "Secret of Lasting Joy". Special music was furnished by Mr. McGrath and a male quartette.

Mr. Martin gave the evidences of assurance as found in John's Gospel and the Epistles of Paul. He stated that it involves faith, confidence, trust and belief. Assurance results in an active, powerful life, and in a hopeful, peaceful life. This assurance of peace comes through the Word of God. which should be studied by all. Peace to the soul was called the "Arch of Happiness", and the "climax of life". In conclusion, a contrast was made between the assured life and a life of anxiety and doubt.

Mr. Coleman said that man from the beginning of time has tried to save himself by various methods. Some believe there is no God, others believe on a God but reject the teaching of eternal punishment for sin, while still others, think that their good works will save them. But these beliefs are all erroreus. If all life has not been sealed by the blood of Jesus Christ that life has been lived in vain. The blood of Christ is the secret of safety not only for this life but for all eternity.

Mr. Logan showed that there is little difference between true happiness and abiding joy. Men have done this by seeking riches or material wealth, fame and self-development. But joy can only be found in service. To receive the greatest amount of joy, the person must engage in an intelligent, unselfish, and most of all an obedient service. The secret of lasting joy lies in obedience to the divine commands to serve God and to serve each other.

KIDS REVEL WITH MOTHER GOOSE AND BABIES

Theta Epsilon Literary Society met in Theta Hall Saturday evening at 7 o'clock. After a short business meeting the program was turned over to Valle Higgenbotham, who had charge of the program for the evening. She presented a most entertaining "Kid" Program. All girls who were on the program were dressed as little children, Ida Gilbert rendered a piano solo, Mamie Witherspoon read a short paper on Riley's Life. Sue Nuckols gave a reading followed by a vocal solo by Ethel Jackson. Then Mother Goose rhymes were read and illustrated. The program closed with The Better Baby Contest. Mabel Rice taking the prize. Esther Covert featured as the "Black Mammy".

Y. M. C. A. CABINETS HOLD SWIM AND SPREAD

The retiring and incoming cabinets of the Y. M. C. A. held a little informal "feed" and meeting in Bartlett hall Saturday evening. After indulging in a swim in the pool for the first time in many long months they gathered on the upstairs porch and stowed away the eats. Sheeney Briggs and Deck Williams were right there on that. After the eggs and pickles, peanuts and chocolate, plans for the ensuing year were discussed, the retiring cabinet gladly bestowing upon its successor suggestions as to how it ought to do things. Undoubtedly next year's cabinet is much wiser for this confab. A fine time was had by all, all perhaps, except the janitor. The new cabinet besides the officers, recently elected and announced in these columns two weeks ago consists of the following chairmen of committees:

George Callahan, Social; Phil Sheffey, Extension; Herbert Kiger, Devotional; Horace Brown, Membership; Gleason, Religious Education.

DR. GRAHAM ADDRESSES STUDENTS AT CHAPEL

Dr. Graham, a graduate of the Class of 1891, from Fort Madison, Iowa,, addressed the students in the chapel last Tuesday morning.

The speaker based his talk on Samson's riddle as found in Judges 14:14, "Out of the eater came forth meat, and out of the strong came forth sweetness". He said that there are many lions that cross the path of a student, who cannot turn aside but must beat them down. Some of these lions are poverty, adversity, sickness, disappointment, and failure. Success was defined as the accomplishment of the work that God gave the individual to do. Helen Keller was mentioned as an example of a person who has been able to extract "meat" from strong handicaps, which failed to prevent her from achieving success.

LAST Y. M. MEETING LED BY PROF. KNAPP

Prof. Knapp ably conducted the last regular meeting of the Y. M. C. A. in an interesting and inspiring way; subject: "Fundamentals of Religion". The present world conditions are causing many questions to arise. Are men deceived about their progress? Is it true that Christianity has collapsed? Is man's life of little value? The young men are to win this war and think what ed they could do if connected up with Christ! These and other important matters were answered by the speaker.

The grip of Christian faith in God needs to be tightened. One needs faith so that no attack of doubt can take it away. Religion is of more certainty than things of the material world. Nature manifests as evidence of God proof which gives a firm hold upon faith. His power is behind all nature and treats men equally in order to show mercy and kindness.

The capacity of man is greater than the whole universe. Christ came to show man's power and to picture a higher conception of his destiny. Men should die at the battle in support of their faith.

Spiritual power of humanity is lost because of a failure to firmly connect with the power of God. Now is the time to come out strong. Each individual is to accomplish great good, without any knowledge of the results.

PURPOSES AND IDEALS DISCUSSED AT VESPER

Dr. Stevenson at the Vesper Service preached from the text found in John 4:34, "Jesus saith unto them, my meat is to do the will of him that sent me".

The speaker said that there should be in the mind of every person a definite purpose. Jesus Christ is the model and example to be followed. Those who would be successful in life must have a distinct mission as their goal.

As a result of much travel and observation, Dr. Stevenson stated that an English earl occupies a very enviable position as viewed from the worldly standpoint. Yet some of them have lived very worthy and noble lives, because they considered life as an opportunity and not simply as a career. Everyone is able to emulate the qualities that were present in these men, which consisted of modesty, unselfishness, devotion to the right, and consecration to duty. Virtues that shine so brightly in the eyes of men, shine just as brightly in the eyes of God.

Some make the erroneous statement that religion is a failure, but the fact is that religion is the inspiration of the lives which possess it.

In closing, the speaker emphasized two important injunctions; namely, that each person should have and hold to an ideal, which is Jesus Christ; and secondly, that every one should have a steadfast purpose to conquer and to meet the hard knocks, which are sure to come.

Next Sunday the Vesper Service will be held at 6:30 p. m. and if the weather permits, it will be conducted on the Baldwin lawn. All are urged to attend this out-of-door service.

MARYVILLE LOSES TO VOLS. L. M. U. WINS DOUBLE-HEADER

who had doubled. Two singles, a balk by Smith, a sacrifice by Carroll and a passed ball by Bryson allowed 2 more runs. In the last inning Scruggs, the first man up knocked his second double of the game and scored on Smith's single. Both were good clean hits. In attempting to reach third Smith was put out and Maryville's chances to tie or win went glimmering.

The second game was one of the prettiest that Maryville has played this season. Wagner, the first man up doubled and things began to look interesting. Lowry grounded out, but Bryson singled putting Wagner on third. Dawson and Scruggs failed to deliver and even a single by Wagner and a double by Bryson this time in the 3rd failed to score. In the meantime doubles by Bailey and Byrd, a single by Malcom, and a sacrifice brought in two tallies for L. M. U. in the 3rd. A triple by Brogden made another later in the game. In the sixth M. C. determined to tie it up. Bryson led off with a hit and was advanced to third on Dawson's single. Bryson was cut off at home on Scruggs' grounder, the latter getting to first. Both Dawson and Scruggs came in on Ruble's double. In the 7th the score was tied when Lowry after getting to first through an error and to third on Bryson's Texas Leaguer, stole home in a thrilling play. It was not until the 9th that the game was won for L. M. U. Byrd singled, stole second, was advanced by a sacrifice and romped home with the winning run on Owsleys' hit. The game was fast and clean. Maryville did much the best playing, both in fielding and batting, but could not deliver when needed. Bryson was the batting star while Malcom and Byrd did good stick work on the other side.

BRIGGS TO HEAD ATHLETIC BOARD OF CONTROL

One of the most important meetings of the year was held in the chapel Monday evening, immediately after supper. The new athletic Board of Control was elected to take the place of this year's. After the election, one very tame at the side of the last one, Prof. Proffitt gave the financial report of the year, a very creditable one, and one showing a good balance on hand. This report was accepted. For President, "Sheeney" Briggs was elected. He has been a football star for generations, a basketball man, and was elected as football manager for next fall. He should make a fine leader. To uphold him the following efficient members of the board were elected:

Vice President, T. C. Drake; Secretary, John Witherspoon; Treasurer and Official Buyer, Prof. Proffitt; Faculty representatives: Professors Knapp and Ellis; Business representatives: "Doc" Mitchell, and Ed Harper; Student representatives: Miss Edith Davis, Miss Ethel Burchfiel, Horace Brown and George Callahan.

PERSONALS

Leslie E. Davidson, a former member of the Junior Class and now in the Navy at Hampton Roads, Va., is back visiting on the hill.

Miss Beatrice Marshall, accompanied by Miss Anna Jones, made a short visit to Knoxville to see her sister, Mrs. Sims, who was passing thru the city.

The Bogart girls held a sale in Pearsons, Saturday night, in the interest of the French baby, owned by the Suffrage Club.

A similar sale was also held Monday night.

L. A. and T. C. Thomas, brothers who were in school here last year, were back visiting friends Sunday and Monday. Both are members of the R. O. T. C. at Bingham Military School in Asheville, N. C.

Lieutenant J. Marcus Boring, a former M. C. student is now undergoing intensive training in France. He seems anxious to show the Kaiser what a man from Blount County can do. He also speaks well of the splendid work of the Y. M. C. A.

At the regular meeting of the ministerial association last Tuesday the following officers were elected for the coming year; C. V. Miller, President; James Martin, Vice President; E. E. Loft, Secretary and Treasurer.

Joel S. Georges left tonight for Austin, Texas, to enter the Officers' Training School of the Aviation Section. He is the first of several students to be called. He will be with Ernest K. James, a former student here.

ALUMNI NOTES

1910.

Lieut. D. J. Brittain has been transferred from the Field Artillery to the Naval Artillery, and has taken up his new duties.

1916.

Prof. R. W. Carver has been elected Superintendent of the City Schools of Hickory, North Carolina. There were nineteen other applicants for the position.

1916.

Raymond O. Smith, a graduate of the recent Officers' Training School, has arrived safely in France.

"Ma", said little Willie, who had just returned from school, " am I descended from a monkey".

"I don't know", was the hard-faced reply. "I never met any of your pa's people."

After pro-Germans have been made to kiss the flag, it should be sent to the laundry.

NO NAME

You see him loitering on the street
In dudish clothes that can't be beat
Though a Prep.
In foolish paths his mind is set
He spends all kale that he can get
He puts on awful airs, and yet
He's a Prep.

He is, in truth, a cock-o'-the-walk
He apes the wise ones in his talk
Model Prep.
About as loud-mouthed as one could be,
Noisy, arrogant, conceited, he,
Apparently ignorant that all can see
He's a Prep.

A college boy is he, he'll say,
Of college pranks he'll spiel all day
Like a Prep.
His girls and flames he'll eulogize,
To hear him tell it, he's a prize,
He is a big one—for his size,
Mushy Prep.

Around the fountain, windows, doors,
His charms are exhibited at all hours,
Fishy Prep.
In an M. C. cap he lolls around
At any time he may be found
Doing his bit to hold down the town,
Foolish Prep.

For every mischief he is out,
For all the proctors a watchful scout,
The daring Prep.
He is the one who breaks the rules
And therefore a terror to all schools
He usually thinks all else are fools
The blinded Prep.

And when on studying you are bent
And things are as lonesome as in Arab's tent
Comes a Prep.
His yodel announces his presence afar
His rap on the door sets your teeth ajar
But, try as you may, you can never bar
Out a Prep.

He's noisy of course, and arrogant too
But when, out of funds, you're feeling blue
Call a Prep.
With hand in his pocket and grin on his face
He makes you forget what you consider his place
He lends you his pile with a hearty good grace
Blessed Prep

And when he dies, a tombstone plain
Will be his only merited gain
Misled Prep
The epitaph, short, will not lack zest:
"According to Hoyle, he did his best,
'Twixt shoveling coal he'll fitfully rest
A lucky Prep".

G. H. P.

Tonight Dr. Stevenson will entertain the members of the Y. M. C. A. among the 'murmuring pines and the hemlocks' near 'The House in the Woods'. The congregation will meet promptly at 7 p. m. for a feed and general good time. The College Pastor has entertained many other organizations this year and so this evening the best has been kept for the last. All fellows are cordially invited.

The try-outs for the inter-collegiate debating teams will be held this week. From the interest taken so far a large number should be among the competitors.

FOR A BIGGER AND BETTER MARYVILLE

VOLUME THREE | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, MAY 21, 1918. | NUMBER THIRTY-ONE

CLIMAX TO SERIES OF RECITALS GIVEN

Miss Brothers Gives Post Graduate Performance in Music, Miss Covert in Expression.

The last of the graduate recitals occurred Monday night and was a fitting climax to the series given by the students in Music and Expression.

On this occasion the participants were Miss Edith Brothers, postgraduate in Piano and Miss Esther Covert, graduate in Expression.

Miss Brothers opened the program with two highly contrasting numbers. The Prophet Bird by Schumann, gave opoprtunity to display a rare delicacy and artistic finish. Miss Brothers' interpretation was exquisite and revealed a refined conception of Schumann's number.

In noticeable contrast was the second number of the group The Hungarian Dance which revealed the wild and fanciful dance of the Hungarian people.

Miss Esther Covert next appeared in the difficult Trial Scene from the Merchant of Venice.

Her conception of the parts and her impersonations were indeed more than could be expected from one who has not undertaken professional roles.

She managed the difficult part of Shylock especially well and in a manner that made the Jew quite real before us, while she also interpretated the part of Portia with real understanding.

To the ability which Miss Covert displays in her interpretations she adds a beautifully modulated voice which is a valuable asset in her particular line of work, and shows also exceedingly good taste in not overdoing her characters.

Miss Brothers next appeared in a trio of numbers, the first of which was the Leschetizki arrangement of the Sextette from Lucia, for the left hand alone.

It seems almost incredidble that so difficult a number should be played in a manner which made one fail to miss the ever-supporting right hand.

The tone work stood out clearly and the running passages showed brilliant technical effects.

Chopin's Valse Op. 70, No. 1 was given with the simplicity which this number requires and was followed by the much loved and well-known Polonaise Op. 40, No. 1, by the same composer. This final number was the crowning evidence of the wide range of Miss Brothers' talent which found so truly an artistic expression throughout her program.

In the interesting little scene 1918-1745 Miss Covert and Miss Maude Pardue represented figures painted, and typifying the womanhood of this age as the clock strikes twelve the figures come to life and emerging from thier frames give us a pleasing interview between these contrasting types.

Miss Pardue in old fashioned dress and with powdered hair, symbolizing the woman of George Washington's time was quite shocked at the slang of the modern girl.

The quaint minuette as danced by Miss Pardue was brought into stately relief by the modern steps as illustrated by Miss Covert.

While this fascinating interview is in progress the clock strikes and the figures return to their frames.

We feel that the heads of the departments represented in this series of delightful recitals are to be congratulated on the splendid programs which have been given.

DR. WILSON BARELY ESCAPES IN ACCIDENT

Many Killed in Wreck When Limited Goes Into Hudson River. Occurs at Night.

A telegram received by Mrs. Dr. Wilson on Tuesday brought the startling news that President Wilson had been in a railroad wreck and had escaped with minor injuries. A letter dated in Albany gives full particulars.

Dr. Wilson left New York Monday evening, May 13, on the Buffalo Express. While running about thirteen miles south of Albany parallel with the Hudson at about sixty or seventy miles an hour at 11:30 p. m. the engine ran into an open switch. The coach in which Dr. Wilson was traveling rolled down the embarkment and one end of it lodged in the river. He found himself pinned beneath wreckage with other passengers on top of him. After extricating himself he waited with others in the car in the darkness. All were afraid to move lest they should trample upon some one, or topple the car into deep water. Rescuers finally succeeded in reaching them. President Wilson assisted in the rescue work and was one of the last to leave the car. One man was taken out dead and another died just after being taken out. The fireman was killed and the engineer fatally scalded. There were about sixty injured.

Dr. Wilson was cut in the face by flying glass, had a bruised knee and was black and blue all over. With his usual pertinacity, however, he was planning to go on to Columbus, Ohio, to speak at the General Assembly. He is exepcted home this week and his welcome will be even more enthusiastic than usual, if such a thing is possible. The whole college, faculty and student body alike, rejoice that our beloved President has been spared to continue his great and noble work for Maryville.

MUSIC AND EXPRESSION DEPARTMENTS ENTERTAIN AT CHAPEL

The students of Maryville College were given another treat last Friday morning by the orchestra, and Music and Expresion Departments. The enthusiastic applause demonstrated the appreciation of the student-body for these delightful, "after breakfast" recitals.

After the devotional exercises, consisting of singing, the reciting of the 23rd Psalm, and the offering of the Lord's Prayer, the orchestra began the recital by playing "Twilight Hour" by Zamecnik. Next Miss Elizabeth Jones sang a selection by Chadwick, called "Allah". Following this, Misses Mary Jane Hartman and Mary Emma Armentrout played a composition for two pianos, "Impromtu Rococco" by Schutt. Miss Josephine Wicks then gave readings of three war poems, illustrating the spirit of America, of France and of England. These readings were, "Vive La France", by Charlotte Holmes Crawford; "Goin' Home to Blighty" by Robert Service, and "The Service Flag". The orchestra concluded the program by playing "Over There" as the students marched out.

MORE BOYS ENLIST

"Larry" LaRue, Meade Johnson, Edwin M. Sizer and Harry Wagner have been accepted in the Naval Reserve, having passed examinations at Knoxville and Nashville. They will be called out in about two or three weeks and probably sent to New Orleans.

Rush Hickman enlisted in the Navy recently at Atlanta, Ga., and was sent to Newport, R. I. Other M. C. men there are F. G. Cooper, "Red" Parks, Blouvelt, and Prof. Brittain.

Norman Black, Jason B. Deyton, and Wm. Dillinger, left school for their homes in North Carolina last week. They expect to enlist in the Marine Corps at Charlotte, N. C.

"Heavy" Legg and "Mike" Park enlisted in the Marine Corps at Knoxville last week and were sent to Paris Island.

Bill Covington has been called home by his draft board and expects to be with Uncle Sam's Army within a short time.

JUNIORS TAKE SENIORS TO WOODS FOR SPREAD

Annual Event Takes Place with All Present and Accounted For. Big Eats.

Friday evening the Juniors entertained the Seniors at a supper in the sylvan shades of the Pine Woods. The jolly crowd left the library at 4:30. The road was somewhat muddy from the afternoon rain but under the given circumstances skidding was the cause of much merriment. When the crowd finally reached Pine Woods evening shadows echoed laughter more material than the nymphs. It might be said that even sylvan shades have the grace not to breathe the secrets of the most venerable moonshiners, however, enchanting they are; at least no one knows what Deck said to the stranger by his side.

At six o'clock supper was served to the accompaniment of song and joking sally of wit. The feast was one to be remembered.

Fried Chicken
Tomato Salad Potato Chips

Ice Cream Chocolate Cake

After supper everybody gathered around the bonfire and sang and told stories, then sang some more until the patient moon reminded the revellers that it was time to go. So, after a few hearty yells for the classes and Alma Mater the party reluctantly withdrew happy in the blessedness of obeying the severe injunction erstwhile issued, and in thus averting an unhappy ending to the late festivity.

The devotional exercises at chapel last Saturday morning, were conducted by J. Edward Kidder, '16, who for the past two years has been a student at the Western Theological Seminary at Pittsburgh, Pa. Mr. Kidder preached at Alcoa Sunday.

"Tommy Loft preached at the Presbyterian Church Sunday. The college is fortunate in having a man that can fill a pulpit so creditably as our dear Englishman. It was announced that a meeting will be held soon to call a pastor.

SEASON CLOSES WITH KENTUCKY STATE MARYVILLE LOSES A BRACE OF BATTLES

Both Home Games Lost Thru Errors. LaRue and Lasley Have Pitching Duel. Hall Individual Batting Star. Wagner Knocks Home Run. Cambron Gets Broken Leg.

The Kentucky State baseball team blew into Maryville last Wednesday afternoon, and departed Thursday, but before they left they had taken the last full measure of M. C. and with two scalps hanging to their belt, they went to U. T. where they divided two games.

The first contest was an interesting affair in which LaRue and Lasley opposed each other on the mound. Kentcuky State won 6-3. The earned runs were even though, being two apiece. Kentcuky was disposed of quickly in the first inning, with five pitched balls, Lowry catching a hard liner for the last out. Then Wagner, the first man up for M. C. hit the third ball pitched for a home run over right field. The crowd went wild and it looked as though Maryville had the game well in hand.

The visiting team tied it in the third when Hall singled, stole second on Zerfoss' hit. M. C. got busy and took the lead again. King drew a base on balls, was advanced by Wagner's sacrifice and scored on Lowry's clean double in left center field. Later he tallied at home through an error by an outfielder. In the fifth Kentucky took the lead. Thomas singled and got to second through an error. Lasley got to first on another error, while Thomas took third. Hall then delivered a mighty wallop for another home run, which cleared the bases.

Hall was the individual star of the game. He made a home run, a double and two singles in five trips to the plate. Scruggs garnered two singles out of four times at bat. LaRue pitched good ball and deserved better support than he received. The game was simply lost—through errors. Maryville made two lighting double plays that pulled the team out of the hole each time.

The following day the visitors were returned victors, 8-5. Hall the star of the previous day and first man up, tripled and scored on Bryson's error on the throw in from LaRue. Gregg had gotten to first on the play, stole second, went to third on a passed ball by Bryson, and scored on another error by the catcher after Lowry had made a perfect peg.

In the second M. C. tied it through two errors, a passed ball and McLoughlin's single. The fifth was interesting. Lowry singled and tallied on Dawson's double, who went to third on the throw in. On a wild pitch he also scored. LaRue drew a walk, one of the three he received during the game, and stole second. Scruggs received another pass and in a pretty play LaRue and Ruble, who ran for Scruggs pulled off a double steal, but the next man made the last out. Two walks and two errors produced one more run in the 8th.

Maryville had ten men left on bases. It seemed as though she could get men on, but never off. In the pinches she failed to deliver. In earned runs Maryville should have won. As has been the case too often this season, 6 times to be exact, Maryville has lost games through errors and for no other reason. Nine errors in a game are just about enough to lose to most anyone. Cambron broke his leg in the 8th inning and had to be taken out.

THETAS ENTERTAIN ALPHA SIGS SATURDAY

Fine Program Given. Moonshining Serves as Pastime.

The brother and sister societies are allowed two joint meetings a year. The second meeting was to have been held between terms, but could not be staged because of the short time. A committee was appointed from the Alpha Sigma society to try and arrange a joint session with the Thetas. The two committees, after consulting Dean Barnes, and being informed that Miss Molly had control in Pearsons Hall, approached the two Deans and in joint debate finally won out and so the big event was staged at 7 o'clock Saturday night, May 18th in Theta Hall.

The program was short and snappy in order that time might be left for moonshining. The first number on the program was a piano solo by Miss Rice. Then followed a reading by Miss Nuckols. Sue was called back for the second reading. Both were delightfully entertaining. Miss Pink Perry then gave a piano solo. Every one had a chance to laugh when Miss Dawson and Mr. Sheffey appeared as the jokers of the evening. Very few escaped from being the victim of one or more of these jokes. The last prepared number was a solo by Miss Lucille Oliver. We had a few of those exciting extemporaneous speeches. An extemperaneous duel debate took place between Weisbecker and his intellectual superior, Miss Helena Turner. The question was, Resolved: That all rules against moonshining should be abolished for the rest of the year. Mr. Weisbecker upheld the affirmative and after long and conclusive arguments convinced Miss Turner that the affirmative was right.

Every one moonshined, yes not even Measamer, could resist the temptation. All too soon came the signal by Mr. Moore to leave. The Alpha Sigma thanks the Thetas for all the fine time shown them.

THE GOVERNMENT NEEDS YOU MEN THIS SUMMER

Everybody who is not old enough to go to war should spend this summer in some kind of government work. Men are scarce, but the college men can fill a big gap if they will. The announcement in this issue from Goodyear's should interest all. So should work in the munition factories in Pennsylvania, in the Ford and Willys-Overland companies and the new nitride plant here in Maryville. This is a time which we cannot afford to waste. Let all who can help win the war in this method.

"Over The Top" is to be the name of the record book which is being published this year by the Senior Class. All cuts have been made and write-ups handed in. The book will be sent to press this week; it will be completed and put on sale in a short time. The price of "Over The Top" will be 40 cents here and 50 cents by mail. In order to be sure to get a copy, place your order with Manager F. H. Scruggs at once.

PRAYER MEETING HELD ON BALDWIN LAWN

The prayer meeting service last Thursday evening was unique in several respects. The chapel was abandoned for an attractive spot in front of Baldwin Hall. The green carpet of nature furnished comfortable seats for all; the sinking sun in the west replaced the electric lights of the chapel; and the memories of the audience provided the Scripturel esson. The singing was refreshing, and the sermon was inspiring.

Dr. Stevenson led the meeting, speaking from the text as found in Isaiah 13:12, "I will make a man more precious than fine gold". In very persuasive language, the speaker showed that although money or wealth is not to be despised nor neglected, yet it must be kept in its true prespective and occupy a subordinate place in the ambitions of the possessor. The possession of money is worthy or unworthy according to the use made of the wealth.

The speaker next illustrated the fact that wealth is usually estimated from the wrong view-point. The richest man is not a Soloman, but is the most contented person. The poorest person is that one whose life is touching the fewest number of people, and the richest is the one touching the most people in all classes of life. Everyone is judged by God, not by what he has, but by what he is. Man's chief end is not money-making, but it is to glorify God with the riches of righteousness.

Finally, each person should consider whether he has made the proper investment of his possessions. Wealth is uncertain, and a man is soon forgotten after his death unless he has used his money, his possessions, his time, and his abilities in the service of others.

"WE SPOILED CHILDREN" TOPIC FOR Y. W. C. A.

The meeting was led by Miss Genevieve Gibson upon the interesting topic—"We Spoiled Children". The meeting opened with a piano solo by Miss Winifred Decker. The Scripture Lesson was from the fifth chapter of Matthew—the Beatitudes. Miss Gilbson took as the foundation of her talk two essays, one by Tagore to the women of America, and the other by Dr. Samuel Carruthers. The gist of the talk was that the women of America are restless, always seeking excitement, and not always willing to work for what they get. The war is bringing out much that is fine and noble in the women, but there is still the spirit of "spoiled children". We need self-control. In a beautiful story of a white rose that bloomed far more perfectly than the gardener's expectations, Miss Gibson pointed out that we, too, ought to seek to satisfy our Maker and make our lives most beautiful by self-control and service.

FATHER OF TEACHER AND STUDENT PASSES AWAY

Rev. Montgomery May died at his home here last Friday night. Funeral services were conducted at the home Sunday afternoon by Rev. R. I. Gamon and Rev. J. F. Eakin of Knoxville; interment was at Magnolia Cemetery. Special music was furnished by Misses Olivia Brown and Annie McGill and Messrs. James H. Goddard and Robert Adams.

The deceased is survived by Mrs. May and the following children: Miss Estella May of Forth Worth, Texas; Mrs. S. M. Armstrong, '16, who is now a teacher in the preparatory department; Miss Eunice May, a former student, and Sam Montgomery May, who is at the present time in school here.

HIGH SCHOOL WINS DEBATE WITH PREPS

Unanimous Decision Given to Maryville High School. Large Attendance.

An unique feature of the week was a debate between the girls of Maryville College Preparatory Department and those of Maryville High School. The debate proved to be a great success judging from the excellent presentation of the question, the large attendance, and the enthusiasm shown by the friends of both schools.

The question for discussion was "Resolved, that a broad course of study in high schools is preferable to vocational training". The Preparatory Department supported the affirmative, and the High School girls argued on the negative. The contestants on the affirmative were Miss Grace Blank, Miss Ruth Gamble and Miss Mary Bigelow. The negative was upheld by Miss Bernice West, Miss Gaynell Griffitts and Miss Elizabeth Stanley. The judges were Messrs. Sam Johnson, John C. Crawford and Clyde B. Emert. Miss Nancy Broady presided, and music was furnished by Miss Hattie Hayes and Miss Winston Newton. The decision of the judges was rendered unanimously in favor of the Maryville High School.

The discussion of the affirmative was opened by Miss Blank who defined the question and the interpretation of the terms as given by the State Board and the United States Department of Education. She then discussed the first point of the affirmative—that a broad course gives vocational guidance, by showing that qualities are developed which help in future work, that it helps to make a wise choice, and that certain fundamentals are taught that act as stepping stones. The second point was upheld by Miss Gamble, who argued that the broad course is the best foundation for development in the individual. It meets the needs of the adolescence period, it develops patriotism, and it prepares the child to meet the problems of life. The last speaker for the affirmative, Miss Bigelow, showed that this kind of course preserves and fosters national ideals. She said that it promotes government efficiency and true preparedness. It also trains for responsibility and leadership.

The first speaker on the negative was Miss West, who restated the question and interpreted it according to the negative viewpoint. She supported this side by showing that the educational world is demanding vocational training. She stated that only ten percent of the high school graduates go to college, and the rest are unfitted to compete for positions in the business world. The second speaker, Miss Griffitts, claimed that the industrial world demanded vocational training. She contended that the American people cannot compete with the skilled workmen of Germany, that young people are continually changing from one position to another, and that regular high school graduates receive less salary than others. The last speaker, Miss Stanley, concluded the constructive speeches of the negatives, by claiming that the commercial and the agricultural worlds demand vocational training.

Although the Preparatory team appeared to present good arguments and came back at their opponents with convincing rebuttals, yet the High School team possessed the better delivery, which together with their construction and material won the contest. A very presentable debate was given, which demonstrated the possibilities that have lain dormant among the Preparatory students.

MILITARY TRAINING TO BE GIVEN BY U. S.

May 8, 1918.

To The Presidents of all institutions of collegiate grade:

Dear Sirs:

In order to provide military instruction for the college students of the country during the present emergency, a comprehensive plan will be put in effect by the War Department, beginning with the next college year, in September, 1918. The details remain to be worked out, but in general the plan will be as follows:

Military instruction under officers and non-commissioned officers of the Army will be provided in every institution of college grade, which enrolls for the instruction 100 or more able-bodied students over the age of eighteen. The necessary military equipment will, so far as possible, be provided by the Government. There will be created a military training unit in each institution. Enlistment will be purely voluntary but all students over the age of eighteen will be encouraged to enlist. The enlistment will constitute the student a member of the Army of the United States, liable to active duty at the call of the President. It will, however, be the policy of the Government not to call the members of the training units to active duty until they have reached the age of twenty-one, unless urgent military necessity compels an earlier call. Students under eighteen and therefore not legally eligible for enlistment, will be encouraged to enroll in the training units. Provision will be made for co-ordinating the Reserve Officers' Training Corps system, which exists in about one-third of the collegiate institutions, with this broader plan.

This new policy aims to accomplish a two-fold object: first, to develop as a great military asset the large body of young men in the colleges; and second, to prevent unnecessary and wasteful depletion of the colleges through indiscriminate volunteering, by offering to the students a definite and immediate military status.

Later announcement will be made of the details of the new system. In the meantime, presidents of collegiate institutions are requested to call this matter to the attention of all their students. Those who do not graduate this spring should be urged to continue their education and take advantage of this opportunity to serve the nation.

I trust that the policy above stated will have your support and cooperation.

Sincerely yours,
Newton D. Baker,
Secretary of War.

"A PRINCIPLE OF LIFE" DISCUSSED AT Y. M. C. A.

Mr. J. H. Kiger presented, at the Y. M. C. A. Sunday, several good thoughts on the topic: "A Principle of Life", that life which in its advancement and development demands sacrifice of life. The leader spoke of the inanimate nature as not being permanent but passes. The same principle is applied to human society; men give their lives to save others. The service of God demands sacrifice. Many people have buried the powers of their lives among the heathen and have given up their own ideas in order to please the Creator. This principle, this spirit, and no other will win the present war and nothing less will win the spiritual war for the kingdom of God; thus saving the life of mankind spiritually speaking. The one who accepts this principle and acts in this spirit will not hinder but will promote the right cause no matter where or in what capacity he is acting.

RED CROSS ALLOTMENT SOON OVERSUBSCRIBED

The Red Cross drive was begun here last Saturday with a splendid exhibition of patriotic enthusiasm. The students of the college were given a half holiday in order that they might participate in the parade from the West End School to the Court House, where a stirring partiotic address was made by Mr. Lotspeich of the Knoxville Y. M. C. A. and the national anthems of France, Great Britain and America were sung by Mr. Jim Goddard.

The 4000 workmen of Alcoa and Cheoa have pledged one day's work to the Red Cross, making about $10,000 from these two places, which covers the allotment for Blount County. It is expected that with this beginning the allotment will be greatly oversubscribed.

Cola Turner ate a bunch of onions the other night and remarked to Helena the next day that she was so thristy during the night that she had to reach under the bed and get a drink from the springs.

HOUSE IN WOODS SEES Y. M. HAVE FINE TIME

Bone-heads, Crooks, Boobs and Infants Riot with Revelry.

Last Teusday evening the House in The Woods was the scene of a riot. The good Host and Hostess little knew what they were starting when they allured a troupe of blustering knaves into what turned out to be a veritable Armageddon.

The crowd came together no sooner than trouble started. The bunch naturally separted itself into four distinct groups, whose unearthly yells shook the building from stem to stern. The fun was on.

In the cracker stunts the "Infants" and "Boobs" both did well, each cleaning up the allotted number of crackers in about the same time. It is most remarkable how character will out. Even the biscuits of the "Crooks" went crooked. While those of others were hurriedly finding their way to the inward parts, those of Wagner and 'Sheeny' Briggs, who always carry on unholy atmosphere with them, were feverishly stowing themselves away in their owners pockets. In every contest the "Crooks" were disqualified for crookedness. We suggest they organize a Corkscrew Club.

Of the many batties that were fought on that memorable night, perhaps the bloodiest of all was the parlor football. Half of the participants were totally incapacitated. Oxygen couldn't be found to keep them going. The struggle lasted a full fifteen minutes. One team after another went down to unglorious defeat. At last, when man power seemed almost exhausted, the table gave a most remarkably lurch, the ball rolled home, and Victory came to the "Bone Heads". Ice cream and cakes were served, and an hour later three hams were missing from the smoke house. Go to it boys! You only travel this way once.

GOSPEL OF GOOD CHEER IS TOPIC AT VESPER

Due to the inclemency of the weather, it was necessary to hold the Vesper Service in the chapel instead of having it on Baldwin lawn as announced.

Dr. Stephenson spoke on the "Gospel of Good Cheer". He said that this gospel is a gospel of love, of hope, of forgiveness. It is the gospel that Jesus Christ taught a person can be cheerful without lacking spiritual qualities. Cheerfulness is the golden gleam between sadness and frivolity. This virtue is good for friendship, for health, and for individual and social efficiency. The one who possesses cheerfulness and removes shadows from others is a true benefactor.

The speaker further stated that the lack of cheerfulness is due to a lack of faith in God. Christians are commanded by God to rejoice forever. If the trust in God is great encugh, there will remain no room for anxiety or wrong, which are generally about luxuries and not necessities.

In order to obtain cheerfulness, the person must come to appreciate the great boundless love of God. A few final suggestions were given that will help the one who wants to live a life of cheerfulness and joy. The first consideration is to take care of health. One needs to know when, what, and how to eat. Exercise in proper proportions is imperative, and sunshine and pure air are cures for the "blues". In the second place, the person should not brood over the past, and lastly, there must be a definite resolve to be cheerful. Happiness is an accomplishment, and cheerfulness is one of the five arts. Finally, the person's will must be God's will, and God's will must be the person's will.

The used-to-be is patiently waiting for Esther's moonshine to evaporate.

COLLEGE MEN

The Goodyear Tire & Rubber Co., of Akron, Ohio is offering summer and steady employment to college men 18 years old and over on Government work and regular commercial lines. The factory operates 6 days per week on three shifts. While learning operations they pay you 35c. per hour plus 10% bonus on all wages for steady attendance computed in weekly periods. After learning the work which takes from one to six weeks, you are able to earn from $4. to $7 per day and better.

They refund railroad fare of $10 and less in 30 days, and $20 and less in 60 days. They have a Housing Bureau which will assist you in securing room and board at lowest rates.

Applicants must pass a satisfactory physical examination.

Saturday afternoon the Sophomores and Freshmen pulled off another inter-class baseball game and as in most former instances, the upper-class-men came out of the fiasco on top. It was a close and exciting game. The score of 3-1 for the 7 inning game gives only an inkling of the superb playing, excellent fielding, heavy hitting and major league stuff displayed to the great crowd in the grandstand. Pugh pitched good ball and held his opponents safe. Eagleton and Campbell did the slab work for the Sophs. The Fish scored first only to be tied in the same inning, but Callahan's error later in the game proved two costly, when with two down he dropped an easy infield fly.

THE HIGHLAND ECHO

The Highland Echo is a weekly student newspaper serving the Maryville College campus community. It strives to provide fair, accurate and ethical journalism coverage of the campus.

The Highland Echo was first published in 1915 under the editorship of J. Charles Walker, class of 1916. The forerunner of The Echo, the Maryville College Monthly, was published from 1898 until 1915 and is available in the Maryville College Archives.

CENTENNIAL YEAR OPENS WITH MARYVILLE BIG S. A. T. C. UNIT

HUNDREDTH YEAR SEES GREATLY INCREASED ENROLLMENTS FOR M. C.

SIX HUNDRED STUDENTS NOW AT COLLEGE AND MANY MORE TO COME. $260,000 OF THE CENTENNIAL FORWARD FUND RAISED. GREAT PAGEANT TO BE STAGED COMMENCEMENT

Maryville College has opened its one hundredth year under the most promising and favorable circumstances, with an increased enrollment, with a unit of the Students' Army Training Corps, with $265,000 of the $325,000 Centennial Fund raised, and with a spirit among its faculty and students that bids well for the coming year.

Tuesday, September 10, was the opening registration day, but by Monday night a good crowd of old and new students had appeared on the hill. Tuesday and Wednesday they came in hordes, until Friday evening it was announced by Treasurer Proffitt that the enrollment in the college and preparatory departments was a month ahead of the schedule for last year, that 580 students had matriculated. This has since been increased to 600.

It is believed that the coming year will be one of the greatest in the history of the institution. More students than ever before, more subjects than ever before, and a more determined spirit among the students to obtain the best education possible.

The announcement that Maryville would have an S. A. T. C. has influenced many boys to attend. It is expected that at the close of this week over three hundred boys will have entered school. The girls are in the preponderance, however, an addition of 25 rooms to Pearson's being necessary to accomodate the increased enrollment.

In a few weeks the college campus will present the appearance of an army camp, for the boys will shortly become soldiers for Uncle Sam and will receive their training here. The fact that this will be a unit of the S. A. T. C. stands out as the feature of the year. With this a part of the Government's great plant for training men for the war, the coming year cannot fail to prove a banner year.

This is the Centennial year, and as such it should and it must be made the greatest of any year in the history of the college. A great pageant has been planned for next commencement, and plans were la to accomodate hundreds of former students who were intending to return to their college for the Centennial celebration. The war may interfere with these plans. There is very little possibility that the boys in the Corps can take part in this, and it is doubtful whether it would be wise to have it. If the directors should see fit to drop the pageant, it is announced, it will be staged the first commencement after the war.

A greater number of courses are being given than in any previous year, due to the Government's requirments. A number of changes have been made in the faculty and teaching force. Old professors have left and new ones have succeeded. New faces greet us constantly. But there can be no doubt that the most auspicious start of this year points out a most successful one.

The big Centenial Forward Fund of $325,000 is almost complete. Dr Wilson has been so busy this summer planning for the S. A. T. C. that he has had no time to work for remaining $60,000, but he believes that before this school year shall have closed, the goal set for this institution will be reached.

150 MARYVILLE MEN REGISTER FOR DRAFT

Approximately 150 college and preparatory students registered for the recent selective service draft Sept. 12. This total is based upon an estimate of 50 college and 100 preparatory registrants.

While some of the students had filled out their questionnaires for their local draft boards before leaving for school the majority of students registered with the Blount county board at Maryville.

Quite a number of the students now matriculated were eligible for registration for the first draft based on a minimum age of 21 years. Since the registration of September 12 there are not more than 50 students, largely preps, ineligible for the selective service draft.

SERVICE FLAG HAS FIVE HUNDRED STARS

Old Flag Completely Filled. Many More to be Added on Oct. 1. Only Three Gold Stars.

Almost 500 Maryville College students and faculty have answered the call to the colors. At commencement time last year a total of 366 stars adorned the college college service flag. Since that time the white field of the flag has been crowded to capacity with blue stars. Upon the red field have been placed three gold stars, each telling its own story of heroism of the supreme sacrifice made in defense of democracy.

Three elements, air, water and land service are represented by the trio of gold emblems. Lieut. Claude Lowe, aviation, was the first Maryvillian to lose his life for the cause, Cleland Ratcliffe, navy, was drowned at sea following the torpedoing of his ship by a German U-boat, and Lieut. Tom Goddard, machine gun has been killed in action on the French front.

After October 1 about 50 stars will be added to the flag representing a like number of college students inducted for local S. A. T. C. training.

Watch out for next week's Echo. The greatest announcement ever made in the Highland Echo is coming, an announcement that may have more to do with the part that Maryville students, both old and new, both in France and this country, both in the trenches and the camp, both here on the hill and those away, will have to play with winning the world war than any other single thing. Keep your eyes, ears and mouth open.

CAPT. H. B. JOHNSON COMMANDS S. A. T. C.

Has Had Wonderful Military Career. Fought on Flanders Front over Two Years.

Having been in more lines of service than any other captain in the United States Army, having had more experience for anyone his age than any other officer in the army, having traveled around the world three times, journeyed in over 50 countries, fought in the Flanders Front for two years, having been wounded three times and discharged from the British army because he was thought to be incapacitated, and with wounds still open, Captain Harry B. Johnson, the commanding officer of the S. A. T. C. at Maryville, has had a series of experiences of which few men three times his age can boast.

Captain Johnson joined the Fourth U. S. Infantry at the early age of 18 as private, but was soon promoted to a corporal, at that time the youngest non-com in his regiment. He was sent to the Philippines where he remained in his bamboo barracks for three years. As soon as he got his honorable discharge he sailed to Nagasaki, Japan, from where he journeyed over that wonderful land. In May, 1910, he started for the United States by way of the Suez canal, traveling around the world, and visiting most of the great nations of Europe.

Not being able to remain outside the army, he joined the Department of Police and Prisons in the Panama zone seeing service there with the police and Secret Service until 1913. He enjoys the unique distinction of being present when the last dike was blown up in the Panama Canal and the Pacific for the first time joined hands with the Atlantic. He was also on the first ship that went through the canal.

After returning to this country again he was in several other branches of the service. Among them were the Nebraska National Guard, the Washington Naval Guard, the Washington Naval Reserves, and the Pennsylvania Constabulary.

GOVERNMENT SELECTS MARYVILLE FOR TRAINING LARGE MILITARY CORPS

ALL COLLEGE MEN WILL BE INDUCTED INTO THE ARMY OCTOBER 1, RECEIVING PRIVATE'S PAY AS WELL AS ALL MAINTENCE. LARGE NUMBER WAITING TO BE INDUCTED AND ENROLLED.

On October 1 50 or more college students between the ages of 18 and 21 will be inducted into the Maryville College unit of the Student Army Training Corps for military and technical training under the direction of the War Department. About 100 preparatory students, ineligible for induction, will also be enrolled, bringing the total number of uniformed men under training on the hill to at least 150.

Maryville, together with over three hundred other colleges and universities of our land, will compose the S. A. T. C., a corps created this summer for the purpose of developing men who shall have the combination of military and intellectual training that will fit them for more useful service to their nation, and give them such preliminary distinction as will greatly increase their chances for becoming commissioned officers in the army.

This is the greatest step that Maryville College has taken in the past decade, and it may rank as the greatest of her whole history of a century. She has turned over her plant, her staff of professors, and her equipment to the government for use in training young men to become better soldiers.

This is a war in which soldiers are not only marksmen, but also engineers, chemists, physicists, geologists, doctors and specialists in many other lines. Scientific training that prepares a man to fulfil one of these highly specialized duties and the more liberal training that helps to develope the qualities of leadership needed by the officers or administrators are essential elements of military efficiency.

The purpose of the War Department's plan is to provide for the very important needs of the army for highly trained men as officers and technical specialists. The importance of this need cannot be over-emphasized. The plan is an attempt to mobilize and develop the brain power of the young men of the country for those services that demand special training. Its object is to prevent the premature enlistment for active service of those men who can, by extending the period of their college training, multiply manifold their value to the country. It is the policy of the government to keep them in training in the colleges as long as the exigencies of the situation in Europe will permit.

The details of the plan are many, but a brief sketch of them will serve the purpose. All college students over 18 years of age may be voluntarily inducted into military service on October 1. All college students physically unqualified for even limited service, all under 18 years of age, together with the preparatory students will have the opportunity of enrolling in the S. A. T. C. and receiving the benefits of the training afforded the inducted men.

Every student inducted into the S. A. T. C. will be a regular soldier in the United States Army, in active service, with the rank of private; will be under military discipline and prescribed instruction; will live in Carnegie Hall as at a military post; and will receive housing, food, clothing, medical attention, and private's pay.

Captain Harry B. Johnson, a man with a wide experience in army life, will be the commanding officer of the corps, assisted by such other officers as the War Department may see fit to send here. He will have three schools under his charge; the University of Tennessee, Lincoln Memorial University, and Maryville. An article about him appears in another column.

The War Department has directed that the student-soldiers of the S. A. T. C. shall have every week eleven hours of military drill, and fourteen hours of college recitations for which recitation twenty-eight hours of study are required. Three of the fourteen hours may be chosen from any course in the college curriculum, but the remaining eleven hours must be elected from the following subjects: "English, French, Mathematics, Physics, Chemistry, Biology, Geology, Geography, Topography and Map Making, Meteorology, Astronomy, Hygiene, Sanitation, Descriptive Geometry, Mechanical and Freehand Drawing, Surveying, Economics, Accounting, History, International Law, Military Law, Government, Physiology and Psychology".

A "War Aims Course" is also required by the government and must be taken by all the S. A. T. C. men.

Upon the character of the work done by the student-soldier in these courses will largely depend his advancement in rank in the army and his assignment to the line of service that he may prefer.

The policy of the War Department will be to transfer the S. A. T. C. soldier as the requirements of the service demand, and such transfer will be made in one of the following ways: (a) he may be transferred to a central officers' training camp; (b) he may be assigned to a non-commissioned officers' training school; (c) he may be assigned to the school where he is enrolled for further intensive work in a specified line for a limited specified time; (d) he may be assigned to the vocational training section of the Corps for technician training of military value; (e) he may be transferred

YOUR PAPER

"The Newiest College Sheet in the South" are the words found on the front page of this issue underneath the name of the paper. As emblematic of what this issue contains, it is true. Whether or not it will remain true in the future issues will be a matter depending largely on the students. This is the student publication, the only one now on the hill. One after the other, the annual and the college monthly have died, until today the Echo is the sole medium for voicing students ideas. As an influence on the hill, the Echo stands second) to nothing. From its start three years ago, to the present, the subscription has steadily grown, the name of the paper has become more widely spread, the influence of the Echo among the students on the hill make it unemboldened to say that it is the greatest student activity Just consider for a moment what this hill would be without the Echo. Even a little time spent on this question is enough to answer the question.

With this issue the Fourth volume of the Highland Echo begins, an earlier start than has ever been known before, and with greater prospects for its success than in any year previous. The issue is bigger than ever before. Never has there been an eight page issue. Never have the students received so much for their money. The price has not advanced. The high cost of living has not struck the paper yet. There is no reason why the subscription list of last year should not be greatly increased. The arguments for taking the paper are too well known to need enumeration here. What we do desire to say, is that this is the students' paper, and as such should be in the hands of every student. Roommates should not sponge off one another. Upon the loyalty of each individual in school depends the fate of this year's Echo.

We believe that all students will back us. We believe that they will heartily enjoy this first issue and the succeeding ones. But something more than enjoyment is needed. The subscription list must be gotten this week so that the regular number of issues may be made.

This week a free copy will be given each student, but only one. Other copies will be sold for ten cents a copy. They will go fast, as only a limited number will be printed, and it will be wise to get all you want now. Pay your dollar to the business manager this week, as we cannot guarantee that you can get an issue at a later date.

TWO NEW EDITORS

Two new offices have been created in the Echo this year, the offices of Religious and Musical editors. The duties of the former will be to handle all the vesper services, the prayer meetings, and the chapel talks. The February meetings will also come within his jurisdiction. The musical editor will have under her care all the chapel musical exercises, the graduation recitals, the orchestra, and the Lyceum numbers that are musical. The Echo considers itself fortunate in being able to find two persons so competent to take these responsible positions. Cedric Miller was a reporter on the Echo last year, and his experience eminently fits him for handling the religious news. Miss Winifred Decker as the musical editor is well able to take care of her end of the paper, as her wide range of experience as a teacher of piano fits her admirably for the work. We believe that the selection of these two will be approved by the students, and that they will commend the wisdom of creating these two offices.

* * * * *

Theres hould be no need to urge that every student who can ought to join the S. A. T. C. The advantages of the Government's plan are too obvious, and the benefits too plain to need any urging on our part. But it might not be amiss to say that the commendation of every student, old and new, both here and absent, should be given to the college authorities for deciding o offer this college as a place to train young men for the army.

In next to the concluding issue of the Echo last spring, a letter from Secretary of War Baker was printed, briefly telling the Government's new arrangement whereby the college men would be kept in school. The leading editorial in the Commencement issue of the Echo urged upon the college the adoption of the plan, and upon the boys the necessity of coming back to school.

At that time there were many objections to the plan, but these have gradually been overruled, until now we can easily see that Maryville took her greatest step of this decade when the college authorities decided to adopt the plan.

The large number of men, enlisted and enrolled, prove that the students are glad that Maryville has fallen in line with the War Department. The Government is well pleased with the conditions here. The friends and alumni should be pleased. The soldier boys should take even a greater pride in Maryville for this act, and it should make them fight harder when they know that hundreds of boys are back of them and coming on from this hill.

THE NEW ECHO BUSINESS MANAGER

In the person of T. C. Drake, the Echo has as a business manager one who can competently fill the shoes of Phil Sheffey who was elected to that position last spring, but who has since joined the army engineers and is now in Chattanooga. For the larger part of the summer the business affairs of the Echo were hanging fire for it was not known who could take the place of the absent business manager-elect, but some two or three weeks before the opening of school, Drake was chosen and the student body should feel elated that a man with so much business ability should be chosen. Drake has been active in athletics since his arrival in Maryville two years ago, having won his letter in basketball and baseball and being one of the main subs for football. He is at at present only a Junior, but the fact that he has so much pep combined with his intimate acquaintance with the business men of Maryville due to his living here, all unite to make him the logical man for the place. We all trust and hope that this year may be a successful one from the business standpoint, and we extend to the new manager the best of wishes.

HEROIC ACTION OF "SCHNITTER" ELLIS

Thrilling Story of His Bravery as San Diego Was Sunk by U-Boat.

"As the ill-fated ship settled to her final resting place beneath the waves one solitary figure remained aboard. Standing stiffly at attention with his hand raised in farewell salute, the quartermaster of the San Diego went down with his ship." Thus did the laconic daily press announce the heroic death of Edwin Ellis, member of the Centennial class, following the sinking of his ship, the San Diego, by a German U-boat.

The Echo rejoices to add, however, that "Schnitter" was not lost at sea, but after four hours spent in the water he was picked up, almost unconscious. The story of his survival comes as most welcome news to his many friends on college hill and elsewhere.

As befitted a true sailor and a brave man he remained at his station, although the craft was fast settling, until ordered by his officer to leave the ship. Removing his shoes "Schnitter" plunged into the sea.

Sustained by his life preserver he drifted for more than four hours, before being picked up by a passing ship, the U. S. Maldor No greater evidence of love for country, and manly hardihood could be told of than "Schnitter's" contribution to the heroic annuals of history.

In recognition of his heroic deed, coincident with the sinking of the San Diego, navy officials have authorized his transfer to the mosquito fleet in service "over there". This was indeed an honor as the personnel of the mosquito fleet is composed entirely of veterans and is considered the elite service of the navy. He was also awarded an advancement in ranking.

During his sojourn on the hill "Schnitter" was one of the most popular and universally admired men of the entire student body. We are not surprised that "Schnitter" covered himself with glory, rather, we expected it from him. His home is in Maryville. He is the son of Mr. J. N. Ellis of Ellis-Chandler Company, and nephew of Prof. Ellis of this college. He came home on a week's furlough shortly after the sinking.

DO UNTO THEM AS THEY HAVE DONE UNTO YOU

Even a glance at the advertising in the Echo this year will be sufficient to show that every bit of it concerns business firms in Maryville. In other words the men in this city have been interested enough in the welfare of the paper and the student body to advertise in the only student publication.

Last year all the ads came from Maryville, and this year the business men proved themselves no less patriotic in standing behind the paper. They have done their part. They are expecting you to do yours. They have come half way; it is up to you to come the other half. They have extended to you their hand of welcome; it is up to you grasp that hand. They want to be your friends; but friendship is a reciprocal feeling and you must do your part.

Patronize the advertisers and show them that you appreciate their patronage to the paper. Tell them that you came to their store because they advertise in these columns. Let them know that you are glad they have. Make them feel that they are getting returns from their ads. It is with no intention to say a word against those who do not advertise that we say that if possible every student should buy of advertisers, but it is because the success of this paper depends entirely upon the loyal patronage you extend to the advertisers, and to them ALONE is due any such that you have to give.

The Place to Meet

Mitchell's DRUGS

Captain Johnson says that we must have a military band. So be it! The college has had a band in daysp ast, but the last year or so it has been noticeable that it was absent especially at games. But now that the K. O. says we must have one, we all greet the news with immense satisfaction, for Maryville ought to have one, and it deserves one. The instruments are here, and now it is up to every one that can play to get into the band and show 'em up. A good beginning is over half of it!

CARL BOWERS DIES ON WAY TO SCHOOL

Carl A. Bowers, a Freshman at Maryville last year, died the latter part of last week at his home in Elizabethton from an attack of heart trouble. He was bothered continually last year because of a weak heart, and after a scoend attack that he experienced, it was noticeable that he had lost much of the energy he had displayed previously. At the time of his death he was preparing to come back to Maryville. He was home for a few days visiting after his work this summer in Norfolk, when he was suddenly stricken with the dreaded attack. In a few days more he would have been in school, and is a sad loss that he should be taken away at right during his young manhood. His many friends will mourn his loss, and the deepest sympathy of all the old students is extended to his bereaved family.

Watch out for the start of the Y. M. C. A. memebrship campaign soon. It's coming.

GOVERNMENT SELECTS MARYVILLE TO TRAIN LARGE MILITARY CORPS

to a cantonment for duty with troops as a private.

Carnegie Hall will be the barracks for the men, the third and fourth floors being used exclusively for S. A. T. C. soldiers. The men will all be under regular military discipline. All the hours will be prescribed by the government. Drill will be required every afternoon between the hours of 3:30 to 5:30. For strict attendance at classes, the students will be responsible to both the college and the military authorities. The government means business. It is going to pay the men for staying in school and is going to expect that they shall learn what is given them.

Captain Johnson will arrive this week to look over the ground more carefully, than he was able to do the afternoon he came over from Knoxville. Lieutenant Word, of the Q. M. C. will have charge of the housing, visited the hill on last Saturday, looked over the plant and announced that as far as he had seen Maryville had the best equipped plant to train men for the army of any college or university in this section. The housing facilities, and condition of the cots and mattresses, he found to be first class.

One of the first things on the program for the men will be to get their measurements for uniforms. The government will supply those for the inducted men, but the enrolled men will have to get their own. Major Gillingham has quotations for uniforms already that are very moderate.

FORMER STUDENT AND PROMINENT CHEMIST ARE RECENT ACQUISITION TO THE FACULTY

Edwin R. Hunter New Professor of English. Was Graduated in Class of 1914.

An honor man of the class of '14, a debater of ability who has added to Maryville's forensic trophies on more than one occasion, ex-editor of the college Monthly, ex-president of the Athenian literary society and incidentally a Master's degree from the University of Chicago are a few of the many credentials which accompany Edwin R. Hunter, professor of English, to Maryville.

Professor Hunter is one of the most recent acquisitions to the college faculty. He hails from St. Louis, Mo., where for the past two years he has rendered efficient services as English instructor in the East St. Louis High School. After graduating from Maryville in 1914 he accepted the professorship of English and Science on the staff of the Evansville Junior College, Evansville, Wis.

Prof. Hunter was introduced to the familiar fact that "a noun is a name" at Reno high school, Reno, Ill., (we don't know exactly how many years ago) and since that time has toiled upward thru prepdom channels of the Greeneville College, Greeneville, Ill., where he also completed his freshman year. Prof. Hunter entered Maryville in his sophomore year and graduated with the class of 1914. During his senior year he piled up a record yearly grade of 97 percent.

Shortly after graduation he enrolled in the graduating school of the University of Chicago where he annexed a Master's degree in less than nine months.

Although Prof. Hunter brings many merited recommendations with him to Maryville possibly the greatest tribute to his excellent qualities is expressed in the comment of Dr. Wilson, president of the college, who says: "We consider the college very fortunate in securing the services of a man of Prof. Hunter's worth".

MISS CALLIE MAY BLISS NEW HOME EC TEACHER

Miss Callie M. Bliss, head of the Home Economics Department, hails from Coggin, Iowa. She is a graduate of the Home Economics department of the Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa. Miss Bliss comes here highly recommended, having had several years experience in this branch of educational work. Previous to becoming a member of this faculty she served as head of the Home Economics department of the Morningside College, Ohio.

Miss Mary S. Houk, B. A., will teach the prep Latin. Miss Lois C. Wilson, daughter of Dr. Wilson will be the physical director for the young women and will also teach English and Bible. Miss Harriet Gregg is the new vocal teacher, taking the place that Miss Staater has filled for the last three years. James C. Hopkins, B. S. Agr., will teach Agriculture for both preparatory and college students. Miss Anna Jones besides acting as the secretary to the President, is also assistant registrar. Miss Clemmie Henry has been selected as the Associate Scholarship Secretary. Miss Elizabeth Smith is the new Assistant Librarian, while Cedric Miller will be the student assistant.

Mme. Dennee has been made the professor of French, instead of teacher of French and German in both the college and preparatory departments. Miss Mary Alexander has severed her connection with the school, as has Miss McCampbell.

A snappy snap last night. Huh

Edgemon is still the mail man, he has not reached the "female" stage yet.

Leavenworth of Olivet College Becomes Professor of Chemistry. Noted Author.

W. S. Leavenworth, until recently of Olivet, Mich., widely and favorably known in the world of chemical research, author of numerous scientific works and a member of several leading scientific research societies, has been secured as professor of chemistry.

Prof. Leavenworth comes to Maryville as a veteran of his profession having, for the past 20 years, served two professorships in chemistry in his home state. He is a graduate of Hamilton College, New York and has also completed post-graduate work at Harvard University and at the University of Chicago during which time he acquired the degrees of Bachelor of Science and Master of Science.

In 1889 Prof. Leavenworth began his educational work as instructor of chemistry and physics at Ripon College, Ripon, Mich., where he served for 5 years. For the past 15 years he has been professor of chemistry at Olivet College. Here he made the acquaintance of Prof. Knapp, who also served on the Olivet faculty staff for many years. It was upon the instigation of Prof. Knapp that Prof. Leavenworth accepted a position here.

"Qualities of Analaysis" is the subject of a chemistry text book written by Prof. Leavenworth which has been adopted in many of the leading institutions of the country. The professor-author was at one time also attached to the staff of the central research laboratory of the Aetna Explosive Company in the capacity of expert chemist. He is a member of the following scientific societies: American Chemical society, Electrical society, Chemical society, and the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Although he has had very little opportunity to become thoroughly acclimated and imbued with the "Maryville Spirit" Prof. Leavenworth stated to a representative of the Echo that he "believed Maryville College afforded rare opportunity for worth-while work." Also that he "particularly admired the student body" and that the "working conditions were excellent."

Prof. Leavenworth expects to have his family here shortly with the exception of one son who is in service with the aviation corps.

PREP AND COLLEGE BIOLOGY SEPARATE

Miss Anne Pleasants, '17, has been engaged as the prep biology teacher and she has entered upon her duties. Miss Green will handle all the college work, while Miss Pleasants will take care of the immense throng of prep students who have elected the course. This is in keeping with the decision made by the directors at their meeting in June to utterly separate the college from the preparatory department, and have no teachers in the prep be professors in the college. This would put Maryville on a higher plane. But the coming of the S. A. T. C. destroys the hope of that at present, but in the case of biology it has been found feasible to retain the system adopted by the directors.

ALL AT AKRON

A good-sized Maryville bunch has been working this past summer in the Goodyear Rubber plant at Akron, Ohio, and several have returned to school with their pockets jingling with the "wherewithal". The Maryville bunch consisted of "Doc" Ruble, John Montgomery, "Red" Sprinkle, Bob Frow, John Chandler, Troy Lane, William Lippert, Oscar Stanton, and Mason Mann. Margaret Webb, a former student at the college was also employed at the plant.

MAJORITY OF STUDENTS ARE TAKING FRENCH

Over half the students at Maryville are taking French this term, until this subject bids fair to take the time of some half-dozen teachers. In the college department the course in conversational French given three hours a week is being taken by ninety per cent of the boys in the S. A. T. C. Two French 1 classes are being given and one French 4. Between these Madame will be kept busy.

In the prep department there are five French 1 divisions of 35 students each, instead of two as it was thought would be necessary. There is a French 2 class besides, and with six classes in the prep and five in the college, French stands at the head of the list. "Parlez-voulezing" will soon be the style everywhere and the Maryville students evidently do not intend to remain in the background. Miss Mary Kate Lewis will teach the prep French.

The remarkable feature is that over half the students are taking French now, and most of those that are not taking it have had it. This abnormal condition, for it must be called that, is due of course to the war, for the importance of studying French is more and more apparent every day.

But don't you feel sorry for those teachers?

FORMER PROFESSOR JOHNSON MARRIED

Now a Lieutenant at Camp Lee. Popular Teacher at Maryville for Two Years.

Good looking people always get married, as is proven by the fact that Lieutenant William L. Johnson, formerly associate professor of Social Science and History in Maryville College was married on June 12, 1918 to Miss Irene Walton, at the home of the bride in Highland, Kansas.

So goes it. For two years Professor Johnson was at Maryville, where he made hundreds of friends. He came here in 1915 and left at the close of his second year, in 1917, intending to study at the Rice Institute the following year and then return to Maryville for this the Centennial year. But he volunteered for the army a year ago this summer, and he has risen from the ranks to that of an officer since his induction into the service. He won his commission last spring, took unto himself a wife about the same time, and report has it that not content with these two accomplishments, he adorned himself on his upper lip. He is now stationed at Camp Lee, Petersburg, Va.

As the debating coach we were well acquainted with him, having won the larger part of the contests for which he coached us. He was a leader for the students, and his manly Christian life was a fine example for the many friends he had on the old hill.

The Echo, speaking in behalf of his friends all over the country who have known him at Maryville, tenders to him the heartiest congratulations and best wishes for the future, and hopes that he may do his share for the World in this great fight against tryanny, and then come back for a life of service and usefulness to Maryville.

Professor, can't you come back, and visit us your next furlough? We all want to see you and your wife. Come on, we'll show you a good time.

CAN YOU IMAGINE GUS JONES TEACHING?

Gussie Jones, an "old" member of the Centennial class, is now teaching school. She was graduated this past June from Anderson College in Anderson, S. Car., having attended this Junior college for the past year. The first two years of her collegiate course were spent at Maryville.

MANY CHANGES IN CURRICULUM MADE NECESSARY FOR COLLEGE AND S. A. T. C.

War Aims, Meteorology, International Law and Other Subjects Required by Government. College Drops German, Greek, Logic, Sociology and Adds Spanish.

A larger number of changes have been necessary by Maryville becoming a unit of the S. A. T. C. than have every occurred in any one year before this. The Government has given out a list of subjects that the inducted men must take, allowing them the choice of only one subject not on that list. Several new courses have been added because the Government requires it, while the war has also affected the regular collegiate studies.

WAR AIMS

The following extract from the bulletin of the War Department regarding the War Aims Course will explain its nature and purpose.

"The Committee on Education and Special Training of the War Department has decided to include as an integral part of the work of all members of the Student Army Training Corps a course on the remote and immediate causes of the war as expressed in the governments, philosophies, and literatures of the various states on both sides of the struggle. The purpose of this course is to enhance the morale of the members of the Corps by giving them an understanding of what the war is about and of the supreme importance to civilization of the cause for which we are fighting".

The Government directs that the course shall cover the events leading up to th outbreak of the war in August, 1914, the occasion of our entrance into it in 1917, and what, according to President Wilson's State Papers, are the necessary conditions for a satisfactory peace, the remoter causes as shown by the development of political and economic rivalry between European States during the 19th Century; and the conflict of points of view as expressed in the governments, philosophies and literatures of the various states on both sides of the struggle.

The course this term will be conducted by Professor Bassett, and lectures will be delivered in Bartlett Hall.

PHYSICS

No one is surprised that Maryville should offer physics, and those allied subjects, astronomy and meterology in the curriculum outlined by the Government for the S. A. T. C. Physics has played an important part in the prosecution of the war.

The firing of projectiles and the dropping of bombs are direct applications of the laws of motion. The airplanes, the dirigible balloons, the submarines, and the non-sinkable ships are planned and operated in accordance with the principles of the mechanics of fluids. The motor is a product of thermodynamics. Electricity is used in the wireless telegraph and telephone, the X-Ray, the control of torpedoes, the detection of shells buried in the earth, and of fragments imbedded in the human body. Even that neglected subject of sound has had its part to play, especially in detecting the presence and locating the position of artillery, submarines and airplanes.

ASTRONOMY

A knowledge of astronomy is essential alike to sailor and to aviator to enable them to guide their ships and to determine their location.

METEOROLOGY

Meteorology makes valuable contributions to navigation and gunnery, but it is a subject of extreme importance to the aviator. He must know something of the laws of atmospheric pressure, of the distribution of temperature, and of the direction and force and changes of air currents. The operation of the motor in the airplanes is dependent upon combus-

This year it has been decided know something about the distribution of oxygen. The forecasting of weather conditions will contribute much to the success of his flights.

INTERNATIONAL LAW

One of the most interesting courses of all those given to S. A. T. C. men will be the International Law and American Government, alternating every day. Both will be under Dean Barnes. The importance of International Law at the present time is greater than at any other time in history. As a teacher of the origin of the laws which govern nations, it is valuable for any all-round student. As a clarifier of why the world is fighting, it ranks second to no subject. It will be intensely fascinating, dealing with the great international problems that confront the world. This together with the Government, a course in Civics giving the ideals and purposes that have animated our nation since its founding, will constitute a very valuable addition to the curriculum.

MECHANICAL DRAWING

It was intended to give a course in mechanical drawing this term under the instruction of Architect Tedford of Maryville, but because only two or three applied for the course it will be dropped for this term but given to a larger class after Christmas. The course is an important one, as it deals with map making, and the drawing of fortifications, and this is one of the most necessary parts of the war plans.

CHANGES IN REGULAR COLLEGE CURRICULUM

This year it was decided to drop Sociology, Greek, German, and Logic, and to add college agriculture, but this last will not be given in view of the government's plans for training the young men here to fight and not to farm. College Latin will still be retained, and Spanish has been added. The Spanish classes are already large with the probability of many more coming in. Miss Myrtle Rendon is the teacher of both the college and prep Spanish. Born and raised in the language, talking it all her life, this in addition to having taken a four years' Spanish course at the University of New Mexico where she has attended school for the past five years, fits her admirably for the work, and the college authorities feel themselves fortunate in having engaged the services of one so well prepared.

Marion Henry will be the assistant in chemistry. "Little" Moulton is the assistant in physics, while Winnie Decker will teach piano again this year. Carmen Park will act as "flunky" for Dean and keep all the apparatus clean, and incidentally grade papers.

VIOLIN LESSONS GIVEN

Professor Garrett of Knoxville will teach violin this year to all students who wish to take lessons on the "king of all instruments". He will come to Maryville every week to give lessons. Several are already enrolled in his department and more may take up the work.

Shorty Newell gained fifteen (15) pounds during the summer. Do you believe it?

It was quite amusing to see Major Clinton Hancock Gillingham play snap at the faculty reception Saturday. He performed a somersault that was well-nigh perfect in his attempt to capture the elusive one and when it came his turn, he snapped Manager, the heavyweight. There was method in his madness.

OVER THERE

LIEUT. TOM GODDARD PAYS SUPREME PRICE

Killed Instantly in Action on June 1 by Bursting Shell. Was Leader at M. C.

Washington, D. C., 2:10 p. m., June 8.

Mr. James A. Goddard, Maryville, Tenn.

Deeply regret to inform you that Lieutenant Thomas Warner Goddard, Machine Gun Battalion, is reported as killed in action June 1.

McCain, Adjt. Genl.

This was the tragic news received in Maryville this summer, telling of the death of Tom Goddard, one of the most popular men in the city of Maryville, and one of the best known and beloved students who ever attended Maryville College.

Born on June 17, 1893, reared in Maryville, attending the public schools of this place, receiving his high school education at the Polytechnic school, he spent his entire life in the environment of Maryville, and it was only natural that he should enter the college.

He attended West Point Military Academy from 1912 to 1913, but had to leave at the end of that year because of a slight defect in hearing. He was given an honorable discharge. He entered the college, his father's alma mater, in 1910, spent three and one half years here, and graduated in the class of 1915, with the degree of B. A.

While in college he was a leader in every activity, was president of his class in his senior year, and captain of the football team. Six feet, one inch tall, he was a manly man, not alone in physique, but in character as well. He was loved by all who knew him, and the news of his death will cause pain in the hearts of very many old students.

After completing his education, Mr. Goddard taught for two years in the Wheat High School in Roane County. He applied for entrance into the officers' training camp at the entrance of the United States into war, and graduated with honors from that course. He was offered a captaincy, but the fact that a lieutenancy would take him immediately to France led him to decline the former and to accept the latter.

On March 24 he landed in France, where he spent four weeks in special training in machine gun drill, and then was put into active service at the front, in charge of a company of regular soldiers This was an honor, indeed, to be entrusted with soldiers usually officered by West Point graduates.

The third great German offensive started on May 27. Possibly Lieut. Goddard was engaged in all that memorable week when the Americans "won their spurs", as the French said, but certainly he was in action on Saturday, the first of June, for it was on that day, while he was fighting for the great Cause, that his gallant and precious life was taken by the enemy. Of course few details of the battle and of his share in it can be expected, but all the old students know that Lieut. Goddard was faithful unto death. He was killed instantly by a bursting shell, and he died bravely. If he did have the privilege of fighting for several days, we have the deep satisfaction of believing that before his life was taken he was able to strike hard and effective blows for the overthrow of militarism and tyranny and Kaiserism. He died in the discharge of his military duty; and his memory will, throughout the future, be enshrined in the hearts of his college friends as of a hero who gave his life as a military matryr for liberty.

So far as is known, he is the third Maryville student killed since our entrance into the war, but he is the first that was killed in action on land. And his college will place his name on its roster of the immortal ones who gave their lives to others and thereby found those lives.

Dr. Wilson says: "We are sorrowful, but thankful and proud. We know, too, that when Lieu. Goddard's many Maryville soldier friends have heard of his primacy in the sacrifice of life, they will unite with us in saying that there could not have been a more trusted and worthy leader chosen by Death from among the many chosen spirits representing Maryville in the world war".

Theodore Miner has won his commission as second lieutenant in France, where he has been for several weeks.

Aubrey Williams, for several years a prominent student at Maryville, has had a very rapid rise in the army and now has a commission. He entered the overseas service of the Army Y. M. C. A., but he dropped that for the regular army work.

FRATER IN HOSPITAL

Homer B. Frater, formerly physical director of Maryville and a member of the class of '19 is in a hospital in France with a dislocated shoulder, a broken bone, and a number of torn ligaments in his side. He is a second lieutenant, having received his commission after the second officers' training camp. He attended Maryville the two years from 1915 to 1917. His wife is still in school here.

"HEAVY" HITS HEAVY

"Heavy" Legg who enlisted in the Marines last spring, has arrived safely overseas, after hanging up an enviable record in this country, having won a medal for target shooting, thereby being transferred to a better branch of the Marines for his prowess.

Harry Ferntheil, '18, is now in Bordeaux, France. He sailed some weeks ago, after training in this country since the early spring. He was president of the Y. M. C. A. two years ago, and was assistant librarian last year up until the time of his departure.

ENSIGN NOW FLYING

Edward Ensign, '17, captain of the football team, all-round fellow, popular among the students, and one of the best athletes Maryville ever had, is now flying at the front in France. He has been across the "pond" for a long time, getting a commission in the first officers' training camp. His many friends will be glad to hear that he is now one of the lucky men flying over the trenches. Keep your eyes open, and watch t' papers, for any time you are likely to hear that he has brought down a few Hun planes, in the same way he used to ball over his opponents on the football field.

BARBOUR SUFFERS FROM DREADED SHELL-SHOCK

Myron Barbour, a former member of the Centennial class, and now the chief clerk of his division in France, is in a hospital suffering from that dreaded disease of the soldiers in the trenches, shell-shock. He enlisted the first of last December in the aviation, and has been in France for some time. We all hope for his speedy recovery.

Ed. S. Campbell, a former member of the Centennial class, now with the 117th Infantry in France has been in the trenches for several weeks, right in the thickest of the fighting. His many friends will remember him as a leader in debates, literary events, and many other activities.

BOB TAYLOR WRITES INTERESTING LETTER

Last Year's Echo Editor in Navy, Gives Considerable Maryville News. Having Great Time.

Bob Taylor, editor of last year's Echo, enlisted in the Naval Reserves within two weeks after school was out in June, and was sent immediately to Norfolk, Virginia, where he has been most of the time since with the exception of a few weeks at Hampton Roads. The summer has been full of rich experience for him, and he has made an enviable record while in the Navy. He qualified as an expert rifleman, and came within two targets of being a sharpshooter.

As editor of the Echo last year, from December when Judge Turner left school, on to his graduation in June, Bob made the paper one full of news every issue, and great credit is due him for the untiring efforts he put forth to make the Echo one of the best college papers in the South. He is remembered by all the old students as one of the leading men in every activity, and his four years at Maryville were four years filled to the brim with honors. He was assistant in psych, president of the Alpha Sigma, leading man in the Senior Play, and did many other things that space forbids to mention. The last part of the summer he wrote an interesting letter to Dr. Wilson which is printed below. It is full of news about other Maryville students, as well as about his own work.

"Norfolk, Va.,
August 19, 1918

"President S. T. Wilson,
Maryville College,
Maryville, Tenn.

"My dear Dr. Wilson:

"I was very glad indeed to receive your letter of the 15th inst. today and to learn of the plans of the college for this year. That Maryville is planning to do her part in the organization of the S. A. T. C. is indeed interesting news.

"I had not heard before of the death of Henry Sentelle. He was a fine fellow and a good friend of mine. I was very sorry to learn of his death.

"One runs across Maryville men everywhere. Today I saw a familiar face in camp. It was Paul Lawyer who was a classmate of mine in the freshman year. He has been in the navy for over a year. He is now a second class storekeeper.

"Prof. Brittain and "Red" Parks are in the Signal School at Hampton Roads. I was in training there for a month, but did not see them for I had to leave hurriedly the day after I learned they were there.

"Marvin Price and Rush Hickman got into the Hospital Corps. Both have been detailed to dispensaries, the former at Washington, D. C. and the latter at Annapolis, Md. Luther McCurry is here preparing to take an examination for entrance into the Officers' Material School.

"My training, consisting of drilling, rowing, swimming, and shooting for one week at the Virginia Beech rifle range has been very interesitng. I do not expect to get into any special branch before going to sea. In fact I shall not likely be given an opportunity to do so. At present I am at a sea-going camp for further transportation. One can never tell when or where he will be called, but I expect to be "darfted out" on ship at anytime. I like the navy fine and am glad I am in the service With best wishes,

"Respectfully yours,
"Robert L. Taylor.

"Co. 14. Reg. 3, Camp Farragut,
"St. Helena Station,
"Norfolk, Va."

OVER HERE

OUR "RED" CANARY

Young "Red" Hayes, who enlisted in the aviation last December, is still at Little Silver, N. J. He was transferred from Texas several months ago, and has been expecting to cross the "pond" at any time, but the latest news was that he is in this country. He was a member of the present senior class, business manager of the Chilhowean, a football player, and leader in many other college activities. Undoubtedly he was the most popular fellow on the hill, being in the center of every thing that the boys did. His two sisters have both returned to college again this year.

A WEEPING MIKE

"Mike" Park, properly known in the catalogue as Hillary, has been kept on this side of the ocean despite his earnest protest to be taken across. He is at Paris Island, Charleston, S. C., and for some time has been driving an ambulance. He was ready to sail once this summer when he received orders to stay. He begged to go, but he was assigned as an ambulance driver and now bewails the day when he ever learned to drive a car. "Mike" has been at Maryville for the past two years, but left this spring to join the Marines.

ED SAWYER MARRIED INSTEAD OF KILLED

Word reached the college office during the summer that Edgar Sawyer had been killed in France, but this proved to be a false rumor, as a card from his parents to Dr. Wilson states that he is a second lietuenant in the 7th Regiment, F. A. R. D. at Camp Jackson, and that instead of getting killed, he has got married, being united in marrige to Miss Pearl Jones on June 22. It was not the Maryville Edgar Sawyer whose name appeared on the causulty list.

The same card says that Carl Sawyer is in Co. F, 306 Engineers, and is now across the seas.

PURDY GONE

Jason G. Purdy left September 5 for New Orleans in answer to the call he received to appear for assignment in the naval reserves on that date. He enlisted the middle of June. He was a member of the Centennial class, being its president in the Sophomore year.

"LARRY" A C. P. O.

Larry LaRue, who joined the navy some time before school was out in June, is now in the dirigible section of the navy at Pensecola, Fla. His experience in the Goodyear factory in the balloon department has stood him in good stead, and he is rapidly rising in the navy. He is now the captain of a crew, and will shortly be made a Chief Petty Officer. Many old and former students will remember him as the leading college pitcher for several seasons, and as a popular fellow on the hill.

Andy Norgan, of the class of '19, is now a second lieutenant at Camp Meade, and is making good. He is near home, where he visits occasionally.

MEADE MAKING GOOD

Meade Johnson, acting head of the cadets corps ever since its inaugueration at Maryville, is now in training at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology at Boston, preparing for a naval aviator. He is now at the ground school. He enlisted in the navy a little before commencement in June, was sent immediately to New Orleans, but now is in Boston. His military experience that outranks that of any other fellow who has been on the hill, has made his rapid rise a certainty, and every student will be proud that he is making an enviable record.

JUDGE TURNER NOW IN FLYING SCHOOL

Completes Ground School Work in Texas. Stationed Now in California.

Judge Turner, better known to some as "Red" has successfully passed the ground school work at San Antonio, Texas and has been transferred to the University of Berkeley in California for further instruction in the art of navigating the heavenly regions. He is in the flying school now, and will shortly receive his commission. He was the former editor of the Echo, being elected to that position during the spring of 1917, and acting in that capacity until he joined the aviation the first of December during that year. While the head of the Echo he put out a paper that ranks among the best ever published on the hill, and the college felt his loss when he, together with some seven or eight other upper classmen, left for Texas for service with Uncle Sam. His successor was Bob Taylor, who handled the paper in an excellent manner the remainder of the year, but the loss of so many at that time affected the school in more ways than one. The best wishes of the students, both old and new, and those of the faculty go with Judge wherever he is, and we all hope for his winning of many other laurels besides those he gained on college hill.

Harry Wagner, a Freshman last year and a member of the football, basketball and baseball teams is now at Norfolk, Va., in the navy. He was first sent to New Orleans but was transferred the latter part of August, passing through Knoxville where a certain young lady of his acquaintance greeted him—we are not mentioning how—at the station.

Homer Wisebecker, for several years the physical director at Maryville now a minor officer in the navy, teaching gym. This year we will miss his big hearty laugh, but every student can put it down that he is having a time wherever he is.

Horace Dawson, president of last year's senior class, and a prominent man in every school activity, both athletic and literary, left last month for San Diego where he is now in the navy. He enlisted shortly after his graduation in June.

JIMMY JAMES MAKING PROGRESS IN AVIATION

Ernest K. James, for a number of years a prominent member of the Centennial class, is now at the flying school of the aviation section of the army, having completed his ground school work some time ago. After his graduation from the flying school, and a five weeks' course at a bombing school he will be a commissioned as a first lieutenant. He expects to get a furlough in November or December and visit Maryville. There are still attractions here for him.

Joel Georges, president of the Sophomore class last year, has graduated from the ground school. and is now at a flying school.

Happy Lloyd, '18, accompanied his sister, Eva to school last week. He enlisted in the naval reserves the middle of June, but did not receive orders to report till last Wednesday night. He worked all summer in Knoxville at the University of Tennessee U. S. Army Training Detachment, as an assistant to Ray Sullinger in the buying department. He left Wednesday for San Diego, California.

DEATH COMES TO THREE DIRECTORS

Judge L'Amoreaux Leaves Big Sum to College. McBath and Smith Influential for M. C.

The college has suffered a loss of no mean magnitude during the past summer, in the decease of three directors, the death of any one of whom would have meant a loss to the institution. All three were members of the Board of Directors up until the time of their death, and they have all lived lives of usefulness to their fellowmen.

Judge Jesse Seymour L'Amoreaux, LL.D., died at his home at Ballston Spa near Saratoga, New York, on June 3, at the age of 82 years, throughout his life he was a great friend of the college. In his will he left $25,000 to the college for the Centennial Fund Dr. Wilson spent several days with him on various occasions, and shortly before his death he showed our President his will in which he had left $15,000, but this he increased to $25,000 after reading Dr. Wilson's book, "A Century of Maryville College." He left an estate of almost a million dollars, the larger part of which went to the Presbyterian Church boards. The

In the death of Alexander Russell McBath, Esq., the Directors of Maryville College have lost one of the senior members of the directorate, his service having extended from 1879 to the time of his death, a period of thirty-nine years. During these many years in which the Synod of Tennessee elected him as a director, he was a loyal and faithful official of the College, rendering, until disabled by the infirmities of age, very useful service to the institution. He was regular in his attendance upon the meetings of the Board, and careful and willing in committee work, at one time spending two weeks in arranging some financial matters of the College at the expense of his own personal interests. From 1879 to 1900 he served on the Executive Committee, and attended its monthly meetings. When too old to be active in the service, the Synod recognized his fidelity by continuing him on the directorate.

One of his sons graduated at Maryville, and another almost completed his work here.

The funeral was held at the Second Presbyterian church in Knoxville, his home at the time of his death, by the Reverend John S. Eakin, D. D.

Governor John Powel Smith, head of the National Soldiers Home at Johnson City, was taken away during the summer, and the college thereby lost a trusted and valuable friend. He was a director for a number of years, and was in the class of 1919 at the time of death.

MONDAY NIGHT SNAP WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Football in disguise, more commonly known on college hill as the game of "snap", was indulged in by more than four hundred students Monday night, on the gym. floor, Bartlett hall.

This was the formal opening social function of the year. It was noticeable that only a minority of the new girls appeared in evening dress. While a goodly number took active part in the game quite a few couples, announcing their neutrality, occupied ringside seats or retired to an obscurely shaded corner.

Following are some suggestions which may prove valuable to would-be-snappers in the future:

Bandage both ankles well with tape, wear knee and elbow pads, and if possible procure a football headgear, run with the head well down so that in the event of colliding with immobile objects no injuries will be sustained, smear "old lady" thickly upon the soles of your shoes for adhesive purposes, and lastly, never snap either party of a busily moonshining couple, their tmie is too precious.

DECK AND ZEORA END LONG ROMANCE

Hardly had the ink on their diplomas become dry, before the two most notorious moonshiners ever seen on college hill were united in wedlock in June. The reference is to the two who graduated on June 7, and who for the past decade have kept Prof. Walker out of his office on holidays and have proved a veritable terror to Whiskers. To be more explicit, the persons mentioned are Deck Williams and Zeora Brocklehurst. The climax to their romance, which ranks with the foremost in the history of the college, came shortly after they had reached the bride's home in Pennsylvania, where they both journeyed immediately upon graduation. The length of the romance rivals that of any in modern times, and the Echo is only voicing the sentiments and feelings of thousands of students who have studied at Maryville during the past ten years when it extends to the ride and groom the heartiest congratulations.

Indications point to a large endowment soon to be given to the college by these two moonshiners, for already they have started on the way to the millionaire row. Deck is teaching Physics, Chemistry, and Commercial Arithmetic in the Bluefield High School, Bluefield, W. Va. His wife is teaching iHstory, English and Arithmetic in the grades. Deck adds in a letter to the editor that "Bluefield certainly does have a fine school." We believe it. In conclusion, we hope that they may "live happily ever afterwards."

PROF. DAVIS COMES BACK AS A GROOM

Cupid's darts have found vunerable points, everywhere, but none so surprising in recent years of Maryville history as the palpitating heart of a professor of this institution, a man whom it was thought would be the last to ever consent to have a "mortal wound", a man who as the teacher of a dead language was supposed to be impregneable to the wily crafts of the evil one, a man who never moonshined, but who, on tne other hand was constantly teased by the girls who revelled in their attention to him. The above reference is to Prof. Davis, for the past three years college professor of Greek. He announced at the close of school that he intended to engage in War work of some kind, and that he would not grace the hill this year with his presence, but we were not expecting the kind of "war" that he is entering, and our amazement, to say the least is profound. But that he saw fit to join the ranks of the "benedicts", there is no doubt, for on September 3rd he was married to Miss Ella S. Goodson of Marshall, Mo., at the home of the bride.

The wedding was very quiet, being attended by only the immediate relatives and friends. The ceremony was performed by Dr. W. H. Black, President of Missouri Valley College. The wedding came as the culmination to a college romance, as the bride and groom have attended college together, being graduated in the same class, and even at that time Dr. Black was the President.

Professor Davis is back, and will teach Latin and History, and also act as physical director. The Echo joins with his many friends in extending the heartiest congraulations to the newly wedded couple and the very best of wishes for their success in whatever they may engage. We are glad to have them back, and hope they will stay for many more years of service to Maryville.

Don't that pile of coal by the power house look good? And it will keep on looking better.

The new students were treated to the college song on Friday morning for the first time. That and the Star Spangled Banner made SOME combination.

MYSTIC RITES HELD ON PEARSON'S LAWN

Kimona parade held Saturday Night, Indulged in by Some Three Hundred Girls.

O, say did you see by the moonlight's last gleaming—Saturday night?

Infinitely beautiful, elfin-like damsels, daintly robed in varicolored kimonas rendered Pearsons lawn a veritable fairyland. The first kimona parade of the year was being staged. Stringed music, rivaling that heard on the beach at Wakiki, was wafted to our receptive ears by the cool night zephyrs. "Surely it must be a dream, reality cannot picture the equal of this scene" opined our benumbed male sense. But no! A familiar figure intrudes upon the scene of our reveries. Miss Molly silhouettes' herself in Pearson's doorway.

"Come in at once girls."

A LITTLE ADDITIONAL NEWS OF OUR BOYS

Blaine Crum, business manager of the Echo two years ago has seen active fighting in France and has been wounded once and is now in a hospital.

John Hite is still in the aviation at San Antonio, and from reports received here is progressing very nicely in his preparation for going across the "pond".

"Doc" Brown and Bryson, two former students on the hill are at the ground school of the aviation in Texas. They left the early part of the summer and are almost done their work, preliminary to the flying school.

"MIDDIE" COOK

James Cook, formerly of Maryville, visited the hill the first of the week to take a peep at things. He is now a midshipman at Annapolis, and as the girls all say he was good looking in his uniofrm—we take their word for it and agree.

LIEUT. EARL MARTIN WEDS ATLANTA GIRL

Special to the Highland Echo:

Augusta, Ga., Sept. 13. While congratulating Lieut. William E. Martin today on having been placed on the list for overseas service a host of officers and friends in Augusta today found that there was even a better reason for congratulations.

For upon reciept of orders for overseas service, leave of absence being denied the officer, Lieut. Martin immediately was in communication with Atlanta and today his marriage to Miss Opal Perkins, of Atlanta, Ga. was announced. The wedding had been planned for the late fall, but the unexpected order made it necessary to change all plans.

The wedding occurred Tuesday evening at the home of Rev. Pierce, pastor of the St. James Methodist Church, an intimate friend and former pastor of the Perkins family.

Lieut. Martin graduated from Maryville College, in 1917 and enlisted in the army the same month. He was athletic editor of his College paper, the Highland Echo during his Senior year.

Lieut. Martin was transferred here as a machine gun expert in the early spring and since that time has been recognized as one of the most active of the expert machine gun instructors in organizing Camp Hancock as a machine gun center.

There is still more room for some more in the choir. Step up and avoid the rush.

In keeping with the spirit of the times the first song sung in chapel this year was "Onward Christian Soldiers." May it come true!

Great Anniversary Sale going on. Now is the time to buy your winter needs, such as Shoes, Suits, Coat Suits, Coats, Hats and Underwear, while the prices are lower. Come and See us.

VESPER SERVICES COMMENCE SUNDAY

Large Attendance Hears Dr. Stevenson. Cordial Welcome Extended to All.

The first Vesper service of the year was held in the chapel last Sunday evening at 7:30 o'clock. A large proportion of the students together with a number of people from town, attended this initial service. It is hoped that every student will avail himself as far as possible of the opportunity of attending these impressive, inspiring, and helpful meetings, led by the college pastor.

Before introducing his subject, Dr. Stevenson gave a cordial welcome to all of the students, with emphasis on the all, to visit the "House in the Woods" either with a pretext or without any excuse. He further expressed the desire of Mrs. Stevenson and himself to be of the greatest possible service to the students during the next nine months and in the years to come.

"The Danger of Simple Neglect" was the subject selected by the Pastor to impress upon those present some vital truths. He alluded to a dilapidated building that he saw recently, which was apparently the result of simple neglect. More waste is caused by neglect than by wickedness. Mention was made of the walls of a great temple in India that were built of hugh stones, which seemed to defy the power of man to dislodge them, but which were finally cracked by the growth of a small plant in one of the crevices.

In the same way lives are often wrecked by little weeds that have caused the temple of character to fall down. The test of character is in doing the thing that is not easy. The warning was given that simple neglect will result in certain dilapidation. Therefore, the students were urged to be strong, to form definite decisions, and to hold fast to Jesus Christ.

MAJOR GILLINGHAM LEADS FIRST "Y"

"Sixteenth Decisive Battle of World Chosen as Topic. Good Crowd Attends.

Major Gillingham, at the opening service of the Y. M. C. A. Sunday, presented to each student and visitor a weapon for defense throughout life. He spoke on "The Sixteenth Decisive Battle of the World". The fifteen remarkable and decisive battles of the world were enumerated; then was added a sixteenth, which is the battle that confronts each individual.

The greatest foe to meet is sin sickness. Men are abnormal from their birth, and it is a continual struggle against sin throughout life. One should not only try to avoid the grosser sins, but the smaller ones should be considered, such as falling short of the ideal character of Christ. This is the decisive battle of the world.

People are on the offensive, but can make a defensive use of the same weapons. The home training is a weapon to begin with, and should not be cast aside. The school furnishes a Christian environment and the chance to sharpen ones shield should not be neglected. Nothing is of any use when the divine is neglected, for from the throne of God is the weapon of all weapons. Without a shield from God there is no question but that the battle will be lost, but a sword of the spirit will assure a decisive victory. Major Gillingham closed his talk by urging the boys to take an oath of enlistment to Jesus Christ; then be obedient to it.

FALSE RUMOR OUT OF HANK SENTELLE'S DEATH

This past summer persistent rumors have sprcad that Henry Sentelle, better known as Hank, center on the football team in 1916, was killed in France, but the Echo is glad to announce that the rumors are false, and that Hank is very much alive and is taking an active part in the fight "over there". Many old students have been greatly concerned about his death, and have grieved to hear such a rumor, and to them the news that he has not paid the great price comes as a welcome piece of news. Hank was well-liked by all his classmates and friends, and it would have indeed been unfortunate to have had him give up his life. We all rejoice that he is as well and strong as he ever was.

FOOTBALL CHANCES LOOK VERY DIM

Interclass Games May be Staged. Other Athletics as Usual Under Prof. Davis.

Captain Johnson was called up Monday to see whether he would allow football of any kind. The paper Sunday announced that inter-collegiate football would be allowed if too long and extended trips were avoided. Capt. Johnson said, however, that the men would have to practise on Mondays and after supper, for drill cannot be dispensed with. He thinks interclass games, both football and basketball should be started. Arrangements will probably be made soon for the staging of class games. A good deal of talent is on the hill, and some good teams should be developed.

Capt. Johnson advised that boxing clubs start immediately. This will help the future soldier greatly in his bayonet drill. The K. O. is an experienced man with bayonet fighting, and he will put all the men on the hill thru a right course of bayonet drill. Hand grenade throwing will be taught, and all the baseball men might start in to practise again.

Gymnasium classes are to be conducted under the able leadership of Prof. Davis. There will be no definite schedules arranged before October but it is thought that there will be several series of inter-class basketball games. Inter-collegiate basketball and basehall are promised as usual for the winter and spring terms, but as yet there are very few varsity men back.

FACULTY RECEPTION ON BALDWIN LAWN

"I don't want to go thru that line."

"I wouldn't go over that again for anything."

"Gee, aren't you glad it's over?"

These were the frequently voiced sentiments of the new students they had run the gauntlet of professors, teachers and assistants, at the faculty reception Saturday afternoon. There were no afternoon classes, and from two o'clock till supper the spacious and beautiful Baldwin lawn was the scene of the first social event of the year. To many students it was a new experience, while others enjoyed it for the last time. The "work" was worth the price however, for delightful refreshments awaited them at the end of the line. The great game of snap was indulged in to a considerable extent, and everybody reported a "perfectly wonderful time."

Ten girls from Texas is not at all bad. Sue must have turned misisonary.

Toomy in Physics: "Professor, what are we going to do? There are not enough girls to go around?"

Professor Knapp: "We'll use the members of the Ministerial Association."

We, the management of the PALACE THEATRE, are indeed glade to see so many of our student friends on the nill this year. We feel certain that this the Centennial year will be the biggest and most successful year in the history of Maryville College. We are sure that Maryville College with its increased enrollment and its unit of student soldiers will gain more laurels than it has gained in the past. We wish you success.

Our aim is the same now that it has been in the past, "to make a friend of every student," and in order to do this we have secured for this fall and winter only the first-class pictures. Every drama, every war play, every comedy is right up to the minute.

Our program for this year is full of feature plays. We have taken this space in the Highland Echo for the entire year and our programs will be in this paper every week. We welcome you to the largest, best ventilated, and most up to minute theatre in Maryville.

GOES AGAINST HUNS

When the news came that England had declared war against Germany it went through him with a thrill. He tried to get into the First Canadian Contingent immediately but it had been recruited to its full strength. Finally in November, 1914, he went to Montreal and tried to enlist, but was refused because he was not a British subject. He was not satisfied, however, but boarded a train for Halifax, there sailing on the Cassandra. He landed in Glasglow two weeks later after paying his own fare the whole way and applied at the recruiting office. They wanted to send him to a training school for four months, but he replied that he came over to fight and not to train. He was then sent to the Flanders front, and within 28 days after he left Washington, he was in the trenches, and 48 hours after he had gone over the top in an engagement in which his company lost 150 men. At that time he was with the Gordon Highlanders, of Scotland. He proved so efficient that he was sent to a British Cadet School, serving as a cadet for six weeks at a school where the young British aspirants for commissions absorb what it takes three months in the officers' training camps in this country to learn. He was then commissioned as a lieutenant in the famous Black Watch of the British Imperial Army. Finally he served as an acting captain, but was wounded shortly afterwards and sent to a hospital. He was wounded three times. The first was a shot through the hand in which he developed lock-jaw and almost died of it, being saved only through the faithfulness of his nurse who applied hot fomentations every two hours, and the blackness and swelling in his hand left. His second wound was in the leg, a German sticking a bayonet in his knees. This was in the battle of Mt. Kemmel when his regiment captured 350 prisoners At that time Lieut. Reeves saved his life by getting the German on Johnson's right while Johnson got the one in front of him. It was pitch dark and no one could see. Capt. Johnson considers himself lucky that he even got out at all. This time he was sent to the Etaples hospital in France where he was under the care of an American nurse. The third wound he received was from a piece of shrapnel, weighing two ounces which he has now, it having been extracted from his flesh. He laid on his back in the Fish Mongers hospital in France for three months, and his life was despaired of more than once.

UNDER AMERICAN COLORS

The British army thought that he was unfit for further service and sent him to Canada after he got out of the hospital. But they were wrong, for when war was declared on Germany by the United States, he asked for a commission in our army. He returned as a man without a country, and had some difficulty in getting in. But he was the first man drafted in Philadelphia and immediately the government made use of his exceptional experience, and he has been an instructor in hand grenade fighting and bayonet work for three months each at the officers' training camp at Fort Oglethorpe. He was then placed in command of a company at Camp Gordon, and this summer has been in Knoxville as the head of the camp there.

He is not one of these army officers that holds himself aloof from his men, but he is almost loved by his men. He is not hard to get acquainted with, but makes friends easily.

For the benefit of the girls it might be added that he is only twenty some years old, good looking, and a bachelor.

Y. M. C. A. RECEPTION TENDERED NEW BOYS

Talks Made by Representatives of all Student Activities. Big Eats, Fine Time.

Talks by representatives of the various student organiations featured the huge bonfire celebration staged in the college woods Friday night under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A.

Dr. Wilson first told something of the objectives of the S. A. T. C. Then declaring that the "Y" organization was one of the most important and worth while student functions on the hill, he urgently advised the new students to "fall in line and do their bit toward making the organization's influence an important factor in student life". "Tommy" Loft, the students' spokesman, representing the Highland Echo, talked prophetically of the aims and ambitions of the publication for this year. He declared that the Echo was indeed "The Voice of Maryville".

Bill Holmes, representing the Athenian men's literary society, spoke briefly upon the importance of all new students immediately tendering their allegiance to "one or the other of the societies". "Without indulging in any hyperbole," Robert Adams, representing the Alpha Sigma literary society, spoke of the accomplishments of the organization and extended a hearty invitation to everyone to present at the opening meeting of the society.

Cedric Miller introduced the Ministerial Association to the new students in a few, well chosen words. Lastly, Dr. Stevenson made a brief talk, heartily recommending "The House in The Woods" as a clearing house for all troubles, griefs, and sorrows.

Following the talks came the most welcome event of the entire pleasing program—the "eats". Before adjournment a "sing" was indulged in, led by the vocalistic trio: "Tommy", Holmes, and Adams.

As the conclave wended its way hallward many were the expressions of pleasure voiced by the new students.

"Gee, they do things up brown down here, bud."

"Kid, you said it. They can put my 'John Hancock' to that Y. M. C. A. roll."

With the imperturbable "Smitty" at the helm even the most pessimistic cannot fail but predict a stellar successful year. The unprecedented success of the celebration was largely due to the efforts of Dr. Stevenson, assisted by the following committeemen: Ralph Smith, chairman, Robert Bartlett, Harold Smith, and George Callahan. Ralph Smith, president of the association, presided over the festivities.

DR. GRAHAM SPEAKS

The first chapel talk of the year was made last Saturday morning by the Reverend W. E. Graham, D. D., pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian church. He gave a fitting key-note talk on scholarship and its three qualities: mastery of detail, the drawing of a conclusion, and the application. The speech was simple, plain, and brief, and the student body thoroly enjoyed his address as evidenced by the applause given him.

Y. W. C. A.

The first Y. W. C. A. meeting of the year on Sunday afternoon was full of enthusiasm and helpfulness. It was led by the President of the Association, Miss Grace Bailey, on the subject, "The Four-fold Development of a Normal Life". This old, but new, subject was divided into four parts, which were developed by Misses Helen Brown, Emma Miles, Katherine Guess, and the leader. After a circle of prayers and a hymn we disbanded full of the purpose of the Y. W. C. A. and a determination to follow its ideals this year.

DREAMLAND
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

We are indeed glad to see so many students on the hill for the greatest year in the history of Maryville College, the Centennial year. Students both new and old are always welcome at the Dreamland and we are presenting the same high class productions as of yore. We are now affiliated with some of the finest picture companies in the business, and are presenting only big feature pictures, dramas and comedies, with war weeklies and news reels as extra added attractions. You can be assured that whenever you come to the Dreamland that you will see a picture of the highest quality. Our program will appear in this space regularly each and every week to keep you informed of current attractions. We also send out a weekly program each Saturday, and those of you who would like to receive one can have it mailed to you regularly each week by leaving your name with us for our mailing list. Below is our program for the coming week.

Wednesday, Sept. 18— Wm. S. Hart in a five part Artcraft production entitled "Selfish Yates". In portraying western types Mr. Hart has no equal, he is the Buafflo Bill of the screen, and in this production he is at his best. As an added attraction we present Pathe War News in one reel.

Thursday, Sept. 19- Pauline Starke in a five act Triangle drama "The Man Who Woke Up". Also Fay Tincher in "Oh Susie, Behave", a funny 2 reel comedy, and as an added attraction the Red Cross Film "The Historic Fourth of July in Paris", in one reel.

Friday, Sept. 20— Frank Keenan in a new Pathe comedy drama entitled "More Trouble". This is a laugh from start to finish and Frank Keenan is one of the screen's foremost stars. Pathe War News as an addedd attraction.

Saturday, Sept. 21—Pauline Frederick in the film version of Leo Tolstoy's wonderful book, "Resurrection". A five act Paramount picture. Added attraction, Funny Keystone Komedy in two reels.

Monday, Sept. 23—Roy Stewart, the second Bill Hart in a wild and wooly western picture entitled "A Red Haired Cupid". Also Chapter five of Boy Scouts to the Rescue.

Tuesday, Sept. 24— Five part feature. Added attractions, Allies Official War Review showing actual scenes taken on four battlefronts by French, English, Italian and U. S. cameramen. Funny Nestor Comedy.

Wednesday, Sept. 25— Geo. M. Cohan in "Hit The Trail Holliday" Some picture. Nobody will ever touch whiskey after seeing this regular Billy Sunday picture on the prohibition question. Lots of comedy. Added attraction, Pathe War News.

COMING— Pershing's Crusaders, My Four Years in Germany, by Ambassador Gerard.

THE ECHO GOES OVER THE TOP WITH THE BOYS "OVER THERE"

VOLUME FOUR | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 24, 1918 | NUMBER TWO

INDUCTION OF COLLEGE STUDENTS INTO S. A. T. C. WILL COME OCT. 1

PLANS RAPIDLY ASSUMING SHAPE FOR STARTING OF REGULAR WORK, MEN OVER 21 WILL PROBABLY BE ELIGIBLE. CAPT. JOHNSON SPEAKS WEDNESDAY. EQUIPMENT ISSUED SOON.

By the first of next week plans will be completed for the induction of all college men over 18 into the Students' Army Training Corps. Maryville College will have one of the largest units in this state, numbering, in all probability, one hundred men. Over 75 men have already signed up, and will become full-fledged members of the United States Army, drawing a private's pay, besides having all expenses paid by the government.

What was practically chaos is rapidly becoming an organized system, and the many details of the plan of the War Department will have shaped themselves by next week, and the real training will commence at that time.

At present there is a great deal of current talk on the hill regarding the college men over 21, who registered previous to Sept. 12. According to the first bulletin of the Government they would be allowed to become members of the S.A.T.C. Then an announcement in one of the newspapers made it seem as though only those who registered on Sept. 12 could join. The question is still open, but it seems to be the opinion of those here most intimately acquainted with the whole plan that upper classmen at least will be allowed to stay in college.

There are many reasons for believing this. The catechism issued on Sept. 12, the day of the registration states:

"Men of eighteen and over who have registered under selective service regulations, who are physically fit to perform full military duty are eligible for induction into the S. A. T. C.

"Men who show special aptitude, who have training of special war value may remain in college or training school after the other men of their classes have been assigned to service. These men may be engineers, chemists, doctors, pharmacists, etc., of the collegiate section, or mechanics or other skilled workers of the vocational section".

"A man in training in a cantonment may apply for induction into the S.A.T.C. through his commanding officer."

"Eligibility to voluntary induction in the S.A.T.C. is limited to REGISTRANTS UNDER THE SELECTIVE SERVICE REGULATIONS who are physically fit to perform FULL OR LIMITED military duty and who have had a grammar school education or its equivalent, and who are in attendance at one of the institutions maintaining an S. A. T. C."

"Each registrant who is called before the opening of the institution he plans to attend, must answer the call of the local board, but may later apply for transfer to the S. A. T. C."

It will be noticed that the first quotation says that all over 18 can join. Col. Rees explicitly said at Chicago that there was no objection to men 40 years old getting in. If it is true that the Government has since changed its attitude in this regard, it is against all instructions issued at that time. This College is training men for the lines mentioned in the second quotation and the men taking these courses, will likely be kept even if they are 21. Then any former student at Maryville who is now in a camp can apply for entrance here into the S.A.T.C. through his commanding officer. It does not state that he must be under 21. There can be no doubt that limited service men registered previous to Sept. 12 can join, and the probability is strong that the full military duty men can also join. Again if any student at Maryville should be called by his local board, or if he was called before school opened he may apply for a transfer to this unit.

Captain Johnson, the commanding officer of the S. A. T. C. at Maryville will be here Wednesday morning and speak in chapel, explaining more in detail many of the details of the Government's plans. At that time a definite announcement will be made regarding the status of men over 21 and also the time that drill will start.

Considerable talk has been aroused because U. T. will have a special unit for training for the navy. Capt. Johnson states that Maryville will train men as much for the navy as will U. T.

Lieut. Brown was in Maryville Sunday clearing up any difficulties that had arisen, and he stated that Maryville was the best prepared and the best equipped to handle the men of any school he had yet visited. Everything is in first class shape

The college professors will be given deferred classification on account of being instructors in the army, and in this way the teaching force of the colleges and universities of the country will be conserved.

This is the first announcement that has been made regarding the articles given S.A.T.C. men. They are as follows:

1 overcoat, 1 service hat, 1 hat cord, 2 cotton coats of olive drab, two woolen shirts of olive drab, two cotton breeches of olive drab, 1 waist belt, 1 pair canvas leggings, 1 pair legging lacings, 1 pair shoes, 1 pair shoe lacings, 2 suits of underclothing, and 3 pairs of woolen socks. Additional articles of uniform will be authorized for issue at later date, and notice of the same will be forwarded promptly to the authorities. Woolen uniforms will be authorized for issue as soon as the supply of the same permits, and units will be supplied in the order determined by geographic and climatic conditions.

Rifles are now in Knoxville and will be shipped to Maryville as soon as it is definitely known how many men will be here. The uniforms for the preps and the men not eligible for the full S.A.T.C. work will arrive soon. Orders for fifty were sent off last week, and another order will follow shortly. Not as many preps are enrolling for S.A.T.C. training as was expected, but in a few days, when matters have arranged themselves better, it is believed that many more will join.

A telegram has been received stating that the entrance requirments for the full S.A.T.C. work have been lowered to 13 units with two conditions. This will enable some ten or a dozen Maryville students who would otherwise have been ineligible for induction to become members of the college department.

ATTENTION!— STAFF!

A staff meeting will be held Wednesday night after supper in Pearsons' parlor, at which time every reporter and editor, together with the managers of the campaign to give every soldier boy a paper should attend. This will be the first staff meeting of the year, and not the last. It is imperative that everyone should be present. No one will be excused. This comes first of all. By that time the remaining classes and organizations should have an editor elected, and they should attend. Matters of vital importance will be discussed. Remember don't start into have delinquencies against you. If you are the editor, be there.

JOINT RECEPTION OF TWO GIRLS SOCIETIES

Woods Scene of Merry Making by Thetas and Bainonians in Opening Meeting.

"What means this eager, anxious throng, that moves with mighty haste along?" Such things were said several times between 7 o'clock and 7:10 on last Saturday night for over two hundred girls were gathered in front of Pearson's Hall for a trip to the "House in the Woods."

Never has there been such a night for the trip! The girls started in groups and it seemed at times that one crowd was trying to sing just loud enough to drown out the others, but at last all got into the strains of "Keep the Home Fires Burning" and this was continued until the house was in sight. The leader halted and everybody joined in yells for the Stevensons, the Bonfire and the House in the Woods.

Dr. Stevenson took command and aided by the Bainonian and Thetas succeeded in seating all the girls on logs, grouped around a huge bonfire. Then the singing began in good earnest and continued until the girls were cold. Miss Grace Bailey and Miss Maude Hite started some games. "Farmer in the Dell" proved very amusing and then "Marching 'Round the Level" was entered into with great zest. Dr. Stevenson and Winnie Decker achieved great expertness in such places as "one kiss and I must leave you" and "I kneel because I love you." Bunches of twenty gathered for charades and such a number of ingenious persons as were then discovered! All the names of the important cities were given and such words as "emigrants', "gallop", "upland", and "Europe" were found very hard to guess.

Theta was well represented by Miss Sue Nuckols who read and was encored repeatedly which goes to show that Theta has talent. Misses Jane Morton and Helen Lewis read for Bainonian and the new girls showed that Bainonian stunts were appreciated. Miss Evelyn Eastman real very interestingly for the new girls and her work was thoroughly enjoyed.

At this time Miss Molly began to look anxious and the marshmallows were toasted. How they were enjoyed! The bonfire was perfect for such work and the girls eager for the delicious, brown marshmallows. At last yells were again given for Theta, Bainonian, Miss Molly, New Girls, Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, and Maryville.

9:45 found the girls in their rooms saying "wasn't it glorious", "didn't we have a good time", and it is hoped that the new girls see the importance of literary work and will speedily join either the Theta Epsilon or Bainonian society.

EVERY MARYVILLE BOY IN FRANCE AN ECHO, SLOGAN FOR CAMPAIGN

FUND WILL BE RAISED THIS WEEK TO SEND A FREE COPY OF THE ECHO TO EVERY MARYVILLE BOY "OVER THERE". THE BOYS WILL COMPETE AGAINST GIRLS. MANAGERS APPOINTED.

In last week's Echo an article occupied the front page which stated that the greatest announcement ever made in the Highland Echo would be made in this issue, and it advised all students to keep their ears, eyes, and mouth open.

Be ye prepared!

The secret of this mysterious announcement is about to be divulged! !

A glance at the first line under the words Highland Echo will suffice to tell you the secret.

To be more explicit, this paper has adopted as its policy, that every Maryville boy in France, and so far as possible in this country should have a free issue of the Echo sent him. The students are the ones to do this, and a campaign will be waged this week, closing Saturday night, to raise money on this hill that will enable the Echo to be placed in the hands of every former Maryville student across the pond.

There is scarcely any need to mention why this move should be done. An Echo serves, as far as news is concerned, the purpose of a dozen letters. As a means of keeping up the morale of the soldiers in France whose stars appear on our service flag, and whose names are on the honor roll, there cannot possibly be any greater than the Echo.

In this campaign the boys will contest against the girls. There are more girls than boys, but the latter usually have more money. Emma Miles has been appointed the campaign manager for the girls, and Tommy Loft for the boys. Each will receive reports every night as to how their side is progressing, and every morning at 7:30 the amounts will be closed for the preceeding day and the number of students subscribing will be announced.

Keep one thing in mind, if this campaign is to be a real one, if it is to accomplish anything good, if the boys are to give any thanks to those who enjoy these privileges that we receive on the hill, then it is up to everyone to subscribe to this fund as much as he can.

Any amount is welcome. It need not be a dollar, it will all count towards the same fund, and will go for the same cause. Some cannot afford to give a dollar. Then the case of the widow's mite will apply. Others can afford to give five dollars. But what we want is EVERYBODY to give SOMETHING. Consider this is your campaign, that its success depends solely on you, as indeed it does Without individual responsibility in this matter, a go cannot be made of the campaign.

We have adopted this slogan for this paper, and we would feel heartily ashamed if after a campaign of this nature starts, the students should fail to live up to their responsibility.

If any student cares to have the Echo sent to any soldier in particular, so much the better. The name may be turned in at the same time as the pledge. The management will see to it that every one in France gets an Echo. Extra copies will be printed of this issue, and enough are left over from last week's to supply every boy in France with an Echo. It is requested that the name and address of every soldier which the student knows be turned into the captains along with the pledge.

The Echo does not want to discriminate in favor of anyone, and where the name does not accompany the subscription, the money will go to the common fund. Every person who wants to send an Echo to some particular friend in the army may turn in the name, and if not we will get the Echo to someone who otherwise would not have one.

It is up to the students, and all alumni and friends who may want to help. We welcome pledges from the many alumni and friends who live in Maryville itself and elsewhere. We wish that they would help us.

This will prove to be the right Maryville spirit if done right, and we ought and must do it right. There can be no halfway methods tried. The thing must be done up brown.

Everybody get in and help, and let us put an Echo in the hands of every soldier, those in France first, then those in this country.

"The Echo goes over the top with the boys 'over there'."

FIRST SENIOR PARTY A GREAT SUCCESS

There are still some Seniors on College Hill, as all who saw or heard them going to or returning from their first party can testify. The steady, allday rain, gave way to a beautifully clear evening in honor of the taffy, and who that saw it can forget that moon? At about eight o'clock the bunch gathered at the attractive home of Dr. and Mrs. Earl Crawford on Washington Avenue. They were not long getting warmed up to a sing, and so attractive became the music that one after another joined the crowd. Even the kitchen was soon deserted. But presently the rooms began to be filled with a dull, blue haze and to the nostrils of the cooks came the odor of burning taffy. They hastily retreated to the kitchen to find that even the taffy had bubbled over with mirth and high spirits. When the candy was cool enough it was taken out to the front porch where it underwent a process of much stretching and pulling. But even this long-drawn-out operation was not without its fun as "Sheeny" Briggs can testify, and brought its reward later in the evening in the form of smooth, white (?) chunks of taffy,—as many as you could eat. (It seems that Marie ate too many). Sandwiches were the next and last course and were generously partaken of.

And now the time had arrived when it seemed advisable to depart, in view of the fact that other Senior festivities are being eagerly anticipated. The chaperones, Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, ushered their charges home at a reasonably early hour, cautioning them, in their stern way, to make no noise in ascending the steps of Pearsons Hall. The steps are squeaky, but according to report, Miss Molly's slumbers were not disturbed, and she is willing to have this bunch go again.

LIBERTY BELL PRAYER

At noon every day, the college bell rings for one minute during which, according to the proclamation of the mayor of Maryville, every person, no matter what he may be doing, shall stop for one minute and pray. ' The Liberty Bell, rang 150 years ago giving to the world a new nation. Today the Liberty Bell Prayer will be raised from millions of hearts every noon that the freedom and peace of the world may be saved, and that the ideals of liberty may become the ideals of the world.

Will you when the bells ring at noon stop one minute and pray?

Pray for 'the Boys'.

Pray for the President.

Pray for righteous, speedy victory.

Pray for our nation to be in every part a Christian nation.

Pray for yourself that you may be always a true citizen.

For Jesus Sake.

WHY NOT SENIORS?

For the first time in the history of the college it has become necessary to place some of the girls over on the boys' side of the chapel, because there is no more room for them on their own side Of course there is no kick from the boys, but why are not the Senior girls put over on the boys side instead of the fourth preps? The Seniors have been here longer, are older, and if it has become necesary to seat some of the girls on the left half of the chapel, it seems to us that it should be the Senior girls.

GIRLS DO FINE WORK CANVASSING FOR ECHO

Great credit is due for the untiring efforts made by some of the students to make a larger subscription for the Echo. A personal canvas was made of each hall by the girls, and most satisfactory results crowned their efforts.

In Baldwin the two Ridgeway sisters, Mary and Catherine, canvassed the whole hall, obtaining 37 extra subscriptions, where before only 29 had been turned in. They got considerably over half the subscriptions in that hall. Out of 132 girls in Baldwin 66 take the Echo.

In Pearsons Ethel Burchfiel, Sue Nuckols and Carmen Park had the canvassing in charge, and did remarkably well. Ethel got every room on the third floor to take an Echo, getting 20 new subscriptions where there had been 19 before. Sue got 7 new ones where there had been 9 before. Carmen obtained 6 where there were 11 before. The total for Pearsons is 72 out of 129.

Pearsons is ahead. Come on you Baldwin girls. Get busy.

SPLENDID OPENING FOR ALPHA SIGMA

Reception Given at First Meeting, a Good Program and Plenty of "Eats".

The usual opening reception of the Alpha Sigma Literary Society on Saturday evening, was well attended both by the old members and also by the prospective members. There being a relatively small number of old members back, the prospects for realizing our ambition of making this, the Centennial year of the College, the biggest year in the history of the Alpha Sigma, were rather discouraging, but with the aid of the large number of new men who came out Saturday evening, and under the capable leadership of our president, our ambition may yet be realized.

President Adams, in his Welcome Address explained the importance of uniting with one of the Literary Societies, and the value one derives therefrom. The frank words of welcome, both by the President, and later in evening, by other old members of the Society, convinced the new men that they were among friends who are willing and anxious to do anything within their power to make society work attractive and helpful to them.

Prof. Bassett, delivered a very appropriate address on the subject, "Splendid Isolation". He explained how the "Splendid Isolation" of this country, which was the pride of our fathers, and which saved the liberty of the thirteen original colonies, has been completely taken away, and that now all the nations of the earth are our neighbors. Germany insisted that our isolation was such that we would be of very little danger to her, but she is learning through bitter experiences the fallacy of this idea.

After the piano solo by Charles Edgeman and the Alpha Sigma Advance by Dewey Beck, the old Hall was again made to ring with the Alpha Sigma Song by all.

Then came the part of the program which is indispensable to every reception, namely, the serving of refreshments. During the eating of ice cream and cake many talks were made both by the new and the old men. "Tommy" Loft's attempt to eat and orate at the same time resulted in a series of anomalus and desultory sounds.

All men, both old and new are cordially invited to be present at our next meeting on Saturday evening at seven o'clock when such able speakers as "Tommy" Loft, Callahan, Bartlett, Brown, and Howell will perform.

Y. W. C. A. HOLDS SOME RECEPTION IN WOODS

A week ago Monday all the girls, old and new, had a mighty good time in the woods near Dr Stevenson's home at the "Mixer", or Y W. C. A. Reception. Out there the girls were separated into groups according to the month of birth, and each group selected a delegate to participate in various events and stunts, such as whistling "Yankee Doodle" and "Dixie", running a race backwards, measuring mouths to see who had the largest grin, and feet, to see who had the longest pedal extremities. Miss Alice Chase's grin beat all others. She was visiting the old school for a day, and she was most welcome with her cheery way and happy smile. It is not open for publication who had the biggest feet. After stunts, Dr. Stevenson rolled out on his wheelbarrow a huge bag of apples. Then the females sat on the grassy slope of the hill and devoured as many sandwiches, as much popcorn as possible. After a visit to the refreshing spring, and some yells, they started homewards happy and agreeing that the Y. W. C. A. and its committees are all O. K.

M. C. WILL SEND OUT FOUR MINUTE MEN

Class Will Be Organized Under Prof. Hunter. A Patriotic Duty all Speakers Can Do.

The Government has sent a call for us to organize a group of FOUR MINUTE MEN here in our College. Speeches are being called for constantly on all manner of War activities. The Government will furnish Bulletins as they are gotten out. They make two requirements of us:

1. That we organize a class to study the Bulletins.

2. That each speaker make at least one speech before Jan. 1st.

These who meet the requirements will be given the bronze button which is the official insignia of THE FOUR MINUTE MAN GIRLS MAY BELONG. THEY ARE URGED TO VOLUNTEER. Dr. Wilson has asked Prof. Hunter to supervise this work. Plans as to the group meetings will have to be worked out later. There will not need to be more than one meeting each week. What we want to know now is WILL YOU VOLUNTEER? College authorities are depending on the Literary Societies for the success of this Patriotic enterprise. We want this work in full swing when the Fourth Liberty Loan drive begins Sept. 28th.

This matter was presented to the two boys' literary societies Saturday night, and about a dozen responded from each society. The class will meet this week sometime. You need not agree to speak. But come and listen to Prof. Hunter explain the details. There are no strings tied to you because you come. Everybody that can possibly, by the stretch of anybody's imagination, speak in any shape form, or manner come out to the meeting whenever it is called.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE LYCEUM COURSE

Lyceum tickets will be on sale this week and next. An announcement will be made in chapel as to time and place of sale. The Piedmont Lyceum Association will furnish the following numbers:

Victors Italian Artists.
Montaville Flowers.
Frederick's Concert Company.
Waikika Hawaiian Quintet.
Reno Welbourn.

All these numbers are highly recommended. Montaville Flowers has twice been president of the International Lyceum Association. The course will no doubt be one of the very best Maryville College has ever had. President Wilson urges the continuance of the Lyceum and states that is one of the very best means of educating the people. With the help of the students and town people a successful course is expected.

A FOURTH FLOOR IS ADDED TO PEARSONS

Twenty-five spacious rooms have been added to Pearson's hall and dubbed "the fourth floor". Fifty co-eds are being comfortably housed in the new addition.

Enabled by a donation made for such purpose the college authorities determined late in the summer to increase housing facilities for the girls and incidentally to add to Miss Molly's responsibility by twenty fold.

While the consensus of opinion is that the erection of a fourth floor does not add materially to the architectural beauty of the building the addition has solved an immediate question of the shortage of dormitory rooms.

PRAYER MEETING LED BY DR. WILSON

The first meeting of the Thursday evening prayer services was conducted by Dr. Wilson. His theme was taken from 2 Peter 3:8, "One day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day".

Dr. Wilson pointed out that this is the Day of the Lord, of the Prince of Peace, although some say it is the Day of the Prince of Darkness, as was said by the great majority at the time of the Lord's crucifixtion. Evil started the present world struggle but righteousness will end it. Each one should observe what manner of person he is.

Besides this Day, the speaker mentioned six other Days. In each case, he asked, "What manner of man should we be?"

In conclusion, Dr. Wilson said that the white light coming out of these days will make the world cleaner and better.

SENIOR CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The Senior Class met Wednesday, September 18, for the election of the following officers:

Marie Townsend, - - President
David Briggs - - Vice-President
Carmen Park - - - - Secretary
Ethel Burchfiel - - - Treasurer
Marion Henry - - - - Editor

The class numbers nearly thirty, and in spite of the fact that the war has taken so many of our boys, we have prospects of a very good year.

THREE S'S

Dr. Wilson gave a short talk on what was expected of every student for the year last Saturday morning. There were three things that he mentioned, three aims or motives for the year: scholarship, self-control, and service. In a straightforward manner he told just exactly what was the duty of every student, and after his short exposition, the three S's composing the Maryville spirit were once more brought home to the old students, and taught to the new ones.

UNUSUAL TEXT TAKEN FOR VESPER SERVICES

Dr. Stevenson Delivers Helpful Talk on Divine Grace Sunday Evening.

An excellent presentation of an unusual text was in store for those who attended the second Vesper service. Dr. Stevenson used the latter part of Ezra 7:22, "And salt without prescribing how much", upon which to concentrate his thoughts.

He began by saying that a nation or an individual who will not serve God will perish. Ezra did not go out alone or unsupported, but was given a letter of credit in which the amount of salt that he was to receive was not designated.

Salt being essential to health was used as a symbol of friendship, of a sacred pledge. It was also given to religious signficance being used as a symbol of divine grace. It is this "salt" that preserves a nation from social disruption.

Again, divine grace like salt imparts a relish to life. Christians should have a great share in their portion of "salt", of grace, to perserve their purity and other divine characteristics.

In the third place, salt was compared to divine grace in its abundance, which is practically unlimited. God is liberal with temporal blessings but even more so with spiritual gifts. A person can readily measure the wealth and earthly possessions given him, but is not able to estimate the spiritual gifts bestowed upon him Grace abounds more than sin, which is rebellion and high treason against God. Sin can only be washed away by this divine grace.

Divine grace is able to overcome all temptations and withstand every trial. It dispels all anxiety about tomorrow and makes death a welcome messenger. Grace also heals the wounds of society. In conclusion, Dr. Stevenson emphasized the fact that there is no permanent peace without regeneration of the human heart, and that the need of the world is the salt of divine grace.

MRS. WILSON SPEAKS SUNDAY TO Y. W. C. A.

Girls who did not attend the Y. W. C. A. meeting on Sunday, missed a real treat as a splendid, helpful service was held, led by Mrs. S. T. Wilson on the subject "Alabaster Boxes"—the theme being taken from the story of Jesus at the house of Mary and Martha in Bethany. Mrs. Wilson's talk was a practical one. She said we should not give so much attention to the material things of life—eating, clothes and household affairs; but we should in every way strive to gain more time to sit at the feet of Jesus, thus receiving inspiration and help for the duties and temptations before us. We should be a little more like Mary and a little less like Martha.

Carrie Sheddan sang "Hold Thou My Hand", and Mary Heard sang a sweet, old time hymn, "When Jesus came to Bethany", which fitted in very appropriately with the subject of the talk. Marion Henry played a piano solo. This special music was very much appreciated.

MISS COULTER'S BROTHER DIES

Friends of Miss Coulter, the manager of the Co-operative Boarding Club, were saddened to hear that her brother, W. R. Coulter died Wednesday, September 18 at his home near Hubbard. The funeral was held in the Pleasant Grove Church on Thursday. He was an old and respected citizen of his neighborhood. Confined to his bed as an invalid for many months his death came as a relief from his long suffering. The students and faculty of Maryville, together with the many friends sympathize with the bereaved family.

ATHENIANS OR ORDER OF OWLS ASSEMBLE

Many New Members Join After Fine Program and Splendid Refreshments.

The opening meeting of the Athenian literary society, taxed the capacity of the hall. The meeting will long be remembered as one of the best opening meetings ever held in the history of the society. W. B. Holmes, Jr., led off with a brilliant address, reviewing the history of the society and showing the parallel of the literary movements in the history of nations, and in the affairs of civil and especially college life. The audience was then entertained by a trombone solo, rendered in Ralph Smith's usual effective way. This was followed by a reading, "The White Comrade" by James aMrtin. However much the audience was pleased by this part of the program, the debate on the subject, "Home is Home, Though it be Ever so Homely", was the climax of the evening. Mr. Moulton on the affirmative traced the development of homely homes from Adam to Carnegie hall in such eloquent terms that it was like the flow of the Niagara. He brought down the house in rebuttal, by referring to Bill Holmes as having the homeliest of homes. Mr. Martin in upholding the negative pointed out that home was something more than four square walls; that it was something deeper; that place where affection dwells. He then took up some of these homely homes, and brought out in the most vivid and pathetic manner, that these were not homes, though they were ever so homely.

The meeting was brought to a close by a generous supply of eats provided by the refreshment committee. While these were being indulged in, Prof. Hunter presented the matter of the "Four Minute Men". He was accorded a ready response, and secured a large number of names. In the matter of stowing away the cream, "Wart" Jones took the honors, while Prof. Davis who made his initia, bow with his wife to the Athenians, was seen but never heard. for the reason that he was busily engaged,—with the cream.

Slowly the owl folded his wings and tucked his head under, as the hour drew near for retiring. But in doing so, he has sheltered beneath those folded wings, a large number of new Athenians.

"HI JO" WILSON IS WOUNDED IN FRANCE

"Hi Jo" Wilson, son of Dr. Wilson, has been wounded in France and is now in a hospital in Paris, recovering from a machine gun bullet wound through his left leg half way between his knee and thigh. He went over the top on August 30 in command of his company, as he was the only officer left after a previous engagement, and while leaving a shell hole he said it seemed as though 10,000 machine guns had turned loose on him, and he considers himself lucky to be hit by only one. He was cared for by his sergeant, transferred back to a dressing station, and then on to Paris that night. He is recovering rapidly from his wounds and expects to soon be able to go back to his company. He said in his letter to his father:

"I certainly thank the Lord that I came out of the scrap as well as I did. One bullet hole is nothing at all. It is a miracle how a fellow can face a regular rain of bullets without being killed.

"I did not want a wound stripe, but now that I have one I shall wear it with pride. I am proud that I have been able to shed blood for this cause for which we are fighting. I may have many more chances before it is over, but I am hoping it will be over soon."

DREAMLAND
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

We are endeavoring to present the best program of moving pictures at all times for your entertainment and education. At various times during the coming months we will have special days, times when concerted effort will be made to claim your attention. Just as the department stores have their special sales, the DREAMLAND will have it's special days. We want you to say "There's always a good show at the Dreamland", and we will back up that statement with the best pictures obtainable. Go along with the Dreamland crowd, you can't see a bigger or better show anywhere for the money. We wish to call your attention to our picture for Wednesday. We present George M. Cohan in "Hit the Trail Holliday", and take time to see it by all means for it's one of the best pictures ever produced by Artcraft. It teaches a wonderful lesson, not by dry dramatic action, but by means of wholesome comedy and clean fun. There are lots of laughs in the picture, also plenty of dramatic action and a bit of a love story for the romanticalty inclined.

Wednesday, September 25
George M. Cohan in "Hit The Trail Holliday", a snappy comedy of the Yankee Doodle type that will make you a better American for having seen it. Special music today. Hearst Pathe News as an added attraction.

Thursday, September 26
Alma Rubens in a five act Triangle feature "Madame Sphinx". One of the first dramas Miss Rubens has ever appeared in. Added attraction, Billy Parsons in a two reel comedy riot.

Friday, September 27
Gladys Hulette in a new Pathe play entitled "Over the Hill". A story of newspaper life that must be seen to be appreciated. Also Pathe News.

Saturday, September 28
Dorothy Dalton in "The Kaiser's Shadow", a Paramount picture, a story of the plucky fight an American girl puts up against German intrigue. Added attraction "His Hidden Purpose", a hilarious Mack Sennett comedy featuring Chester Conklin.

Monday, September 30
Belle Bennett in "The Last Rebel". You know there are lots of people still fighting the Civil War. This girl was one of them. Don't miss this beautiful story of the South.

HUNDREDS WITNESS IMPRESSIVE INDUCTION CEREMONY TUESDAY

LT. CLEVELAND OFFICIATES AT FLAG RAISING AND MILITARY EXERCISES

HEADS ARE BARED AS OLD GLORY FLUTTERS TO THE BREEZE. CHOIR RENDERS MUSIC; MESSAGES FROM THE PRESIDENT, GENERAL MARCH AND CROWELL ARE READ. FACULTY MEMBERS SPEAK

Before an audience of a thousand people seventy college students were inducted into the S.A.T.C. Tuesday morning in the greatest exercises ever held at this institution, exercises that will stand out as the land mark of this century so far as Maryville is concerned, an event that has transformed Maryville College from merely a college into a military camp, and from now on the cedars of this historic hill will resound with the martial tread of feet as the "boys" prepare for the fight with Germany.

As the hour of eleven drew near, the hour of this Central time when the simultaneous induction of 150,000 college men into the S.A.T.C. took place all over the country, around the flag pole between Anderson and Carnegie there gathered civilians from the town and country, and the college girls, the most Maryville has ever had, while in front of the Government barracks the company of soon-to-be soldiers assembled, were marshaled into line by Lieut. Reilly, and marched to their station near the pole.

As the audience became hushed in the reverance of the occasion, the color bearer came from Carnegie, marching between two color guards and carrying a folded American flag. As he approached the foot of the flag pole and placed the national emblem on the rope, a feeling pervaded the crowd that a mighty change was transpiring on college hill.

While the ceremonial of raising the flag was taking place, amid hushed voices, the company stood at attention, the officers at salute, and the civilians with uncovered heads, holding their hats in their right hands over their left shoulders. At the same time a bugler, standing between an American and a Maryville flag, played "To the Colors."

Then followed the singing by the choir of "My Country 'Tis of Thee", while the girls' cornetist accompanied very beautifully. Immediately following was the rendition of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the whole audience, after which Lieut. Cleveland read the General orders of the day, under the authority of which, the S.A.T.C. was organized. The orders were from the Act of Congress, May 18, 1917, "authorizing the President to increase, temporarily, the military establishment of the United States".

The impressive oath of allegiance was read by Lieut. Cleveland, the entire assembly repeating the words in unison after him. A thousand voices fervently repeated the words as follows: "I pledge all to my flag and the republic for which it stands; one nation, indivisable, with Liberty and Justice for all".

This marked the dividing line between the civilian and military life. As the oath of allegiance was repeated by every one of the thousand voices, a thrill went thru each heart, and especially of the 70 men who then and there consecrated their lives to their country's cause. Civilians they had ceased to be. From that time on they were Uncle Sam's boys.

Not one of them regretted it. Each was steeped in the spirit of do or dare, in the spirit that has made Maryville what she is, and in a sincere and loyal purpose to give everything they had for the Cause of Righteousness, that "liberty of the people, for the people, and by the people should not perish from the earth."

A message from the President of the United States was also read at the exercise as follows: "The step you have taken is a most significant one. By it you have ceased to be merely individuals, each seeking to perfect himself to win his own place in the world and have become comrades in a common cause of making the world a better place to live in. You have joined yourselves with the entire manhood of the country and pledged, as did your forefathers, "your lives, your fortunes and your sacred honor" to the freedom of humanity.

"The enterprise upon which you have embarked is a hazardous and difficult one. This is not a war of words; this is not a schoolastic struggle. It is a war of ideals, yet fought with all the devices of science and with the power of machines. To succeed you must not only be inspired by the ideals for which this country stands, but you must also be master of the technique with which the battle is fought. You must not only be thrilled with the zeal for the common welfare, but you must also be masters of the weapons of today.

"There can be no doubt of the issue. The spirit that is revealed and the manner in which America has responded to the call is idomitable. I have no doubt that you will use your utmost strength to maintain that spirit and to carry it forward to the final victory that will certainly be ours."

Dr. Wilson then gave an address that symbolized the spirit of the occasion. Three pictures came to his mind: one when the Gray was on the hill in '61; one another when the Blue under Sherman had camped on the historic ground as they went to help the besieged city of Knoxville; and still a third, as now the khaki would soon cover the hill.

In his speech he took the letters I. D. R. as emblematic of the true soldier. The I represents intelligence, the D, determination, while the R means righteousness. In a very impressive manner he

FIRST BASKET BALL GAME M. C. VICTORY

Aluminum Plant Beat in Scrappy Game Monday Night by Score of 38-28.

Maryville bested the Aluminum Co. 38-28 in a scrappy rough and tumble basketball game on the home floor Monday night. An enthusiastic crowd of over 300 witnessed the opening game of the season and $45.00 was collected at the door to swell the fund for sending the Echo to our soldiers in France. A bunch of girls were very much in evidence, giving a snake dance over the floor a short while before the game began and contributing yells throughout the entire game. The unquenchable "Tommy" led the crowd in some yells to start the thing off with the proper spirit.

It was a hard fought contest all the way through and was especially interesting at times when "Sheeny" Briggs and "Bob" Clemens locked horns or "big boy" Fritts and "Spoon" had a difference of opinion as to who was entitled to the ball. At one time during the last half Pugh was injured when he tried to see if his head was as hard as the floor and time had to be called for several minutes. Both teams did splendid work for the amount of practice they have had and the audience was treated to a better game than they expected to see. Pugh was easily the star of the game, with eight field goals to his credit, while Brown made more points than all his teammates by annexing six field goals and tossing four fouls into the basket. Adams was next in line with four field goals and two fouls. M. C.'c guards were on the job all the time in their positions, holding down the opposing forwards to four field goals and scoring three themselves to help the good cause along, while Callahan showed his usual pep at center.

DRILLING BEGINS FOR COLLEGE MEN PLANS FOR INDUCTING MEN OVER 21

THE "MILL" TURNS OUT 35 SOLDIERS AS A RESULT OF FIRST DAYS' PHYSICAL EXAMS. SEVERAL REJECTIONS OF UNDERWEIGHTS. ANNOUNCEMENT MADE ATHLETIC EVENTS PROBABLE.

Provisions are being made for the induction of college men over 21 years old into S. A. T. C. units, according to information recently received by Lieut. Cleveland, officer in charge of the local unit.

Commanding officers have been requested to report the number of induction forms needed for men who registered previous to Sept. 12. From this the supposition is that provision for the men 21 or over will be made soon.

H. L. Caton, who was visiting on the hill this week, received a letter from Col. Rees stating that all registered men 18 to 45 inclusive, otherwise qualified, except members of Class 1-A registered prior to Sept. 12, 1918, are eligible for admission to the S.A.T.C.

After Oct. 15, 1918, induction will be made by filling out for each registrant desiring induction form No. 2006 P.M.G.O. and mailing the same to the office of the Provost Marshal General. The registrant will thereafter be notified by mail to report to a nearby local board, which will induct him and direct him to report to unit for military duty.

Measurements will be taken for uniforms while the "mill" is being ground, and probably within the next two or three weeks the uniforms will arrive. The preps can buy their own uniforms as the Government cannot furnish more than it needs at the present time.

The company will be supplied with 1917 Winchester rifles, which are now in Knoxville, unless the demand should be greater than anticipated, and in that case Russian rifles will be distributed.

Every M. C. soldier will be put thru the "mill", and after he has been "ground out", as Lieut. Cleveland says, he will be a full-fledged member of the United States Army, and from that time he will draw a private's pay, as well as have all other necessities furnished. Each man will have to face the "bouncer" who will direct him, will appear then at the Service Record where five men fill out records that will enable the War Department to know everything about a man from the time he enters the army till the time he leaves, then to the table where the locater cards and qualification cards will be made out. These allow Gen. Pershing to know exactly what a man can do and how well he can do it. Then comes the insurance and allotments. Each soldier can carry a maximum of $10,000 insurance, payable to his wife, his mother, father, or anyone, or even to more than one person. Every privilege of the regular soldier will be at the disposal of the S.A.T.C. man. The premiums of the full insurance will be $6.40 a month for men 18, 19 and 20, and $6.50 for those over 21. If the soldier is killed $57.50 will be paid by the Government for 240 months to the person to whom the amount is made out. This will wind up the "mill" and from that time they are members of the army.

On Monday Dr. Gamble was in Bartlett hall giving physical examinations to about 40 men. Several men were temporarily rejected because of their failure to meet the requirement of 116 pounds and heighth of 63 inches.

Later in the week every man will be vaccinated for small-pox and given the first of three injections of anti-typhoid serum. The chances are that there will be a sick bunch of men around here for awhile.

About 70 men were introduced to their first military drill under S. A. T. C. rule Friday afternoon. Lieut. Reilly commanded the company. Preliminary work, such as facings, dress and elementary squad movements were executed with a snap and precision which brought commendation from the Major who witnessed the drill.

Military courtesy will be the first and foremost lesson taught the student-soldiers. The school of the soldier and the school of the

Y. M. C. A. DRIVE STARTS WITH VIM

First Day's Total $225. $500 Needed. Committees Begin Active Canvas.

This week every boy in the Hall will be asked to contribute liberally to the Y. M. C. A. Centennial Budget. This is a year of sacrifice, a year of giving. Every individual is being asked by Uncle Sam to take stock of himself and give all he has to the common fund. This is the opportunity for you to do your part.

The boys were recently asked to give $125 to the Highland Echo Fund, and because of the purpose of the Y. M. to make its drive this week, the Cabinet took the initiative, guaranteed the amount, and now asks you to do your part. All of the money raised will go to help meet some of the great needs of the day, and the more you give now the less you will be asked to give during the school year. The work is heartily endorsed by Dr. Wilson and every member of the Faculty.

20 of the boys have opened the Fund with a gift of two hundred dollars. The total now stands at $225. Let us throw our whole energy into this business and put the fund past the desired goal of five hundred dollars.

OVER THERE

PROF. SOUTHWICK IN ACTIVE SERVICE

Former Popular Maryville Teacher Now a Mess Sergeant in France.

Among the first of former Maryville professors now in the service in France, is Prof. Southwick, associate professor of Public Speaking and History at Maryville during the first part of last year, but who was taken by the draft before he had a chance to remain and become better acquainted with Maryville. He has written a letter to Dr. Wilson which is intensely interesting and full of information written in a style that only a professor could write. It is the first word received from him by Maryville friends for some time, and it comes as a welcome letter. Although his length of service in this institution was very shot, he was among the most popular of the professors on the hill, and his many friends both here and elsewhere will rejoice in getting this word from him which we are more than glad to publish.

Le Mans, France.
August 26, 1918.

Dr. Samuel T. Wilson,
Maryville, Tennessee.

Dear Dr. Wilson:

About the time you receive this letter you will again be hard at work preparatory to another college year. I received the June issue of the Echo and read with great interest the news concerning commencement week.

Since our arrival in France we have bounced about considerably, and had plenty of chance of scenery. The hardships for me, I must admit, have been few, only enough to make the pleasant side of our travels stand out the more prominently. The climate in this latitude both here and in eastern France where I have been is of somewhat lower temperature than our Ohio climate, last night being nearly to the point of frost. Last week, however, we had a few exceptionally hot days. This section, I think, gives one a very poor impression of France, at least in some respects. It is quite heavily wooded, yet little large timber, many little pine groves, lots of hedges and brush. The farming done does not go beyond a little wheat, vegetables on a small scale, considerable cider made, some cattle and goats raised. About a hundred miles northeast of us is the famous Percheron Horse country, while more directly east of us one passes thru a very fine farming section, considerable wheat, rye and oats being grown. In spite of the fact that this latitude contains many semi-tropical plants as the magnolia tree, some kinds of palms, holly and mistletoe, the summer season seems too short for corn The winter I imagine is much as it is in Eastern Tennesse—a great deal of rain, but not much snow.

The section in which I was formerly located for several weeks was quite the opposite. The country was rolling, scenery very beautiful. Our little village was situated on a high hill from which one could look over a broad expanse of farming country, hills and ridges generally wooded and dotted here and there with other little tile-roofed villages like our own. The fine macadam roads, the national highways, tree lined, stood out very prominently upon the landscape. Bicyling is great sport in France, and by this means alone I have covered not a little territory. Here I think we saw peasant life in its purest form. The chief occupations were dairying and raising hay, rather than wheat. The peasants are an industrious class tilling the soil diligently and as best they can in the absence of the young men, going about their work cheerfully, bearing the burdens of war without murmur or complaint. To them war is simply a necessary part of national existence—a sort of inevitable evil. To the little boys and girls whose fathers or brothers are in the service being "un soldat" is merely an occupation as an American boy or girl thinks of his father going to work in the factory.

At the present time I am living in a chateau near this city. Acting Mess Sergeant of a Division Intelligence School. It is an ideal situation for a school of this kind, large enough to house all the men of the school in the chateau and buildings, with good class rooms, recreation room, kitchen, etc. I get into the city several times a week, hence have a happy combination of city and urban life. Our roster contains the names from various parts of the Union, among some recently arrived several men from Tennessee. With these of course I feel I have considerably in common. One a Vanderbilt man, another a Lebanon University, etc.

I trust that by this time you have fully recovered from the effects of the accident last spring, and that the coming year may in every way be an enjoyable one to you.

Kindly remember me to Prof. Gillingham, Profs. Ellis, Proffitt, Walker—yes all of them.

Very sincerely yours,
Arthur F. Southwick.

HAL McNUTT HITTING LINE "OVER THERE"

Hal McNutt, a former member of the Class of '19, is with the ambulance company of the 119-105 Sanitary Train in service somewhere "over there".

On the foot ball field Mc's stellar feats proved him to be no mean fighter. True to his former rep, he has been eager to have a hand in the fray of the great war. The latest word received from him would indicate that this much desired wish was soon to be realized for the Train of which he is a member had been ordered to report at the Front for immediate service. He is Sergeant McNutt now.

PAUL MINTER KILLED

Paul Minter of Montecello, Ga., was killed in action, "Somewhere in France", during August. He was a brother of Mamie Minter, a former student on the Hill. The students and faculty extend their sincerest sympathy to the Minter family in their bereavement.

Ed Campbell and "Sandy" Marshall, former members of the class of '19 have renewed their relationship in France. It is to Scotland, the land of their ancestors, that they are going on their next furlough, the American-Scotch laddies vow a good enough vow, all will admit, but do "beware the lasses, oh!"

"Chad" McClure, an active member of the 1919 Freshman Class, is a motor mechanic of the U. S. Army in France. "Chad" has tried four times for a transfer to the trenches but as yet he has had no part in the active fight waging in Flanders.

Percy Buchanon is in France, having sailed a few weeks ago. He has been a student at Maryville for several years, coming from his home in Japan to this college. His sister and brother are here again this year.

THEODORE MINER IS SEEING REAL STUFF

Writes Splendid Letter to Dr. Wilson From The Trenches. Sees Maryville Fellows.

Theodore Miner, remembered by many old friends on the hill as a leader in many activities, is now a second lieutenant on the front in France, seeing active service with the American forces, and progressing in a splendid manner. He has been able to see several former students of this college, during the time he has been across the sea. He writes a very interesting letter to Dr. Wilson which is given below.

On active service with the American Expeditionary Force.
August 14, 1918.

Dear Dr. Wilson:—

You will get this about the time school opens and I want to send my cordial wishes for the biggest year in the history of dear old Maryville. Often the happy days spent on college hill come back to me and I would fain be with you all. But we have a job to finish up out here.

Did I write you from S. A. S. where I finished my schooling? If so I surely mentioned meeting again our dear old friend Aubrey Williams. We both got out at the same time and made the trip to this place where we are now awaiting the arrival of our brigade to which we have been assigned. The 55th is here now and will move out soon. There are quite a number of Maryville boys in one of the batteries of the 114th. The other day I met "Red" Thompson, who attended the little school house on Tuchaleechee pike where my old pal, McGrath, superintended a Sunday school, and where I made some humble efforts at preaching the word.

Preparations out here are quick as must needs be. Recent victories have been greatly heartening to the French, the beginning of the end, I believe. God is present with and blessing the forces now being to combat greed and might as exemplified in the attitude and practices of the enemy. Non-combatant agencies at work out here are helping us to remember that we are men and have an injunction to "love our enemies."

Best wishes to all who remember this humble third prep. I trust you are well and that the coming year's work will bring you abundant joy and fruit.

Most sincerely,
Theodore Miner.

Stephen Guigou, '10, is now engaged in active service in the war zone, after serving as Professor of Romance Languages in Ohio State University for one year, preceded by work as instructor at Princeton. While in Maryville he was a brilliant student, and in his work later, he has shown special qualifications that fit him for the positions he has occupied.

LIEUT. BORING WOUNDED

Marcus Boring, a brother of Capt. Boring, is a lieutenant in France, and the last work received from him stated that he was in a hospital suffering from wounds received in action. He was also a former Maryville student. His recovery has been rapid, as his wounds were slight, and probably by this time he is back in the trenches.

BOARDMAN DOING RED CROSS WORK IN PARIS

R. Sherman Boardman, '96, son of former President Boardman of Maryville College, is doing Red Cross work in Paris. He has been in France for some time, and is active in relief work in the great base hospitals. His work is as strenuous as at the front, and frequently he has to labor for long stretches of time without any rest,

How do you like it?

How do you like the idea of footing Germany's war bill after she has won the war?

Whether you like it or not, you know that what the Imperial Chancellor says is absolutely true—

if Germany wins the war.

Therefore it is up to you right now to do your share to see that Germany does not win the war, so that your money will not be given to pay the expenses of the Hun.

Would you rather lend your dollars to America or give them to the Hun?

Lights till 10:30 even on Sunday! Let's have a jubilee!

:—:—:

Have you noticed the dignified bearing of the 4th Preps who elected officers last week?

:—:—:

Watch these Four Minute Men and Women from now on. They are going to do something.

:—:—:

The boys' literary societies have something up their sleeve. Keep your eyes and ears peeled. A great announcement may be made soon.

:—:—:

The big drive of last week on the hill to raise a fund of at least $250 for spending a free copy of the Echo to every boy in France, has gone over the top with colors flying, and the fondest expectations of the managers have been surpassed. The boys were pitted against the girls, and the contest savoured of friendly contest. The girls to date have given aout $165 while the boys have raised something over $135. This makes a total of $300, or $50 more than was asked. The receipts of the basketball game last night totaled $45.00 bringing the entire amount close to the $350 mark. Too much praise cannot be given the students for their loyal support in this campaign, and every one connected with the Echo thanks the student body and everyone else that helped. Every Maryville boy in France will receive a copy of the Echo from now on to the end of the year. The two managers, Emma Miles and Tommy Loft did some fine work, and we thank them for their loyalty to this cause. To every student who had a part in the campaign the management of the Echo extends a personal "thank you". Because the campaign has gone over the top with such a vengeance, the announcement made concerning the extra amount will be strictly adhered to. The boys in this country will be given Echos in so far as possible. Many had already handed in the names of soldiers, and many others are continually asking that their name be placed on the subscription list. Deducting the soldiers in this country who have paid for their Echos, and the names of boys in this country already turned in, there will just be enough left to give every boy in France an Echo. There is still one way each can help. If you know the address of any Maryville boy, be sure and give it to one of the managers to give us the address without having us have to write to the parents. you will do a great favor and will help mightily towards making the campaign a success.

Again, we thank you one and all.

Moonshiners will not be materially inconvenienced by S. A. T. C. military regulations.

The after dinner hour, that period of the day most sacred in the minds of all consistent devotees of the art of moonshine, will not be violated. This anonuncement doubtless comes as a great relief to many inducted men, not to mention the spark of joy it kindles in the hearts of many fair co-eds.

Lieut. Cleveland definitely states that unless radical changes are inaugurated the after dinner period may be absolutely devoted to moonshine activities. As for Monday afternoon, he states that it is very probable that drill will occur in the forenoon, thus leaving the afternoon to be spent in the way common to Maryvillians.

Lieutenant Reilly admits that he has been the recipient recently of many indigant criticims voiced by the fair damsels of the hill relative to the proposed Monday afternoon drill. It is largely due to the protests of the girls that the chnge in drill, mentioned in the preceding paragraph, is being considered.

According to Lieut. Cleveland "the War Department should worry how many times you moonshine a day just so you don't let it interfere with the prompt obeyance of orders".

So it would seem that Miss Molly, as in days gone by, is really the "boss" in this respect. In view of the fact that our mental and physical exertions will be increased 200 fold after induction is it not just that our recreation should be increased correspondingly? Is not the art of moonshining, undoubtedly the most facinating, time-whiling and universally enjoyed recreation on the hill?

What compensation should we expect from Miss Molly?

We don't drill Sunday afternoon.

A hint to the wise—

:—:—:

The Local Board of Maryville has sent a call to the college several times recently for girls to do some necessary work that needed immediate attention, and each time when the announcement has been made, between one and two dozen girls have patriotically responded to the call. The girls on this hill can't be beat, and they should feel that they are doing just as much in helping win the war as the boys themselves. It is thru the splendid spirit that the girls have shown that victory will crown the efforts of the Allies.

In France and Belgium the ardent fervour and patriotism of the women have rallied to every emergency. Here at Maryville the girls are doing their part. You can't beat them anywhere. What about it, boys?

:—:—:

One of the most important features of any paper is the exchange department, and this year the editors of the Echo hope that this department of Maryville's paper may be among the most interesting and helpful of all. We welcome exchanges with other college papers, especially in the South, and we hope that his year the Echo may have as large a number of other papers on the list of exchanges as in other recent years. Just as travel is the most broadening of all recreation, so should exchanges be one of the most broadening of all departments in a paper. It is good to see ourselves as others see us, and one of the best ways to really find the true value of anything is to have wholesome and constructive criticism. Keep your eyes open, for you never can tell.

ADVANCED AVIATION COURSE FOR JAMES

Is Taking Most Advanced Night Bomb Raiding and Aerial Gunnery in Texas.

Ernest James, "Jimmy", writes a very interesting letter about his work that it was the privilege of the editor to receive, and extracts from it are so good that it is not possible to keep it, but we take this means of letting other students know what one of the most prominent members of the Centennial class is doing. He enlisted the first of last December in the aviation and has been working hard ever since.

This letter was written as a personal letter, not as one for publication. It was written to the fellow who perhaps most of all students was in his confidence, but it is betraying no confidence in giving this message from him, as it reveals the wholeheartedness with which the former football player of Maryville has entered into his work, and it is not necessary to say that the best wishes of every student accompany him.

In a letter dated Sept. 16 he says:

"I am here taking a combination course in Aerial observation, bombing, bomb raiding, and aerial gunnery. Of course I am learning the work of a regular pilot too, but that's not what my work principally will be. There will be a regular pilot, (chaffeur) for each of the big battle planes that are now being built, and he will do that and nothing else. In fact, the crew for the big Handly Page machine, (two 400 H. P. Liberty motors) we are specializing on now, consists of two pilots, two aerial gunners, and one bombing observer. The observer is in command of the ship and that is the work I am slated for. Needless to say it's my one wish that I may make a good one and play my part well. This work is decidedly the most facinating of the Air Service and we are bound to see the real service. We are taking a most thoro course in aerial navigation—boy, it's deep stuff too, and with the big ships that are being built now, we ought to be able to go to any place in Germany and carry enough ammunition and bombs to almost wipe it off the map. I begin on the advance bomb raiding tomorrow morning and in about two weeks I take up the advance night bomb raiding. If we don't spread terror in the heart of the Hun next spring, it wont be because we aren't able to raid every headquarters and strategical point they've got."

CAPT. BORING NOW A RIFLE INSTRUCTOR

Wiley W. Boring, a former Maryville student, is now a captain in the army, stationed at Camp Dix, N. J. He returned from France this summer, after serving in the trenches for many months, and came immediately to his old home in Maryville. He is one of the best rifle shots in the nation, and is very probable that he is teaching the use of the small arm at the camp.

ROY ANDERSON ENTERS ARTILLERY O.T.C. TODAY

Roy Anderson, '18, has been in the army since the last of July, and now is stationed at Camp Gordon. Today he will enter an Officers' Training Camp for the Coast Artillery. He was prominent in college activities, especially the musical ones, and for two years his face was familiar as the director in chapel. He was also editor of the Senior Record Book of last year, "Over The Top."

MEADE JOHNSON AWAITS COPY OF HIGHLAND ECHO

Meade Johnson, major of the cadet battalion at Maryville for the last two years, has written some very interesting letters to students here, explaining the work he is doing at Mass. Tech. in Boston in the Naval Aviation. He was also very anxious to receive the first issue of the Echo, and wrote to the editor on two consecutive days, just to make sure that he would get a copy. He writes, "we have a fine bunch of fellows here, college men, all of them and from every corner of the world. Pipp, first baseman of the Yankees and a Croix de Guerre man from the British Ambulance Corps among them.". His work is very heavy, but he is absorbing his share and is rapidly traveling towards his commission.

Larry a Quartermaster

"Larry" LaRue, pitcher on the baseball team for several years, has passed his examination for a First Class Quarter Master, and will become such an officer on October 1. He is stationed in the Dirigible Section of the Navy at Pensecola, Fla. His experience at the Goodyear plant has stood him in good stead, for he has had charge of inflating the dirigibles and has been a captain of one of the crews.

Joel Georges Married After College Romance

Another college romance has culminated in a war marriage, as Joel S. Georges, now in a flying school in Texas, recently married Miss Nancy Lee Bost, a former Maryville student. Mr. Georges, or Lieut. Georges as he soon will be, was President of the Sophomore Class last year, and a leader in forensic contests on the hill. The Echo extends to the newly married couple the heartiest congratulations.

BOB TAYLOR ENJOYS FIRST ISSUE OF ECHO

Bob Taylor, editor of the Echo last year, says in a letter to the present incumbent, that he has received the first copy of the Echo and was much pleased with its appearance. "I have read every word of the paper and found myself deeply interested in every article. Maryville must be on a bigger boom than ever before, with several new teachers, a large enerollment, a unit of the S. A. T. C., and bright prospects for the raising of the Centennial fund. How Dr. Wilson manages to push Maryville to the front as he does, is something I cannot understand." Bob is now a chaplain's orderly, a soft job, and is taking it easy, preparing to take a hard exam soon.

CAGLE MAKING GOOD

Fred Cagle, former member of the Centennial class, is now doing important clerical work in the Ground Personnel school of the Army Aviation. He is stationed at Washington, D. C. He applied for overseas duty but because of his efficiency he was retained for duty in the government offices at the capitol city.

Walter Smith, baseball pitcher on last year's nine, joined the naval reserve this summer and is now in service.

F. G. Cooper, a member of the 1918 class, entered the navy May 3 as an apprentice seaman, but within two weeks was transferred to the Hospital Corps. At the completion of his six months' course, which he has been enabled to do in four and a half months because of science at Maryville, he will be a first class Hospital Apprentice. He is now in the Naval Hospital at Newport, R. I., helping with the epidemic of Spanish "Flu".

WELCOME LETTER FROM BOB GAMON

Former Echo Editor in Medical Reserve in U. of Penn. Letter Full of News.

Bob Gamon, editor of the Echo two years ago, has written one of the most interesting and newsy letters that has ever been the pleasure of the present editor to receive, and the letter is given verbatim, with all the touches that appear in the original left off, for no printed letter could commence to begin to think about starting to compare with a letter from this "pusher of the pen" in days gone by, in its original. Many old students still remain who will remember Bob as not only the editor, but as the football manager, President of the Alpha Sigma, leading man in the Senior Class play, and one of the best liked and most popular men on the hill. His letter will prove interesting to the new students as an example of what a letter may contain. As to the news therein, it is chuck full and flowing over. He tells about a half dozen former Maryville fellows now in the service, and it will pay everyone to read the full text.

Philadelphia, Pa.,
Sept. 24, '18.

Dear Bobbie:—

Your first fling at the editorial chair reached this burg today. It was fine, and if you keep going at the same pace no doubt whatever as to its being the Newsiest Sheet in the South.

Am glad you have a good corps of assistants, as that helps a lot. You know we had trouble keeping 'em on the job back in '16-'17.

Got a little dope which might interest the Alumni editor. I saw H. W. Threlkeld, '16, in New York this summer. He was stationed at Mitchell Field attached to the 52nd Aero Squadron. He was more than likely gone across since, as I await a reply from a letter written two weeks ago. He was top sergeant, and was planning to enter a training school for preparing balloon observers soon. He also got married before being sent to New York—a romance of his boy-hood—don't know his wife's maiden title.

Also saw Doc Feeman in the big city. He was in the office of paymaster of 5th Naval District, rated as a chief yoeman. He was booked to go to the ensigns' school at Pelham Bay Naval Training school on Sept. 1.

Guess you don't remember the Birdsall twins? Before your day. Well it will interest some of the old timers. Julian (Judy) is in a ground school-army aviation trying for a commission. Edgar, (Punch) is in Italy with an American Ambulance unit, driving a fliver.

Henry Kirkgard. from Texas, old half-back on the varsity, 1916, is in the Marines, and sailed for France from Quantico Va., last week. He is attached to the hospital corps—don't know regiment.

Now that is sufficient—and for a little I might be your Eastern press agent! Ha! Ha!

Me? Just plugging along in Medical Enlisted Reserve Corps. Will be transferred to S. A. T. C. soon, and then it wont be long till we get our M. D. and a commission. Oh, this medical course is a great life if you don't weaken—but we get powerfully weak around the knees now and then.

Address my copy to same address until further notice.

Extend to your staff the sincere best wishes of an old pusher of the pen, and

Best O'Luck to Yourself,
Sincerely,
Robt. S. Gamon.

Frank Cody, a former Maryville student who enlisted with the Third Tennessee during the summer of 1917, has recently been made a chaplain in the army with the commission of a lieutenant.

ALUMNI NOTES

1889.

The Honorable Edwin S. Cunningham, U. S. Consul General, at Hankow, China, and Mrs. Cunningham, spent some time with relatives in Maryville last summer while Mr. Cunningham was on a furlough from his work in the Orient.

1893.

Professor D. R. Haworth, who has been a member of the faculty of the State Normal School at Johnson City for a number of years, is this year Superintendent of the city schools at that place.

1901.

Cards have been received from Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Casseres announcing the birth of a son, Ernest Hastings Casseres, at Limon, Costa Rica, on the 13th of August. Mrs. Casseres was formerly Miss Lena Hastings of Maryville.

1903.

Reverend D. W. Crawford, formerly of Chattanooga, is now Dean of the Arkansas Cumberland College in Clarksville, Arkansas. This is the institution of which Reverend H. S. Lyle, D. D., also a Maryville graduate, and until recently pastor of the New Providence Presbyterian Church, is President.

1909.

Mr. and Mrs. S. S. McCampbell celebrated their golden wedding at their home near Knoxville on the second of September. Mr. and Mrs. McCampbell are the parents of Miss Nellie McCampbell, 1909, who until this year had charge of the Latin in the Preparatory Department.

1912.

Married at the home of the bride's father, near Maryville, on the 14th of August, Mr. John Summers, of Urbana, Ohio, and Miss Nellie Duncan, '12, of Maryville. Mr. and Mrs. Summers are now at home on a farm near Urbana, Ohio. The Echo joins with the Alumni friends of the bride in cordial good wishes.

1912-'14.

A wedding that is of special interest to Maryville students is that of Dr. S. Earl Crawford, 1912, and Miss Erma M. Hall, 1914, which took place on the 27th of June at the home of the bride's mother in Maryville. Dr. Crawford, after graduating from the Vanderbilt Dental College, established himself in Maryville where he is now practicing his profession. He will remain here unless called into the Government service, wher he has a commission in the Dental Reserve Corps. The groom is a son of the late Professor G. S. W. Crawford, 1871, who was for many years Professor of Mathematics at Maryville. Both Dr. and Mrs. Crawford are well known by many recent Maryville graduates. They have the best wishes of Maryville Alumni for a long and happy life.

1914.

Cupid has been busy with the Class of 1914. Two other members have been pierced by his darts. Reverend John V. Stephens, Jr., and Miss Ruth Carson, both of this class, were united in marriage last summer at Knoxville, and are now located in Cincinnati, Ohio, where Mr. Stephens is in charge of one of the Presbyterian Churches of that city. The bride lived in Maryville for a number of years, and taught for a time in the Preparatory Department. The groom's father is a member of the Faculty of Lane Theological Seminary. The Echo extends congratulations and best wishes.

Miss Margaret Bassett, '18, is teaching mathematics in the high school at Warren, Pa.

Frances Akerstrom, '17, is in Singapore, India. She expects to be in Java soon doing missionary work under the M. E. Board of Foreign Missions.

A FUTURE STUDENT!

Announcement has been made of the arrival of John Granville Sims, Jr., the infant son of Lieut and Mrs. J. G. Sims. Lieut. Sims, who is now in France, was a former student at Maryville, being graduated in 1913. Mrs. Sims, a classmate of Mr. Sims, was Miss Olga Marshall, the assistant registrar of the college. Their marriage a year ago this summer came as the culmination of a college romance.

Eleanor Moseley, '18, is teaching mathematics in her home high school at Kissimmee, Fla. Press dispatches say that the "fear of the teacher is upon the pupils", and that as yet she has experienced no trouble in ruling with an iron hand.

Genevieve Gibson, '18, is teaching at Potosi, Mo., and she and Betsy Dearing are having a time, so it is said. "Gen" was among the most popular girls on the hill during her sojourn here, and every old student remembers her as about the busiest little body on the campus.

FOUR MINUTE SPEECH BY TOMMY AT CHAPEL SAT.

Tommy Loft made a Four Minute speech last Saturday morning in chapel on the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign and acquitted himself in his short address with extraordinary skill. Choosing a unique text, he preached a "sermonette" on giving, and how it was the duty and privilege of every student to buy at least a baby bond, $10 down and the rest $1 a month until it is paid. The speech was to the point, and was thoroly enjoyed by the students.

DR. WILSON WRITES MEMORIAL SKETCH OF M. C. DIRECTOR

Dr. Wilson has written a Memorial Sketch of Humphrey Grey Hutchinson, M. D., a director of the Maryville College for many years, and the books, published for private distribution, arrived early in the summer. The sketch is composed of over fifty pages, illustrated by photographs, and written in a style that only such a man as Dr. Wilson who has been so intimately associated with college affairs, could have employed. For years, Dr. Hutchinson was a faithful member of the directorate, serving in the class of 1918 at the time of his death.

EIGHTY FOOT FLAG POLE MAKES HILL U. S. POST

The flag pole from which will float the National Emblem that makes of this hill a military camp, was raised Monday afternoon, after preliminary work had been done for over a week previous. A great deal of preparation was necessary, and when the pole, eighty feet high, was finally raised, a sigh of relief escaped more than one of the spectators. Sunk in a cement foundation eight feet deep, the pole is there to stay, to defy the elements, and to show to all the surrounding country what Maryville stands for. The flag is ten by nineteen feet, but during bad weather a smaller storm flag will be used. The site of the pole is well-chosen, for no better place could possibly be found than the little rise in front of Carnegie, the government barracks.

Have you noticed the new clerk in the book room? She is so small that she must be carefully looked for in order to be seen.

Ralph Hamilton, a former member of the Centennial class, and now a lieutenant in the aviation section of the army, obtained a three months' furlough this summer to come home and work on the farm, and while it is not definitely know whether or not he did any work, it is a fact that he came home.

George Hale enlisted in the Marine Corps at Knoxville during the summer.

VICTORY BELLS

Victory bells! Victory bells!
Listen and pray as the summoning swells;
Pray for the soldiers in masses of hells,
Fighting for Right, while the shot and the shells
Pour on them wildly, in barbarous knells;
Pray while you list to the victory bells.

Loudly they chime as if pleading for prayer;
Clearly they swell on the rustling air;
Promptly they summon the people to share
In national service, to do, and to dare.
Brief is the minute their tender tones bear,
But millions are calmed in this minute of prayer.

When Peace lifts her candle enlight'ning the world
With rays that shed healing, where swords have been hurled;
When banners of Wrong are eternally furled;
And the war gods, who long at the wretched have snurled,
Are captive of those with true victory pearled;
Then, Bells of Thanksgiving, still ring for the world!

—Bertha M. Russell.

LIEUTENANTS CLEVELAND, REILLY AND REEL M. C.'s OFFICERS

Two second lieutenants are stationed on the hill and will remain at Maryville permanently. Lieut. Melford Goldsmith Cleveland will be the acting head, altho Capt. Johnson will have the oversight of the work. Lieut. Cleveland hails from the University of Alabama, where he spent three years in Chemical Engineering, two of them in the R. O. T. C. He attended the summer camp at Fort Sheridan this summer enlisted in the U. S. Army at the close of the R. O. T. C. camp on July 25, and was commissioned on Sept. 16. At Alabama he had work under regular army officers, a captain and a colonel. After his three months at Ft. Sheridan, he attended a special Personnel Adjutant's School for eight days, and then was transferred to Maryville. He is 21, and unmarried. He will serve as adjutant and commandant.

Lieut. Reilly is another officer. He hails from Emmetsburg, Iowa, having attended Dubuque College, near his home, last year. He was a member of the R. O. T. C. unit and was stationed at Ft. Sheridan, Ill., for training during the summer. He enlisted June 3 and received his commission Sept. 16. He will command the drill and will be designated as the assistant commandant.

Another lieutenant blew in, unexpectedly Monday night in the person of Lieut. Ralph M. Reel who claims as his home, Columbus, Ohio. For three years he attended the Ohio State University, and was in the R.O.T.C. during that period. This past summer, as the other lieutenants here, he went to the camp at Ft. Sheridan, enlisting in the U. S. Army on July 18 and receiving his commission on Sept. 20. His special work at Maryville was not decided upon at the time of going to press.

After hearing that the students who fill the chapel make an intelligent and good-looking audience, we are wondering why it needs so much repetition.

Carrie wants to teach one thousand (1000) soldiers French. The Echo hereby advertisers for a suitable position for her. Don't too many camps call for her at once.

Shorty Newell was asked the other day by a prep if she was a student taking Caesar. Really, we didn't know she looked so young as that.

ELIZABETH STEVENSON WAR RELIEF FUND RAISED BY GIRLS

A drive under the auspices of The Maryville Enterprise for the relief of women and children in war-stricken countries was made last week in Pearsons and Baldwin Halls. The results totaled $53.08. To show their appreciation for the "mothering" which they have received and are receiving from Mrs Stevenson, and for the hospitality of the "House in the Woods", the girls named this the Elizabeth Stevenson Fund, and are sending it away with the hope that much of her great mother-love may accompany it and bless its use.

The boys will have a chance to give to this cause by contributing any and all clothing which they no longer expect to use after they have joined the S.A.T.C. Mr. Loft will receive all such gifts after October 1st.

COMMUNITY SINGS

We understand that the Music Department has plans under way for the establishing of Community "Sings" now so popular in the North and in many parts of the country.

The idea will be developed first on College Hill, the students meeting immediately after supper to sing the patriotic and popular music used in the camps here and in Europe.

During the summer Miss Hale who has charge of the Music Department spent considerable time in visiting the large camps and cities where Community singing is made a prominent feature of war work and returns enthusiastic over the possibilities of introducing it here.

With the S.A.T.C. now established we feel sure the students will enter heartily into the spirit of these "sings" which lend a stimulating aid to the patriotism and keep us in touch with the boys who are singing the same songs "over there".

It is hoped later on to introduce Community singing in town and it is believed that Maryville will support the idea as enthusiastically as they are doing in other places.

The Music Department has increased to such numbers that this year it has outgrown its present quarters in the chapel building.

To relieve the congestion pianos have been placed in Bartlett Hall These are being purchased and all available rooms are being made ready for practice studios.

THE KIND THAT COUNTS

For the convenience of the college fellows, Mr. Seaton has placed a bulletin board for college events in his barber shop, and has converted the back of his shop into a reading room for the boys, a place where they may meet down town, and can drop in any time and read the latest magazines that are found on the table. In doing this Mr. Seaton is showing the feeling toward the college students that he has always manifested, a helpful and intense interest in their welfare. Boys, we'll have to take our hats off to such a man.

C. O. GIVES HIGHLY ENTERTAINING TALK

Lieut. Cleveland gave a highly entertaining demonstration of what a chapel talk may be on last Friday morning when he performed before the students in a manner that brought forth the merriest and heartiest glee that has possessed the students at chapel this year. Even Dr. Wilson shook with laughter as the unique speech "all made up beforehand" was recited. The chapel was in an uproar, and the introduction that the Adjutant received was among the best that could have been his. Afraid lest when he retired to the innermost recesses of his domicile he should find that some of his speech had been left out he said that he was coming back again, and we can assure him that the students want him to talk again. At the close he read a list of names of boys whom he wanted to see. As for the girls, he said he wanted to see all.

A NEW CHEER LEADER

Have you noticed our new cheer leader, George Callahan? Cheer leaders have been somewhat more or less of a minus quantity during the past few years, and it is the earnest hope of the students that perhaps Dr. Wilson when he introduced George as the official who will direct the vocal energy of the students during certain stated and specified times, discovered a real find. But what it takes is help from the students. That is what we want, and let us see that the cheer leader gets our cooperation.

Edward Kidder, '16, visited on the hill during the opening week of school, staying a couple of days. Very few faces that he knew are left, and he appeared somewhat lonesome. He will complete his course in the Western Theological Seminary at Pittsbugh this year.

Bob—You ought to make a fine piano player,—

Sue—Why?

Bob—Well, your hands are just the right size to play with.

Prof. Proffitt desires his tombstone to read, "This is on me, fellows."

Mary Miles, '18 is teaching Latin and French in the Lynnville High School, near Nashville. Some combination!

The Latin and first year English courses in the Butler, New Jersey High School are being taught by Miss Elizabeth A. Henry, '18.

Miss Mattie Fisher, '18, is teaching science and math in the high school at Huntland, Tenn.

DRILLING BEGINS FOR THE COLLEGE MEN

squad will be next perfected. It is the aim of the Lieutenants to whip the company into shape in three months.

Lieutenant Reilly expresses himself as being very well pleased with the early showing made by the student-soldiers. He states that he does not feel as if he had the training of a bunch of raw rookies before him as more than half the men have had previous military training.

In the matter of saluting, the authorities will be very careful. They want it distinctly understood that it is not them that the boys are saluing, but the uniform of the Government for whose cause we are fighting, and no one should feel at all embarrassed to salute, for that is military law. The sooner the fellows learn this the better it will be for them, is the current belief.

Calls will be made from time to time for men to be sent to an Officers' Training camp, and the men who are qualified and competent to go will be sent. It is expected that an almost complete change will be made in the personnel of the school about every three months.

Every man will be watched all the time, and the lieutenants are very anxious to let the students know that it is not what they do that is seen to the casual observer that will count, or the big things, but it will be the little things, the way he stands at attention, all these are the things that will determine to what camp the men will be sent.

Lieut. Cleveland announces that probably Wednesday afternoons will not be spent in regular drill but will be used for various athletic activities.

Intercollegiate basketball will be staged soon as will games between the men of the company. Indoor baseball, track and field events, boxing, long distance runing, tugs of war, and other contests are being planned for this date.

These events coming at the middle of the week will break the monotony of every day drill and thus increase the efficiency and likability of the drill.

FRED HOPE FUND GIVEN TO BOARD

Two Hundred Dollars Given Last Year by Maryville Students and Faculty.

Last year's Fred Hope Fund of two hundred dollars from the students and faculty of Maryville College was turned in to the Board of Missions of the Presbyterian church this past summer by Ernest E. Loft, the president of the Student Volunteer band, and a letter has been received from the Board thanking the students and the faculty for the contribution. The letter follows:

July 9, 1918.

Mr. Ernest E. Loft, Pres.,
Student Volunteers,
Maryville College,
Maryville, Tenn.

Dear Mr. Loft:—

Your favor of July 1st received enclosing $200, from the Faculty and Students of Maryville College, for the industrial work at Elat carried on by Mr. Fred H. Hope. You will find receipt enclosed here with. We do indeed appreciate the interest of our good friends at Maryville in this splendid missionary and his work in Africa.

Cordially yours,
Dwight H. Day, Treas.

For the benefit of the new students it might be said that Fred Hope is a missionary who is perhaps the best known of any who have ever attended Maryville. A leader in every activity while on the hill, he is now making a remarkable record in Africa. Every year a Fred Hope fund is raised in this college, and everyone is given a chance to subscribe whatever he will. The campaign is rapidly becoming a college institution.

DR. WILSON AUTHOR OF WIDELY POPULAR SONG

"A Prayer To Our Soldier Boys", a war time verse written by Dr. Wilson last winter is rapidly gaining wide prominence and popularity as one of the foremost of the better kind of war songs.

Written to the tune of "My Country 'Tis of Thee" the song has been adopted by many churches, educational institutions and organizations as emblematic of their feeling toward their representatives "over there."

The song was sung for the first time this year at the second chapel exercise. Dr. Wilson requested that the last verse be repeated slowly as a prayer. The rendition of the song was very impressive.

That the song is attracting almost universal attention as one of the better examples of war songs is evidenced by the many instances of adoption by many responsible church and patriotic organizations.

MISS JACKSON LEADS PRAYER MEETING WITH WELL CHOSEN TOPIC

The prayer meeting last Thursday was a song service led by Miss Jackson, who spoke on the purpose and value of song, illustrating her remarks by Biblical references.

The leader said that song is the natural expression of the emotions, voiced both in gladness and in deep sorrow. Song draws the singer closer to the Father, and often expresses thanksgiving. Patriotic songs result from a deep love for the country. The history of the Jewish nation is full of songs which were sang on great occasions. David, Moses, Isaiah Deborah, Mary, Elizabeth and others commemorated greats events with their beautiful songs.

Song is a part of the mental and spiritual life, and should be used in saving souls, in comforting the sad, and in cheering others to greater effort in fighting life's battles.

"Red"—Say, did you ever kiss a girl in a quiet spot?

"Sheeney"—Yes, but the spot was only quiet while I was kissing it.

"POSITIVENESS" SUBJECT OF DR. GRAHAM'S "Y" TALK

Rev. W. E. Graham, pastor of the New Providence Church, gave a fine talk on the Positiveness of the Christian Life. His text was taken from the parable of the talents. He dealt with the text in a splendid manner, showing how the man with the one talent committed the sin of commission. The speaker admonished the large gathering to "strive for the Goal of the positive side of life". The boys who do not come to Y are certainly missing some good treats.

BAINONIAN WEEKLY JOURNAL APPEARS

New Girls Treated at First Regular Meeting to Fine Program.

The first edition of the "Bainonian Weekly Journal" appeared Saturday night. A large audience of old and new girls witnessed the reading. Page after page of editorials, readings, musical numbers, fashions, jokes, etc., held the audience spell-bound for more than an hour. Miss Jane Morton as the newsboy very effectively anonunced the paper while Miss Lippert, as editor, made the introductory remarks. The beautiful cover design was well represented by Misses Mary Heard and Amelia Rendon. Three snappy editorials were rendered by Misses Grace Bailey, Martha Robison, and Marion Henry. Next came the literary department in the form of three entertaining readings by Misses Mattie Hamilton, Helen Lewis, and Maude Pardue. The musical department was represented by Misses Winnie Decker, Marion Henry, and Winston Newton. Miss Marie Townsend, as Mrs. Vernon Castle, showed some of the latest Paris fashions using for her models Misses Amelia Rendon, Gail Wilson, Mary Heard, Edith Davis and Vera McCampbell. As the "Watch Dog" editor, Miss Ethel Burchfiel convulsed her audience with jokes. The last pages of the "Journal" were devoted to advertisements. Misses Amelia Rendon, Billy McKeever, Ashton Clayton and Hattie Hayes had charge of these pages and won much applause in their respective roles. Last of all came the "Bainonian Girl" who by her presence extended to the new girls a hearty welcome and assured them of more good times at Bainonian.

NEW "WHISKERS" NOW THE HILL'S GUARDIAN ANGEL

No longer will midnight campus prowlers be greeted by that familiar hail, "H-h-halt! I have you, you need not run". "Whiskers", known in civil life as Mr. Moore, for many years the guardian of college hill and it's denizens, has retired.

Mack Shields, of Cades Cove, age 32, 6 feet tall, with an averdupois register of almost 200 pounds, has succeeded to the position of night watchman. It is also rumored that he wears a number 13 shoe, all of which goes to show that Mack covers considerable landscape during the "wee sma hours".

It is said that "Red" Campbell has already had occasion to hear the exact phraseology employed by the new "Whiskers" when he desired the immediate departure of a trespasser.

Ask "Red".

TAKING A BACK SEAT

At last Sheeney has got to the front again. Tradition, resurrected from the tablets in the museum, state that he started many long years ago at the back of the chapel on the prep side, went clear down in front, then back to the back of the college section, and now at last is down in front. But because it was too great a shock for him, he has suddenly turned songster and now sits on the back row of the choir. He is indeed very meek.

TIT-BITS

The Florida girls seem to have done some scouting for students for when they returned they did so doubly strong.

Miriam Crum is at the present time, attempting to find a place where she can draw a salary without doing any work. So she has decided to teach school.

Vincent Hamilton has been taking a three weeks' course in a business college in Knoxville, but has finished and intends to enter the Iowa State Agriculture School, at Ames.

Alfred Sears, a former member of the class of '19, is working in a government factory in Dertoit.

Mabel Dorothy Rice ought to come back. If she only knew the lonesome, weary, forlorn look on the freckled face of a certain Junior, she sure would take the next train heading south.

Chester Eaton, a student here several years ago, and who is remembered as the "smiling one", is working in an essential plant in his home town in Illinois.

Maude Pardue, President of the Junior Class last year, is a frequent visitor on the hill. She is teaching school at Armona, principal, if you please, and is adding to her accomplishments by learning how to cook. Reports say that she is reducing. She takes expression every Saturday, but will come back as a full-fledged Senior after Christmas and graduate next June.

Cola Turner in a letter to the editor says that she "devoured the first copy of the Echo word for word, from what is to be found at Mitchell's and the latest announcement at the Dreamland, to the Snap and Faculty Reception." Her opinion as expressed was that "this is going to be the greatest college paper, ever."

Hunter Rogers, for three years a student at Maryville, has been dangerously sick with inflammatory rheumatism. He was engaged in War Y. M. C. A. work but had to give it up on account of his health. and has been confined to his bed for months.

Miss Aileen Snyder, an M. C. student of last year, is taking a business course in Evansville, Ind.

Howard McGrath, popularly known as "Solidify" or "Billy Sunday" has a position with a steel construction company at Colton. New York.

Miss Beatrice Marshall, captain of last year's girls' basketball team, is attending Savages' School for Physical Training, in New York.

Teaching seems to be a favorite occupation. Among last year's students who are engaged in this work are: Miss Ethel Jackson, who is teaching in Rockwood, Miss Anne Armstrong and the Misses Helena and Cola Turner who are pedagogues "somewhere" in Kentucky.

Doris Wilson, a former member of the Centennial class, and a graduate in expression under Mrs. West last year, is now teaching expression in the high school at Enterprise, Ala. We know that she will make an enterprising teacher too.

Miriam Jane Bartlett, a student at Maryville last year, is teaching English and Music in the Batavia, Iowa, high school. She is the sister of Bob and Ruth Bartlett who are on the hill this year.

Elizabeth Dearing one of the belles of the hill last year, at least so "Gee" Pugh thinks, is at her home in Potosi, Mo., doing something or other.

Miss Marion Krespach, a former member of the class of 1920, is working in Philadelphia.

Elizabeth Jones was a hill visitor last week. Her parents have moved back to their old home west of Maryville, and although Elizabeth has been seriously ill, she is now rapidly recovering. She may enter school within a short time.

Clara Wattenbarger, otherwise known as "Wart", visited the hill over the week-end. She is taking a business course in Knoxville, but it is a matter of doubt just how much she is learning. She has been a student at Maryville for the past two years, where she made many friends. Saturday night a feed was prepared especially for the occasion by some Pearson's girls.

Esther Covert is teaching the third grade in one of the Louisville, Kentucky, grade schools, and so far as we have been able to ascertain from the voluminous letters that filter thru the hands of censor to a dignified Senior, she is progressing nicely.

Mary Teeple is working in a government position in Washington, D. C. She attended Maryville the year before last, and while here made the acquaintance of a host of friends, who will be glad to hear of her whereabouts. Mike Park incidentally says he is going up to see her soon from his station in Virginia.

Anne Armstrong, is teaching, yes, we mean it, teaching, and we sincerely hope that altho you don't think it possible, still you will believe it to be true when it is stated that she is teaching at Church hill, Tenn. Ask George and see if she isn't?

Leta Bess Harrison, a former member of the Centennial class, has been in North Carolina visiting during the summer, but now is teaching again.

Miss Myra Bogart, a former member of the class of 1920, is teaching Home Economics in the high school at Hackellstown, N. J.

Miss Agnes Dolvin, a popular member of the class of 1920, is attending Scott College, Silon, Ga.

Hooray! The Baldwin girls are going to have a piano in their midst. They are obtaining it on the installment plan. Why didn't they think of that before. Poor matrons! They will have music in the air, music everywhere.

Hot water in Baldwin once so far.

A couple of New Baldwin girls cannot understand why Miss Jackson doesnt' want them to go carriding, as they unfortunately did the other evening. It's because she loves you girls, that she puts you on third floor.

WANTED: A man! A Pre-Medical Student, preferably one with dark hair. Apply to name on door in Baldwin 53.

A certain girl in Baldwin has been doing her patriotic (?) duty by washing socks. It's up to you girls, and if you can't wash you can knit.

Members of the Student Volunteer Band, there is work for you to do on College Hill; in Pearsons Hall; in a certain third floor room. Everyday at a stated hour, an "eathen idol" is being worshipped "A word to the wise is sufficient."

The largest number of girls that have ever been in college. Can't you find one boys?

SOCIETY NOTES

Andy Richards, '18, was a hill visitor recently. He left last week for the Princeton Theological Seminary at Princeton, N. J.

O. H. Logan, '18, was a visitor on the hill during the opening days of school. He is preaching in Knoxville, but states he may get "tied up" to something bigger and better than a church before long.

Miss Ruth Bartlett and Bob Bartlett spent a week-end recently with their grandmother at Limestone, Tenn.

Miss Eva Lloyd visited relatives in Knoxville recently with her brother, Lieutenant Ralph Lloyd of Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky.

It was rumored that third floor Baldwin decided to try "student government". Evidently it didn't work for Miss Alice Wright is now installed over the tin-can throwers as matron. Watch your step girls!

The Rev. J. H. Mallard of Meridan, Miss., was a visitor on the hill recently. Mr. Mallard accompanied his sister-in-law, Miss Grace Majure who is a new student.

Miss Grace Lydenstricker has been having the pleasure of entertaining her father, the Rev. A. Lydenstricker, an evangelistic missionary whose field is in China. Dr. Lydenstricker is back on a two months' furlough. There was a special called meeting of the Student Volunteer Band last week at which time Dr. Lydenstricker spoke on his work in China.

Miss Minnie Hunter and Miss Laura Putnam were the guests of honor at a party given ——— from 9:30 to 10:30, in celebration of their joint birthdays. All attmpts to discover the ages of the honorees were futile, so they must be recorded as unknown.

"Eats" consisted of the time-honored birthday cake, sandwiches, rhubarb conserve, and chocolate which was miraculously rescued in mid-air, from an unplanned end. The patronesses were Miss Winifred Decker, Miss Mary Heard, Miss Jessie Creswell and Miss Mildred Hoffman.

Prof. Proffitt was conspicuous for his presence in the Vesper choir. Go to it, Prof., we're for you.

They say that Red Campbell likes to sleep on salt. Ask him. He knows. We don't.

Manager is at present the heavy weight of the school, with no one in sight to beat her out of the honor.

Miss Mildred Campbell of Seattle, Washington is a late registrant, being classified as a Junior The five year students will remember Miss Campbell as having been a member of the 1918 Freshman Class.

Mrs. H. B. McCampbell, nee Miss Alice Gillingham, of Knoxville, was a recent visitor on the hill.

Miss Ida Gilbert spent the week end at her home in Chattanooga.

Miss Emily Fowler recently entertained Mrs. Allen Avery, Mrs. J. H. Patton, Mrs. H. Fowler and Hannon Fowler, of Rockwood.

Miss Rebecca Young, of Brooklyn, a sister of the late Ralph Young, has entered school this fall.

A certain red sweater floating around over the campus has been the undoing of one boy in particular, and only the swiftness of the occupant of the sweater kept her safe from the encircling arms of a mighty senior. It has suddenly disappeared. Is it in Carnegie?

Have you noticed Prof. Walker's haircut?

Palace Theatre

The Palace Theatre Co. has taken over the Dreamland Theatre and will use all of the Dreamland Theatre's best pictures at the Palace. The Palace will also continue to use its choice pictures; therefore combining the best pictures that the Palace and Dreamland have been using, and will make for patrons of both Theatres an exceedingly fine entertainment for the entire week. We assure the patrons of both theatres that we will leave nothing undone to give you the very best pictures on the market—the cost not considered. We thank you for past patronage and will continue to do our best for you.

Speaking of good lookers?

Say did you ever notice the songsters on the front row of the choir?

Hist, here's the secret. They're just as good looking on the second and third rows, only not quite so noticeable. And they can sing too.

According to Miss Harriet Gregg, director, about twenty additional voices can be made use of. Boys, wake up to a possibility of some good moonshining opportunities. Follow the example laid down by "Father" Gleason and Georgie Pugh.

"JOHN OLLIE"

Since the unforetold arrival of "John Ollie" Witherspoon upon college hill things have begun to assume something of ye olden tyme spirit. The pasteboards have again come into prominence among the elite entertainers who reside upon the third floor of Carnegie, it has become necessary for Doc Mitchell to employ a third chocolate malted milk concocter and it is even rumored that chickens, the feathered variety, are already becoming an uncommon sight on the hill.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE 1819-1918

REV. SAMUEL TYNDALE WILSON, D. D., PRES.

I. ITS PAST. Founded in 1819 by the Synod of Tennessee, it now celebrates its Centennial, in continued service to the church and country. Thousands of its former students are scattered over the world.

II. ITS PRESENT. Its enrollment in 1918 was 748—347 young men and 401 young women—of whom 297 were collegians. 480 students from Tennessee, and 268 from 33 other states and countries. Its teaching force of 60 professors and assistants.

III. ITS PLANT. It has property of all kinds amounting to $1,100,000. Twelve buildings, including the new swimming pool; water works, sewerage, steam heat and electric lights. The campus contains 250 acres.

IV. ITS COLLEGE CURRICULUM. It offers nine groups of study leading to a B. A. degree: Classical, Modern Languages, Science, Mathematics, Education, English, Literature and History, Psychology and Philosophy, Social Science and General. Fifteen units are required for admission to the freshman class. A two-year premedical course is offered. A large unit of the S. A. T. C.

V. ITS OTHER DEPARTMENTS. 1. Preparatory. 2. Bible Training. 3. Teachers. 4. Home Economics. 5. Agriculture. 6. Bookkeeping. 7. Music. 8. Expression. 9. Art.

VI. ITS MORAL ATMOSPHERE. The College is strongly Christian, and the discipline is careful. The Students' spiritual welfare is the first concern. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are very efficient. The Bible is the required text book.

VII. ITS INEXPENSIVENESS. 1. Tuition is $6.00 a term. 2. Room rent for each student with two in the room, $18 to $35 a year. 3. Board in Cooperative Club of 500 is $2.25 per week. 4. Text books rented. General library free. 5. Opportunities for selfhelp afforded.

LT. CLEVELAND OFFICIATES AT EXERCISES

showed how it was the duty of every man to have the determination to go, to sacrifice, to be tested, and to pay the great price if necessary.

"God's test of man is not will he come, but WILL HE GO."

At the close of Dr. Wilson's address, Lieut. Cleveland said a few appropriate words that sunk deep into the hearts of every one there.

Following, a message from Gen. Peyton C. March, chief of staff, U. S. Army was read. In it he said:

"Superior leadership spells success in war and it is the duty of every member of the Students' Army Training corps to do his utmost to qualify as leader of men."

Referring to the Service Flag, Lieut. Cleveland then introduced Major Gillingham, who spoke on "Our Five Hundred". Saying that at no other time in his life had he so wanted to be in two places at the same time, he declared that he was proud to stand on the ground as the old hill was turned into a military post, and yet he wanted to be with the boys in France for three reasons: first for their task, a task of changing the conditions of the world into the reality of ideals of a liberty-loving nation, second because of the consecration of the men who are performing these tasks, and third because they are going to meet with success, "Easy or hard", he said, "we are going to win,

'For conquer we must,
When our Cause it is just,
And this be our motto,
In God is our trust,
And the Star Spangled Banner
In triumph shall wave,
O'er the land of the free
And the home of the brave.'"

A message was then read from Hon. Benedict Crowell, Acting Secretary of War in which he said: "As college students you are accustomed to contests of physical force. You are familiar with the tedious training and self-sacrificing discipline that are required to develope a team that can win the game. You know that the contest is won by team work, push, enthusiastic cooperation with one another and coordination of every individual talent to the single purpose of common success.

"In the military struggle in which you are about to enter, the same conditions prevail. In order to succeed many weeks of thorough going training and drill are essential to develope the combination of skill and imagination that is achieving the vast and vital end to which the country has pledged its every effort. The fighting machine will come into effective working order more rapidly in proportion as each individual in it devotes his full attention to the particular service for which he is best qualified."

Prof. Hunter made a short speech on the Fourth Liberty Loan, urging the people to subscribe to this 'Victory' loan. Just as the Third Liberty Loan had been one for defense, so this one is for offense.

Dr. Stevenson then pronounced the benediction.

The company was dismissed and the exercises came to an end.

The greatest event perhaps in Maryville's history was over, and she has placed herself at the disposal of her country in thus offering her services to train these men for the Great Cause.

Y. W. C. A.

The song service on Sunday was a delightful one, and every one greatly enjoyed it. The large number of special selections added much to the meeting. Marie Townsend had charge and read the Scripture, the twenty-fourth Psalm. Mrs. Armstrong sang a solo, Hattie Hayes gave a piano selection, Emma Miles and Mary Heard sang a duet "Sweeter as The Years Go By", Myrtle Rendon sang a beautiful Spanish hymn, and Adah Howard played a piano solo.

AND STILL PERSIST THEY IN MARRYING

Another chapter has been written to the book of romances of Maryville College, when Miss Lucretia Dexter Clayton and Jasper Morgan Cox were married at the home of the bride in Parkersburg W. Va. on June 23. Both were members of the Centennial class having started to this institution in their Freshman year, three years ago. Mr. Cox enlisted in the navy two weeks before Christmas of last year, and since then has been in Philadelphia, where he and his wife are now located, waiting for his assignment to some ship. The groom is a petty officer, and is making a fine record in the navy. The marriage of this couple ends one of the many moonshining affairs that Maryville boasts of, as the two had gone together constantly from their introduction to each other by Miss Jackson in the fall of 1915. The Echo extends to the happy couple the heartiest congratulations and the best wishes for the future.

ANOTHER MARRIAGE

The Centennial class continues to hold the record for marriages, for not only have the two benedicts, Bill and Cedric, returned to school, and Morgan and Dexter married, but another former member, now in the army, has signed a life contract to join their forces. Wilfred P. Riggs was married on June 19 to Miss Pauline Swisher in Philadelphia. The groom is in a Sanitary train of an ambulance company at Camp Meade. The Echo tenders the proper and due congratulations. May they live long and prosper.

ORCHESTRA PROSPECTS

With all of last year's member back and some promising new members, the College Orchestra has very bright prospects for the coming year. The second rehearsal was held last Tuesday night and this night will be the regular practice time throughout the term.

The orchestra will be under the supervision of Professor Garrett. our violin teacher, who will probably meet with it one afternoon a week. Under Professor Garrett's most competent management a very successful year is expected.

JAMES L. IRWIN DIES

Friends will be saddened to hear of the death of James Luther Irwin who died during the past summer at his home in Virginia. He attended Maryville from 1887 to 1894, and was among the most popular men on the hill at the time. He was a newphew of the Reverend Robert B. Irwin, of the class of '91. The body of the deceased was brought to Maryville this summer for burial.

PARTIAL SCHEDULE FOR S. A. T. C. ANNOUNCED

A partial schedule for S.A.T.C. men has been completed. Reveille will come at 6 a. m., followed by setting-up exercises, which will last from 15 to 20 minutes each morning.

Sufficient time will be allowed the men to prepare their rooms for inspection and themselves for appearance before their admirers at the breakfast table.

Mess calls will be sounded at the hours now in observance. Drill will occur six days per week, from the hours of 3:30 p. m. to 5:30 p.m. Retreat will be sounded at the close of the drill, at which time the flag will be lowered.

One hour each week will be observed as lecture hour. Lectures on military tactics will be given at this time. Group singing will be a feature of the S.A.T.C. recreations.

Dr. Wilson announced in chapel the other day that he has been closely studying the problem of social privileges for 34 years. Most of the students have hardly been doing so that long, but we might mention a few who seem to be fairly proficient in this matter. And the closer the better, according to the beliefs of some.

JUNIOR CLASS ELECTS OFFICERS

At a called meeting of the Junior Class on last Wednesday, September 25, the following officers were elected for the year 1918-19:

Jessie Creswell - - President
George Callahan - Vice-President
Bessie Henry - - - Secretary
Horace Brown - - - Treasurer
Edith Moore - - - - - Editor

Although many of last year's class are not back this year, there are still enough loyal Juniors on the Hill to make this a very successful year.

AN ADVERTISER TELLS WHAT HE THINKS OF THE ECHO

Just a glimpse at what the business men of Maryville thought of the first issue.

Mr. Theo. C. Drake, Bus. Mgr.,
Highland Echo,
City.

Dear Sir:—As an earnest of the spirit of vim, vigor and spizzerinktum that is to characterize the "Echo" under your management, your initial issue is a hummer. I wish to extend my congrat.

Very respectively yours,
A. Zoller.

FINE VESPER SERVICE HELD SUNDAY EVENING

"Thou art not far from the kingdom of God." This passage from the twelfth chapter of Mark was the commendation and also the warning given by Dr. Stevenson to those present at the Vesper service.

He said that some young people have good moral characters, but yet are just outside of the kingdom. Attention was drawn to the peril of such persons and the question was asked, "Is nearness to God's kingdom close enough?" The kingdom of God was defined as being the establishment of the authority of God in a man's life. As pointed out, the intellect and the integrity of a person may keep that one out of the kingdom, but they are more likely to assist in bringing him in. An appeal was made to think, to read, to reflect, and to meditate with an honest, hopeful mind. This attitude will lead the person close to Jesus.

The warning was given however, that nearness to Christ is not close enough. The most important step a man can take is the last step. In closing Dr. Stevenson urged each student to take the last step by yielding his life to Christ.

MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION HOLDS APPEAL MEETING

The opening meeting of the association was devoted to the interests of those who were considering the work of the ministry as their life work. Dr. Stevenson spoke very earnestly to the members and also a large number who were enough interested to come. His theme was "The Need of Ministers". He specially emphasized the need of a preacher as an evangelist, a herald, a shepherd, who guides and protects, as a logician, to reason, to convince and to persuade.

He cautioned his hearers that not every man is called, because we are generally following our mode of life by necessity, by opportunity, or by choice. The choice, gives the preacher the greatest results in development of all-round red-blooded manhood, in literature, in breadth of mind and soul; it offers, yes, it thrusts leadership upon one. "In the language of Garabaldi, 'I exhort you, young men, if you want wounds, privations, and hardships, but with these, glory and immortality and a free Italy, follow me.' The call today is to follow Christ and a free world."

The Ministerial Association welcomes anyone to their meetings which are held the first and third Tuesdays of the month in Bartlett Hall. If you are interested in religious work, come.

Miss Molly, didn't you hear Dr. Wilson say that we could moonshine on Saturday afternoons? Girls, step up lively and get a boy while the getting is good. Of course Emma Jane and a few others are excluded.

SUPERVISED ATHLETICS ARE AUTHORIZED FOR S. A. T. C. MEN BY WAR DEPARTMENT

WEDNESDAY AFTERNOON CHOSEN M. C's COMPETITIVE SPORTS DAY

DRILL WILL BE SUSPENDED WHILE STUDENT-SOLDIERS ENJOY FOOTBALL, BOXING AND WRESTLING. FOOTBALL TEAM WILL BE ORGANIZED.

Football!

"Participation of all S. A. T. C. soldiers, physically fit, is desired", reads War Department orders recently received relative to the organization of an army football team.

Following is the official communication as issued by army officials.

"Intercollegiate football is authorized and will be strongly encouraged. S. A. T. C. members who participate in the sport will be required to maintain satisfactory standards in their military and academic work.

"One and one-half hours each day, and no more, will be used for football practice, including time for bathing and dressing.

"No games will be played in October which would necessiate absence of players for a longer period than from noon until taps (10:30 p. m.) Saturday.

"In November two trips only may be taken which shall involve longer absence than from retreat Friday (5:30 p. m.) until taps Sunday. These absences will be covered by furloughs.

"Schedules should be arranged to include teams of nearby institutions, thereby taking the men away from their work no longer than is necessary.

"Intercompany games may be played in October. The real competitive season begins November. Spectacular contests for soldiers of the S.A.T.C. involving large gate receipts are not approved".

Although the limitations of absence and practice periods necessarily imposed by the War Department will in some measure hamper the efficiency of the eleven it is expected that Maryville College will be able to put out a machine that will take second in no intercollegiate contests.

No detailed information is yet forthcoming as this announcement by the War Department is recent and in some measure unlooked for.

Lieut. Cleveland has, as yet, fixed no practice hour but he states that immediate attention will be given to the matter. Announcement will probably be made this week regarding the organization of an eleven as it is planned to have a smooth working machine to represent the local army unit in the contests authorized by the War Department in November.

It is probable that candidates from companies "A" and "B" will be organized into two elevens and competitive games will be staged throughout the latter part of this month. Not only will such match games as may be staged on the home field be a recreation God-send to the student-soldiers stationed here, but they will afford an opportunity for some rousing demonstration of old time Mayville "pep" and spirit.

Sports have been at a standstill on the hill to date but it seems that all the sports common to prewar days will be revived again.

Both girls and boys gymnasium classes have now been scheduled and Lieut. Cleveland has made the announcement that hereafter Wednesday afternoons will be devoted to games and other sports, such as basketball, wrestling, boxing by the S.A.T.C. men and that drill will not be required on that day.

Wednesday of this week will be the initial day of supervised athletics and it is a certainty that the men who have been drilling daily for the past week will welcome the change and exhibit all the pep necessary to carrying through successfully such a program.

Sports have a great military value. Boxing instruction is invaluable to the man who will soon be introduced to the intricacies of bayonet work.

Let us boost athletics with a display of pep and spirit characteristic of Maryville.

LITERARY SOCIETIES WELCOME COMBINE

Radical Changes Suggested As Result of Decreasing Interest.

The allusion made in the Echo of last week to the so-called "sleeve scheme" of the boys' literary societies has caused considerable curosity and discussion among the faculty and students. As this matter is of great importance to the College and students, the four literary societies wish to make an immediate public announcement of their action.

Owing to the decline of interest among the boys in society work, it was necessary that something be done immediately. At a joint meeting of the Alpha Sigma and Athenian societies on last Saturday evening, the following plan was discussed.

This plan consists of the formation of a "Confederation of all the Literary Societies of Maryville College", the general outline of which is as follows:

On the first and third meeting nights of each month, each society shall transact business and conduct a program in their respective halls.

On the second meeitng night of each month a joint meeting of the boys' societies shall be held, alternately in the Athenian and Alpha Sigma Halls, provided there is ample room to accommodate all who attend. Otherwise an appropriate room may be selected. The programs shall be made out jointly by the program secretaries at least two weeks before they are render-

Sing.

The First of a Series of Community "Sings" Is Slated For Friday Night After Supper. Everyone Is Expected to Turn Out and Become Acquainted With The Melodies That Are Cheering Our Boys "Over There" And In Camp. Classical Music Is Absolutely Tabooed At These Gatherings. Miss Hale, Head of the Music Department, Will Be In Charge. Whether You Can Sing or Not Matters Little. The Vital Question Is How Much Pep and Noise Can You Inject Into The General Medley.

LIBERTY DAY PROGRAM TO BE GIVEN AT CHAPEL

The Four Literary Societies Will Be in Charge of Saturday Night Celebration.

Saturday October 12th will be observed as Liberty Day all over the United States. On Saturday night there will be a patriotic program given in the Chapel under the auspices of the four literary societies of the Hill, in the interest of the Fourth Liberty Loan. The program promises to be of a very high order, since it will represent the patriotic service of the Literary Societies as well as their best literary ability. Let's all pull together on this greatest and most important of all Loans. Be at the meeting Saturday night; advertise it in town. There will be stirring speeches, rousing music and a genuine patriotic atmosphere.

TEMPORARY NON-COMS NAMED; MEN ARE ROUNDING INTO SHAPE

"ROOKIE" NO LONGER APPLIES TO MEN OF COMPANIES "A" AND "B". LIEUTENANTS COMPLIMENT SOLDIERS UPON UNUSUAL ABILITY

Temporary non-commissioned officers have been appointed for companies "A" and "B". They are:

Company "B": First Sergeant E. Sprinkle; sergeants: right guide, Latimore; left guide, Chelf. Corporals not yet appointed.

Drill has indeed begun. Once again the hill resounds to the loud voiced commands of "squads right", "to the rear march", "on right in to line" and varied other commands so fearful to the heart of the "rookie".

The Lieutenants have upon more than one occasion commended the student soldiers upon their surprising progress and showing in drill.

Everything pertaining to the life of the S.A.T.C. men is daily be coming more military. He has a certain hour to clean out his quarters and tidy his possessions, a stipulated time to perform his ablutions and shave.

According to Lieut. Cleveland the first contigent of men to be called for service will probably leave within three months time. According to their qualifications, these men will be assigned to officer's training school, non-commissioned officer's training school and depot brigade. Quotas for each call will be assigned each of the S.A.T.C. institutions and recommendations for officer's training and non-commissioned officer's school will be made through the commanding officer of the respective units

A partial plan for week end leave from duty has been worked out by the local military authorities. It is planned to allow the first four squads, the first sergeants, right and left guides of both companies off from 4:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon until reveille Monday morning and the remainder of the companies off duty at the same hours the following week end.

Tardiness or absence from drill or non-observance of military regulations will be grounds for withdrawal of passes.

Although many new regulations applicable to S.A.T.C. men have been enacted it has been ordered that all college rules be obeyed to the letter also. The same rules of conduct in the dormitories and upon the campus which were in effect before the introduction of the military company upon the hill are still in observance.

No information is available regarding the arrival of uniforms and equipment. Captain Harry B. Johnson, officer in command of the three S.A.T.C. units, University of Tennessee, Lincoln Memorial and Maryville College, is expected to visit the local unit some day this week.

It is expected that the physical examination of S. A. T. C. members will be concluded this week. Some delay has been experienced in securing identification forms. Announcement concerning the exams will be made in chapel.

Policing of the grounds adjacent to the barracks have already begun. It is the aim of the officers in charge to have a model barracks and grounds and they have made it plain that it is up to the men to see that no paper or waste is thrown out of the windows.

Frank Lowry was the first Company "B" man to apply for voluntary induction into the vocational department, for which volunteers are now being secured by a direct appeal to college men. Men accepted for this service will be inducted into service via their respective draft boards and sent to camp not later than October 15th.

Upon receipt of orders from the War Department Lieut. Cleveland presented the matter to the men of companies "A" and "B".

MARYVILLE COLLEGE WILL BOOST LOAN

Purchasing Depot Established on The Hill. Miss Clemmie Henry in Charge.

The question of how many Liberty Bonds you buy is one that you yourself will have to answer. No one is going to force you to buy. There are, however, many people on the Hill, both students and members of the Faculty who will buy bonds. In order that we may make as good a showing as possible for our College we suggest that no one connected with the school buy a Bond off the Hill. In order to afford a rallying point for our College spirit as well as for our spirit of devotion to our Country's Cause an opportunity for making loan subscriptions is to be afforded here on the Hill. Miss Clemmie Henry is provided with subscription blanks and will take your subscription. See Miss Henry as soon as possible. If every one who can does his part we will have an aggregate Maryville College Subscription to be proud of. Miss Henry has the blanks in the office of the Scholarship Committee.

Y. M. C. A. CAMPAIGN GOAL OVERREACHED

$557 Raised in Twenty-Four Hours. 35 Boys Pledge $10 Apiece. 116 Subscribers.

Following the announcement in last week's Echo regarding the Y. M.C.A. Budget, the money-raising squad got their heads together, raided the two upper floors of Carnegie, and in less than it takes to tell, realized a fund of nearly five hundred dollars. Thirty-five boys subscribed $350. In all there were 116 subscribers, and the total amount was $577.50. From these figures it will be seen that less than half of the boys have been approached, and we are expecting that those who have not been asked to give now will show up big in the War Drive next month. Let us repeat once more that these are days of supreme sacrifice, and we do not feel that in raising this the largest Budget in the history of the local Y. M. we are doing anything extraordinary. Nevertheless, the Committees who had the work in hand desires to thank the boys for their generous spirit and hearty response.

Just a word to all. Nobody has been overlooked. The boys just quit canvassing. If anybody feels he has been left out in the cold let him go to one of the boys with the Y. M. C. A. smile and turn in his check. Every penny of it will do good. Enough said.

Y. W. C. A. OFFERS VERY ENJOYABLE PROGRAM

One of the most inspirational meetings of the year was led by Mildred Hoffman on the subject "Missions and the World War" The Brown-Gamble quartette gave two beautiful selections, Laura Putman played a piano solo, and Evelyn Eastman and Emma Miles sang a duet, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break". Miss Hoffman gave a very interesting and truly inspiring talk, in which she told of two men, one a soldier, one a medical misionary. As the first went over the top he looked back and saw other khaki forms coming to take his place. But as the missionary lay dying of a disease he had contracted in trying to alleviate the suffering of the poor people of India, he looked back and saw no one to take his place, no one to take up the work. Where were the members of the Student Volunteer Band? Would they come, when he was gone?

Mary Heard closed the service with a beautiful volcal solo.

FRESHMEN ELECT

On Wednesday, October 2, the Freshman Class elected the following officers:

Jack Jowett, - - - President
Eva Lloyd - - Vice President
Lucile Southland - - Secretary
Claude Moore - - Treasurer
Forrest Brown - - - Editor

As in all other classes this year, Freshman boys are in a minority, there being only twenty-five for sixty-five girls. The class is gathered from far and near, the officers representing the distantly separted states of Utah, Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee.

THETAS HAVE FINE OPENING MEETING

Society Buys Liberty Bond After Stirring Four Minute Speech.

A large audience thoroughly enjoyed the first program of the year given by Theta Epsilon Literary Society, in Theta Hall last Saturday evening.

Minnie Hunter made a "four-minute" speech for the Fourth Liberty Loan. So warm was her appeal that Theta unanimosly decided to buy a baby bond.

Corin Humphreys gave a Silhouette of Pershing. This number gave genuine pleasure to the audience, for all were interested in our General. Bernice Lowry rendered a piano solo, her smooth playing and sense of preportion calling forth admiration. Among the best efforts of the evening was a reading by Sue Nuckols, skillfully and gracefully given. The hearty applause following attested to her popularity.

"Lord Ullin's Daughter" was effectively pantomined by Maude Hite, Ida Gilbert, Mamie Witherspoon and Mary Ridgeway. This proved a brilliant display of dramatic talent, ? ? and a delightful close to the evening's entertainment. Theta extends to every new girl a warm welcome and hopes you will come again.

"GEE! HOW I WISH'T I WAS A SENIOR, TOO"

Parties, More Parties, is Prevailing Cry of Gluttonous Seniors.

Those frivolous, worldly Seniors! They don't seem to think of anything but parties, and they are everlastingly having such good times that everybody on the Hill is getting jealous. This time they were the guests of two of their classmates, the Misses Carrie and Catherine Wilkinson.

When the automobiles had rounded up the whole bunch, and dumped them unceremoniously around the big bonfire in front of the house, the fun began. Weenies began to sizzle and blacken in the embers and pickles and rolls generously assisted in making this a real "hot dog" feed. There seemed to be no limit, either to supplies or capacities, and such a spirit of hilarity prevailed here that everybody lingered long about the fire. However, the blaze did die down after a time, and the glow of the embers did become just soft enough for that proverbially, most alluring of pastimes, moonshining. So while its devotees practiced the art, the rest of the bunch indulged in a grand march and a Virginia Reel. Then followed some interesting and amusing contests, after which everybody gathered around the fire again for a sing. Upon a warning that it was drawing near the time when all good Pearsonites should be home, the good-nights were said and appreciation of the good time was expressed by rousing yells. And true to their reputation, the Seniors slipped in quietly and at a perfectly respectable hour.

"HOOK" DAWSON VISITS

Horace Dawson, president of the class of '18 last year, and a prominent student in all activities, athletic, religious, and literary, is visiting on the hill. He joined the navy this past summer, was sent to San Diego, but contracted the Spanish "Flu" recently and was sent to his home in Knoxville to recuperate. His presence at Maryville for the past decade or so makes it hard for the old students to forget that he is not here now.

WAR TIME TOPIC IS DISCUSSED AT VESPER

Contributions of War to Civilization Furnish Basis.

A passage from the twenty-first chapter of Revelation was used by Dr. Stevenson as his text at Vesper service. The one selected was the twenty-sixth verse, "And they shall bring the glory and honor of the nations into it."

The sermon was introduced by the question, "What contribution is the war making to civilization?" Constantinople was named as an example of a city into which the glory and honor of the world has been poured. But the prophet's dream, it was shown, was of a different kind of city. Nations should exist for a nobler purpose than to accumulate an abundance of material things, and should develop high ideals and aims.

It was emphasized that no single state could hold the entire contents of a democracy. For example, the outstanding glory of Japan is patriotism, that of China is reverence for the past, and that of India is religious enthusiasm. Next it was shown that the glory of these countries was not the glory referred to in the text. Patriotism was defined as being the most noble trait in the human body. Christ was a true patriot. The best patriotism is the loyalty to God; the best reverence is the respect to home ties, which should be strengthened; and instead of India's 40,000 gods, the nation should turn her religious instincts to a faith in the one true God.

Dr. Stevenson pointed out another result of the war that should take place; namely, that the nations must concentrate their resources in the redemption of the world. The spirit of sacrifice is noble and must prevail after the war as now. Suffering is the path of progress and improvement. The call is still sounding for help from the nations in darkness, and heroes and heroines are badly needed today to bear the cross of Jesus.

In closing, the plea was made to each to give himself to God and the service of his fellowmen, making the world ready for the city of purity, righteousness and truth.

MAJOR GILLINGHAM LEADS PRAYER MEETING

A prescription for doing the hardest job on earth, was the theme of Major Gillingham's address at Prayer Meeting service last Thursday evening. The development of the subject was based on the twelfth chapter of Hebrews, the first and second verses, "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking to Jesus the author and finisher of our faith".

The hardest job was stated to be the attempt to live a consistent Christian life. The helps for accomplishing this task were found in the text consisting of two motives and three suggestions.

The first motive for living consistently was given as the cloud of witnesses watching how we live. The witnesses referred to in the text are those who testify to the success of the race run for Jesus Christ in the faith.

The second motive was what Jesus Christ has done. This motive is a realization that He ran the same kind of race.

The first step in the method was laying aside the sin that does so easily control. This sin is the one that keeps coming back.

To run the race with patience, running steadfastly without fouling another, was the next step mentioned.

Finally, in order to live a consistently is because of the cloud of unto Jesus as an athlete does to his coach. Jesus Christ is the Christian's coach who stands at the goal to give encouragement and make the job easier.

WILL 'FLU QUARANTINE BE PUT ON STUDENTS?

Portion of Second Floor of Barracks Has Been Placed Under Quarantine.

Will a general military quarantine be necessitated by the rapid spread of Spanish influenza?

According to Lieutenant Reilly such a measure was being seriously considered as this article was written. Almost twenty cases have been contracted in Carnegie hall, the greater part of this number on the third floor of the barracks. About five cases are being cared for in the hospital but as the accommodations are limited there, a portion of the second floor of the barracks is now being utilized for the treatment and housing of patients.

The epidemic has made its way into the girls' dormitories and it is reported that several cases have developed among the co-ed residents. These patients were rushed immediately to the hospital and it is believed that the girls' dormitories can be kept free of the disease

Every precaution is being observed in Carnegie barracks. Rooms of patients who have been moved to the quarantined section of the hall are being thoroughly fumigated. No one is allowed to enter the rooms.

Guards are stationed at the portion of the barracks now under quarantine and the left wing stairs have been closed to every one. Dr. Gamble is devoting practically all of his time to attendance upon the patients and to date no serious cases have been reported.

Should a general military quarantine be established on the hill armed guards will be stationed at all entrances to the grounds, and no person allowed to enter to leave without a vass signed by the local military authorities.

Because of the extreme importance of continuing the drill and classes per schedule it is not believed that either will be abandoned unless conditions become hazardous.

Lieut. Cleveland pesonally visits the patients in the quarantined wing of the barracks and every comfort possible is provided them.

SOCIETY NOTES

The Misses Winston and Ruth Newton are entertaining their sister, Miss Thressa Newton of Harriman, Tenn.

Prof. C. B. Armentrout, principal of the high school at White Pine, Tenn., was a recent guest of his daughter, Miss Mary Emma Armentrout.

While returning from the Senior party last Tuesday evening, Miss Katherine Guess had the misfortune to step on a rusty nail. Such an unpleasant experience always produces painful and somewhat lasting results, so Katherine has been enjoying the quiet of her room for the last few days.

Miss Bernice West was a recent guest of Miss Sue Nuckols.

Luther McCurry, '19, has been seriously ill with the Spanish "Flu" at the Naval Base Hospital, Norfolk, Va.

Miss Helen Horton had as her guest over the week-end Miss Myrtle Jackson of Harriman, Tenn. Miss Jackson has a position with the Aluminum Company of America.

Hiram Balch, a member of the class of 1915 was a Sunday visitor on the hill. Mr. Balch is the agricultural agent of Unicoi County.

At a recent meeting of the Athletic Board of Control, Miss Sue Nuckols was elected manager of the Girls' Basketball Team. Miss Winston Newton was appointed manager of tennis.

Miss Marion Henry spent Monday in Knoxville.

LITERARY SOCIETIES

WELCOME COMBINE

ed. The Presiednts of the societies shall alternate in presiding over the meetings.

On the fourth meeting night of each month a public program shall be given by all the literary societies of the College. These meetings shall be held preferably in Voorhees Chapel, but may be held in another suitable place if approved by the proper authorities of the College. The program shall be planned jointly by the program secretaries of the girls' and boys' societies. In order to give time for thorough preparation, each participant must be notified personally by the program secretary of his society at least four weeks in advance of the meeting. The Presidents of the girls' and boys' societies shall alternate in presiding over these meetings.

This plan shall become effective on the first meeting night of the month following that in which it is ratified by the four societies, and approved by the President and faculty.

The Confederation is to be formed only for the duration of the war, but if it proves successful it will probably be a permanent organization. The forming of this Confederation will mean the greatest forward step of the literary societies for many years, which means also a momentous event in the history of the College.

The Highland Echo

THE ECHO GOES OVER THE TOP WITH THE BOYS "OVER THERE"

VOLUME FOUR | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1918. | NUMBER FIVE

COLLEGE IS PLACED UNDER QUARANTINE BY ORDER OF TOWN BOARD OF HEALTH

LIEUT. LABELLE NEW HEAD OF S.A.T.C. TRANSFERRED FROM KNOXVILLE

LIEUT. CLEVELAND IS TRANSFERRED TO KNOXVILLE. UNIFORMS WITH FULL EQUIPMENT WILL ARRIVE THIS WEEK.

Something was plainly in the wind a week ago Sunday when several new officers made their appearance at the S.A.T.C. Headquarters in the new Army Barracks. Towards evening it was rumored among the "upper ten" that Lieut. Cleveland was being transferred to Knoxville, and that a new man was taking the Maryville unit in charge. Reports were well founded. On Monday evening Lieut. Melford Cleveland boarded the train in company with Bob Adams and "Red" Campbell, and headed for Captain Johnson's Headquarters. Latest reports from Pearson's say he is now stationed in Chilhowee Park with Section "B" of the Knoxville bunch. Everyone on the Hill was sorry to see our Alabama boy leave us; he was well liked, and five minutes before his departure he gave us a sample of his worth by writing a substantial check for the Y. M. C. A.

Lieut. Guy A. LaBelle, the new Commander, was transferred to Maryville October 13. He comes from Camp Gordon, Ga., but for a few months has been in charge of Co. A. (Vocational) at U. T., and during the past month he has assisted Captain Johnson in getting things "shaped up" at the University. From the word "Go" the new Commander has meant business. In addressing the Company on the first day of his new appointment he let the boys know what he was in Maryville for, and in justice to the Commander it must be said he is satisfying the expectations that he forced upon his hearers. He is here for business.

The S. A. T. C. unit has been hampered considerably by the "Flu" and it is taking some good executive work to get things going as they should be. One of the major difficulties thus far has been the problem of the "Prep" students not in the S.A.T.C. What was to be done with them? It was clearly impossible to have half of the Hall under College discipline yet independent of the military authorities. So as a result of Lieut. LaBelle's effort the following action was taken by the Faculty of the College last Friday, and a notice was placed on the bulletin board.

BY VOTE OF THE FACULTY OF MARYVILLE COLLEGE

October 18 1918. All men residing in Carnegie Hall (Government Barracks) will obey all orders of the military authorities concerning care of the Barracks and conduct therein as given in Memo. No. 1, and ALL men residing on the College grounds, will be confined to the College Campus hereafter at all times, unless they have written passes from the military authorities to leave.

By Order,
Guy A. LaBelle,
2nd. Lieut., Inf., U.S.A.
Commanding Officer.

Having thus disposed of a vexing question, and seeing that the "Flu" is pretty well in hand, Maryville may begin looking for some big things of a military nature. The few who have not hitherto stood the physical tests were put through the mill last week and probably will be inducted during the next few days. Rifles and blankets were issued to the men on Saturday, and uniforms with the full equipment are on the way to the city.

When one of our editors dropped into the Commander's quarters the other night, the Commander expressed great admiration for the buildings and the general equipment at Maryville. Lieut. Cleveland said the buildings at the University of Alabama were not to be compared with those of Maryville, and now Lieut. LaBelle tells us that U. T. has got nothing to match Carnegie. Of course, we have known this for a long time; but it is refreshing to get a word from the outside and to know that others know it too. Lieut. LaBelle spoke in the highest terms of the Mess Hall also.

Maryville welcomes her new Commanding Officer, and in the only spirit that Maryville knows, that of co-operation, students, soldiers, and teachers are going forward to make the Centennial year a year that shall count big for the great truths for which Maryville stands.

---

two weeks, the Liberty Loan drive

COLLEGE LIBERTY LOAN GOES OVER $10,000

S. A. T. C. Men Take Bonds. Faculty Heavy Subscribers.

In spite of the adverse conditions under which the faculty and the students have been laboring for the last closed Saturday night with a total of $10,000. $1200 of this amount was subscribed by the S. A. T. C. and had it not been for the absolute necessity of completing the organization of the S. A. T. C. this week, the boys would probably have doubled their subscription.

Altho this was not a personal campaign—that will come later when the War Relief Drive begins—the students and faculty were reminded constantly by the attractive posters and "snappy" bulletins that the Fourth Liberty Loan was in progress.

The work of the Four Minute Men and Women in the surrounding towns was interfered with greatly by the quarantine but the organization did some good work on the Hill. Several talks were made in chapel and all the literary societies heard a Four Minute speeches.

Much honor is due to all who advanced the sale of bonds, but especially is credit due to Miss Clemmie Henry, Prof. Hunter, and Lieut. Reed, who were untiring in their efforts to make the drive a "go."

Until the end of the war, the "Confederation of all the Literary Societies of Maryville College" will exist since the plan as presented in the last copy of the Echo has been heartily endorsed by the faculty. It is expected that the combined literary society work will reach the 100th mark this year.

All of the program secretaries are on the job and the first joint meeting is to be one of the biggest events of the season. Attend your society meetings and get in time for the ONE affair.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE LEAGUE ELECTS

Receives Letter From Mother Of French Orphan. Resumes War Relief Work.

The Equal Suffrage League is still a very live organization on the hill. It has been reorganized this year and the following officers have been elected:

President - - - F. Marion Henry
Secretary - - - Ethel Burchfiel
Treasurer - - Frances W. Hickey
Editor - - - - Helen Newell

The League expects soon to hold an open meeting in the form of an afternoon social affair. Any of the new girls who are sincerely interested in the purpose for which the club exists will be very welcome members. The members of this organization have from the first upheld certain standards and conformed to certain regulations, among them being regularity of attendance at the meetings which are held once every two weeks, and willingness, or rather eagerness, to do some real active service. Since the war this service has been chiefly along the line of War Relief and probably will continue to be so, but the great principle that makes necessary the existence of the League, and for which it contends at all times is, of course, the national enfranchisement of women.

The following letter has been received from the mother of the French Orphan, which the League adopted last year:

Ecury-sur-Cook,
September, 1918.

"From the letter in which you offer to adopt my little daughter, Alberta Marguerite, I understand that it is a college. Whatever it is, I can only thank the generous benefactors who have been kind enough to be interested in the welfare of my child. It is truly a grand and beautiful expression from our great sister America. She sends her brave soldiers to be butchered by the horrible Boche on our plains, and many of them have already given their lives because of their sublime courage. America with her money must also come to the relief of our poor orphans. Ah, well! Let us hope that these little ones will be worthy of your kindness. They have been taught for a long time to love your dear country. Our country, though already so tried, hopes with the help of your flag to come out of this carnage, as noble and proud as before.

Again, I thank you in the name of France, in my own name, and in the name of my little Alberta, for all your help—but especially in the name of Alberta, whose photograph I am sending you.

Accept the expression of my sincere gratitude."

Madame Brodiez.

SPANISH FLU HITS COLLEGE. STUDENTS AND FACULTY ATTACKED

THERE ARE FEW NEW CASES AND QUARANTINE WILL PROBABLY BE LIFTED THE LAST OF THE WEEK.

The malady variously known as la grippe, Spanish Influenza, and plain "flu", which has spread so rapidly to all parts of this country in the last few weeks, did not fail to inflict itself upon many students of Maryville College.

Deservingly or not, the Huns are getting some credit for starting it all. Submarines are reported to have carried the bacilli to this continent. Eureka! An added reason for buying Liberty Bonds! Let's take the germ out of Germany.

The men of the S. A. T. C. were placed under quarantine October 9, and on Friday, October 11th, by request of the town authorities, this quarantine was extended to include all students residing on the Hill. All public gatherings---except those for the purpose of drill and recitation, and the very essential daily assemblages in the dining room---were stopped. Chapel exercises were discontinued and the Liberty Bond meeting scheduled for Saturday night had to be called off.

Sunday, ordinarily the busiest day of the week for people on the Hill, has been altogether unlike the usual Maryville College Sabbath. Not only have the students not been compelled to attend services; there have been no services of any kind to attend.

Students from town were privileged to move into dormitories for the period of the quarantine, and were given rooms free of charge.

Although the flu is no respecter of persons, as certain prominent members of the faculty can testify, it appeared here in a mild form only, and no dangerous illnesses have been reported. This very fortunate phase of the "pandemic" should no doubt be attributed to the very excellent care which was given to all the "fluzies". Those who could not be taken into the hospital were isolated in the dormitories. Meals for all were prepared at the hospital.

Members of the S. A. T. C. who developed cases of flu were isolated on second floor Carnegie. Here they received the medical attention and careful nursing which Uncle Sam insists upon for all his soldiers. Men were detailed to look after their wants, and one such "nurse" was heard to remark that he had thought he was joining the army, but was beginning to believe that he had joined the Red Cross instead.

All entrances to the college grounds are guarded, and the sight of the lone soldiers walking their posts has made students and faculty realize, as they had not realized before perhaps, that a change has taken place on the old Hill, and that a unit of the United States Army is stationed here.

Classes have gone on without interruption, and the work of the school has not been materially hindered by the epidemic. Teachers have been very considerate, and lessons are being made up without great loss.

Has the flu flew? Not entirely. But it is very much on the wane. The worst of the epidemic is over, and few new cases are being reported.

All students are repeatedly urged by the college authorities to exercise prudence, and so prevent the complications that rise through carelessness, and that make Spanish Influenza a severe and sometimes fatal disease.

Just when the quarantine will be lifted is the favorite topic for speculation at present.

ELIGIBLE SENIOR MEN LEAVE HILL

Briggs, Edgemon, Adams, and Witherspoon Enter Service.

And they have gone: "Sheeny" Briggs into the Army Y. M. C. A., as an athletic director; Charles Edgemon into the army; Bob Adams to the Officer's Training Camp, Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Georgia; and John Witherspoon to the Ground School of the Flying Corps of the Marines, in Philadelphia. Thus has the Centennial class been bereft of all its eligible men. Holmes and Miller are established benedicts and everybody knows that Ralph Smith took himself to the last senior party.

"Sheeny" and "John Ollie" have been on the hill since their prep days and versatile fellows were they, capable of engaging in a foot-ball fray, an oratorical contest, a "moonshine" party, or a chicken raid. Edgemon was an efficient post-master, a remarkable French student, and an expert performer on the bass viol. As for Bob, well it is quite unnecessary to elaborate on his accomplishments and aspirations for like Napoleon, his deeds are known to all.

Seriously, tho, they were four mighty good fellows and college hill will miss them.

A WEDDING OF INTEREST

On Monday evening, Oct. 14th, Dr. Edwin L. Ellis and Miss Elsie Walker were united in marriage by the Rev. S. T. Wilson, D. D.

Mrs. Ellis is a graduate of the Maryville College Expression Department and the past year she studied at the Leland Power's school in Boston. Dr. Ellis is a member of the class of 1900. After his graduation, he took a course in medicine and for some years he has been one of East Tennessee's leading physicians. He expects soon to be detailed for work in the medical branch of the army.

The Echo extends to Dr. and Mrs. Ellis heartiest congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Miss Jeanette Jamison was called home recently on account of the serious illness of her mother. Word has been received that her mother is improving.

The orderly entrance of the S. A. T. C. boys into the dining hall is a great improvement over the "who can get there first" method of former days. Military discipline has its advantages.

:--:--:

The value of the Highland Echo Box in Anderson Hall remains in its use. This is your paper. Keep the Echo box overflowing and the paper going by your contribution of news.

:--:--:

We find that we shall be restricted to a four-page Echo. The editor of the Enterprise has informed us that the War Industry Board has reduced his allotment of paper to one third of the original apportionment and that when the present supply is exhausted the Echo will have to be printed on the grade of paper on which newspapers are printed. However this will not affect the news.

:--:--:

If you were disappointed because you did not get an Echo last week blame germs. For if there were no germs there would have been no flu. But for the flu there would have been no quarantine. Quarantine means a scarcity of news—hence no Echo.

:--:--:

Lest you forget! The first of November will soon be here. All subscriptions to the Highland Echo Campaign Fund must be paid by that date. While you are writing a check for the amount you pledged, add another dollar to pay for your own Echo. Square yourself with the business manager.

:--:--:

Who says that the flu causes depression? You are entirely wrong. It is only in your mind that that state of depression exists. Really if you do not rid your face of that melancholy expression you will soon become a desseminator of pessimism. There is no room in our campus life for that breeder of human woes. A cheerful atmosphere is what we need that we may have a stimulus for productive work. Count your mercies! Be thankful that you have not been ill or if you have been ill, be glad that you are getting well. Just say to yourself that it might have been worse. Be thankful, for the victories our boys and the allies are winning over there. Think of the effect President Wilson's note must have had on the Kaiser and then smile. Give three rahs for the success of the Fourth Liberty Loan campaign. Look around and observe what a gorgeous robe nature is wearing for your approval. Can you look at the exquisite yellows, reds, and purples and feel depressed? No, you cannot. Decapitate depression and leave press-I-on. To what? Cheerful thoughts, a happy environment and work well done.

THE CHANGE OF EDITORSHIP

The War has been blamed for so many of our inconveniences during the last four years that, if it were possible, we would not accuse it of having interfered with the Echo. But it was the war and nothing else which awoke us rudely last Monday morning with the news that it had robbed us of our Editor-in-Chief. "Bob" Adams was one of the first two S. A. T. C. men to be recommended for transference to an Officer's Training Camp, and when he left for Camp Gordon at Atlanta, Monday afternoon, he left an Editorless Echo behind him.

We cannot praise too highly the work that Mr. Adams did during his brief editorship. He had the Journalistic instinct. He had, more than that, a sure sense of what the readers of the Echo wanted and was giving it to them. He was putting time and energy and ability into an unwearied effort to give The College a newspaper of which it could be proud, and he was geting results. We are sorry to lose him. We at the same time, congratulate him on his good fortune.

Mr. Adams will be remembered as editor of The Echo longest and most gratefully for the Movement, which he set on foot and saw thru to a remarkably successful conclusion; the Movement, as the result of which, The Echo is to be sent to the greater part of Maryville's Five Hundred men who are in the Service. We shall surely not leave "Bob" out when we send the boys their copies of the Echo. And now will the Cheer Leader please come forward and lead us in fifteen rahs for "Bob".

But we are not going to be Echoless!

With this issue we present our new Editor-in-Chief, Miss Marie Townsend. It is not necessary to present Miss Townsend, except in this new capacity, for her ability to do things has had ample proof in other activities.

The editors of the old Maryville College Monthly and of The Highland Echo have, from the beginning been men. The election of Miss Townsend is a new departure, but there is no adverse argument in the fact of its newness. On the other hand there is every reason to believe that the qualities of editorship are present just as abundantly on the Pearsons-Baldwin side of the Campus as they have ever been on the other side. We shall, perhaps, live to thank the War for many such discoveries.

Miss Townsend's asumption of the editorship has been in the spirit of genuine patriotic service. The students, and the readers of The Echo generally, ought to know that she has taken the responsibility as an act of College loyalty. Miss Townsend did not apply for the editorship, and it was only when she was told that The Echo was going editorless and that no applications were in sight, that she consented to the presentation of her name to the Faculty-Student committee on nominations.

Do you feel that we could do without a College paper this year,—War year,—Centennial year? Of course you don't think we could! Then here's all honor to our new Editor-in-Chief who felt this so strongly that she waived her own preference and convenience to serve the School. All the patriots are not in the trenches nor do they all wear the khaki.

* * * * *

Welcome news! By order of the Board of Health the college quarantine is continued another week.

:--:--:

Have you ever heard this: "Yes, you are right, but if you breathe it, I'll shoot you. Don't ever as long as you live tell that I told you that."

Prof. Bassett is having quite a time now with the Seniors, Juniors and Soohs all on his roll at chapel, where in the years gone by he has had only the Seniors.

THE NEW COMMANDANT

Lieut. Guy Armend LaBelle, the new acting head of the S. A. T. C., comes from Chicago where in civilian life he was a pianist and member of the faculty of the Cosmopolitan School of Music and Dramatic Art.

Two weeks after the United States entered the war, Lieut. LaBelle enlisted and was assigned to the 35th Infantry which was stationed on the Border at Nogales, Arizona. While at Nogales, Lieut. LaBelle won a sharpshooter's medal. He was transferred to Headquarters where he had charge of the Service Records. Later he was recommended by his Colonel to attend the Officers' Third Training Camp at Camp Stanley, Leon Springs, Texas, which he entered January 5, 1918 and from which he graduated April 19, 1918, being recommended for a commission. Next he was sent to Camp Gordon, Atlanta, Georgia where he was assigned to the 6th Replacement Regiment.

Lieut. LaBelle was stationed in Knoxville three and a half months, having been ordered June 27th to the U. T. Training Detachment. Later he was appointed head of Co. A. (Vocational Section).

Now Lieut. LaBelle is in Maryville and he says that he is delighted with his new surroundings. We are glad to have him with us and we give him a hearty welcome to College Hill. It might not be amiss to add that Lieut. LaBelle is good-looking and single.

BAINONIAN SURVIVES THE FLU

Through two weeks of influenza and, eventually quarantine, Bainonian has come safely and is ready for real, earnest work and good times.

The program committee has assured the society that just as soon as the quarantine is lifted there will be given plays, music of all kinds, readings, papers on current topics, and the like, each Saturday night in Bainonian hall. So girls, if you don't want to miss something be sure and come, for never before have prospects for an unusual year been so good. Because all organizations have been interfered with in their work is no sign that they are discouraged and so it is with Bainonian.

Three weeks without a meeting have given the officers and committees time in which to plan for exceptionally good things the rest of the term. A surprise is in store for everybody, next Saturday night. And when eight o'clock comes, girls, be ready.

In a letter from Olga Griffin, a student of last year, she says of the Echo, "I simply devoured that paper—it is almost in shreds now from being read so often."

EWERS IN MIDST OF AWFUL ATROCITIES

Ernest M. Ewers, '08 is a medical missionary in China, being at the head of a hospital in Yeung Kong. He has seen some of the present revoluntionary fighting which the following excerpt from his letter so graphically portrays:

"War has passed over our heads five times since the first of January. Each time we were captured became more violent than the last. Finally our compound was violently bombarded, forcibly entered, things stolen, and nine of my patients killed before my eyes. This last outrage caused the consul to send a gunboat and take away the ladies and children, and we men are alone and will be for about three months longer. The clouds seem to be gathering again and it may be a sixth time for us. Civil warfare in China has Germany's hideous cruelties about equalled. We know what it means to have bullets come into our house, our dressing room, and to know one's duty is before him and to do it leaves a satisfaction not easily surpassed. Our fifty bed hospital sheltered 120 at times and we only had seven helpers besides the kitchen force, so were busy."

Visitors on Hill

Mrs. Charles L. Smith and son are visiting in Maryville for a few weeks. Mrs. Smith was formerly Miss Nellie Wilson, and a student in college. She was married last fall to "Turkey" Smith, a famous football hero of M. C. At present he is a lieutentant in the artillery camp at Louisville, Ky.

Helen: Do you know that Maude has a dark room on purpose for proposals?

Bob A.: Well, rather. I developed a negative there myself last night.

The man who has no enemies may be considered good, but it's a question what he's good for.

Lamar Wilson: The more I see of some people, the better I like my dog.

A PASTOR AND CHAPLAIN

In a copy of the Geelong, Australia, Times Weekly, received on the hill recently, appeared several articles mentioning a former Maryville student, Rev. T. Worsley Maguire, '01, who is now the pastor of the Geelong High Church. Quotations from several articles in current magazines also show that Rev. Maguire is doing a great work in Australia, not only in his church, but as a chaplain for the troops.

Ethel B. intends to frame the penny given to her at the faculty reception by Prof. Proffitt. She says they are rare articles, and several other managers have substantiated her belief.

MARYVILLE COLLEGE 1819-1918

REV. SAMUEL TYNDALE WILSON, D. D., PRES.

I. ITS PAST. Founded in 1819 by the Synod of Tennessee, it now celebrates its Centennial, in continued service to the church and country. Thousands of its former students are scattered over the world.

II. ITS PRESENT. Its enrollment in 1918 was 748—347 young men and 401 young women—of whom 297 were collegians. 480 students from Tennessee, and 268 from 33 other states and countries. Its teaching force of 60 professors and assistants.

III. ITS PLANT. It has property of all kinds amounting to $1,100,000. Twelve buildings, including the new swimming pool; water works, sewerage, steam heat and electric lights. The campus contains 250 acres.

IV. ITS COLLEGE CURRICULUM. It offers nine groups of study leading to a B. A. degree: Classical, Modern Languages, Science, Mathematics, Education, English, Literature and History, Psychology and Philosophy, Social Science and General. Fifteen units are required for admission to the freshman class. A two-year premedical course is offered. A large unit of the S. A. T. C.

V. ITS OTHER DEPARTMENTS. 1. Preparatory. 2. Bible Training. 3. Teachers. 4. Home Economics. 5. Agriculture. 6. Bookkeeping 7. Music. 8. Expression. 9. Art.

VI. ITS MORAL ATMOSPHERE. The College is strongly Christian, and the discipline is careful. The Students' spiritual welfare is the first concern. The Y. M. C. A. and the Y. W. C. A. are very efficient. The Bible is the required text book.

VII. ITS INEXPENSIVENESS. 1. Tuition is $6.00 a term. 2. Room rent for each student with two in the room, $18 to $35 a year. 3. Board in Cooperative Club of 500 is $2.25 per week. 4. Text books rented. General library free. 5. Opportunities for selfhelp afforded.

"LARRY" TAKES FIRST FLIGHT AT PENSECOLA

Mention has been made of Larry LaRue in these columns during previous issues, but we feel that the following extract of a letter written at the time when he made his first flight at Pensecola in the Naval Aviation deserves publication. It is too good to be withheld, and so it is herein presented. It is an intensely interesting letter, that describes in a vivid way his work. If only every soldier could get as much enjoyment out of his work as does Larry.

Thursday night I climbed into the forward cockpit and with the pilot and assistant pilot behind me we left the ground; and nosing upward and outward over the bay, we rose to our cruising altitude of about 500 feet; then headed along the coast line toward the city. Looking out to sea, we could see the glimmer of the silvery blue waters below us; there out in the bay the lights of many large and small vessels riding at anchor; and far out into the distance the lighthouses blinking out their warnings to the incoming vessels. There to our left and below, we could see the water and a little farther the shore line; there the crazy-quilt patchwork of the timber and open spaces; and here and there on the road to the naval station were the lights of an auto or those of the street cars as they sped on to the city with their loads of "gobs" and Sammies going on shore leave. Straight ahead were the myriads of twinkling lights which seemed to approach us instead of our travelling nearer. (The sensation is that the ground is falling away from you as you rise and toward you when you descend.) As we approached and passed over the city, the twinkling, sparkling lights lost their form, and as we came nearer they resolved themselves into orderly rows of lights. As we passed on out over the city to Bay View, the pilot pointed out the dancing pavilion. How easy it must have been for the Germans to bomb the people of London and Paris! We could pick out all the main buildings as the San Carlos Hotel, the First National Bank, and all the churches. Then after awhile we circled around the city to the left, then back over the bay and followed the coast line to the Air Station. Here we landed and in this way ended my first ride in a Blimp.

ANOTHER M. C. MAN EARNS COMMISSION

Dr. Wilson recently received the following letter from Lieut. Edgar H. Sawyer who will be remembered as having been active in athletics while in school.

Battery B, 11th Regt., F. A. R. D.
Camp Jackson, S. C.,
October 8, 1918.

Dr. Samuel T. Wilson.
My dear Sir:

No doubt you think that I am a lost Maryville boy, but I am not. My whole heart, soul, might, and mind have been with the dear old college ever since I left it. If I could only visit the Hill for a few minutes, I should be once and for all happy again.

I am now stationed at Camp Jackson, S. C., and I have been here ever since October 4, 1917. I have seen all my dear friends go through their training here, and even my brother Carl, who was at Maryville also, is now in France. How I should like to join him on the other side!

I have received my commission as Second Lieutenant in the Field Artillery. I am an instructor in the Horseshoers' School. I have had my commission since June 1, 1918.

I have also been married to Miss Pearl Jones, who was a teacher at the Normal and Collegiate Institute, Asheville, N. C.

Give my love to all the professors. Any news from Maryville will be appreciated.

Yours sincerely,
Edgar H. Sawyer.

SOCIETY NOTES

Sam Jack, a former M. C. student, has "arrived safely overseas."

Jessie Quinn, a former student, and Miss Nancy Turner were married during the summer.

Miss Lorena Little who was here in '15 and '16 was married recently to Hugh Rowe.

Miss Anna Johnson Owens was called to Knoxville last week on account of the death of a brother.

The Misses Ruth and Winston Newton went home Saturday because of the illness of their mother and brother.

Miss Isabel McGranahan, who was in school here for the past several years, is attending Grove City College, Grove City, Pa.

Margaret Jones, for several years a student at Maryville, is back again at her job in Hickory, N. C., where she teaches domestic science.

Miss Henri Frances Postlethwaite, the last college nurse, is stationed at the American Military Red Cross Hospital No. 5, Neuilly sur Seine, France. Miss Postlethwaite says that she finds her work intensely interesting.

Eckles West, joined the Naval Reserves last May and now is at San Diego, where he is with many former Maryville students: Horace Dawson, Happy Lloyd, Parks Eagleton and several others.

Cards were received during the summer by several Maryville students from Mr. and Mrs. James Lee Benson announcing the arrival of Mary Idelia Benson. Mrs. Benson was Miss Idelia Andrews, a former student on the hill.

The following girls have gone home: Ethel Burchfiel, Emily Fowler, Mary Patton, Fannie Bush, Augusta Templin, Ruth Allen, and Mary Emma Armentrout. They will return as soon as the "flu" makes its departure.

Phil Sheffey, who was elected business manager of the Echo for this year, joined the engineers during the first part of the summer and is now in Chattanooga doing clerical work in the army.

Those interested in the welfare of the Fishers will be glad to know that Mrs. Fisher nee Frank Sheddan is teaching History and English in the Lornsburg, Tenn., High School. Commodore is taking a course at the Radio Training School, Clemson College, Clemson, S. C.

Parks Eagleton, captain of last year's basketball team, is now in San Diego with the Navy. He enlisted shortly before school was out in June but received his call during August.

GIRLS TAKE TURN AS DEAN OF WOMEN

Miss Mollie has been attacked quite vigorousy by the "flu", but is getting aong very nicey under her efficient corps of nurses who minister gladly to her every need. A number of matrons are in the making just now. We hope that we shall soon hear Miss Mollie's firm tread in the hall again.

Going to press! Manuscript entitled "The Confessions of an Opium Victim", being a personal history of the life of "Mikey" Park disclosed by her during her recent "flu" illness.

A PRINTING ROOM EXPERIENCE

There is a little story going the rounds to the effect that "Bob" Adams was thoroughly initiated into all the secrets of the printing office before he left for camp. Cooties wont trouble "Bob" after that enlightening and disfiguring experience.

YOU'LL BE A SENIOR SOME DAY

Seniors Have a Send-Off Party For Senior Men Leaving For Camp.

Wednesday night, October the 9th, in site of the flu, as jolly a crowd as you can well imagine assembled at "The House in the Woods," where with the able assistance of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson, they pulled off some big time. Who was this crowd? Why, the Seniors to be sure! That's the bunch that can be depended on to keep something doing, and they never let their studies interfere with more important things.

First in the order of the evening came a Virginia Reel. The Seniors are becoming quite expert in the execution of this stately old dance, and it has become a recognized feature of their social gatherings. It was followed by Tucker, a somewhat less dignified performance in which the girls shamelessly seized the young men for partners. This was finally abandoned for the quieter and more intellectual entertainment afforded by charades. Bob Adams and his group scored in this contest when they staged "military," and then the more charming diversion of moonshining and eating occupied everybody. The most delicious ice cream, cake and hot chocolate were served and it is a known fact that some even had the temerity to seek closer and more intimate contact with the ice cream freezer by a visit to the kitchen.

With much regret did this congenial party disperse and take their double file through the woods; and it is with even more regret that they learned that future senior parties must needs be lacking in some of the merriment of this one, for several of the most ardent patrons will be far away in the training camps.

ALUMNI NOTES

Mr. and Mrs. David Proffitt of Cleveland, Tenn., were in Maryville last week visiting relatives and friends. Both were graduated from M. C. in 1916 and were among the most prominent members of the college for several years.

C. E. McCurry, '16, of the U. S. Signal Corps has been seeing actual service at the Front for two and a half months.

Miss Apharine Striplin, of the class of 1917 is teaching math and science in the high school at Fort Payne, Alabama.

Red Turner has been transferred from Berkeley, Calif., to Sacramento, where he is studying advanced aviation at Mather Field.

Edna Dawson, '16 and Lena Pardue, '17, are both attending the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. Miss Dawson taught music at Maryville the year after her graduation, and Miss Pardue taught in the preparatory department last year. The chances are extremely likely that the two above mentioned former and future pedagogues are having a time.

Eleanor Moseley, '18, is teaching mathematics in her home high school in Kissimmee, Florida.

I fear you are forgetting me,
She said in tones polite.
I am indeed for getting you,
That's why I came tonight.

Almost the first thing that Walter Spickard did when he blew into Maryville this year was to be fined $18.25 for speeding. He was heard to remark that he could have had a pretty good time on that amount and we are not at all surprised.

You should have seen our Major's cute, darling, little mustache about two weeks after school was out in June. But his wife made him take it off.

VOLUME FOUR | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1918. | NUMBER SIX

MARYVILLE UNIT IS INSURED FOR OVER THREE QUARTERS OF MILLION DOLLARS

FOUR MINUTE MEN HAVE PERMANENT ORGANIZATION THIS YEAR

MEMBERS TAKE PART IN PROMOTING INTEREST IN WAR WORK BY MUCH SPEECH MAKING. BRITISH NAVY DAY, OCT. 21ST. DULY RECOGNIZED.

The organization known as the Four Minute Men of Maryville College will be a permanent and active association on the Hill this year. Its activity did not cease with the completion of the Fourth Liberty Loan Campaign nor will it stop when the United War Work Campaign Fund has been raised. The work of the Four Minute Men is not solely restricted to speech-making for the sake of raising money for patriotic purposes. One of the chief objects of the organization is to keep the people informed concerning current war work and to let them know what part they can take toward making this work productive of the best results. Nor is this all. America, of course, is not playing an independent part in the war, and were it not for the aid of the Allies many of the great achievements of modern warfare would not have been possible. It is the duty of the Four Minute Men to give due recognizance to these agencies which are too often forgotten.

With this idea in mind Cedric Miller wrote the following speech in honor of British Navy Day, Oct. 21st., at which time the 113th Anniversary of the Battle of Trafalgar, Oct. 21, 1805, was celebrated:

TO THE STUDENTS AND FACULTY OF MARYVILLE

Across the vast expanse of the Atlantic we hear the thunder of cannon and see the smoke of battle. Thru the gaps in the smoke, the flags of the Allies are seen steadily advancing. The boys are going over the top. The enemy has his back turned, seeking refuge from the terrible onslaught of the Allied armies. This scene goes on day after day. Word comes over the cables telling of new victories and additional gains.

Let the patriot at home give due honor to the boys in the trenches, but in pronouncing this benediction let him not forget the agencies that have made possible their brilliant successes.

Foremost among these agencies is the British Navy. The historians of this war will give a large place to the marvelous achievements of the British Navy. It is The British Navy that has kept the German Fleet bottled up, thus making the high seas safe for the transportation of food, clothing, and munitions to the Allied armies and the distressed nations of Europe. The transport of over 19,000,000 men, the maintenance of an effective patrol, the enforcement of a rigid blockade against the enemy, the destruction of half of the German mercantile marine; all this the British Navy has accomplished with a remarkably slight loss of men and ships.

Finally, the active participation of America in the titanic struggle is possible only because of the past and present achievements of the British Navy. Therefore, today, America pays respect and honor to the officers and men of the British Navy for their effective and loyal service, and congratulates the British people on the 113th anniversary of Trafalgar Day.

Read the accompanying Resolution and give your silent assent:

Be it Resolved: That we, the people of the United States of America having heard from the lips of the Four Minute Men of the Committee on Public Information of the United States Government the glorious record of the deeds of THE BRITISH NAVY during the great war, do hereby empower the said Four Minute Men to convey to Sir Eric Geddes, First Lord of the British Admirality, now a welcome and honored guest of our nation, and through him, we trust, to the officers and men of THE BRITISH NAVY and to all the peoples of the British Empire, heartfelt expression of our keen appreciation, lasting gratitude and high esteem.

BIG MISSIONARY RALLY IN BAINONIAN HALL

Miss Lois Wilson Elected Vice-President of Band. "Big" Smithy Speaks.

At the last Student Volunteer meeting Bainonian saw one of the most enthusiastic missionary meetings it has ever welcomed to its Hall. Over thirty students led by Miss Elizabeth Hudson joined together in song and prayer, and for twenty minutes enjoyed an unusual feast, after which "Big" Smithy spoke on "Workers and Shirkers".

For nearly half-an-hour he absorbed the interest of his hearers in bringing home to them some of the great principles of true Christian living on the Hill. He likened the tests the student is called upon to face to the process of fractional distillation. Each test, well stood, eliminated from the individual the thing that without discipline might become a curse.

The average student was attacked by germs of Selfishness, and of Cowardice and often of Bitterness. In closing he spoke of the great need of divine innoculation. The only thing under the sun that can free us from these germs was innoculation with Faith. "Faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the Word of God."

At the last business meeting, Miss Lois Wilson was elected Vice-President of the Band, and Miss Mildred Hoffman was given full charge of the program arrangements.

Last night Bill Holmes, the prospective missionary to Japan, addressed the meeting.

SING BRETHERN SING

The flu has flown from college hill! Quarantine is off! We are ready and waiting for excitement and——here it is! The first of the long-looked-forward-to Community Sings is scheduled for Friday night. Let us come prepared to enter with all our heart into the songs that have come to be so popular with our boys over there and here in the good old U. S. A. Don't forget—Friday night after supper in the college chapel.

BAINONIAN HAS DOUBLE FEATURE MEETING

Names of Large Number of New Girls Presented. Program Impromptu.

Two very notable events are the record of Saturday. At twelve o'clock the quarantine was lifted and at seven-thirty Bainonian Literary Society met. The hall was crowded with eager enthusiastic girls and these same eager girls were not disappointed. For, in the business meeting, the names of a large number of new girls were presented and as for the program—well "no improvement could have made" is the opinion each girl expressed. In fact, it was a double program. The first number was a double solo. Miss Ethel Burchfiel, accompanied by Miss Mary Emma Armentrout sang "There's a Long Long Trail" and Miss Carrie Sheddan, accompanied by Miss Hattie Hays, sang "Laddie in Khaki". Then came an impromptu story by Miss Jane Morton. Both the story proper and the manner of telling, were remarkable. Misses Decker and Henry then rendered a beautiful piano duet and were repeatedly encored. Miss Mary Heard sang charmingly and the audience showed deep appreciation. A double reading was given by Misses Helen Lewis and Jessie Creswell. They were progressing nicely when they made the discovery that two were reading. Each, then, haughtily insisted that the other continue and both were seated. The applause was tremendous. Miss Lewis appropriated it all to herself and, strange to relate, so did Miss Creswell. Finally news items were given. Anyone knowing any scandal was invited to tell it. Very interesting were these bits of scandal. Among the most interesting were: Miss Burchfiel's strange affection for Alabama boys; Professor Bassett's arrival on the hill with an umbrella and his new hair-cut; Miss Henry's elopement with a count; Professor Hunter's appearance in town with a hat on; and then the startling news of the new editor's work as a German Spy in disguise.

Bainonian may well be proud of this program. She is also proud of her new members. All the girls are invited to come again and share the good things in store for them.

FRANCIS McCLELLAND RECOVERING

The many friends of Corp. Francis McClelland, 78th Co., 6th. Reg. U. S. Marines, will be glad to know that he is rapidly recovering from the effects of a severe gassing which he received in a recent attack by the Huns.

THE MILITARY MILL IS TURNING AND GRINDING OUT GOOD RESULTS

NEW DEMANDS IN S.A.T.C. MARYVILLE IN BAD NEED OF "Y" MAN. CALLAHAN LEAVES FOR TRAINING CAMP. OTHERS TO FOLLOW. CALLS COMING FAST.

The Maryville S. A. T. C. is gradually assuming a true martial aspect. It is realized more and more each day that our boys are not merely cadets, but are truly a part of the great national organism whose arm stretches eight thousand miles across the globe. Uncle Sam has laid his hand on the boys and glad they are to do their bit.

Last week the finger prints of every man in the unit were taken, and the following day a "pepless" and lame-armed crew wended their way to the mess hall after having been both vaccinated for smallpox and innoculated for typhoid. The boys soon got over their sick spell, however, and the announcement that the pay-roll was made up and that Government checks would be circulating on the Hill by November 3 put a smile on Carnegie that displays no signs of fading. The unit has gone the limit in insurance, having purchased policies to the value of $770,000.

It is felt, after three weeks of new leadership, that Lieut. LaBelle is to be highly commended and warmly congratulated for all that has been accomplished. One of the most welcome changes during the past week has been the enforcement of quiet during the study hours. Strangely enough, war brings its blessings and the change that has come over Carnegie seems too sensible to be true. Now that things are beginning to move, the Commander is turning over much of the routine work to his newly appointed adjutant, Lieut. Reel. Lieut. Reel is a young man of sterling qualities. He has made himself very popular on both sides of the Campus, and he has proved himself a very capable and efficient officer. With these two men in charge of Headquarters, the boys may be satisfied that their interests are reposing in good hands.

Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

The Army "Y. M." sent a large box of tricks to Carnegie last week. There has been much speculation as to what it contains; but probably it is a "movie" outfit, which, it is understood, will be operated in the chapel every Wednesday night.

The "Red Triangle" has been doing some notable work in the training camps and the trenches during the past eighteen months, and we feel sure they will not fail the S. A. T. C. The need in the trenches is a peculiar one as is also that in the training camps, and we cannot expect the need in the S. A. T. C. to be met immediately. The situation here demands careful study. The S. A. T. C. unit is made up of intelligent men who need a leader, and only the right kind of a leader.

Nothing could please Maryville better than to have one of our Presbyterian ministers given the oversight of the spiritual and moral welfare of her student-soldiers, The "Y" has the men, and Maryville has the need. The S. A. T. C. is counting on the "Red Triangle for leadership.

MEN LEAVE

Last week Captain Johnson made his appearance in Maryville, and asked for a selection of men qualified for training for specific branches of the Service. Eight men were recommended. George Callahan was the first to be called. He left Knoxville on Friday for Central Officer's Training School, Camp Hancock, Ga. Dewey Beck, Harold Smith, and Jarvis Cotton may be the next to leave us. They were chosen for the Infantry. Horace Brown was selected for Aviation, Eugene Williams, Ralph Smith, and Lamar Wilson for Artillery. The men who "delight themsleves" in "Math." are pretty sure of an early recommendation.

And so the mill begins to grind. From this day on, calls will come, recommendations will be made, and the boys will be sent away. Much as is deplored seeing the ranks thus depleted, yet Maryville is proud to see her sons going out, even in groups, to fill places of responsibility and trust in this hour of her country's need.

THETA GIVES DELIGHTFUL PROGRAM

Theta Increases Membership. Illustrated Current Events Feature of Program.

As the flu had taken its departure and the quarantine had been raised, Thetas decided to meet once again last Saturday night. The fact that they had not been able to hold a meeting for several weeks made this one seem all the more enjoyable.

Lucille Middleton opened the program with a well-rendered piano solo. "The Little Gray Home in The West", as sung by Maude Hite was much enjoyed. Sue Nuchols gave one of her delightful readings and finally responded to the insistent applause with an encore which her audience greatly appreciated. Celeste Moseley gave some interesting current events—some of them well illustrated. The last number on the program was a selection by the Theta orchestra which was very much enjoyed.

At the business meeting a number of names of new girls were presented for membership. Theta extends to these girls, and to any others who may desire to join the society, a most cordial welcome.

TIMID FRESHMAN'S INQUIRY ANSWERED

"Can you state, in your valued paper, some of the college traditions which a newcomer ought to know?

Timid Freshman—(S.A.T.C.)

Once upon a time, there were some college traditions, Timid; but they were all shot to pieces before you came on. You need have no fear of innocently breaking any of the ancient laws of the academic zone by saying 'How do you do?' to the wrong person, or sitting on the wrong bench, or wearing the wrong kind of a hat. We aren't giving a hang about such things, just now.

Act like a he-man, and use your judgment; that's all. The best account you can give of yourself, is to keep smiling! If you are uncomfortable, grin! If the sergeant jolts your sensibilities, cheer! If the military proctor gets your goat, let him have it; there are more goats to be had. The college has gone to war—all of it—lock, stock, and barrel!

Attend everything that looks like a patriotic meeting. Give your old duds to the Belgians. Save up your cash for the United War Work Campaign Fund. The college students led the country, last year, in donations to these movements—. Now combine for one big drive in November.

Until we can get into the fight, ourselves, let's do our best to brace up the other fellows who are in it. Any student who finishes this academic year with money in his trousers, has something wrong under his vest.

We used to chaff the chap who was tighter'n an old tire on a rusty rim; now we despise him. "Raus mit him!" (He can understand that sentence, being part Boche.)

So, don't be timid, Timid, about anything but grouchiness and stinginess. The only offenses you can possibly commit, this year, are soreness and tightness.

WHY THE SOLDIERS SHOULD CONSERVE

Uncle Sam is always lookin' out fer things to do;
Things that will accomplish most,
fer us, and others, too.
And when his strength was called upon to fight against the Hun,
He didn't up and strut about, nor set and suck his thumb.
But up he got and stroked his chin,
And called his nephews near;
Said he to them, "We'll all pitch in,
And keep the Hun from here.

His nephews flocked from East and West,
And when they got a chance
They crossed the pond and did their best
To drive the Hun from France.
'Till now it makes Bill's bristles stand to see his Heinies come
With Sammies fast upon their heels
And speedin' some, by gum!
And Uncle Sam, he turns around to us at home in camp
And p'ints a finger at us, and says,
"Save all you can!
For what you save, is keepin' the Yankees on the run
And makin' Heinie squint around to see if they still come."
So we'll save, boys, everyone of us!
Send forth Old Sammie's warnin'
Conserve—to plant Old Glory over
Berlin in the mornin'!

—Jane P. Morton.

A WORD FROM DR. HOYT

No one has ever been dearer to the hearts of Maryville students than Dr. Hoyt, and old students at home and abroad will welcome news of the gentle, thoughtful man whose never-failing interest and kindly appreciation won their love as completely as his thorough culture and progressive scholarship did their admiration and respect. Dr. Hoyt is now at Rollins College, Winter Park, Florida. But he does not forget Maryville, as the following extracts from letters received on the Hill, will show:

"At Rollins I shall be back with my beloved Junior and Senior Literature. We start for Florida the 27th of the the month, and resplendent with the right kind of visions for the new work in the new field. How I shall miss Maryville! And you may be sure that I shall very frequently picture the classrooms, especially my own, peopled with the old familiar faces.

"When you have the moment, write me a few words about Maryville. How I do miss you all and IT all! But we have made a favorable start at Rollins, with expectation of a happy year.

Remember me to the dear old friends; I shall be with you all every day.

"With very happy memories of those very happy days.

"Always sincerely yours,
"C. K. Hoyt."

DANGEROUS ACCIDENT

Miss Belle Smith, Head of the Department of Art, had a very painful and dangerous experience last week while engaged in governmental work at the McNaughton Brothers' Foundry. Particles of flying steel entered her eye and had it not been for the prompt asistance of an oculist her sight might have been permanently injured.

RONALD PACK DIES

Many students on the Hill will remember Ronald Pack and be shocked to hear of his death. He was killed by falling timber on August 29, 1918, at the Philadelphia shipyards, where he was employed. Ronald was for several years a student at Maryville, and was well and favorably known. His home was at Prendergast, Tenn.

MARYVILLE ADDS FOURTH GOLD STAR TO SERVICE FLAG

Maryville gave her first enlisted man for the sake of democracy when Lieut. Cecil James French of Saskatchewan, Canada, died in France after four years of loyal devotion to the cause of the Allies. At the time England entered the war "Jack" French, as he was familiarly called in his M. C. days, was at the University of Chicago preparing himself for the work of a medical missionary. His mother country called him and he was one of the first Canadians to enlist. After a year's training in England, he entered active service and in 1917 he was awarded the Military Cross by King George in Buckingham Palace. He was wounded in action last February. Later he was struck by an auto truck from the injuries of which accident he succumbed after a month's illness. Lieut. French is survived by his father, Dr. F. W. French, who is president of a college in Elois, Ontario, a brother who is a lieutenant on active duty at the Front, and a sister who is serving in the Red Cross.

The death of "Jack" French came as a sad blow to friends who had known and loved him during his stay here in 1913-1914. At an impressive chapel service fitting the memory of Maryville's brave son, Dr. Wilson told of "Jack's" excellent work in college, of his high grades, of his interest in Christian and society work, and of his enthusiasm for all lines of student activities. In his unselfish idealism and in his zeal for righteousness, he represented the best type of man of Canada and of the United States. At the conclusion of Dr. Wilson's speech, Mr. Jas. A. Goddard, father of Tom Goddard, pinned "Jack's" gold star on the service flag.

The students and faculty sympathize with the family in their grief. May the ideals for which "Jack" French lived and died transform that grief into pride and joy that he had a part in securing the victory that will come—the victory that will assure the peace of the world.

VESPER SERVICE IS RESUMED

The first meeting to be held in the chapel after the quarantine had been lifted was the Vesper service. The attendance demonstrated the appreciation of the students for these helpful and inspirational services.

Dr. Stevenson took for his theme "Encouragement and Good-will". The setting of his sermon was the description of Paul's shipwreck as found in the twenty-seventh chapter of Acts.

It was shown by the speaker that practically everyone must pass through a great trial as Paul did. Just as Paul gave thanks for food before all those present, so the Christian should acknowledge God's mercy and blessings before others. Life's voyage is not always smooth but many blessings come to a person through his association with those whom God favors—an incentive to choose good friends.

Next, the College Pastor, proved that health, good spirit, good humor, and happiness are just as contagious as disease, ill humor, and unhappiness. Some people call out the best that is in their associates and start an epidemic of nobleness. Many need good-cheer and expect it from those who should create an atmosphere of good-cheer and good humor. This can be accomplished best by a person being in harmony with his environment.

The life that is surrendered to God is the life that is propogating an epidemic of good-will.

In conclusion, Dr. Stevenson, urged each one to resolve to do his best to minister to the universal need of good-cheer.

"Dean" needn't worry about his growing bald! That's nothing. A certain girl in school is wearing a pompadour simply because her crown is beginning to shine.

A HALLOW'EEN PARTY

On Saturday evening the room of Miss Clayton and Miss Barber, No. 2 Baldwin, was the scene of much revelry when a crowd of girls from "somewhere in Pearsons" was entertained at a Hallow'een party, the spirit of which was enhanced by the gay decorations of red, yellow, and green leaves.

Consequences of "moonshining" at Maryville were found in nut shells. It is said that Elsie was especially delighted with her fortune.

When the lights flashed the jolly revellers were in the midst of a feast consisting of salad, sandwiches, apples, chestnuts, punch, and wafers.

The invited guests were: Ethel Burchfiel, Elsie Dawson, Sue Nuchols Helen Park, Carmen Park, Louise Hartung, Ruth Bartlett, and Nellie Lippert. "Mikie", who was ill was the only absent guest.

IMPERSONATOR OF CHARLIE CHAPLIN WRITES TO CO-ED

"Chad" McClure, who was a member of the 1919 Class in the Freshman year and who is now a motor mechanic with the U. S. Army in France, wrote the following letter to one of the fair co-eds. It is an intensely interesting and graphic letter, very characteristic of "Chad" who will long be remembered for his skilful impersonation of Charlie Chapin on sundry occasions.

Dear————,

(deleted by the addressee)

"Wish I could speak French. I'm getting along, but I gotta admit that some of this rapid-fire vernacular has me stopped. It sure peeves a fellow to pass one of his best "Bonjour, M'sieu" 's to a native son, and then hear him come back at you with "Hello!" or even "Howdy". Since some of them have been fighting our language longer than we have theirs, they naturally talk English better than we do French; and it producers some comic situations. Remember those "wee mustachios" which you so admired? The first French "gamin" who saw MacGregor's downy puff shouted derisively, "Chollie Chappy!" Our Screen Comedian is a celebrity among the children of the Old Country.

England was a surprise to me, and I esteem Johnny Bull much more highly than I used to. Every landscape is harmonious, beautified by years of labor. Spreading trees in the green fields, groves on the slopes, winding lanes, and pleasant streams, endless hedge-rows, gabled houses with tiled and thatched roofs, now and then a grey old castle peeping through the forest edge are all so neat they seem never to have been other than part of fairyland. No wonder Shapespeare could have his fairies and elves so real in "Midsummer Night's Dream"!

The more I see of France, the more I like it. The people are wondrously kind and likable. We are off by ourselves, and a little French boy herds his sheep, goats, and cattle past our hangars every morning and evening. The planes scare a big fat hare out of the woods now and then when they fly low, and we see big coveys of quail 'most every day. Looks like good hunting to me, but we can't hunt. The folks of the little villages nearby go clattering about over their cobbled streets in great wooden shoes on week days. Sabbaths most of them appear in some sort of leather brogans. They are intelligent, with a keen sense of humor, and most of their quaint ways are just habit. Imagine a man driving four horses to a McCormack wheat binder, and wearing wooden shoes! Something incongruous about it, isn't there?

Sunshine and crisp snappy air today. The grapes are ripe, and the vineyards with their purple clusters are enough to call Bacchus to earth again.

The day's work is past, and evening has arrived—a time for dreams and dreaming. But you can't guess what I'm planning! My brain is busy devising ways and means for procuring a bath, by hek! Arizona is an ocean compared to this camp. We manage to drink, and even sometimes to shave and wash our faces—but a bath is like our love for Wilhelm, absolutely nil. The French use water mostly to build bridges over.

German prisoners here don't believe that we are Americans. Say we are "camouflaged English"! Some dupes, they are! Allied armies are already hanging their clothes on Hindenburg's old line, and I'm watching the papers with interest, for if the Hun can't make a stand along that front, we'll be in Wilhelm's backyard by snowfly, and our 75's will be breaking the glassware in the Bier Gartens.

* * * *

Bless my Hobnail Shoes! We'll have to hurry to supper!

Catch this smile!"

"Chad".

Palace Theatre

The Palace Theatre is open with the Anderson-Gunn Stock Company playing Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, presenting a repertoire of better class plays. No old, worn-out plays, but new, up-to-date plays with real players to play them, real singers, dancers, comedians in fact they are a matchless ensemble of entertainers. Doors open at 7 o'clock each night. Come and enjoy the evening.

The Palace Theatre will resume regular picture service Saturday, Nov. 2nd. With Ruth Roland in "Hands Up", No. 4. We will also have "Woman in the Web", with a two reel Fox Comedy and the Official picture.

Monday, "The Fight for Millions", No. 6 with a two reel Western and a two reel comedy.

Tuesday. A Fox Standard one of the best. Also Charlie Chaplin in one of his funniest pictures.

We have some very large productions booked for dates in the near future, which we will advertise. Some of them are: America's Answer. To Hell with The Kaiser. Crushing Thru to Berlin. Pershing's Crusade. We will also play a return date on "My Four Years in Germany" for the benefit of those that did not get to see it the last time it was here. You can't afford to miss this picture. Come and bring the little ones for this is one of the greatest educational pictures that was ever produced. Watch for dates of these special features.

HEARD MONDAY MORNING IN THE BARRACKS

I feel like taking German Gas,
Or catching Spanish Flu;
Miss Jackson's gone and moonshined "Babs"
And I'd a date for two.'

G. Pugh.

Tommy Loft was kindly showing a visitor the college buildings and grounds when the stranger suddenly inquired:

"And how many students are studying at Maryville this year?"

Tommy: "O not three-fourths of them."

O YOU MEMORIES!

At a recent Senior party "Emma Jane" was asked to start a "sing". Absent mindedly she began, "O memories that bless and burn." Who can blame the lieutenant who was sitting beside her, for blushing in the darkness?

Anne Clemens: "Say, child, is the light out in the corridor?"

The child: "Why yes. Do you want me to go out and bring it in?"

HEARD DURING S. A. T. C. DRILL

Pvt. Williams: "Lieutenant, my foot hurts terribly."

Lieut. Reilly: "That's a pretty lame excuse."

Lieut. Reel to orderly:

"Have you mopped that floor yet?"

"No."

"No what?"

"No, mop."

Result: extra duty for ten days and no passes to town for a week.

An S. A. T. C. man was complaining to Prof. Gillingham about not being able to make up work which he had lost while he was ill and still get his daily assignments.

Prof. Gillingham: "You weren't ill last night. Why didn't you either make up some work or prepare today's lesson?"

S. A. T. C. Man: "I missed reveille for three mornings and so last night the lieutenant put me to bed at 7:00 o'clock."

ALUMNI NOTES

1893.

Rev. John Henry has resigned the pastorate of the Fort Sanders Presbyterian church at Knoxville to accept a call to the church in Ohio.

1909.

Rev. H. B. Phillips of Nashville has gone to the Y. M. C. A. training school at Blue Ridge in preparation for war work as a Y. M. C. A. Secretary. His wife Mrs. Ruth Wilson Phillips, '09, will have general charge of her husband's church during his absence, except for the conduct of the preaching services.

1910.

Rev. J. R. Jewell has secured leave of absence from his church in Fredericktown, Missouri, and has enlisted in the army. He is located at Camp Funston, and at present is just recovering from an attack of Spanish flu.

1912 and 1914.

Dr. S. Earl Crawford, '12 has received his call to report for duty and will soon be serving his country in his profession as dentist with the rank of First Lieutenant. Mrs. Crawford (formerly Miss Erma Hall, '14) is teaching in the Maryville High School.

1915.

A recent issue of the Enterprise brings the interesting information that a son has arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lester E. Bond. Mr. Bond is Y. M. C. A. Physical Director in the camp at Hattiesburg, Mississippi.

1916.

Rolfe Rankin is in the University of Colorado this year, acting as an instructor in the Vocational Section of the S. A. T. C.

SOCIETY NOTES

Miss Emma Miles and the Misses Marie and Blanche Lowry spent the week-end at their homes in Madisonville.

Miss Mabel Zimmerman went to Ohio last week to attend the funeral of her sister. Miss Zimmerman has the sympathy of the entire college in this her great loss.

Miss Mildred Campbell was a week-end guest of Miss Gladys Templin in Morristown. Miss Campbell believes that one should have a change of food and air while recuperating from the flu.

Other week-end visitors were: Miss Marguerite Alexander who visited at her home in Knoxville, and Miss Margaret Graham who was the guest of her sister, Mrs. Harry Proffitt at Armona. Miss Janet Ensign left Saturday morning, with her Red Cross knitting bag, for a short visit at her home in Chattanooga.

Miss Reba Craine was called home last week to the bedside of her father who is seriously ill. Miss Craine lives in Texas.

Miss Eunice Bullock, a former student of Maryville is teaching school at McLean, Texas.

George Gillespie, who lives near Maryville, visited on the Hill last week. Some sailor!

Rush Hickman and Marvin Price are attending an Army Medical School in Washington, D. C.

Sam McClary is working in the shipyards in Norfolk, Va.

Moody Walker is in the S.A.T.C. Medical Department at Vanderbilt this year.

H. Wagner and G. Cooper are still in Newport, R. I. in the Naval Hospital Corps.

D. W. Moulton is at home in Fall Branch, Tenn. waiting for his call to the Navy.

Wanted to know for information only: What became of that hour when we turned back our watches and clocks Saturday at two a. m. Think!

News from Mt. "Mr. John Ollie" who is located in Philadelphia says that he thinks the Yanks are pretty fine!

Miss Miriam Jane Bartlett is slowly recovering from a nervous breakdown. She has been teaching school at Batavia, Ind., and incidentally the young rascals proved too much for out gentle quiet (?) young school marm.

Miss Polly Ewing is to sail for France as a Red Cross Nurse, the latter part of this month.

Miss Elizabeth Griffon spent the week-end in Knoxville.

Where are the rats in Baldwin this year? We assume that they have joined the army where food is more plentiful.

"Mike" Park has realized his heart's wish and he is now in France. His address is: Eleventh Regiment, U. S. Marines, A. E. F.

SPANISH INFLUENZA KILLS FORMER STUDENT

Word has been received that J. Edward Robinson of Utica, Ind., who was a Freshman here in 1916-1917, died recently at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indianapolis. He was inducted into service September 1st., and was sent to the Chamber of Commerce, Indianapolis for vocational training. With this death, Maryville adds the fifth gold star to her service flag.

When a man loses confidence in himself he makes the vote unanimous.

THE ECHO GOES OVER THE TOP WITH THE BOYS "OVER THERE"

VOLUME FOUR | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 5, 1918. | NUMBER SEVEN

COMPANY A WILL BE RECRUITED TO ITS FULL STRENGTH IMMEDIATELY

CALLS ARE COMING FAST FOR MEN FOR OFEICERS TRAINING CAMPS

PREP MEN WILL BE INDUCTED VERY SOON. FIRST CALL FOR LIGHT ARTILLERY FILLED. ONE MAN FOR COAST SERVICE.

Last Thursday morning seven of our boys departed for Officers' Training Camp. Instructions were received from the South-Eastern Department to make a selection for the Field Artillery, and to select one for Coast Artillery. The men selected are the following: Field Artillery: Lamar S. Wilson, Eugene M. Williams, Ralph E. Smith, Robert M. Bartlett, James L. Ensign, George L. Pugh and Dewey M. Beck. Coast Artillery: Ernest E. Loft. The Light Artillery men hit the trail on Thursday at noon and probably arrived at Camp Zachary Taylor some time on Friday. The Heavy Artillery candidate does not report in Knoxville until next Thursday, and will then head for the training school at Fort Monroe, Va. These men are extremely fortunate in their appointments, and the good wishes of their many friends go with them.

Last week orders came from Washington to recruit Co. "A" up to full strength. Maryville has an assigned quota of 100 men. On October 9 there were 76 men on the company roster, ten of whom have already been transferred to the training camps. We can safely say that forty men are needed almost immediately to bring the unit up to full strength. These men will be drawn from "Co. B". Under the enforced circumstances it will be impossible to make the same demands in academic requirements; but, nevertheless, selections will be made by the competent authorities, and gray matter with good sense will be the deciding factor. In spite of the military situation in Europe, the Government seems to be speeding up with its army program and we believe the S.A.T.C. is still in its infancy. Even should peace be declared by Christmas it would be absolutely impossible to demobilize our great army for at least eighteen months. Europe has got to be straightened out and Northern France must be rebuilt. It is thought by some that the American army will be used for this latter work. Preps had better study and study hard. Uncle Sam will be looking for men to commission for many months to come yet.

Y. M. C. A. WAR WORK

The Army "Y" has practically turned over to the local organization the work on the Hill. This is perhaps the most satisfactory arrangement that could have been made. The College men, of course, are thoroughly acquainted with the situation, and while the time of the boys themselves is limited, the situation is greatly relieved by the presence of the College Pastor. One thing is absolutely essential in the success of the effort that is about to be put forth in behalf of the boys. That must be the closest cooperation between "Y. M." and the military authorities. Yesterday, two large rooms in the basement of Carnegie were cleared, and these will be turned over to the local organization. The Army "Y" has sent in an abundance of material, and the men of the S. A. T. C. are fully appreciative of their efforts.

NIGHT GUARDS POSTED

"They shall not pass!"

This is the motto which was taken by the 33 S.A.T.C. guards who formed the cordon around the grounds for the first time Saturday night. "Fixed bayonets" was the order and many were the amusing experiences related concerning the night's happenings.

Guards are instructed to not allow, under any circumstances, anyone to pass their posts. Each individual must be halted and the corporal of the guard summoned, who in most cases, determines whether or not the person may pass. All vehicles traversing the campus must be stopped and searched, for possible "guard runners".

As yet the guards remain on only until 11:30 o'clock p. m., but Lieut. LaBelle declares that if the men persist in taking "Dutch leave" the guards will be posted for all night duty.

S. A. T. C. WILL HAVE FOOT BALL SQUAD

Former M. C. Stars, Briggs And Clemens Will Manage.

Under the expert manipulation of "Sheenie" Briggs and "Bob" Clemens the Maryville S.A.T.C. unit is to turn out a football machine calculated to outclass any and all comers.

Lieut. Reilly has been appointed athletic director for the unit. The pep and sportsmanship which has characterized all his dealings with the students in drill points him out as the psychological man for the job.

A season schedule will be arranged for the local unit by the Lieutenant in charge of athletics at Knoxville. According to War Department regulations, one and one half hours each afternoon will be devoted to squad practice, including time for showers and dressing. Men who make the squad will, be excused from afternoon drill. It is planned for practice to begin at 3:30 o'clock and continue until 5 o'clock.

In the remaining members of last year's squad and in ranks of the new men of the unit much valuable football material is in evidence and already many are looking forward to the day when the local aggregation will meet our old time rival, the University of Tennessee.

"Get U. T.'s goat!" has already become the popular slogan and from present indications the home aggregation should have no great difficulty in "bringing home the bacon" when the test day arrives.

LET'S GET READY

What for?

The much-talked-of and anticipated United War Work Campaign. What does this campaign mean in itself and to the students? Be at chapel every day this week and you'll get some information on this subject. Lend your ears this week fellow students, next week give your cash.

BIG SEND-OFF SERV.CE IN CHAPEL

Bartlett, Smith, Ensign, Wilson, Beck, Pugh, and Williams Leave For O. T. C.

In after years, when memories of the Great War come surging back to them, Maryville students will certainly remember the farewell service of Wednesday afternoon as characteristic of Maryville in wartimes.

Promptly at one o'clock the chapel was filled with students eager to do honor to the boys who are Maryville's latest contribution to the officers' training camps of our Uncle Sam. The occasion of the meeting was stated, and the orders were read. The Star Spangled Banner was sung and Dr. Stevenson led in prayer. Then the Prayer Hymn for Maryville's Soldiers and Sailors was sung, and Miss Sue Nuchols, gave a reading—Her Country, by Mary Shipman Andrews. Miss Nuchols is so well known on the Hill as a reader that her work hardly needs comment; but, under the inspiration of the occasion and her own patriotic fervor, she quite surpassed herself, and deserves some very special praise. Miss Winston Newton very beautifully sang "When the Boys Come Home", thereby suggesting a happy thought to the minds of all present. At this stage of the proceedings all attention was turned to the soldier boys on the front seats—Robert Bartlett, Eugene Williams, Ralph Smith, George Pugh, Dewey Beck, Lamar Wilson, and James Ensign. Dr. Wilson, in a few apt remarks, told the boys how much the College regretted that they must go, and how hard it is for the faculty to recommend to Uncle Sam that he take from us boys who are among the very best the College has to give. Some of the boys had been here longer than others—one of them, Dr. Wilson said he had seen first as "an eight-pound, red-headed, squirming thing"—but all had been here long enough to prove their merit and their worth to the College. As a motto for them, Dr. Wilson suggested "We are Seven", and prophesied that they would soon be seven lieutenants. Lieutenant LaBelle was then called on, and delighted every one present by making a speech. He brought much applause to himself by his unrestrained praise of our Maryville soldiers. The exercises closed with yells—yells for the officers; yells for each of the seven, and yells for the three who left not long ago—Adams, Campbell and Bartlett; and yells for the gallant Five Hundred represented by the stars—blue and gold—on the College Service Flag. (And by the way, Bill Holmes is some cheer-leader!)

THE LYCEUM COURSE WILL BEGIN THURSDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 12

SCHEDULE IS BEING REARRANGED. SUCCEEDING NUMBERS EQUALLY ATTTRACTIVE. WAIKIKI HAWAIIAN QUINTETTE COMING.

The Spanish Influenza epidemic has so upset the dates and order of the lyceum numbers, that a complete rearrangement of the schedule has been necessary. Consequently, the dates as presented on the season tickets cannot be relied on. The schedule is being worked out as fast as possible and it will be given at an early date. The following numbers have been scheduled:

Montaville Flowers, Victor's Italian Artists, Smith-Springs-Holmes Company, Waikiki Hawaiian Quintette, and Reno B. Wellbourn. The Smith-Spring-Holmes Company has been substituted for the Frederick's Concert Company. Mr. Frederick, the director was drafted so the company has disbanded.

The first date has been definitely arranged for Tuesday evening, November 12. Montaville Flowers will give his famous lecture "The Rebuilding of the Temple."

Mr. Flowers has, for two terms, been elected president of the International Lyceum Association of America. He has been on the lecture platform for many years and he is recognized as one of the leading American lecturers. "The Rebuilding of The Temple" is a study of the reconstruction of civilization after the world war—a fundamental discussion of peace and progress, with special reference to the duties and policies of the United States in our relations with the world powers. This lecture will be profitable, as well as interesting, for Mr. Flowers is considered an authority on world problems.

The second number, Victor's Italian Artists, will come about the last week in November. This company is composed of seven men who have won recognition in their particular line of musical interpretation. Signor Russo, conductor of the company, comes from a family of noted musicians. His father was a famous orchestra director in northern Italy, and his mother was an organist of exceptional ability. At the age of ten, Signor Russo entered the St. Cecile Musical Conservatory in Rome where he soon became known as "The Boy Wonder". Later he attracted the attention of the director of the famous Scala Symphony Orchestra, who took him under his personal care and developed him into an artiste of unusual ability. Signor Russo has had wide experience as have had the six men who accompany him. They will present orchestral numbers, instrumental solos and quartets, vocal solos with orchestral accompaniment, strollers in street singing scenes, using guitar, mandolins and ukuleles.

The Smith-Spring-Holmes Company will probably be here the week previous to the Christmas exams. This number is as highly recommended as the Frederick's Concert Company.

The Waikiki Hawaiian Quintette will be here the latter part of February. The Quintette is composed of one woman and four men all of whom are soloists. Having successfully toured the country, this company is enjoying the reputation of being the best concert company on the Chautauqua and lyceum platform. Those who have heard Hawaiian music will want to hear it again, and those who have not heard it cannot afford to miss this great opportunity to do so.

The last number will come the latter part of February or the first part of March. Reno B. Welbourn will lecture on "Modern Miracles" or "The Wonders of Science." Mr. Welbourn is a scientific experimentalist and he will illustrate his lecture with many experiments.

Season tickets will be on sale all this week and the first two days of next week. A special committee will canvass the town and the Hill. Tickets should be purchased before November 12, for the best seats in the chapel will be sold first.

DR. WINFIELD S. HALL VISITS THE COLLEGE

Noted Physician- Lecturer Gives Two Lectures.

Maryville students were honored Thursday morning when Dr. W. S. Hall, a noted lecturer on social hygiene and eugenics, appeared in chapel and gave two lectures: one to the men at 10:20 and one to the women at 11:15. This is the third time Dr. Hall has spoken to a college audience here and he is always warmly welcomed for he never fails to present in a clear and concise manner subjects which are of paramount importance to the younger generation. His hearers were given something to think about.

Besides being a lecturer, Dr. Hall is a noted author and physician. Before going on the lecture platform, he was Dean of the Northwestern Medical School. He has also served as president of the American Medical Society for the Study of Alcohol and Other Narcotics.

THE FIRST SING A HOWLING SUCCESS

Everybody was in tune for the "Sing" Friday night after the rousing announcement made by Dr. Stevenson Friday morning. Who says that the girls can't whistle. And did you note the determination with which the boys sang "And we wont be back 'til it's over, over there".

Everyone be on hand next Friday night for we want to sing what we all feel, expressed in the words "We're Going to Lick the Kaiser, if it Takes us Twenty Years."

:--:--:

The student bodies of Tennessee are being organized to have a large part in the United War Work Campaign to be conducted from November 11 to 18, when funds for the support of the activities of seven large war welfare agencies will be raised in one big lump sum.

The students of the nation responded generously to all patriotic calls last year, but they realize, just as everyone else, that greater sacrifices must be made this year by those at home if our men in camps and overseas are to be provided with the things they need. The constantly increasing number of men entering the fighting forces of our country calls for a proportionate increase in workers and material. This is why the students of Tennessee are to be asked to double the $26,000 they raised last year for war work, before the big combined drive closes on November 18.

The Student Division will be conducted under the chairmanship of Prof. J. F. Zimmerman of Vanderbilt University, and it is the plan of this division to allow every school, college and university to conduct its own campaign. A leader is to be chosen from among the student body, or the faculty, who will organize a committee to do the soliciting, and to be in general charge of the drive in that school. A local treasurer will be named to handle all funds, and to turn them over to the nearest city or county treasurer.

There is no question but that the students are just as ready as any group of citizens of the nation to unite in contributing to one big fund for work among our soldiers and sailors, irrespective of organizations or creeds participating, and they will stand whole-heartedly behind the government and the boys "over there" in winning the war for justice and liberty.

The United War Work Campaign is being undertaken at the request of President Wilson, and the organizations which are participating are all recognized by the government for work among our men. They are: the Young Men's Christian Association, the Young Woman's Christian Association, National Catholic War Council (Knights of Columbus) War Camp Community Service, American Library Association, Jewish Welfare Board, and the Salvation Army.

This drive will be of special interest in colleges which have units of the Students' Army Training Corps from the fact that the work of these welfare organizations is being extended to include this branch of the military service also.

EXPRESSION DEPARTMENT KEEPS BUSY

The fact that the Expression Department has not given a public recital this term does not signify that the work of the department is at a standstill. On different occasions, Mrs. West has sent readers to entertain in town and on the Hill. Last Thursday evening, at the request of Mr. Getaz, superintendent of the Maryville Knitting Mills, Miss Sue Nuchols and Miss Mary Louise Hayes entertained at a Hallow'een party given for the Knitting girls of Maryville. Miss Nuchols read in her inimitable negro dialect, "Mrs. Rastus Johnson's Telephone Conversation", while Miss Hayes realistically portrayed Penrod in one of the charming Booth Tarkington stories.

The Music Department was well represented by Miss Winston Newton and Mr. McCord, vocal soloists, and Miss Marguerite Sullinger and Miss Hattie Hayes, pianists.

The Dramatization Class is working on a play which will be presented in town, the latter part of November, for the benefit of the local Red Cross. The annual Y. W. play will be given just before the Christmas holidays.

SENIOR PARTY A GREAT SUCCESS

On Friday night the Seniors again went forth to make merry, this time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Huddleston on Court Street. The party assembled at about eight o'clock,—all girls, did you say? Well, not exactly. Of course the absence of Senior boys was conspicuous, but the ranks of Virginia Reel and Tucker showed no gaps.

When rag-time and the rhythmic tripping of many feet had held sway for sometime and the guests, hot and breathless, were resting for a bit, some one prevailed upon Lieutenant LaBelle to play. The hearty applause was rewarded by an encore, and the repeated applause showed that the privilege of hearing this first performance on the Hill of an accomplished musician was highly esteemed.

And now the guests repaired to the dining-room where they partook of delicious salad, dainty sandwiches, and slightly (?) scorched hot chocolate. This, the fourth Senior party of the year, was a great success and the guests reluctantly separated.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICE

On last Tuesday morning at the regular chapel hour, a solemn and impressive service was held in memory of Jack Francis Kendall, whose death was the only one among the students resulting from the influenza epidemic. Major Gillingham read the Scripture, which consisted of appropriate selections from the Psalms and the New Testament. The memorial address was delivered by Dr. Stevenson, who portrayed in a most vivid description the scene in the Shumanite woman's home. He concluded his words of comfort and inspiration by drawing a mental picture of Christ ascending in the cloud, which was illustrative of the fact that Christ is in every cloud of adversity and bereavement today, ready to comfort and strengthen. Impressive music was furnished by the choir, who sang, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me", and by Miss Newton and Miss Miles who sang, "Some Day the Silver Cord Will Break".

The biography of Jack was read by Dr. Wilson, the substance of which was as follows:

Jack Francis Kendall was born near Heny, Harrison County, Kentucky, on January 8, 1902, and died in Maryville, after an illness of eleven days, on October 28, 1918 His parents, two sisters, and two brothers survive him. He was the eldest of the five children.

Jack attended school when he was not yet six years of age. His ambition was to become "a man of honor and an honored man." When he graduated from the common school, he had won a diploma that entitled him to four years' tuition in any high school of Harrison county. For two years he attended the high school in Berry, Kentucky, coming to Maryville in September of this year.

He was attracted to Maryville by the military training offered, and entered Company B, being too young for the S.A.T.C. He had the privilege of attending drill for only a few days, when the quarantine made it necessary for him to remain at Mr. Ames' residence on Court street, where he had been rooming.

At home Jack was wide-awake and thoughtful. On the home farm he showed his ability to manage, and for years he had his special stock and has done his own successful trading. Obedient in the home, loving in his nature, and happy in his disposition, he had the qualities that endeared him to his relatives and friends. His best friend on earth and in Heaven was his Lord and Savior Jesus Christ, and when he realized his serious condition, he repeated the words "Lord, have mercy on me, I pray thee."

The following resolution was then read by Dr. Wilson.

"We, the faculty and students of Maryville College, unite in expressing to the parents of our departed student, Jack Kendall, our deepest sympathy, and assurance of our prayers in their behalf. The thanksgiving service that seemed the appropriate service for this reopening day after the scourge of the epidemic has been suddenly transformed into a day of sorrow and grief. * * * But yet this may be a thanksgiving day, in spite of the gloom and of death, for there is still the loving sympathy of our God and the grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ.

"Submissive to the decisions of our heavenly Father, we commit the sorrowing ones to Him who is able to make all grace abound, and to make this affliction work out a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory."

ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Thysell of Washington, D. C., anounce the birth of a son, Joseph Rogers, September 30, 1918. Mrs. Thysell, formerly Miss Lula Armstrong, was for several years a popular teacher in the Prep Department here.

Judging from the amount of steady practicing the basket-ball girls are doing, we are going to have a game soon.

Fun, did you say! Imagine having an invitation card stuck in your door bearing such a poem as this—

"You are cordially invited to help

Isn't that enough to inspire an anticipation of fun?

Toasted marshmallows, apples, candy, cakes and grapes seemed quite to the ghostly tastes and the feast, accompanied by ghost stories, was progressing at a great rate when an unexpected apparition appeared. Did someone ask who? Perhaps you will know when we say that she summoned the ghosts to bed.

LETTER FROM THE FATHER OF "JACK" FRENCH

Elora, Ont., Oct. 24, 1918.

The President,
Maryville College,
Maryville, Tenn.

Dear Sir:

I cannot express the thanks I feel to you, to the Faculty, and to the students of Maryville College for the message of sympathy with me in the death of my son, and also for the honor and respect you have shown to his memory by holding the memorial service in the college chapel.

I think you are quite right in assuming that Jack would not have wished the flag lowered.

He need not have risked his life this year the way he did. The military authorities intended to keep him in England to train machine gunners, but he requested them to send him back to France because, as he told me, there were disabled soldiers who could do that work, and he considered that his duty lay in France. After he reached France in July he had the option of returning to complete his medical course, but again he chose what he considered the path of duty. The greatest consolation we have is that he cherished the highest ideals as his life work and he pursued them with, as we believe, a most devoted energy and faith.

Again thanking you for your generous tribute to his character and life which we shall ever treasure as a precious memorial of him, and for your words of comfort and sympathy with us, I am

Very sincerely yours,
F. W. French.

NEW BAINONIAN GIRL WRITES ENTHUSIASTIC LETTER TO A FRIEND

The following is an extract of a letter from a new girl to a friend and seems to express the sentiment of all who were present in Bainonian Hall on Saturday night:

"Well Jinks, I joined Bainonian last night and there surely was some fun. The program was a dandy. Minstrel! Certainly. Trained baboons from Africa. They were well trained too for the music was rich—the voices also. There were twins who sang, danced and they were positively cute little things. Another called "Sambo" was a Hard Shell Baptist preacher. He took his text from "Timothy Titus". It was "Nehemiah walked", the text repeated at frequent intervals made up the sermon. My dear, "a cake walked" and disappeared! Honest Ingun, it did and the village belle sang so sweetly I cried! Can you imagine it? It was from laughter though and not sorrow. One old lady had contagious convulsions which I proceded to "contage" and so did everyone else. Oh yes, a young baboon called George led the final song and it was fine, "So different don't cho-know". They say Bainonian programs are always good and I believe it more, every one I see. I reckon other girls do too from the way they come and join. Well, I can't tell everything so I'll just have to quit."

FOUR MINUTE MEN

The next thing on the program of The Four Minute Men is The United War Work Campaign. It is planned to have a number of speeches at the Chapel hour, while the drive is in progress. Also efforts will be made to have the interests of this great drive for the comfort and welfare of our fighting men, presented in the schools and churches of Maryville by the Four Minute Men of the College.

The Food Administration's Campaign, which is to begin December 2nd., will also enlist the service of the Four Minute Men. Many of the boys who were interested in the Four Minute Movement have left us for O. T. C. It is earnestly hoped that the fellows who are left on the Hill will fill up the ranks and that any girls who have not entered the organization will hasten to do so.

Miss Stella Carver, a former student, is teaching at Walnut, N. C.

Palace Theatre

Wednesday, Paramount Feature "The Marriage Ring" featuring Enid Bennett one of the most favored stars in Pictures. Also a good comedy.

Thursday. Big Special feature "Raffles" something you will enjoy seeing. It has just a little bit of everything good in it with a good lively side splitting comedy.

Friday. We will have a Fox Standard Picture, and you know what that means for they are all good to the last, and this one proves to be a little better than the usual, when we say Fox then that's e'nuff. "Other Men's Daughters".

Saturday. Ruth Roland in "Hands Up", also a Paramount super-feature "Missing" featuring J. Stuart Blackston. This is a real good picture and one you should see.

Monday, "Fight for Millions". You know what that is. It really is a fight thru and thru and the next episode promises more thrills and adventures than the past ones. This with a good comedy makes one of the best shows. Tuesday. Another big special feature furnished by the Select Picture Company we are not able to give the title of this picture yet, but will advertise it on our screen just as soon as we know what it will be.

On account of the Moving Picture business having been at a stand still for several days as you know, it is a little hard for us just yet to get the titles to our feature pictures for the Exchanges do not know what they can release in time to let us know but we will promise you the best that we can get in Pictures also Stars and it wont be long before we will have one of the best programs lined out that has ever been seen here.

DR. STEVENSON LEADS Y. W. C. A.

If any of the men stayed away from the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday afternoon, because it was the usual meeting, and a prayer meeting, that young man missed a very practical message. For one Sunday, at least, the Y. M. C. A. departed from the usual routine and came down to the practical heart to heart problems of our daily life—The Double Life.

The speaker first placed the picture that is recorded in Ezeikel 8:1-12, before the boys and then impressed it, by the query "Can we lead a double life,—a Dr. Zekyll and Mr. Hyde existence?" With skill, he showed how this could be done and told of his own thots, one moment in South America and the next north of Greenland. Then with startling suddenness he asked, "What are you thinking about?" He pointed out that one's whole existence is a camouflaged one. Every failure is within oneself—seek it; don't cover it up.

The speaker concluded by giving a few suggestions how a person can live true to himself.

THETAS ENJOY A HALLOWE'EN PROGRAM

The Thetas were disappointed in their "Trip to the Woods", for it was too cold to spend the afternoon there so they gathered in Theta Hall on Saturday for a real Hallow'een Program. Everyone present was masked. They were met at the door by a "spook" who offered them a clammy hand and by a nod of the head welcomed them into the sisterhood of "spooks". Many sister "spooks" had their names added to our mystic roll. After the business meeting everyone was very quiet and waited for the spirit to move them. Finally one ghostly figure was moved by the spirit and she rendered most beautifully, "The Dance of the Witches". Then all the "airy" spirits seated themselves in a circle around the room and made themselves comfortable for a good "old" experience meeting—for you must remember it had been a year since they had met. Many and varied were the stories of their experiences. Some had frightened little children, while others had made stalwart men realize that there was such a thing as ghosts.

At the close of the meeting light refreshments were enjoyed.

The Thetas bid you welcome to this Hall next Saturday night.

CAMPUS QUIPS

On the campus. J. Cotton: "It's the strangest thing; but the biggest nuts seem to get the finest girls."

Elsie D.: "Oh, you flatterer."

SOMETHING TO WORRY ABOUT

Under a new law in Russia no man may marry more than five times. Princeton papers please copy for Andy's benefit.

"Bob" Adams writes from Camp Hancock that he has been equipped with shoes weighing not less than twenty-five pounds apiece. Probably he has been selected to kick the Kaiser.

A DEFINITION

Leisure in the two minutes that the orderly gets while Lieut. La Belle hunts him something else to do.

"Red" Campbell writes that he could keep up with his work if it didn't keep him up so late.

Jessie Creswell in Psy. Class: "Well, what will we talk about when the war is over and the boys come home?"

Carmen P.: "Now don't you worry for there will be a lot to talk about when the boys come home."

Lieut. Reilly: "What's the matter with that man running around there. What squad are you in?"

Drake: "I don't know, sir, I haven't been squattified yet."

VESPERS

The background of the Vesper sermon was the incident connected with the repentant dying thief on the cross as related in the twenty-third chapter of Luke. A two-fold vision was revealed in this account; namely, that of the beckoning hand of encouragement, and the sign of a warning. There is encouragement in the fact that the robber's soul was saved, but the warning comes from the fact that his life was lost.

It is never too late to come to Christ and ask forgiveness for sin. Christ will never spurn the prayer of a penitant soul. The only unpardonable sin is the persistent opposition to the strivings of the Holy Spirit—the refusal to be saved.

It was shown that the soul may be saved but the life lost, and that the ideal aim should be to possess both an eternal citizenship and an earthly tabernacle. A person should become a Christian immediately; first, because it would save many regrets of the future as God does not blot out memories of early life, and such a stain would be conducive to greater service in God's work.

Y. W. C. A.

The Y.W.C.A. had an inspiring service Sunday when Grace Sydenstricker led. Her speech was in the form of a story—a pathetic story of a poor Chinese book-seller and his wife. In the heat of the summer their baby died, and with empty arms and hopeless hearts they turned to the books for comfort and diversion from their grief. In one litt'e book the man had bought from a foreigner they found strangely comforting words of hope, of peace, of happiness. They realized that it was the Gospel of the foreigner's God. They fixed up the book-store for a meeting room, and the man trudged many weary miles to another city to bring back the foreigner who would tell them of this new and wonderful peace. But, alas, when he reached the compound he was met by an old Chinese man who said "The foreigner is gone back to his own land on account of ill health, and there is no one to take his place!

The story left the deepest impression on us all, and no doubt because of it some will eventually go "to take his place."

Miss Carrie Sheddan sang "Lead, Kindly Light", and the orchestra gave the selection "Autumn".

PERSONALS

Miss Vera Dunaway very delightfully entertained a number of her friends on Hallowe'ean. The table was artistically decorated with an immense popcorn cake, candies, and gourds.

In Chemistry Class:

Boy: "Does anyone know what the lesson is about? Where is it found?"

Girl: "In the Chemistry text!"

Mrs. William P. Stevenson is spending two weeks in Shields, Pa. as the guest of her daughter-in-law, Mrs. William P. Stevenson, Jr. It will be a long two weeks.

The many friends of the Misses Helena and Cola Turner offer their sympathies to the family in the loss of their sister and daughter.

Lieut. Cleveland is a visitor on the Hill on "social privilege" days and extra times also—Senior parties et cetera.

Miss Allene Chase of Knoxville, was the guest of Addie McCurry over Sunday. Miss Chase was a popular member of last year's Freshman class.

Miss Alice Wright, '16 is Editor-in-Chief and Bob Clemens, Business Manager of the "Aluminum Bulletin" an attractive magazine issued monthly by the Aluminum Company of America.

Miss Helen Lewis visited friends in Knoxville over the week-end. Miss Eva Lloyd was also the guest of Knoxville relatives.

The Highland Echo

THE ECHO GOES OVER THE TOP WITH THE BOYS "OVER THERE"

VOLUME FOUR | MARYVILLE, TENNESSEE, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 12, 1918 | NUMBER EIGHT

THE COLLEGE IN TWO BIG PARADES CELEBRATES GREAT WORLD VICTORY DAY

S. A. T. C. CONTINUES TO SUPPLY MEN FOR OFFICERS TRAINING CAMP

HAROLD SMITH AND LAKE RUSSELL LEAVE MONDAY FOR CAMP PIKE, ARK. "TOMMY" LOFT GOES TO COAST ARTILLERY. GOOD WORK GOES ON.

The good news reached Maryville at 3:30 on Monday morning. At first it was thought that a fire had broke out; but it soon became evident that the great events, for which the whole world for four years has longed, had reached their climax—, the capitulation of Germany. At the time of writing (5 a. m. Monday) the whole student body seems to be out of the halls engaging in the general celebration, and much reason do they have for their expressions of joy and ecstacy. It is not the mere fact that Kaiser Wilhelm has become the "dropped pilot", it is not that Germany has gone down to ignominious defeat that we all rejoice. These things we have prayed and fought for. But Maryville with the rest of this great land resounds with the shouts of its people because the bloodshed and sorrow and suffering, that have been hanging over us like a pall, are brought to an end. All honor to our "six hundred". Maryville will ever remember their brave and noble part during these dark days.

THE S. A. T. C. AFTER THE WAR

And now the question of absorbing interest is, of course, "What will become of the S.A.T.C.? No official statement can be made at this early hour; but it can be stated with certainty that peace-parleys will not affect us on the Hill to a great degree. Uncle Sam has a large army on his hands, his military program is in full swing, and the tremendous momentum that has been attained must run its course for many months to come. It is true that Provost Marshall Crowder may not call the next draft to the training camps; nevertheless, many of the troops in France in all probability will be sent back home to be replaced by new men. A large army must be maintained until the issues of the peace-table are all settled, and this army must be equipped with its full quota of officers. Commissions will be in order for many months to come.

TWO MEN LEAVE FOR CAMP PIKE

On Saturday the following telegram was received at Headquarters "Select ten men duly qualified to report at Camp Pike November thirteenth." Monday this telegram was countermanded, the new order being that two men should report at Camp Pike, Little Rock, Ark. The selected men were Harold C. Smith and Lake Russell.

Thirty-four men have been recommended by the Faculty for induction in the S.A.T.C., seventeen of whom have been approved by Lieut. LaBelle. These men will in part replace those who are being transferred so rapidly to training camps.

LIEUT. LABELLE HIGHLY GRATIFIED WITH MARYVILLE'S SHOWING

The Commander-in-Chief of the Allied forces on the Hill was in prime condition when the representative of the Echo called on him yesterday. He thinks Maryville is a wonderful place and a remarkable people. He spoke, with a good deal of pride, of the improvement in the discipline of the unit. He expressed concern, however, in his inability to fill the places of the men who are being transferred to Officers' Training Camps. It is to be hoped that enough men will be found in Co. "B" to take their places in the ranks of the soldier company. Lieut. LaBelle remarked that a large number of week-end passes had been issued, and that he would continue to recognize, in this same manner, any good work on the part of the men.

FIRST NUMBER OF LYCEUM POSTPONED

Victor's Italian Artists Coming November 29.

Even the Lyceum did not escape the Spanish influenza, but it had almost recuperated from the attack when "Sheeny" Briggs, the manager, received a wire succeeded by the following letter, announcing that Montaville Flowers would not be able to be in Maryville on his scheduled date. The management is, indeed, sorry to make this announcement but trusts that the town people and students will be patient and that the committee will not be asked to abdicate. The entire five numbers will be presented—three numbers will be presented after Christmas, instead of two as previously announced.

Asheville, N. C.
November 8, 1918.

Dear Sir:

This is to confirm our wire of this date advising that Mr. Flowers has just notified us by wire that he cannot fill his engagement at Maryville on next Tuesday, Nov. 12. This comes to us both as a surprise and a disappointment. We made his schedule out according to his own instruction, and do not understand why he has not left California in time to take up the dates as arranged for him. We know this will be a disappointment to you, but it is even more so to us. We can get Mr. Flowers back to you in January.

We have the schedule for Victor's Italian Artists arranged so that we can get them to you on November 29, as desired and you may announce them accordingly.

Yours cordially,

Piedmont Lyceum Association.

"GEE" COOPER HONOR MAN AGAIN

"Gee" Cooper recently graduated at the head of a class of one hundred and fifty men at the Naval Training School, Newport, R. I.

This for you!

Has YOUR subscription to the War Work Campaign been a SACRIFICE? If it hasn't YOU haven't done YOUR part and it is up to YOU now to boost the Fund. Come on! Would YOU be willing to have YOUR particular friends "over there" know what YOU GAVE? If you wouldn't it is not too late to set yourself straight with THEM and with YOURSELF. Remember the privilege is YOURS.

UNITED WAR WORK CAMPAIGN NOW ON

Four Minute Men Prepare Way With Speeches. Lieut. Reel Speaks on the "Y".

Beginning with Monday, Nov. 11, seven officially recognized organizations issued an appeal to the American people for a sum of $170,500,000 in order to carry on the various kinds of war work in which they are at present engaged.

Because of their generosity in contributing to previous funds, the college men and women of this country have been especially called upon to do their utmost in making a success of this campaign. To them has been assigned the seemingly impossible task of doubling their subscriptions of last year; but these students have gladly accepted the opportunity of showing their earnestness to do their part in the present struggle.

The committee which has charge of the campaign among Maryville students has not been backward in its efforts to have this college go over the top with flying colors.

Last week, at the chapel hour, two members of the Four Minute Men organization, Misses Marion Henry and Marie Townsend, explained the purpose and necessity of the fund, and told of the good work that has already been accomplished by these associations among American soldiers both at home and abroad. Lieut. Reel also made an interesting talk on what the "Y" means to the soldier in camp.

The splendid work of these Four Minute Men and Women has not been confined to the hill by any means. Last Sunday members of this organization addressed the Sunday School of every Maryville church in the interest of this campaign. The speakers were: Misses Edith Moore at the Presbyterian church; Carmen Parks, Southern Methodist; Ashton Clayton, M. E. North; Eva Ritchie, Baptist; Martha Robinson, Christian. Misses Janet Ensign and Lola Beeler spoke also at the Public School Tuesday, and Mr. James Martin at the Palace Theater last Thursday night.

It is up to every student of this college to help double Maryville's former subscription. During the last year the army has been more than doubled, and we must therefore increase our pledges accordingly. Only recently we loaned our money to insure the physical comforts of our fighters; now let us give it in order to maintain the morale of our army and navy.

CELEBRATION STARTS AT FIRST TIDINGS OF THE WELCOME NEWS

To minds and senses dulled by sleep, the continual blowing of whistles, ringing of bells, and shooting of guns, beginning at 3:30 yesterday morning brought an apprehension of fire. Suddenly the fear subsided and all knew that for the second time in the history of the universe peace was being proclaimed to all the earth—not by angelic voices but by God-given power to man.

Sleep was no more. The hearts of the people on the Hill were full to overflowing and soon from the balcony of Pearsons wafted the strains of "Praise God from Whom all Blessings Flow". The popular war songs followed and then yells for victory, the allies, our boys, etc. The girls had reached a high stage of enthusiasm and were ready to more publically demonstrate their jubilation when the occupants of an automobile passing thru the campus announced that the boys had anticipated the girls' intentions of p'rading, and that they were at that minute, led by Dr. Mitchell, about to bombard the campus. The girls rushed to meet the attack but Dr. Wilson occupied No Man's Land. Immediately there arose a cry of 'speech, speech", and our honored president, at the dawn of a new day which presaged the dawn of a new era of civilization, with a heart full of joy and thanksgiving spoke of the part America had played in hastening the ending of the great war, of the unwavering faith and supreme sacrifice of the allies, and of the multitudes of peoples thru-out the earth who would rejoice because of the surrender of Germany and of the downfall of autocracy.

Then there were more yells, yells for the two Wilsons—,our Doctor and the Hon. Woodrow, and finally yells for our own "600". Some one raised a cry for "more p'rade" and the girls and some of the faculty women too, led by the sturdy S. A. T. C. men, marched to town to the beat of drums and the incisive "hup, hup" of the corporals. Up and down Main street marched the students and the town supporters and on every side eager spectators waved Old Glory and called forth joyous greetings to the p'raders.

The college students also participated in the big public demonstration which began in town at ten o'clock.

Although the idea of having the p'rade was not conceived until eight o'clock the word soon spread and it is doubtful if a greater number of people ever took part in a similar demonstration in Maryville. The loyal Red Cross women were there in a body, also the National Guards, commanded by Capt. Teffeteller. The S.A.T.C. men, officered by Lieut. La Belle, marched at the head of the college aggregation. Young America was represented by the Polytechnic and the public schools. Work at the Aluminum plant was suspended and every employer and employee marched at the sign of Victory. Alcoa workers also marched.

At the conclusion of the p'rade, pastors of the town churches, Dr. Wilson, and Mr. Moore, representing the Aluminum plant, made stirring speeches.

Everyone, yes, nearly everyone in Blount County, was there, eager to celebrate the great news—,eager also to render thanks to God of Battle and of Peace, to the allies, and to the fighting forces of our country. The spirit of America was abroad. May that spirit always merit the Divine approval manifested so plainly to us the eleventh day of November, 1918.

SECOND SING AS POPULAR AS THE FIRST

Students and Faculty Sing The Popular Classics.

The students proved their appreciation of the first Patriotic Sing by the enthusiastic way in which they came back for more the second week. Everybody on the Hill was right on the job Friday night, ready to sing the Kaiser to his finish if it took ten thousand years. The faculty was there with bells on, and if you failed to observe the right hearty way in which our respected and respectable professors sang the latest popular classic—well, you missed something, believe you me!

Miss Jonnie Catlett at the piano, and Miss Hale and Miss Gregg directing the singing, left nothing to be desired in the way of accompaniment and inspiration. The chapel resounded with rousing and rollicking melody.

The crowd finally paused for breath, and while they relaxed their vibrant vocal cords (per Dr. Stevenson), "that good-looking Marshall boy" made a considerable hit with Joan of Arc.

Next Friday there will be another sing, and more new songs. Don't forget to come to something that will be too good to miss!

M. C. COLLEGE MAN HERO AT KEMMEL

"Ed" Campbell, '19, one of the gallant 30th Division A. E. F., is showing his fighting spirit in battle as in former days he showed it in debate, as the following extract shows:

"Edward Campbell, son of Rev. and Mrs. John Campbell of Biloxi, Miss., covered himself with glory while fighting with the 30th Division American Expeditionary Forces, which with British troops, stormed Kemmel and fought its way to high ground, capturing 500 prisoners and making big gains in the face of a rain of machine gun fire and shrapnel."

Did anyone miss the educational movies last Monday night?

:--:--:

Don't forget that YOU still owe that subscription to the Echo fund.

:--:--:

The United War Work Campaign has begun. Are you prepared to do your share?

:--:--:

It is reported that the S. A. T. C. fellows are the most earnest students on the Hill.

:--:--:

We are sorry that the first lyceum number had to be postponed, but we wish to assure "Sheeny" Briggs that his tireless efforts as business manager, have been heartily appreciated by the excitement--hungry students. It is a sad fact that "Sheeny" will not be here to enjoy the fruits of his labor.

:--:--:

Don't let Peace affect your contribution to the United War Work Campaign fund. Remember now that peace is declared our boys are going to need home comforts just the same during the long twelve months before they can possibly return to the good old U. S. A.

:--:--:

Job may have cursed the day he was born but it not becoming that man should curse every day of his life. That certain unnecessary epithets and interjections heard on the campus might well be omitted from the vocabulary of a self-respecting man, is the opinion of the more exacting class of students.

:--:--:

Where is our pep?

Although our eleven was outpointed Saturday it fought every second of the four quarters. Each man in there was giving his best, his all for the common interest.

Can't YOU appreciate sportsmanship of that quality? It is true, the rain dampened our spirits but can that excuse your not offering a word of encouragement to the players, your refusal to join in the cheers for "team", "victory", etc?

Even the professors, who are usually so content to allow vociferous ones to remain "at ease", were strongly advocating "some yells" at the end of the first half.

We will have other games on the home grounds in the near future and it doesn't rain every time either so let's "organize" and be prepared to back our team with all the pep, ginger, and snap possible.

"Is Mr. Holmes in the house?"

:--:--:

Have you noticed the attractice posters decorating the campus and buildings? If not, note them and the spirit of the times which they portray.

FOR HOME CONSUMPTION ONLY

A dormitory, being a building in in which many people live, bears a close resemblance to either of two other classes of buildings where many people are living together. That is, the analogy between a dormitory and an apartment house is a close one in some cases; but in other cases the dormitory is more nearly analogous with the tenement house. Notice that no particular dormitory is mentioned here, nor is it stated which of the above analogies holds good for the dormitories of the Hill. But if you were a stranger entering Pearsons Hall for the first time, let us say, and (oh we hate to tell what you must see) your gaze was attracted, first, by a trash receptacle, full and overflowing and very much overflowed, then to windows carelessly flung wide in all sorts of weather, shades pulled off of the rollers, and curtains off of the rods,—if you got into such a place would you not have to pinch yourself to realize that it wasn't really an East Side tenement?

Last year, through the generosity of one of the best friends that the girls on this Hill have or ever can have, the corridors of Pearsons Hall were made to take on a homey look. Shades and scrim curtains were provided for the windows, and two large ferns helped to give each corridor a dress up look. The garbage cans retired to inconspicuous places where they certainly belong, and everybody must have felt the better for such a change. Girls, let's get back that cheerful, homey, well-kept look to our Hall, and then make the little effort and take the little pains necessary to keep it that way. For surely any of us would prefer the apartment house to the East Side tenement.

LIEUT. LA BELLE LEADS Y. M. C. A.

One would have thought that the attendance on Sunday at the Y. M. C. A., had been by special order of headquarters. The boys were there in force, but they were there for a purpose, to hear a stirring message from the company's commander, Lieut. La Belle. The boys of the S. A. T. C. were not disappointed in their commandant, for at times he moved them to uproarious mirth, especially when he told his audience of a letter he had from Beck, in which Beck referred to Smith, our former president of the Y. M. C. A. being fitted out with number 10 1-2 shoes.

The Lieutenant in relating his experiences on the Mexican border, paid a glowing tribute to the work of the Y. M. C. A. and also, to the part it had played in his own life and future. The speaker said, "If it had not been for the Y. M. C. A. I should have died. The meetings, the cheer, and fellowship, compensated for all the difficulties I had at Noagles, Arizona".

The speaker created some stir and surprise when he announced that he had been ordered to select ten additional men for the officers' training camps. He assured the boys that their equipment would be issued this week by the quartermaster. There are various changes being made, but the Lieutenant hopes to stay at old Maryville.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was a solo by Roy McCall. The music committee have arranged for special music and other local artists are to be heard in the future.

A TRUE MARYVILLIAN

Cecil Cross, a former member of the class of '18, has a fine position and a chance for rapid promotion in the Denver National Bank, Denver, Colo. He was discharged from the army shortly after he entered last spring because of a mis-shapen foot, and he was automatically placed in limited service. In a recent letter to a Maryville student, he says that he hates to miss a single copy of the Echo; and further, "There is no place like Maryville, and I wish many times weekly that I could be one of you again. I am a Maryvillian, no matter where I am."

ATHENIAN MEETS AFTER PERIOD OF INACTIVITY

After a long period of inactivity, it was possible for the Athenian Literary Society to hold its usual meeting on Saturday. Although time is said to change the state of things, the same pleasing look is still observable within the walls of of grey and trimmings of green.

The meeting was first turned over to business, and the two sections (Senior and Junior) agreed to unite for the period of the war, or until it is deemed necessary to make the change. Then the following officers were elected:

Vice-president, Roy McCall; Program secretary, "Wart" Jones; and for critic, Mr. Domino.

An extemporaneous program was given by several of the old members, while the visitors and new members listened with astonishment, that such a program could be presented by students. "Wart" Jones explained the Kaiser's disappointment. During his display of excellent oratorship, his voice could be heard only at short intervals, because of the applause. D. L. Beard gave a short impromptu speech. James Martin gave "The Sign of the Cross", and the program was concluded with a short and snappy speech by Roy McCall.

VOLUNTTER BAND GIVES FAREWELL PARTY TO "TOMMY" LOFT

The news that "Tommy" Loft, the president of the Volunteer Band, was to leave the college shortly, gave all the other members of the Band a desire to show, in some way their appreciation of his leadership. The Monday evening service was turned into a surprise party. The devotions were lead by one of the members as usual but "Tommy" had no suspicions even when Dr. Wilson, Professor and Mrs. Gillingham, and the lieutenants came in. the object of the affair dawned upon him when incidents from his life, told by different members struck him as rather strange for the topic of such a religious meeting. The evening became one of hilarity and strange events took place. Who would not give a good deal to have seen Dr. Wilson sliding from chair to chair in "caterpillar", or the dignified military men dashing across the room during the process of "All over the United States?"

At the close of the party a little gift was presented to "Tommy" by the Band, the receipt of which he acknowledged in a few appropriate words.

MISS CLEMENS LEADS PRAYER MEETING

The history and characteristics of Satan were revealed by Miss Clemens last Thursday evening at Prayer Meeting. Satan's underhand methods were likewise exposed.

After explaining the origin of Satan, the speaker emphasized the way in which sin, as represented by Satan, sneaks along with a soft step and conceals itself in unexpected places. The effects of Satan's influence on Sabbath observance were emphasized. It was also shown that Satan is busy in the school-room on test days sowing the seeds of deceitfulness and dishonesty.

Miss Clemens then spoke of the help that the Savior gives to all in teaching them the true way of life. Although the front door to the kingdom has been made easy enough by God, yet many try a side door by following their own way. The unselfish spirit of the men and women at the front was emphasized as typical of the spirit that should prevail at all times among Christian people.

Miss Clemens paused in the middle of her talk while Miss Mary Heard, very effectively, sang the "Ninety and Nine".

Miss Clemens in English Class was discussing the expression "sure enough." She said it was illustrative of the deplorable slang of the day.

Voice in the back of the classroom: "Isn't awfully a slang word too?"

Miss C.: "It sure is."

VESPERS

The text for the Vesper talk of Sunday evening was taken from the third chapter of Philippians, the thirteenth and fourteenth verses. By way of introduction the fact was emphasized that Christianity is a Life. Its essential quality is growth.

Paul, in his letter to the Philippians, cautioned them to forget those things which are behind and to press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus. And so today the earnest, sincere Christian must forget first experiences and press forward to greater attainments. Two things in particular he must put out of mind; first, anxiety about personal salvation. If he has honestly done his part why cannot he trust Christ to do his? And second, doctrinal principles or at least many of them; not in the sense of denying them, but rather by using them for stepping-stones to truths beyond.

To those who contemplate becoming Christians, and to those who have only recently taken such a step, a bit of advice may be helpful. First if one hopes ever to lead the Christian life he ought to begin,—begin now. Every achievement must have a beginning, and every journey must be started upon sometime. And since it is given to man to pass this way but once, it behooves him to make the most most of the opportunities that are his for Christian service. And lastly, let the would-be Christian not be discouraged. Character is a matter of slow growth. It comes gradually, as dawns the day; and as surely as the day will break in the east, so surely will come that rich, full development of character to the faithful Christian.
